Index

Abernathy, W. 10, 418
Abramowitz, Moses 35
absorptive capacity 277, 287–9, 399, 408, 474–5
Acs, Z.J. 516, 526
Adegbesan, A.J. 262
Agarwal, R. 409
agency theory 105–15, 416–18, 421
and corporate governance see agency theory, corporate governance and finance innovation theory versus agency theory 339–45 principal–agent relationship/theory 105–6, 211–12 agency concerns historically specific 105 agency costs 105, 110, 112, 115
corporate governance addressing moral hazard/adverse selection problems 105 identification of managers with agents 106
principal–agent relationship – illustration 106–7 profit-sharing model robustness as solution to agency problems: performance pay 108 Aghion, P. 115, 509–10
Ahmadjian, C. 129–30
Ahuja, G. 398–9, 401
Alchian, A.A. 109, 232, 415–17, 421
Altenberg, L. 219
American Capitalism: The Concept of Countervailing Power (Galbraith) 77–8 American Economic Association 57 Andersen, B. 127, 128, 129
Anderson, E. 140, 141, 144
Antonelli, C. 127, 128
Aoki, Masahiko 194–5, 197–8, 200–201, 203, 205
Arend, R.J. 259, 265
Argyres, N.S. 148–9, 150–51
Armington, C. 526
Armstrong, C.E. 259
Arora, A. 459–60
Arrow, J.K. 506, 556
asymmetry principle 379–80
Audretsch, David 516, 519–20
Austrian school of economics 8, 21, 33, 45, 228
Averch Johnson effect 538
Avnimelech, G. 547
Bain, J.S. 256
Balakrishnan, S. 141
Baldwin, C. 128, 364, 369, 454
bargaining 261, 262
Barnard, Chester 12–13, 57, 233–4, 239
Barney, J.B. 257, 258–9, 261, 268
Barrett, Craig 353
Bartelsman, E. 331
principal–agent relationship 105–6, 212 agency concerns historically specific 105
agency costs 105, 110, 112, 115
corporate governance addressing moral hazard/adverse selection problems 105
identification of managers with agents 106
principal–agent relationship – illustration 106–7
profit-sharing model robustness as solution to agency problems: performance pay 108

Michael Dietrich and Jackie Krafft - 9781781002407
Downloaded from Elgar Online at 07/24/2019 06:36:22PM
via free access
behaviour of managers 91–2
financial policy of a firm as central dimension 93 maximization of sales 92, 93 cooperative adaptation 123 dissemination of technology 511–12
growth of the managerial corporation 92, 94 hypothesis of income maximization and reworking of oligopoly theory 89–90 ‘optimally imperfect’ behaviour using decision rules 98 product innovation definition 436–7 rejecting profit maximization in favour of sales revenue maximization 97, 299 Becattini, G. 380
Beggs, A. 440–41
behavioural theory/economics 94, 96–101, 106, 209 decision-making processes and the goals of the firm 97 firm as an organization of diverse interest groups 96, 99 organizational choice and organizational slack 99–100 satisficing and efficiency 97–8 sequential attention to goals 98–9 strategy versus muddling through 100 Behavioural Theory of the Firm, A (Cyert/ March) 96
Bellandi, M. 380
Berle, Jr, Adolph Augustus 76, 89, 90, 309, 344, 416 separation of ownership/control 70–74
Bertrand, O. 396
Best, Michael H. 385
Bhattacharyya, S. 441–3
Bigelow, L. 148–9
Blois, K. 127
Blyler, Maureen 262
Boulding, Kenneth 57, 230 boundaries of a firm 3–4, 13, 54, 74, 152, 415 collective knowledge/theory of complexity and opening boundaries of the firm 361–3 delimited by property rights over tangible assets 70 evolutionary theory explaining the structure, boundaries and existence of firms 249–52 innovation networks blurring 466 see also innovation networks internalization theory see internalization theory and location of transactions 128, 131 and modularity see modularity and its implications for the theory of the firm neglected by traditional economic analysis 210 revolving around delineation of its power 84–5 and separation of ownership/control see under managerial theories of the firm transaction costs theory of the firm based on 211
uncertainty 76, 79
bounded rationality 97, 101, 299
and opportunism 83–4, 468 and organizations 279
resource-based view 212
in transaction cost theory 191 Braverman, Harry 47
Bravo-Biosca, A. 331
Bresnahan, T.F. 369
Brickley, J. 127
Bromiley, P. 265
Brusoni, S. 365
Buckley, P.J. 165
Bucklin, L.P. 142–4
Burgelman, Robert A. 248, 250
Burt, R.S. 470
Business Cycles (Schumpeter) 215, 427
Butler, J. E. 261
Cambridge Journal of Economics 125
Campagnolo, D. 128
Camuffo, A. 128
Cantwell, J. 165 capabilities approach/perspective 21, 57, 198–9, 246–7, 299–300 capabilities perspective on inter-firm cooperation 120 competence view of the firm implemented in capability approach 219 dynamic capabilities 212, 264–5 definition 265
and the Japanese firm 199–200 and resource-based view 263–5 capitalism American capitalism 213 capitalist firms not necessarily pursuing Pareto-efficient decisions 85 co-evolution of organizational forms and western capitalism 213 diversity/different varieties of capitalism 194, 200, 204–5, 214

emergence of 409–10

finance capitalism 66

future of financial capitalism and investors see financialization and corporate governance innovative behaviour as the core of definition of capitalist firms 65–7

and the Japanese firm 194, 200, 204–5

managerial capitalism 71–2, 90 and Marx see under Marx, Karl theories of comparative capitalisms 204 venture capitalism see corporation to venture capitalism

Capitalism, Socialism and Democracy (Schumpeter) 215, 546

Carnegie group 96, 101, 237 cartel and monopoly policy 182, 485–96 antitrust as an economic law 485–6 block exemptions 491–2

comparison of cartel and monopoly policy implementation 492–6 concerted practices 492 unilateral practices 492–6

conclusion 496

essential facility doctrine 495–6

excessive pricing 493

historical and theoretical background to cartel and monopoly policy 487–9 background to European cartel and monopoly policy 487–8 background to US cartel and monopoly policy 488–9 legal framework of cartel and monopoly policy 489–92 behaviours 492–3

firms 489–91

loyalty rebates 494–5

predatory pricing 494

purpose and objectives of competition law 485–6

R&D in US competition legislation 511 refusals to deal 495

see also mergers, acquisitions and firm performance cartels 24, 123, 182

Carter, Richard 45

Caselli, Francesco 204

Casillas, J. 334

Cassiman, B. 397, 401

Casson, M. 3–4, 165

Caves, R.E 394

Cebrían, M. 126

Cefis, E. 396, 397

Chamberlin, Edwin 55, 237

Chandler, A.D. 13, 24, 160, 196 coevolution of organizational forms and western capitalism, analysis of 213 growth 232, 410–11

integration of mass production/distribution creating modern corporation 406 organization of production and industrial peculiarities, link between 214, 222 strategy, concept of 410–11

theory of the firm 297–305

antecedent and associated economic theories 299–300 can the Chandler model be developed 303–4

conclusions 304–5

critique 300–303

economic components of Chandler’s model 297–8 managerial corporation as the modern business enterprise 71, 298

multidivisional form of organization 213–14, 298 technological systems producing higher profit margins 209, 298 visible hand 298, 408, 411, 555–6

