About the authors

Julia Hörnle is a Senior Lecturer in Internet Law at CCLS, Queen Mary School of Law, University of London. She is Course Director for the LLM in Computer & Communications Law by Distance Learning and Managing Editor of the International Journal of Law and Information Technology published by Oxford University Press. She is a qualified solicitor, in a former life working for the international law firm Eversheds. Her fields of expertise are internet law and jurisdictional and regulatory issues involving the internet and she has published widely in these fields on an international level. Her articles have been published in English, German, Czech, Indian, Korean and Chinese. Her first book Cross-border Internet Dispute Resolution was published by Cambridge University Press in 2009. She has been asked to speak at many high-profile international conferences (for example at the UNECE in Geneva, UNCITRAL in Vienna, Consumers International in Kuala Lumpur, European Law Academy in Trier, PCMLP University of Oxford). She has taught at universities in China, Germany and Austria and has acted as an expert in various projects related to e-commerce law for the UK, US and Chinese governments and the EU. Her hobbies are horse-riding, yoga and creative writing.

Brigitte Zammit is General Counsel for Emirates International Telecommunications LLC (Dubai, UAE), the primary telecommunications investment arm of Dubai Holding, Dubai's largest diversified conglomerate. EIT manages investments in the EMEASA region, including Interonte in the UK, Forthnet S.A. in Greece, GO plc in Malta and Tunisie Télécom in Tunisia. Brigitte has ten years' experience in the electronic communications sector (particularly in telecommunications, online gambling, data protection and media law) as both a legal practitioner and a part-time university lecturer in London, Beijing and Malta. Prior to joining EIT in 2008, she worked in this sector for private practice law firms in London and Malta. She also holds an LLM in Computer and Communications Law (London, Queen Mary) and has internationally published several articles on topical issues in the sector. Her non-work passions are art, travel and photography.