Contributors

Diane Arijs (PhD) is Professor of Entrepreneurship, Family Businesses and Research Methodology at the Faculty Economics and Management at the Hogeschool-Universiteit Brussel (HUB). She is senior researcher at the Research Centre for Entrepreneurship. Her current research interests include family business succession, gender, leadership styles and entrepreneurship policy.

Blanca Arosa (PhD) is Senior Lecturer of Business Administration at Faculty of Business and Economics, University of the Basque Country, UPV/EHU, Spain. Her academic area of expertise is in corporate governance and family business. She is co-author of several academic peer-reviewed articles in corporate governance and family business research.

Patricia Bachiller is Lecturer at the Department of Accounting and Finance, University of Zaragoza (Spain). Her research interests include privatization and liberalization. She has published in journals including Management Decision, Public Money and Management, Global Economic Review, International Journal of Health Planning and Management, among others. She has been Visiting Professor at the University of Tampere (Finland) and the University of Siena (Italy).

Sihem Ben Mahmoud-Jouini, Orange Chair holder, Associate Professor at HEC Paris, where she is the programme director of Innovation and Entrepreneurship at the Executive MBA. Her main topics of research are managing exploration within new ventures and established firms.

Alain Bloch, Graduate of Saint-Cyr French Military Academy (PhD) in Information Systems and Management (University of Paris–Dauphine), is Full Professor at the French Conservatoire National des Arts et Métiers (CNAM). He is also an affiliate Faculty member (Entrepreneurship Department) of HEC Paris School of Management. His research focus is on innovation, entrepreneurship, family business and leadership.

Anna Blombäck has a PhD in Business Administration and holds a position as Assistant Professor at Jönköping International Business School. Blombäck’s research revolves around the notion of companies as societal actors, related to marketing and management. Specifically, her focus is on corporate communications, branding, identity and societal responsibility.

Isabel C. Botero (Aubry Group LLC) obtained her PhD in Organizational Communication Michigan State University. Dr Botero’s research interests include communication in and about family firms, influence processes in the organization, information sharing in groups and crisis communication. Her work has appeared in Communication Monographs, Communication Yearbook, Management Communication Quarterly, Corporate Communications: An International Journal, Journal of Management Studies and Journal of Cross-Cultural Psychology.
Contributors

Laura Cabeza-Garcia is Associate Professor of Business Administration at the University of Leon, Spain. She graduated in Business Administration and obtained her PhD at the University of Oviedo (Spain). Her research interests include privatizations, corporate governance, family firms and corporate social responsibility.

Donella Caspersz (PhD, University of Western Australia) is an Assistant Professor in Management and Organisations at the University of Western Australia Business School. Her current research interests in family business studies include the efficacy of managerial interventions in enhancing management capabilities of family business owners and managers, and successful management transitions.

Sooduck Chang is Associate Professor of Business Administration at Hannam University in Korea. Dr Chang teaches courses on organizational behaviour, strategic management and entrepreneurship. He received his MBA and PhD in Organization and Strategy from Kyungpook National University. His current research interests are in strategic management, entrepreneurship and organization theory.

James J. Chrisman (PhD, University of Georgia) is Professor of Management and Director of the Center of Family Enterprise Research at Mississippi State University. He also holds a joint appointment as a Senior Research Fellow with the Centre for Entrepreneurship and Family Enterprise at the University of Alberta, Canada.

Guido Corbetta is AIdAF-Alberto Falck Professor of Strategic Management in Family Business and Professor of Corporate Strategy at Bocconi University, and Senior Faculty Member of SDA Bocconi School of Management (Italy). He is a Fellow of the International Family Enterprise Research Association (IFERA). He has 25 years of experience in the family business field and he is a consultant and board member to many family companies. He is an editorial board member of Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice and Family Business Review.

Léo-Paul Dana is at Groupe Sup de Co Montpellier Business School, Montpellier Research in Management, Montpellier, France, on leave from the University of Canterbury in New Zealand, where he has been tenured since 1999. He has served on the faculties of McGill University and INSEAD. Professor Dana earned BA and MBA degrees at McGill University, and a PhD from the Ecole des Hautes Etudes Commerciales.