Changing European Firm, The (Withley/Krinstensen) 217

Changing Structure of the U.S. Economy, The (Acs) 516

Chesbrough, Henry 360

Chi, T. 261

Chicago School 256, 257–8, 263, 487–8

Clark, John Maurice 55

Clark, K. 10, 199, 364, 454, 457–8

Claude-Gaudillat, V. 127, 129, 130

Cloodt, M. 398–9, 401

cluster analysis 203

Coase, Ronald 42, 74, 76, 84, 165, 229, 237–8, 413–15, 417, 421 costs of organizing an activity depends on firm’s other activities 233 developing modern theory of the firm 50, 54

relationships where direction of resources dependent on an entrepreneur 233 highlighting transaction costs of the market even in equilibrium 44–5, 165 and internalization theory 173–5, 191–2 markets and firms as alternative means of coordination 83, 84

coordination mechanisms incurring different costs 173–4 vagueness on exact nature of costs incurred by market 175, 211 production analysis 174 importance of the productive process and institutional forms 50 and real firms/realist theory 4–7, 258 definition of the firm as a fundamental issue 6 drivers of change operating at level of firms and industries 7 industrialization organization as object of study of realist theory 6–7 pure theory and realist theory of the firm 5–6 realist theory 4–5
what firms actually do 53 transaction costs theory 211, 299, 468, 550 zero transaction cost setting of Coase theorem 257 see also transaction cost theory/economics uncertainty 230
Coff, R.W. 262
cognitive bias 96
cognitive dissonance 436 cognitive distance 277–9, 280–81, 285–6, 290, 472 cognitive representation 267 cognitive theory of the firm 275–93 absorptive and expressive capacity 277, 287–9 cognitive distance 277–9, 280–81, 285–6, 290, 472
cognitive transaction costs 280
cohesiveness 284–5
conclusions 290
duration 286–7
embodied cognition 275–6, 290
examples 283–4
increasing and decreasing returns to knowledge 289–90
learning to collaborate 287–9 market and organization 280–81
organization 279–80
organization between organizations 285–6 organizational focus 281–3 pragmatism 276–7, 290
Cohen, M. 408
Cohen, W.M. 507
Coleman, J.S. 472
collaboration see under innovation
Combs, J.G. 150–51
Comin, D. 331
Commission v. Microsoft Corp [2004] 495 Commons, John R. 4–5, 8, 191 influence of 57
institutional economics 55
and the theory of the firm 55, 57–9 legal foundations of firms/role of the state and importance of custom 58, 59 competence approach see capabilities approach/perspective competition law see cartel and monopoly policy competitive equilibrium/theory 256–8, 263, 268 ‘Competition, Innovation and Increasing Returns’ (Richardson) 239–40 complexity theory 33, 210 addressing the European firm issue 218–22 and collective knowledge/opening boundaries of the firm 361–3 definition of a complex system 218, 364, 448 Confederation of British Industry 167 consumer switching costs see product innovation when consumers have switching costs contestable markets theory 256 contingency theory 217, 222 contract theory 131
contracts 279
attributes of contracts 122
and administrative control 126 bilateral obligational contracting 136 constraining subsequent contractual options 191 contractual arrangements in foreign markets, effects of changes in 191–2 controlling uncertainty with long-term, money-denominated contracts 81–2 employment contracts 172 enforcing, role of legal and social institution in 188–9 ex ante and ex post contract duration 131 experiential contracting 129 external uncertainty increasing contract terminations 129 forward contracts 185–6, 187
in hybrid governance structures 122–3 implic and relational contracts 112–14, 128, 145
and trust 187, 280
incomplete contracts 46, 416 arguments for 112–13 incomplete contracts theory 72 market governance contracts 130 nature of 112
institutional environment stimulating change at level of contracts 129 keiretsu sub-contracting system 196, 210, 214 licensing 126, 129–30
long-term contracting 127–8, 185–6, 187
long-period contracts to tie prospective customers to investing firms 436, 439 market governance structures contracts most complete of incomplete contracts 130 and short-term franchise contracts 536 strategic alliance contracts 126 trilateral neoclassical contracting 136 uncertainty positively correlated with use of agreements 145–6 variety of different governance mechanisms 145–6 Conway, N. 315
Cool, K. 259, 260, 266
Cooper, R. 130
coordination compatibility of decision premises as basis of 233 and context of growth 227–8 contrived coordination 237 coordinating role of planning and technosstructure 84 coordination mechanisms 45 dynamic aggregation, analyzing 205 entrepreneur coordinating production 211 formal and informal 281 incurring different costs 173–4 markets deciding how activities should be coordinated 174 through market and management 172, 173 innovation requiring complementary competences/effective coordination 11–12 intra-plant and inter-plant coordination 172 ownership of resources being controlled 175 see also internalization theory managerial coordination 105, 555–7 market coordination based on system of prices 71
markets and firms as alternative means of coordination 83, 84 ownership of physical assets determining planned coordination 72 spontaneous coordination coordination challenge: spontaneous order 32–3 non-ownership of assets corresponding to spontaneous coordination 72 uncertainty and the coordination of investments 508–9 corporate governance and agency theory and finance see agency theory, corporate governance and finance and executive pay see corporate governance, innovative enterprise and executive pay and financialization see financialization and corporate governance and separation of ownership/control see under managerial theories of the firm corporate governance, innovative enterprise and executive pay 339–55 innovation theory versus agency theory 339–45 maximizing shareholder value 339 speculation and manipulation in the explosion of executive pay 345–6 stock buybacks as ‘weapons of value destruction’ 351–5 stock options as managerial remuneration 312 corporation to venture capitalism 545–58 conclusions and implications of analysis 556–8 digression on markets and the visible hand 555–6 dynamic perspective to markets and market building 549–53 concepts of market 549–50
defining characteristics of markets 551
new markets 550, 552–3 emergence of NASDAQ and venture capitalism 547–9 from the corporation to venture capitalism 545–7 financing innovation and entrepreneurs 545–6 new market-mediated innovation-based growth 553–5 Coughlan, A.T. 140
countervailing power 77–8
Cournot, Augustin 14, 17, 515 Cowling, K. 84, 85, 166 credit 80, 215, 262
Crook, T.R. 268
Cyert, Richard 96, 97, 100, 299
Handbook on the economics and theory of the firm

Damasio, A.R. 275
Darwin, Charles 38, 57, 275
Das Finanzkapital (Hilferding) 66
Das Gupta, P. 408
Das Kapital (Marx) 66, 405–6, 410
David, P. 408
David, R.J. 137–40, 152
Davis, S.J. 331
Day, R.H. 98
Deakin, S. 127
decision-making

