
Figures

1.1	The waveform evolution of capitalism (1770–2060)	12
2.1	The creation of a new firm in Schumpeter's Mark I model, with no possibility of further expansion	38
2.2	The two feedback loops of an incumbent firm in Schumpeter's Mark II model	39
2.3	Logistic diffusion with added r -innovation and K -innovation	40
9.1	Relative regional employment in high-tech sectors, 1995–2006	126
9.2	Relative regional capital–labour ratios, 1995–2006	126
9.3	Relative regional real wages, 1995–2006	127
13.1	A typology of regional knowledge anchoring capacities	174
18.1	Clustering, externalities and regional competitive advantage	239
18.2	Regional dynamic comparative advantage	242
19.1	Marshall's triad of external economies of industrial localization	247
19.2	The mechanisms through which locally dominant cultural norms, values and beliefs inform worker and firm behaviour	255
32.1	North Jutland's green regional innovation system	443
33.1	Main structure of regional innovation systems (RISs)	456
34.1	Wallonia innovation system and strategy	477
38.1	Government investment vs private investment in Israeli incubators' projects, 1991–2006	519
39.1	Regional knowledge generation, diffusion and exploitation	539
41.1	The principle of combining industries and areas of expertise in the Regional Development Platform Method	567
41.2	A systemic framework for development of a regional innovation system	569
41.3	The age business core process in the Lahti region	570
42.1	Regional intercluster innovation platform model	577
42.2	The Lahti regional innovation system platform policy toolkit	579
42.3	Regional innovation quadrants	581
42.4	Transversality: key process and practice conceptual framework	583