Sharon M. Danes (PhD) is a Professor in the Family Social Science Department at the University of Minnesota and one of the authors of the sustainable family business theory. She has authored over 150 refereed research articles, book chapters and outreach publications emphasizing the intersection of economic and social decision-making. She is a Past Chair of the Family Business Section of the US Association for Small Business and Entrepreneurship.

Alexandra Dawson is Assistant Professor of Management at Concordia University’s John Molson School of Business, Montreal, Canada. She received her PhD in Management from Bocconi University, Milan, Italy in 2007. Her research focuses on growth and entrepreneurial behaviour in family firms, with the aim of understanding how the individual and social features that are typical of this type of organization can become antecedents of competitive advantage.
Bart J. Debicki is Assistant Professor of Management in the College of Business and Economics at Towson University, Maryland. He received his PhD from the Mississippi State University.

Francesca di Donato is a researcher in Business Economics at Luspio University of Rome. She is Lecturer in Business Administration at Luspio University of Rome. She is Lecturer in Accounting at LUISS – Guido Carli University of Rome. During the period 2004/2008 she was Research Fellow at LUISS.

Eduardo L. Giménez is Associate Professor at Universidade de Vigo (Galiza, Spain). His research interests lie in the application of general equilibrium theory to financial economics, family economics, monetary economics, environmental economics and real business cycles.

Maria-Cleofe Giorgino is Research Fellow at the Department of Business and Social Studies of the University of Siena (Italy). She obtained her PhD in Business Administration at the University of Salento (Italy) and she is also public accountant and registered auditor. Her research interests are financial accounting, insolvency prediction models and cultural enterprise management.

Luca Gnan is Associate Professor of Family Business and Organizational Behaviour at the University of Rome Tor Vergata, Italy and Vice-President and Executive Director of EURAM (European Academy of Management). He has published on topics related to family business governance, corporate and public governance, with a special interest in boards of directors, governance structures and mechanisms.

Sanjay Goel is Associate Professor of Strategic Management and Entrepreneurship at University of Minnesota Duluth and President of the International Family Enterprise Research Association (IFERA). His current teaching, research and training interests include entrepreneurship, governance and strategy in family business firms, development of strong business families, and effect of family ownership on social wealth. His research has been published in many journals dedicated to these broad topics.

Silvia Gómez-Ansón graduated in Economics at the Complutense University of Madrid, Spain, holds a Masters in International Economics from the University of Constance, Germany and a PhD in Economics from the University of Oviedo, Spain. She is Full Professor of Finance and Accountancy at the University of Oviedo. Her research interests include corporate governance, family firms and privatizations.

José Luis Calvo González is a member of the Economic Analysis Department at Spanish UNED. His studies have focused on technological innovation and the effects of brands on fashion consumer behaviour. He has published articles in national and international books and reviews.

Toshio Goto is Professor at the University of Economics in Tokyo, Japan. He obtained a BA from Tokyo University and an MBA from Harvard University. His main research interests are business strategies focusing on innovation, succession and longevity of family businesses. He contributed ‘Longevity of Japanese family firms’ to the Handbook of Research on Family Business (2006). He has authored various books and articles in Vipin Gupta (PhD, Wharton School) is Professor and Co-director of the Global Management Center at the California State University San Bernardino. His research includes the science of culture, strategic and international management, organizational and technological development, and entrepreneurial and women’s leadership.

Elias Hadjielias is Lecturer in Business and Management at UCLan Cyprus. Elias’s research interests revolve around entrepreneurship and entrepreneurial learning, family businesses, and cooperation and learning in organizations. He is involved in teaching at both the undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Eleanor Hamilton (PhD) is Associate Dean for Enterprise Engagement and Impact at Lancaster University Management School, UK. She teaches Entrepreneurship, Small Business and Family Business at both the undergraduate and postgraduate levels. Her research interests include the influence and impact of intergenerational learning in family businesses, entrepreneurial learning and entrepreneurship education.

Carole Howorth is Professor of Entrepreneurship and Family Business at Bradford University School of Management, UK. She teaches and researches various topics related to entrepreneurship, performance and family businesses.

Tuuli Ikäheimonen is a doctoral student of Management and Organization at the Lappeenranta University of Technology (LUT) School of Business, Finland. She also works as a training manager in the LUT Centre for Training and Development. Her research interests include family business governance, especially board of directors, and succession.