capitalist firms not necessarily pursuing Pareto-efficient decisions 85 coordination achieved and decisions made through organization 78–9 creation of new knowledge endogenous to firm decisions 12–13 decision-making involves ‘satisficing’ 97 decision-making process 85 and the goals of the firm 97 decisions arrived at rather than taken 239 decentralizing decisions 298 allowing local managers to respond to local volatility 177 firms’ scope primarily about strategic decision-making 166 internalization decisions see internationalization theory make-or-buy decisions 53, 140, 151, 211 Pareto-efficient decisions 85, 506 resource-allocation/capability development 268 strategic decisions need not operate in the wider public interest 85 Democracy in America (Tocqueville) 518
Demsetz, H. 109, 256–7, 268, 415–17, 421
Denrell, J. 261
deregulation see under regulated firm in liberalized network industries Dibiaggio, L. 130
Dierickx, I. 259, 260, 266
Dietrich, M. 4
differentiation 38
brand differentiation 441 as division of labour/development of specialized skills/knowledge 50 horizontal differentiation 439 principle of increasing specialization see under obscure firms in the Wealth of Nations discriminating alignment hypothesis 127–8 discriminating alignment of hybrids 124–5 empirical studies see transaction cost empirical work ‘Diversification and integration in American industry’ (Gort) 7
Doi, N. 396
Dosi, Giovanni 247, 418
Drucker, Peter 233, 234
Dunning, John 164, 165, 167
Duysters, G. 398, 401, 473
Dyer, J.H. 144
dynamic capabilities see capabilities approach/perspective Eaton, Curtis 57
Eccles, R.G. 144
‘Economics and Knowledge’ (Hayek) 235 economics and theory of the firm 3–25 complexities of real firm analysis 8 the firm in industry life cycles see industry life cycles, the firm in a formal model of real firms 13–23 duopoly model of real firms 17–23 introducing transaction cost features into standard model of the firm 13–14 a single firm 14–17 importance of creating bridges between traditionally separate areas 3–4 economics and theory of firms as separate spheres of analysis 35–7 Ronald Coase and real firms see under Coase, Ronald technical and institutional bases of firms as attractors of change 8 technical and institutional bases of firms as drivers of change 7 technical and institutional bases of firms as governing change processes 7–8 economies of speed 35, 37 Edelman, G.M. 275 efficient markets theory 257
Elbaum, B. 302
Elliot, S. 126–7, 129
Ellman, M. 127–8
embeddedness theory 217–18 embodied cognition 275–6, 290 emergence and emergence theory 32, 33, 35 emergence/aggregate behaviours providing system/agents with new capabilities 218 the European firm as an emergent property 218–20, 222 employment generation 332–3 Entrepreneurial Imperative, The (Schramm) 516 Entrepreneurial Society, The (Audretsch) 516 entrepreneurs/entrepreneurship 9, 64–5, 228, 236, 257 ‘bricolage’ 276–7 changing their environment 230 entrepreneurial orientation 334 financing 545–6
first-mover competitive advantage 299 in industrial districts 377, 384–5 incapacity of financing firm development, consequences of 71 as inner organization of capitalist firms 65–7 innovation role/engine of economic growth 9, 64–7, 215, 426 the dynamic economy 246 and internalization 173 and inventors 424, 427–8 knowledge and discovery of opportunities 173, 267 learning about the needs of customers 508–9 public policy see public policy in an entrepreneurial society and SMEs 526
as technological alliances see innovation networks and turbulence 333 uncertainty as necessary precondition for entrepreneurship 250
Ernst, D. 128
Ernst, H. 398
Erramilli, M.K. 141
Estache, Antonio 540
Ethics (Moore) 235
Ethics (Spinoza) 275
Ethiraj, S.K. 457
Europe/European Union
competition policy see under cartel and monopoly policy European Commission 489, 493–4 European Court of Justice 489–90 firms see European firms Lisbon Agenda 500, 502
Single European Market 161, 210, 222
Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union 488–91, 493 Treaty of Rome 488–9
European firms 209–22 complexity perspective to addressing the European firm issue 218–22 European firm as an emergent property 218–20, 222 local attractors 220–22
conclusions 222
corporate governance/financialization see financialization and corporate governance developing theories of the firm 209–10, 213 the European firm: an open debate 213–18 innovation and path-dependence 215–16 role of the industrial structure 214–15 societal contingency and societal choice 216–18
R&D 500–502
Single European Market 161, 210, 222 theories of the firm: an overview 210–13 neoclassical theory of the firm 210–11
principal–agent theory of the firm 211–12 resource-based view and evolutionary theory of the firm 212–13 transaction costs theory of the firm 211
Evans, L. 129
Evolution of a Manufacturing System at Toyota, The (Fujimoto) 200 evolutionary theory of the firm/economics 165, 205, 212–13, 215–16, 299–300, 418–21 development of modern evolutionary theory of the firm 57 and economic change 9 essential building blocks – routines and their replication 244–5 firms as heterogeneous economic agents 212–13 foundations 243–4
how does the theory explain the structure, boundaries and existence of firms 249–52 innovating firm and economic growth 246–7
limitations of theory 213
Marshall as forerunner of 49 road ahead 248–9
three different kinds of changes, theory to accommodate 248–9 Veblen as forerunner of 57 executive pay see corporate governance, innovative enterprise and executive pay ‘experience’ goods 179 expressive capacity 277, 289
Fabricant, Solomon 6–7
Fama, E.F. 109–10, 113, 416–17
Feldman, M.P. 472
Felin, T. 265, 268
Ferguson, Adam 32
Filson, D. 129

Michael Dietrich and Jackie Krafft - 9781781002407
Downloaded from Elgar Online at 07/24/2019 06:36:22PM
via free access
finance see agency theory, corporate governance and finance
financialization and the firm 308–21 financialization and corporate governance 308–14
Anglo-American case 308–9
Continental European case 309–10 firms, markets and information 310–11 limits of the financial, stock-based model of corporate governance 311–14 financialization and human resource management 314–15
long-term investors and the future of financial capitalism 316–21 governance of long-term investors 319–21
long-term investors and the liability side 318–19
project financing and the ability to take risks 317–18
virtues of long-term investors in principle 316–17
Fink, R. 127
firm growth: empirical analysis 324–35
conclusion 334–5
determinants of firm growth 328–32 discussion 331–2
firm-level variables 330 industry-level variables 331 innovation and growth 328–9 macroeconomic variables 331 other determinants of firm growth 330–32 profits and growth 329–30 fast-growing firms 332–4 high-growth firms and employment generation 332–3 which firms grow fast 334 Gibrat’s law 327–8
Gibrat’s model 327
persistence of high growth 328 size and age 327–8
innovating firm and economic growth 246–7
growth rate distribution 325–6 measuring firm growth 324–5 see also entrepreneur/entrepreneurship; Penrose, Edith
firms
behavioural theory of the firm see behavioural theory capitalist firm as motor of technological advance 62–4 capitalist firm as a social institution within a broader context 64–5 cognitive theory of see cognitive theory of the firm

as combination of commonly owned, physical assets 72 corporation to venture capitalism see corporation to venture capitalism economics and theory of the firm see economics and theory of the firm
the European firm see European firms evolution of the firm 409–12
and financialization see financialization and
the firm
growth see firm growth: empirical analysis and industry see industry and the firm the Japanese firm see Japanese firms legal corporate structure/foundations see legal corporate structure/foundations of the firm managerial corporations see modern firms/managerial corporations and markets and information 310–11 M-form 160, 213–16, 222, 298, 302–4, 411 modern firms/managerial firms see modern firms/managerial firms modularity see modularity and its implications for the theory of the firm network industries see regulated firms in liberalized network industries the obscure firm in the Wealth of Nations see obscure firms in the Wealth of Nations performance and mergers/acquisitions see mergers, acquisitions and firm performance principal–agent theory see principal–agent
theory of the firm
and R&D see R&D relationships with their customer-users 429–30
Schumpeter’s theory of the firm see Schumpeter, Joseph
small firms see small firms and industrial districts
as a team 415–26
theories of the firm, overview of 210–13, 412–21 neoclassical theory of the firm 210–11
principal–agent theory of the firm 211–12, 416–18
resource-based view and evolutionary theory of the firm 212–13, 418–21
transaction costs theory of the firm 211, 413–15 Veblen, Commons and the theory of the firm 55–9
Index 569

and uncertainty see uncertainty U-form 160, 410, 510 fixed costs 182–4 flow, principle of 35, 37
Ford, Henry 35, 37
Fordist firms/Fordism 359, 375, 378 ‘push’ principle 284
foreign direct investment 161, 162–3, 164 greenfield investment and mergers/acquisitions in a foreign country 163, 164, 168
Foss, K. 262, 267
Foss, Nicolai 12, 57, 198–9, 262, 267, 268
Frank, M.Z. 111
Freeman, C. 406, 469, 556
free-riding 45, 186
Freiburg group 488
Frenken, K. 455–6
Frey, B.S. 113
Friedman, Milton 243
Fujimoto, Takahiro 195, 199–200, 205
Functions of the Executive, The (Barnard) 57