Markku Ikävalko (PhD) is Director of the LUT Centre for Training and Development, Finland. He specializes in entrepreneurship and small business management, and has long experience in SME development and consultancy. His research interests include SME management, entrepreneurship education, ownership issues and family businesses.

Txomin Iturralde is Senior Lecturer in Finance and Business Administration and Director of Family Business Centre of the University of the Basque Country, UPV/EHU (Spain). His current research interests include cash management, international finance, corporate governance and family business.

Juha Kansikas is Associate Professor of Entrepreneurship at the University of Jyväskylä, Finland, and Adjunct Professor at the Mendel University, the Czech Republic. His research interests are entrepreneurship education and family entrepreneurship.

Franz W. Kellermanns is a Professor of Management in the College of Business at the University of Tennessee, USA. He holds a joint appointment with the INTES Center at the WHU–Otto Beisheim School of Management (Germany). He received his PhD from the University of Connecticut. His research interests include strategy process and entrepreneurship, with a focus on family business research.
Contributors

Antti Kirmanen (MSc, University of Jyväskylä, Finland) has acted as a research assistant at the Jyväskylä University School of Business and Economics.

Alexander Koebertle-Schmid (PhD, WHU–Otto Beisheim School of Management, INTES-Consulting for Family Business, Germany) is a family business consultant and a lecturer at WHU. He advises business-owning families in strategic and structural issues. He is a supervisory board member of a family business. He has published several books and articles on the most relevant issues of family business governance.

Rania Labaki (PhD) is Associate Professor of Management Sciences at the University of Bordeaux IV and researcher at the Family Business Research Centre (IRGO) and the INSEEC Research Centre, France. Her PhD dissertation examined the antecedents and outcomes of the quality of family relationships in French listed family businesses. She currently teaches and conducts research on finance and family businesses, especially governance, financial policies, family relationships and emotions in decision-making.

Isabelle Le Breton-Miller is Associate Professor of Management and Chair of Succession and Family Enterprise at HEC Montreal, Canada and is Senior Research Fellow at the University of Alberta. She earned her PhD at Imperial College, London and serves on the editorial boards of Entrepreneurship Theory & Practice, Family Business Review and Journal of Family Business Strategy. Her most recent book with Danny Miller is Managing for the Long Run (Harvard Business School Press), now in six languages. Her research examines the strategies, organization designs and governance structures of family businesses.

Jangwoo Lee (PhD, Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology) is a professor and Director of The Research Institute of Creative and Cultural Industries at Kyungpook National University. His research focuses on technological entrepreneurship, family enterprises and strategic management. He has served as a chairman of Korean Association of Small Business Studies and Korean Society of Strategic Management. Dr Lee was born and resides in Korea.

Nancy M. Levenburg (PhD) is Associate Professor of Management at Grand Valley State University. Her research includes family business, small business management and strategic applications of information technologies to improve operations. She serves on the editorial review board of Family Business Review and the board of the North American Case Research Association (NACRA).

Corinna M. Lindow (PhD, HHL–Leipzig Graduate School of Management, Germany) is a Research Fellow at Loyola University Chicago Family Business Center (USA). She has been a visiting researcher at the Cox Family Enterprise Center at Kennesaw State University (USA). Her main research interests are strategic management and corporate entrepreneurship within the context of family businesses.

Shanan R. Litchfield is a doctoral candidate at Mississippi State University, USA. Her studies have focused on behaviour in family firms. Her dissertation explores the successful use of human resource practices to maximize beneficial family behaviours in the family firm.
Contributors

Amaia Maseda is Senior Lecturer in Business Administration and Accounting at the University of the Basque Country, UPV/EHU (Spain). Her academic area of expertise is cash management, corporate governance and family business. She is co-author of several academic peer-reviewed articles in corporate and management research.

Curtis F. Matherne III (PhD, Mississippi State University) is Assistant Professor of Management in the B.I. Moody III College of Business Administration at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette.

Nava Michael-Tsabari is a PhD candidate at the Technion–Israel Institute of Technology. Since 2007 she has been teaching the first and only course on family businesses at the Tel-Aviv University. She is a researcher on family businesses and a third-generation member of a multinational family business, enabling her to combine personal insights with scholarly skills on family businesses.