Galbraith, J.K. 7, 76–86, 100, 540 correspondence to the theory of the firm neglected 76 coordination, planning and the prospect 85–6 as an original theorist 76–7, 85–6 planning and the market 79–83
competition 82–3
strategies for dealing with uncertainty see under uncertainty and the firm planning and the technostructure 77–9
theory of the firm 83–5
boundaries of a firm revolving around delineation of its power 84–5 decision-making process 85
low levels of technology not requiring extensive organization/large firms 83–4 uncertainty see uncertainty game theory 113, 256

Garzarelli, G. 128
Gatignon, H. 141
Gavetti, G. 257, 266–7, 455
Gawer, Annabelle 367
Géradin, D. 489
Gerlach, H.A. 440, 442, 445
Germany
financialization and corporate governance 309–10
German historical school 57–8, 62, 407
ordoliberalism 488
R&D 407, 410, 500
see also European firms Geroski, P.A. 331, 469
Gerpott, T.J. 397
Ghemawat, P. 441–2, 445
Ghoshal, S. 304
Gibrat, R. 327–8
Gilsing, V. A. 473–5
Ginglinger, E. 310
Giocoli, N. 489
globalization 201, 376, 383, 385, 512 challenges of globalization 377, 382, 384 employment, globalizing 352 of European firms 210 financial globalization 319 of markets 392
as opportunity 378
policies relating to the global economy 521–2 access to foreign technology 522 immigration policy 521–2 trade policy 521
of production 222
role of transnational corporations in globalization process 168 Gomes, P.J. 456
Gort, Michael 7, 9, 409
governance see corporate governance; hybrid governance Goyal, V.K. 111
Grandori, A. 120–26
Granovetter, M.S. 474
Grebel, T. 556
greenfield investment 163, 168, 190, 317, 330 Greenstein, S. 369
Griffith, R. 509–10
Grimshaw, D. 128
Gugler, K. 331
Gulati, R. 286
Guthrie, G. 129
Hagedoorn, J. 129, 398, 401, 471, 473
Hainz, C. 130
Hall, R.L. 96
Han, S.-K. 137–40, 152
Hancock, John 518
Handbook of Industrial Districts 380
Hart, O. D. 71
Harvard School 487
harvesting 439–40
Hayek, Friedrich 58, 227, 228, 235, 290 competition as a discovery process 280 disequilibrium 33