Sophie Mignon, former student of ENS Cachan, PhD in management. She is an associate professor and a PhD supervisor at the University of Montpellier II (MRM), France. Her research examines the sustainability, exploration and capitalization processes of family firms.

Danny Miller is Research Professor at HEC Montreal and Chair Professor of Strategy and Family Business at the University of Alberta, Canada. He earned his PhD from McGill University. His research examines the strategies, organization designs and governance structures of family and other types of businesses.

Alessandro Minichilli is Assistant Professor in the Department of Management and Technology at Bocconi University, Italy. His research interests are family-controlled firms, focusing on the intersection between corporate governance, top management teams (TMTs) and family business literatures, with emphasis on gender issues. He is editorial review board member of Family Business Review and Corporate Governance: An International Review.

Fabio Matuoka Mizumoto is Professor of Business Administration at Insper Institute of Education and Research, and Professor at the School of Economics of São Paulo’s Getulio Vargas Foundation (FGV–EESP), Brazil. He holds a doctorate in Business Administration from the University of São Paulo (FEA–USP) and was a visiting PhD scholar at Olin Business School at Washington University in St Louis, USA.

Daniela Montemerlo is Associate Professor of Business Administration and Family Business at University of Insubria, Professor of Strategic Management in Family Business at Bocconi University and Senior Faculty Member of SDA Bocconi School of Management (Italy). She is a Fellow of IFERA and was a member of the IFERA Board from 2001 to 2011. She has been actively involved in family business research, teaching, governance and consulting since 1990, with a special focus on family agreements, family and corporate governance, teams at the top, generational transitions and gender issues.

Mattias Nordqvist is Professor of Business Administration and The Hamrin International Professor of Family Business at Jönköping International Business School (JIBS) in Sweden. He is founding associate editor of the Journal of Family Business Strategy.
Jose Antonio Novo (PhD in Economics, Universidade de A Coruña) is Associate Professor at the Universidade de A Coruña (Spain). He also serves as the Director of the Family Business Chair, Universidade de A Coruña. His research area is family firms, banking theory and industrial organization.

Sergio Paternostro is Research Fellow at the Department of Business and Social Studies, University of Siena (Italy). He has been visiting PhD student at IESE Business School (University of Navarra, Barcelona, Spain) and visiting scholar at the Faculty of Economics (University of Castilla La Mancha, Spain). His research interests include corporate social responsibility, social disclosure and family business.

Atilano Pena-López (PhD in Economics) is Associate Professor at the Department of Applied Economics of the University of A Coruña (Spain). His research has focused on business ethics, socioeconomics and social capital.

Timo Pihkala (PhD) is Professor of Management and Organization, specializing on entrepreneurship and small business management at the Lappeenranta University of Technology (LUT) School of Business and he is the director of the LUT Lahti School of Innovation, Finland. His research interests include entrepreneurship, innovativeness, strategic management and family businesses.

Daniel Pittino is Assistant Professor in Organization and Human Resource Management at the University of Udine (Italy). His main research interests include governance and management issues in family firms and entrepreneurial ventures. He is author of several articles and research papers on the topics of corporate governance and organization in the family business.

Panikkos Zata Poutziouris (PhD) is Professor of Entrepreneurship and Family Business and Head of the Business and Management School at UCLan Cyprus – the Enterprising British University in Cyprus. Previously, for almost two decades, he served on the faculty of Manchester Business School, University of Manchester, and Cyprus International Institute of Management, where he led a number of research, educational and consulting initiatives. Professor Poutziouris is the Past President of IFERA and has served on the advisory board of IFB (UK) and as a board member on the UK Institute for Small Business Entrepreneurship (ISBE). In 2011, the Family Firm Institute honoured him with the FFI International Award in recognition of his contribution to the development of family business initiatives across the globe.

Francisco Negreira del Río (PhD in Business Administration, University of Santiago de Compostela, Spain (2002)). His current position is full-time Business Management Lecturer at Novacaixagalicia Business School, Vigo, Spain. His research is based on family business and he is co-author of various books and academic articles on this subject.

Jesús Negreira del Río (PhD in Pharmacy, University of Santiago de Compostela, Spain (1997)). Since 2000 he has been full-time Marketing Lecturer at Novacaixagalicia Business School. His current research is focused on family business topics.