Michael Dietrich and Jackie Krafft - 9781781002407
Downloaded from Elgar Online at 07/24/2019 06:36:22PM
via free access
the economic problem of utilization of knowledge 425
’spontaneous order’ 33, 237 theory of perfect competition 235–6 Healey, P.M. 396
Heide, J.B. 142, 144–5
Helfat, C.E. 264–5
Henderson, R.M. 457–8
Hendriks-Jansen, H. 275
Henrekson, M. 332–3 heterogeneity economic agents 222
in evolutionary theory 212–13 heterogeneous resources and services 261, 266, 268 industrial districts 380
heterogeneous nature of small firms in 381–2 input heterogeneity 257 Japanese firms 199, 200, 201–5
see also Japanese firms
and resource-based view 256–7, 261, 266, 268
Hicks, John 234–5
Higson, C. 326
Hilferding, Rudolf 66
Hirschman, Albert 32, 47
‘History of Astronomy’ (Smith) 231
Hitch, C.J. 96
Hitt, M.A. 396, 397
Hodgson, G. 128
Hoetker, G. 151, 461
Hoffmann-La Roche v. Commission of the European Communities [1979] 490 hold-up problem 186, 191
Hölzl, W. 334
Hoopes, David G. 259
horizontal integration see under integration hostages factors affecting robustness of hostages 129–30 financial hostages 144 governing by 279
supporting contractual arrangements 136 human resource management and financialization 314–15 Hunt, S. 439
Hurlin, Christophe 202
hybrid governance 120–32 capabilities perspective on inter-firm cooperation 120
discussion 131–2
new insights 130–31 alternative governance choices when timing is relevant 130 analysis of multiple transactions 130 ex post contract duration 131 role of litigation in hybrids 130–31 transaction cost economizing 120 received view on hybrid governance structures 121–5 attributes of hybrid governance structures 122–3 discriminating alignment of hybrids 124–5 family of hybrid forms 123–4 hybrids defined 121–2 loose ends 125
review of recent literature on hybrids 125–31 attributes of contracts and administrative control 126 combination of theoretical frameworks and focus on modularity theory 128 discriminating alignment 127–8 extending the family of hybrids and specific areas of application 126–7 new studies addressing loose ends 128–30 hybrid relationships studies see under transaction cost empirical work Hymer, Stephen 159, 167, 169 historical development of companies 160 theory of the international firm 164–5 Hyun, J.S. 436, 443, 445
Ikeda, K. 396
IMS Health v. NDC Health [2004] 495 incentive intensity 123 income maximization 89–90 incomplete contracts see under contracts Industrial and Corporate Change 125 industrial districts 36, 214, 301–2
and small firms see small firms and industrial districts ‘Industrial organization: a proposal for research’ (Coase) 6 industrial organization economics 6, 256–8 Industry and Innovation 125 industry and the firm cyclical behaviour of industries 214–15 development of technology and knowledge: possible sources of shakeout 9–12 coherence notion 12 idea of technology evolution driving shakeout challenged by new vision 10–11 innovation requiring complementary competences/effective coordination 11–12 shakeout and dominant design 10 shakeout generated by external technological shock  9–10 shakeout and timing of entry  10 disintegration occurring as industry matures  190 historical appraisal of industrial policy  505–6 see also R&D and industrial policy industrial organization  238 and the firm within an evolutionistic framework  50–51 four models of competition  515 modularity see under modularity and its implications for the theory of the firm New American model  459–60 industrial structure, role of  214–15 industry dynamics and nature of the firm  12–13 boundaries of the firm  13 factors driving life cycle of industry  12 role of shakeout  13 industry life cycles, the firm in  8–13 institutional structure of production  238 market structure: the impact of fixed costs at industry level  182–4 novel and specific inputs in early stages of industry development  190 transaction costs economizing  115 Industry and Trade (Marshall)  51, 209, 214
Information and Investment (Richardson)  239 information asymmetries  230–31, 300, 310, 396, 545, 550, 555
agency theory  73, 415–16
asset pricing  258
favouring the buyer  180 and regulation  531, 536, 538, 540–41
M&As  396
risk of conflict  541
and vertical integration  211, 213 innovation architectural innovation  454 autonomous innovations  371 and cognitive distance  278, 281 and collaboration  281, 371
duration  286–7
increasing and decreasing returns to knowledge  289–90
learning to collaborate  287–9 combinatorial innovation  454 and dispersion of productivity  204 evolution of innovative industries  9 firm as locus of technological innovation  165 and evolutionary theory  212–13
financing  215
and flexibility of relationships  280 and growth  328–9, 334
improvements in production technologies/products as societies’ advance  63–4 role of individual entrepreneurs  9, 64–7 and technical and institutional bases of firms  7
innovating firm and economic growth  246–7
innovation, the firm and the web of symbiotic relationships  429–31 innovation requiring complementary competences/effective coordination  11–12
innovation theory versus agency theory  339–45
innovative behaviour as the core of definition of capitalist firms  65–7 innovative enterprise see corporate governance, innovative enterprise and executive pay innovative performance and collaboration  286–7, 289–90 institutions and the four primary symbiotic innovation relationships  431–2 internal activities positively related to cooperation strategies/product innovations  129 and invention  424, 426–8
Japanese firms  204
linear model of innovation  503 low-wage countries  502–3 and M&As see mergers, acquisitions and firm performance measuring performance by  128 modularity
modular innovation  454 and networks in organization of knowledge and innovation  363–6 see also modularity and its implications for the theory of the firm new variations, innovations as common source of  248 organizational innovation  215, 216 and path dependence  215–16 platforms see innovation platforms, complexity and the knowledge intensive firm radical/systemic innovations  371 science-based firms innovation in products  128 supplier-dominated firms innovating in processes  128–9 and switching costs see product innovation when consumers have switching costs symbiotic innovation theory, ICT ecosystem as an application of 432–5 transaction cost theory/economics 130 and venture capitalism see corporation to venture capitlism
see also R&D; technology and knowledge innovation networks 365–6, 466–81 blurring firm boundaries 466
emergence of 412
increased rate of utilization favouring emergence of innovation networks 409 innovation networks from an actor’s t perspective and their dynamics 470–76
absorptive capacity 474–5
benefits of participating in innovation networks 470–72
cognitive distance and geographic distance 472–3
feedback on behaviour of other network members 473 importance for small companies 474 loose and dense networks 473–4 main roles of firms in innovation networks 475–6
structural embeddedness 472 trust among network participants 471, 472 innovation networks in economics – a late encounter 467–70 incentive-based approaches 467–8 informal networks 469 knowledge-based approach 468–9 social capital 469–70 instances of intra-industrial linkages 466 as inter-firm technological alliances 408 modeling and measuring innovation networks 476–80
agent-based modeling 476–7 social network analysis 478–80 nature of 466–7
summary and conclusions 480–81 innovation platforms, complexity and the knowledge intensive firm 358–72 collective knowledge and theory of complexity; opening boundaries of the firm 361–3
conclusions 371–2
growing consensus on idea of networks as loci of innovation 358 innovation as closed activity/demise of vertically integrated company as locus of technological knowledge 359–60 innovation platforms as governance forms for organization of complex innovation systems 366–71
in industry platforms 368–9 internal platforms 367–8 supply chain platforms 368 Internet as platform of platforms 433 modularity and networks in organization of knowledge and innovation 363–6 Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, An (Smith) 29–38 see also obscure firms in the Wealth of Nations
‘inspection’ and ‘experience’ goods 179 institutional economics 55, 70, 127, 217
see also new institutional economics institutional infrastructure: law, society and reputation 186–8
integration 50
business integration reducing costs 56 collaboration preferred over integration where rapid change in technology 130 horizontal integration 80, 210 limiting competition and facilitating producer cartels 182 integration of mass production/distribution creating modern corporation 406 managerial corporations traditionally vertically integrated 71 post M&A integration/nature of effective integration process 395, 396
of R&D 35
replacing the market by vertical and horizontal integration 80 upstream/downstream integration resulting in powerful enterprises dominating 70 vertical integration see vertical integration Intel [2009] 494
intellectual property/rights access to intellectual property 106 compulsory licences 496
copyright 127, 129
essential facility doctrine 495–6 limited scope of intellectual property rights/practical difficulty of enforcement 178 as the most relevant part of the firm’s capital 43 patents 178, 397, 398, 408, 436, 443, 496 policies 525 temporary monopolies as inducement to innovate 408, 436
inter-firm networks see under networks internationalization theory 172–92 Coase’s seminal contribution 173–5 exact nature of costs incurred by market vague 175, 211 market and management coordination 173–4 incurring different costs 173–4 ownership of resources being controlled in internal/external coordination 175
conclusions 192
coordinating economic activity through market and management 172 developing the internalization model: the importance of context 180–82 developing the internalization model: the role of knowledge 178–80 intellectual property rights problems 178 proving value of technology, difficulty of 178–9 quality control problems 179–80, 186–7 institutional infrastructure: law, society and reputation 186–8 intra-plant and inter-plant coordination 172
market structure: the impact of fixed costs at industry level 182–4 modeling internalization: basic principles 175–8 communication 176–7
local volatility and responsiveness 177 multinational enterprises 165, 189–90 other institutional factors 189–90 fiscal factors 190 ineffective markets and prices 189 sunk costs 184–6
forward contracts 185–6
hold-up problem 186
transaction cost theory, compared with 190–92 International Monetary Fund 160
‘international product life cycle’ theory 164–5 Internet 348, 517, 523 broadband 437–8, 441, 443–4 and entrepreneurs 523–4 ‘Internet stock bubble’ 341, 525 and knowledge boundaries of the four primary players 431 mergers following emergence of Internet 392 invisible hand 33, 411, 460, 555
Ito, Keiko 204

Jackson, G. 315
Jacobides, Michael G. 250, 26
Jaffe, A.B. 472
Jang, S.-L. 398, 401
Japanese firms 74, 148, 161, 194–205, 209 classical model of the Japanese firm 195–6 epilog: after Aoki/Fujimoto, aftermath of classical theories of J firm 200–201 main bank system 196, 197–8 from paradoxical facts to search for rational model of the Japanese firm 196 theories of Japanese firms directly connected to general theories of the firm 195 towards unified theory of J firms: Aoki’s work/changed understanding 197–8 Toyota and beyond: Fujimoto’s work and resource-capability theory 199–200 transition: transaction cost versus production-oriented theory of the firm 198–9 conclusion: defining a new research agenda on the Japanese firm 205 convergence towards the ‘A’ model/evolving diversity of firms 201–5 empirical evidence: increasing heterogeneity of performance/organization 202 human resource management 202–3 looking for ‘models’ 202–3 putting the heterogeneity of firms at the center of the theory 204–5 understanding the determinants of the evolving heterogeneity of firms 204 why some firms persistently out-perform other: the Japanese case 203–4 different from American and European counterparts 194, 201 evolution from late 1990s 195 keiretsu system 196, 210, 214
R&D 500, 502
see also Toyota Jensen, M.C. 107, 313, 416–17 free cash flows distributed as dividends 112, 340 shareholder value 340–41, 345, 351–6
Joas, Hans 276
Joglekar, N.R. 456
Johansson, D. 332–3
John, G. 141, 142, 144–5
Johnson, President 520
Johnson, M. 275
Jong, G. De 127, 128
Joskow, P.L. 144, 145
Journal of Economic Behaviour and Organization 96, 125
Journal of Institutional and Theoretical Economics 125
Journal of Law & Economics 125 Journal of Law, Economics & Organization 125 knowledge-intensive firm see innovation platforms, complexity and the knowledge-intensive firm ‘knowledge that’ and ‘knowledge how’ 233, 235, 240 limitations and extendibility of 233 objective and experiential knowledge 233 of opportunities 173 as a public good 181–2, 407–8, 506–7 recognition of organized knowledge and capabilities 56–7 relationship between knowledge and organization 50–51 risk of piracy 182 role of knowledge in developing the internalization model 178–80 structured 240
surrogate knowledge markets see corporation to venture capitalism tacit nature of knowledge 199 see also innovation; innovation networks; R&D; technology Knudsen, Thorbjorn 248
Koestler, Arthur 29, 38
Krafft, J. 4, 444
Kristensen, Hull 210, 216–17
Künneke, R. 129
Kuznets, Simon 35, 210, 214–15, 222
Laffont, J.J. 540
Lakoff, G. 275
Lane, David 425
Langlois, R. 3–4, 128, 198–9, 364, 384, 555
modularity 408, 457, 459–60
law and regulation 112, 113, 432 anti-trust see cartel and monopoly policy see cartel and monopoly policy copyright 129
divergence between state regulatory regimes allowing TNC location strategies 166–7 enforcing contracts, role in 188–9 and entrepreneurship 523 essential task of regulators 537 general incorporation laws, role of 58 see also legal corporate structure/foundations of the firm of innovative markets when consumers have switching costs 443–4 law of increasing returns 52 and network industries see regulated firms in liberalized network industries regulatory instruments 537–9 benchmarking 538–9
price cap/RPI-X regulation 538
Index 575

rate of return/cost-plus regulation 537–8 regulatory lag 539
regulatory risk and regulatory capture 539–42
public contracting 540–42
regulatory capture 540
role of legal property rights on physical assets 71 surface regulations 283–4 Layton, E.T. 407
Lazonick, W. 302
Lazzarini, S. 129, 131
learning by doing 199, 360, 406 Lechevalier, Sébastien 200, 202, 204 legal corporate structure/foundations of the firm historically 405 limited liability 56 managerial corporations, emergence of see under managerialist theories of the firm role of general incorporation laws 58 role of the state and importance of custom 58, 59 separation of ownership/control and boundaries of the firm 70–72 separation of ownership/control and corporate governance 72–74
Lehnerd, A.P. 369
Leiblein, M.J. 148, 149, 151–2 Lester, Richard K. 385
leveraged buyouts 312–13
Levinthal, D.A. 257, 266–7, 408, 455, 507
L’Her, J.-F. 310
liberalization see under regulated firm in liberalized network industries Lin, C.-H. 398, 401
Lippman, S.A. 257, 260, 262, 263
Littlechild, S.C. 538
Loasby, Brian 50–51, 52, 425
Locke, John 30
MacDonald, G. 262
Macher, J.T. 135, 137 machinery 31, 50, 280, 425–6 Machlup, Fritz 228 macroeconomic growth theory 34
Madsen, Tammy L. 259
Magill 495
Mahoney, J.T. 458
Makakok, R. 260–61
Makri, M. 399, 401
Malthus, Thomas 38
managerial firms/corporations see modern firms/managerial firms managerial labour markets 109–10 managerial theories of the firm 70–74, 76, 77, 89–95, 209, 213, 228–9, 299 hypothesis of income maximization and the reworking of the oligopoly theory 89–90 main features of managerial theories 94–5 separation of ownership/control and boundaries of the firm 70–72, 105 emergence of managerial corporations 71–2
role of legal property rights on physical assets 71
separation of ownership/control and corporate governance 72–74 control of managers by shareholders 73, 74 development of corporate governance 73–4 distinction between ownership and control leading to opposition of interests 72–3 and human resource management 314–15 shareholder activism preventing managerial drift 73 stakeholder approach to corporate governance 73, 74 Mandeville, Bernard 32
March, James 100
behavioural theory of the firm 96, 97, 299 organizations as individuals striving to attain own ‘sub-goals’ 99 Marengo, L. 452 markets
concepts of market 549–50
defining characteristics of markets 551 and organization 280–81 structure 182–4
Marris, Robin 76, 299
behaviour of managers 91–2 managers’ preference for growth 94 behaviourist theories 94 characterization of the managerial firm 90–91
growth of the managerial corporation 92–3, 94 institutional conception of the firm 90 managerial corporations 89, 90 rejecting profit maximization in favour of growth maximization 97 Marshall, Alfred 6, 9, 55, 210, 222, 227–8, 235, 237 creation and management of knowledge 11, 12, 468–9 differentiated knowledge, economic development through 231 diversity of firms in industry 231 equilibrium 515
knowledge of actual firms 96 Marshallian theory of the firm 49–54, 324 cooperation 51, 52
entry–exit of businesses 51, 53 evergence reasoning as backbone of Principles 49–50
increasing return 238 ‘industrial districts’ of mutually cooperating enterprises 36, 214, 301–2 industrial organization and the firm in an evolutionistic framework 50–51 internal and external economies of production 51, 52 Marshall and the neo-Marshallian view of the firm 53–4
relationship between knowledge and organization 50–51, 229, 240, 468–9
the representative firm 33, 49, 51, 52, 232 tendency to variation as chief cause of progress 230, 238
value, substitution and firm dynamics 52–3 wording of the law of increasing returns 52 principles of partial equilibrium analysis 214
‘scissors’ analysis of supply and demand
174 Martimort, David 540
Marx, Karl 7, 42–8, 63, 66, 298, 540 alienated labour 43 capitalist firm/capitalism 42, 405–6, 410, 413 concentration of capital 58 conclusion: micro-Marxism and comparative institutional analysis of the firm 47
rights and technology influencing each other 47
dynamic Coasianism 44–5 coordination mechanisms 45 firms versus markets 42–3 industry, role of 64 neglecting legal incorporation 58 neoclassical theory versus ‘normative Marxism’ 44
proletariat’s political victory as ideological tool 64
single-firm socialism 42 technology and rights: beyond neoclassical dual neutrality assumption 45–7 Marxian criticism of double neutrality assumption 46–7
Masten, S.E. 147–8, 149, 150
Mayer, K.J. 148, 149, 150–51
Mayer, M. 303
McDonald, G. 9–10
McManus, J. 165
Mead, G.H. 276
Means, Gardiner 55, 70–74, 76, 89, 90, 309, 344, 416
separation of ownership/control 70–74
Meckling, W.H. 107, 416
Meeks, G. 394
Merleau-Ponty, M. 275
Ménard, C. 120, 126
administrative control mechanisms in hybrids 122, 126
areas for future research on hybrids 125, 128 attributes of contracts 122, 126
attributes of hybrids 123 changes in governance structures 127 authoritative communications 233 definition of hybrids 121–2 discriminating alignment hypothesis and
hybrids 125
examples of hybrid governance structures 124 institutional environment stimulating change in governance structures 129 Menger, Carl 33, 66, 112, 227, 235
‘Merger movements in American industry’ (Nelson) 7
mergers, acquisitions, and firm performance 391–402
conclusions 401–2
effect of M&As on economic performance 394–9
effect of M&As on innovative performance 395–9 effect of M&As on input measures of innovative performance 396–7 effect of M&As on output measures of innovative performance 397–9 evolution of post-M&A innovative performance research 400–401 historical importance of M&S 391–3 developments in business environment ‘triggering’ M&A 391–2 motivations to improve performance by means of M&A 393–4
see also cartel and monopoly policy Metcalf, J.S. 52–3, 425–6, 452, 506
Meyer, M.H.  369
Milken, Michael  520–21
Miller, D.J.  151–2
Miller, R.R.  396
Mintzberg, H.  282
mirroring hypothesis  457–8, 461–2
Mises, Ludwig von  33, 228
Mitchell, Wesley  4–5, 56
Mitchie, J.  113
Miwa, Yoshiro  201
Modern Corporation and Private Property, The (Berle/Means)  70 modern firms/managerial firms agency theory  73, 105
  see also agency theory, corporate
governance and finance
behaviour of managers  91–2
characterization of the managerial firm  90–91
countervailing power  77–8
emergence of managerial corporations  71–2
growth of the managerial corporation  92–3 manageralist theories of the firm see managerial theories of the firm modern firm creating affluence  77 need to improve corporate governance and regulation  85 planning and the market  79–83
  competition  82–3
  strategies for dealing with uncertainty see under uncertainty and the firm planning and the technostructure  77–9
  coordination achieved and decisions made through organization  78–9 facilitating technological change by insulation from market uncertainties  77–8 upstream/downstream integration resulting in powerful enterprises dominating  70 Modigliani-Miller hypothesis  111 modularity and its implications for the theory of the firm  448–63 behavioural foundations of near-decomposability and modularity  452–7 problem-solving/emergence of near-decomposable or modular designs  452–5 benefits and dangers of near-decomposability and modularity  455–7 complexity, near-decomposability and modularity: definitions  448–52 defining modularity of a system  450–52 Kauffman’s NK model  448–50 conclusions and summary  462–3 modularity and the boundaries of firms  459–62 mirroring hypothesis revisited  461–2 modular production networks as a new industrial paradigm  459–61 modularity and industrial organization  457–62 mirroring hypothesis of problem-solving and system structure  457–9 modularity and the boundaries of firms  459–62
modularity theory  128, 130, 131 monitoring  109
monopolies
  as inducement to innovate  408, 436 policy see cartel and monopoly policy preventing competitive erosion of monopoly rents from R&D  182 temporary monopolies  215, 436 Monteverde, K.  140, 150
Moore, G.E.  235 moral hazard  213, 506
  agency theory  73, 105, 109
  licensors and licensees  126 Morales, R.  129
Moreno, A.M.  334
Morgan, R.M.  439
Morishima, Michio  196
Morroni, M.  3–4
Mueller, D.  11, 394
Mulani, S.  331
multinational firm  159–69 characteristics of transnational corporations  162–3 foreign direct investment  162–3 greenfield investment and mergers/acquisitions in a foreign country  163, 164 contractual arrangements, effects of changes in  191–2 economics of the transnational corporation  164–6 internalization theory of the multinational enterprise  165 international operations of national firms theory  164 ‘international product life cycle’ theory  164–5
  new trade theory of the MNC  165 outsourcing and networks  160, 163, 165–6 global exploitation of knowledge by  191 historically  159, 160
key issues in the study of transnational corporations 168 problems of using the market in international markets 189–90 TNC activities 160–61
direct business activities via ownership of assets abroad 161 foreign direct investment and portfolio investment 161 intra-firm and intra-industry trade 161 TNC and control 159–60
organizational control 160 ownership control 159–60 TNC strategic decisions need not operate in the wider public interest 85 why a special study of transnational corporations 166–7 differentials in regulatory regimes benefiting companies 166–7 Munkirs, John R. 540
Murphy, Kevin J. 341
Myers, S.C. 111, 114
Myrdal, Gunnar 57
Nanda, V. 441–3
NASDAQ see under corporation to venture capitalism
Nash, John 515
Nelson, Ralph 7, 506
Nelson, Richard R. 24, 243–52 evolutionary theory of the firm 57, 165, 212–13, 299–300, 418–19 essential building blocks – routines and their replication 244–5, 264, 282, 419
foundations 43–4
innovating firm and economic growth 246–7 research 506
neoclassical theory 127, 194, 209, 210–11, 232, 324, 417 assuming dual neutrality between rights and technology 45–6 firm as black box rational entity 210 limitations of the theory 21–11 and managerial theories 90 Marshall as precursor of 49 and natural selection theory 243–4 and ‘normative Marxism’ 44 Nesta, L. 420
networks
among economic agents 217–18 constructional selection 219 the firm as a bundle of networked resources 219 innovation networks see innovation networks see also innovation platforms, complexity and the knowledge intensive firm inter-firm networks/network firms 160, 166, 210 administrative mechanisms in inter-firm networks 122–3 bureaucratic networks 123–4 categories of inter-firm networks 123–4 hybrid governance structures as inter-firm networks 121 proprietary networks 124 social networks 123, 124
and modularity
modular production networks as a new industrial paradigm 459–61
modularity and networks in organization of knowledge and innovation 363–6 network industries see regulated firms in liberalized network industries New Industrial State, The (Galbraith) 76, 78 new institutional economics 55, 127, 468 agency concerns see under agency theory, corporate governance and finance firms as a combination of formal contracted obligations and informal ones 112 Marshall as forerunner of 49
realist theory 4–5
rejecting neoclassical view that technologies neutral on nature of property rights 46, 47 new trade theory of the MNC 165
Newbert, S.L. 259
Nickell, S.J. 510
Nickerson, J.A. 148–50
Nilsen, O. 331
Noordewier, T.G. 145
Nooteboom, Bart 144, 153, 280, 289, 473–4
Norman, G. 130
North, Douglass 432
novelty creation through vertical relationships 424–45, 555 economics and the creation of novelty 425–8 Adam Smith and the creation of new machinery 425–6
Index