María Sacristán-Navarro graduated in Economics at the Complutense University of Madrid, Spain where she also obtained her PhD in Economics. She is Associate Professor of Strategy at Rey Juan Carlos University, Madrid. Her research interests are associated with the strategy field, corporate governance and family firms.

Maria Sylvia Macchione Saes holds a Doctorate in Economic Sciences and Habilitation in Business Administration from the School of Business Administration at the University of São Paulo (FEA–USP). She is currently Professor of Business Administration at FEA–USP, Coordinator of the Center for Organizational Studies (CORS) at USP, and the President of FEA–USP's research committee.

José Manuel Sánchez-Santos (PhD in Economics) is Associate Professor at the Department of Applied Economics of the University of A Coruña (Spain). His research has focused on socioeconomics, monetary policy and sports economics.

Pramodita Sharma (PhD) is the Sanders Professor at the School of Business Administration, University of Vermont, USA. She holds a joint appointment at Babson College where she is the Academic Director for the Global STEP project. Sharma is the editor of FBR and a fellow of the Family Firm Institute. She is a co-founder of the Family Enterprise Research Conference and the Family Enterprise Case Competition.

Kosmas X. Smyrnios (PhD, MAPS) holds the position of Professor of Family Business Entrepreneurship, School of Management, RMIT University, Melbourne, Australia. He is a former Foundation Board Member of the International Family Enterprise Research Academy (IFERA) and Associate Editor of Family Business Review. He is a foundation Associate Editor of the Journal of Family Business Strategy. Kosmas has developed an extensive applied research record with over 100 international and national refereed publications in different disciplines including business management, marketing, entrepreneurship, accounting, physics and psychology. Professor Smyrnios is frequently called upon to provide expert media commentary on SMEs, family business and fast-growth firms.

Lucrezia Songini is Associate Professor of Family Business and Managerial Control at the Eastern Piedmont University, Novara, Italy and Senior Professor at Bocconi School of Management, Milan, Italy. She is the Chair of the Entrepreneurship SIG of EURAM. She has published on topics related to strategic planning and managerial control systems in family businesses, female entrepreneurship and the role of women in family firms.

Kathryn Stafford (PhD) is Associate Professor at The Ohio State University in the Department of Consumer and Textile Sciences. She teaches a course on business-owning families and conducts research on the management practices of business-owning families and family businesses.

Emma Su has an MS in Business Administration from the University of British Columbia and an MS in Knowledge Management from NanYang Technological University, Singapore. Her research covers various issues related to family businesses: family business succession, conflicts in family businesses, strategic planning, knowledge management in family businesses, and Chinese family businesses.

Riccardo Tiscini is Full Professor in Business Economics at Universitas Mercatorum of Rome. He also teaches Business Economics and Family Business Management at Luiss Guido Carli University and La Sapienza University in Rome. His main research interests are accounting, corporate governance and family business.

Giovanni Valentini is Assistant Professor of Strategy at Bocconi University, Milan. He holds a PhD in Management from IESE Business School. His research examines how firms’ innovation and technology strategy can lead to sustainable competitive advantage. More specifically, he is interested in the effects of M&A on technological performance, the relationship between innovation and export, and the organization of R&D.

Álvaro Gómez Vieites (PhD in Economy and Business Administration (2009), Bachelor in Business Administration, Telecommunications Engineering and Computer Science Engineering). His research has been focused on innovation and the effect of new technologies on marketing and commerce. He has published 28 books and several articles in scientific reviews.

Francesca Visintin is Associate Professor in Organization and Human Resource Management at the University of Udine (Italy). Her main fields of study are the management of innovation and the comparative technological performance of the systems of capitalism. She is author of several articles on the topics of human resource management and performance in the family business setting.

Ramona Kay Zachary (PhD) is the Academic Director of the Lawrence N. Field Programs of Entrepreneurship and the Jonas Chair of Entrepreneurship in the Department of Management of the Zicklin School of Business at Baruch College, New York. Professor Zachary teaches and conducts research related to family businesses and the owning family’s internal social and economic dynamics, and the effects of the family on the family business viability over time, as well as entrepreneurship issues and research.

Victor Zheng (PhD) is currently Associate Director of Social and Political Development Studies, HKIAPS, The Chinese University of Hong Kong. His research interest includes Chinese family business and the equal inheritance system, and social and commercial history in Hong Kong and Macao.