Joseph Schumpeter on the inventor and the innovator 424, 426–8 innovation, the firm and the web of symbiotic relationships 429–31 firms’ relationships with their customers-users 429–30 internet and knowledge boundaries of the four primary players 431 institutions and the four primary symbiotic innovation relationships 431–2 new ICT ecosystem 432–5 as application of symbiotic innovation theory 432–3 six primary symbiotic relationships in the ICT ecosystem 433–4 novelty 424
value-creating conjecture, its context and its fortunes 428–9 obscure firms in the Wealth of Nations 29–38 capital accumulation and economic progress 34–5 ‘capital’ made up of tangible and intangible assets 35 extension of division of labour limited by availability of stock 34

conclusions 37–8
coordination challenge: spontaneous order 32–3 competition among producers necessary 33 price system as outcome of ‘spontaneous order’ 33 ‘private vice and public virtue’ theme applied to vision of market economy 32 spontaneous order as a decentralized information system 33, 35 core concepts central to Smith’s economic perspective/latent concept of the firm 29 economic order in an economy with firms 35–7 bottom-up, self-organizing aspect of ‘spontaneous order’ 33, 36–7 principle of increasing specialization 29–32 division of labour, economic significance of 29–31 incorporation of science into division of labour and increase in knowledge 31 increases in division of labour and invention of specialized machinery 31

Okazaki, Tetsuji 196
Olie, R.L. 395

oligopoly theory 89–90
Oliver, A.L. 472
Olson, M. 540
O’Neill, Thomas P. 523
opportunism and agency 105, 115 managerial labour market reducing costs of managerial opportunism 110 asset specificity as a restraint on 144 behavioural assumption of 122, 414 and bounded rationality 4, 83–4, 211, 468 complete contracts protecting against 46 and deceit 180 governmental opportunism 541 potential opportunism as a crucial decision variable 146 reputation, concern for 187–8
and short-term franchise contracts 536 third party opportunism 541 transaction costs theory of the firm based on 191, 211 and uncertainty 414
ordoliberalism 488–9, 493–4
O’Regan, N. 334
Organization Science 96 organizations and market 280–81
organization between organizations 285 organization theory 279–80, 299–300 organizational choice and organizational slack 99–100 organizational cognitive focus 277, 281–3 cohesiveness 284–5
examples 283–4
inclusiveness of focus 285 organizational fit 394–5 and transaction costs/theory 279 Orton, J.D. 365–6
Osborn, R.E. 145–6
Osterloh, M. 113
outsourcing 190, 210, 214 and networks 160, 163, 165–6 ownership and control of firms see legal corporate structure/foundations of the firm Oxley, J. 129–30

Padilla, J. 438
Pae, J.H. 436, 443, 445
Pareto 216 efficient decisions 85, 506 improvements 100, 236
Parker, S. 334
Parkhe, A. 146
Patel, P. 507
path dependence 220–21, 222, 247 and innovation 215–16 path-dependent theoretical development 262
Patton, Donald 385
Pavitt, K. 507
pay-for-performance schemes see performance-based pay Peirce, C.S. 276
Pelzman, S. 540
Penrose, Edith 3, 24, 32, 76, 84, 89, 227–34, 239–40, 300 authoritative communications 233 cognition 277, 290 conception of the firm 90, 228–9 competence view of the firm 219, 420 foundational propositions 229 corporate capital as proxy for managerial power 93 entrepreneurs 230, 231
growth 232, 235, 236, 237, 251, 257, 281, 299
the firm as a set of resources 212, 299 growth of knowledge inducing change in industrial organization 238 history of research 28 knowledge 229–31
development of distinctive knowledge within each firm 231 limitations and extendibility of 233 main asset of firms, knowledge base as 469 motivation 232
organization, importance of 233 neglect of Penrose’s work 238 resource-based view 256, 257, 264, 268
significance of time 240 training and integration of new managers 92 uncertainty and imagination 230, 234 performance-based pay 74, 108 common-pool approach to executive compensation as alternative 113 disadvantages 113
predominates in risky rather than stable businesses 109 promotion as alternative incentive 110 see also agency theory, corporate governance and finance Perraudin, C. 315
Peteraf, M.A. 258, 259, 262, 265
Petit, N. 489
Petty, William 30
Philippon, T. 331
Piaget, Jean 276
Pigou, A.C. 54, 324
Piore, Michael J. 385
Pisano, Gary 199
Pitelis, C.N. 101
Pittaway, L. 471
Popper, Karl 230, 238
Poppo, L. 148, 149, 150 portfolio investment 161, 164
Porter, Michael 256
Posner, Richard A. 5
Postrel, S. 287
Prabhu, J.C. 399, 401
pragmatism 276–7, 290
Prencipe, A. 365
Prendergast, C. 109
price applied price theory 256, 258 in department stores 97
excessive pricing 493
horizontal integration reducing price competition 80 as information 33
and markets
market coordination based on system of prices 71 volatile prices in ineffective markets 189 mark-up pricing 96
mechanisms governing supply price of a commodity 52 as outcome of ‘spontaneous order’ 33, 36–7 predatory pricing 494
reservation prices 99–100 searching for prices in the market 438 switching costs affecting pricing 440 transfer pricing 190, 279 vertical integration controlling 81 Priem, R.L. 261
principal–agent theory of the firm see agency theory Principles of Economics (Marshall) 49, 50, 53, 54, 55, 209, 214 privatization see under regulated firm in liberalized network industries Problems of Philosophy, The (Russell) 235 product innovation when consumers have switching costs 436–45
conclusion 444–5
consumer loyalty 438, 439, 443, 445 definition of product innovation 436–7 definition of relevant consumer switching costs for product innovation 437–9 effects of consumer switching costs 436, 439 product innovation when consumers have switching costs 439–41
announcement, entry and reputation 442–3 market share, firm size 441–2 patent protection 443 product innovation, timing of innovation 440–41 product line enhancing 442 regulation of innovative markets when consumers have switching costs: application to broadband Internet 443–4 retention–acquisition trade-off 439–40 property rights theory 114–15, 126, 257, 416 and transactions cost 262, 267 prospect theory 438
public policy in an entrepreneurial society 515–27 American exceptionalism 518–19, 525 back to the future 519–21 entrepreneurial society 516–18 features 517
four models of competition of industrial organization 515 moving to an entrepreneurial society 526–7 public policy in the entrepreneurial society 521–6 policies primarily affecting entrepreneurs 524–5 policies primarily affecting society 525–6 policies relating to the global economy 521–1 regional policies to promote entrepreneurship 523–4 taking entrepreneurship into account in setting national policies 522–3 pure theory 62, 63
Quandt, R.E. 98 quality control 179–80, 186–7, 199 Quélin, B. 127, 129, 130
R&D 405–22
acquisitions having direct negative effect on 396 demise of vertically integrated company as locus of technological knowledge 359–60 emergence of R&D as a new economic activity 405–9 technology and the firm 405–6 institutionalization of R&D 406–9, 411 evolution of the firm 409–12 evolution of the theories of the firm 412–21 evolutionary theories 418–21 transaction costs and agency theory 413–18 and industrial policy see R&D and industrial policy internal R&D 362
establishment 411
internal activities related to cooperation strategies/product innovations 129 and inter-plant internalization 172–3 Japanese firms 204
joint 129
after M&As 396–7
and monopolies see monopolies new technology generated by 178
routinized innovation 467 upstream and downstream production 180–82 as upstream stage of knowledge flow 178 see also innovation; innovation networks; technology and knowledge R&D and industrial policy 498–513 conclusion: the pillars of innovation policy 512–13 convergence between R&D policy and industrial policy 504–8 historical appraisal of industrial policy 505–6 new economics of science 507–8 old economics of science and its discontents 506–7 empirical evidence on structural change and knowledge-based competition 500–4 importance of R&D 498
R&D and industrial policy for the 21st century 508–12 non-monotonicity of the competition–innovation relationship 509–10 overcoming barriers to firm growth 510–12 uncertainty and the coordination of investments 508–9
uncertainty 498–9, 508–9
Raffaelli, Tiziano 231, 233
Ranjan, R.G. 115
Rao, C.P. 141
Ravenscraft, D.J. 394
Ravix, Jacques-Laurent 33
Raynaud, E. 127
real options theory 151–2 realist theory see under Coase, Ronald Rébéroux, A. 105
Reder, Melvin 263
regulated firms in liberalized network industries 530–43 competition over the existing network system 533–6 single buyer and independent producers 533–4 wholesale market 534–6 governance of liberalized systems: some concluding remarks 542 how to liberalize 531–7 competition between different network systems 532–3 competition for the market 536–7 competition over existing network system 533–6 corporatization and benchmarking 537 liberalization, privatization and (de)regulation 530–31 regulatory instruments 537–9
regulatory risk and regulatory capture 539–42
public contracting 540–42
regulatory capture 540
regulation see law and regulation Reich, Robert 352
reputation
announcement, entry and reputation 442–3 concern for 187–8
law, society and reputation 186–8 role of self-reputation 188
and trust 186–8
reservation prices 99–100 resource-based view/theories (RBV) 146–7, 150–53, 212–13, 256–69, 300 conclusions 268–9
dynamic capabilities 212
as half-way house 256–7
and the Japanese firm 195, 199–200
limitations of theory 213 ‘low church’ resource-based view 257, 263–5 key tenets 264–5
movement towards the middle 265–7 nature of a critical resource 212 origins and key tenets of ‘high church’ resource-based view 257–63 bargaining 261, 262
Chicago industrial economics as foundation for high church RBV 257–8 empirical work 259
key tenets 258–9
later work 260
origins 257
path-dependent theoretical development 263 resource accumulation 260–61 strategic market factors 261 transaction costs and property rights 262 Richardson, George 13, 24, 76, 227, 234–40, 256 business behaviour 235–6 capabilities and activities 238 perspective on inter-firm cooperation 120 relationships between capabilities 238 requirement for different capabilities 238–9 complementary and competitive investments 499 developing modern theory of the firm 50, 53, 237–8 equilibrium theory 227, 235 increasing returns 238 education 234–5
investment and growth 508 limitations of theory of efficient allocation 236–7 market connections 504 natural or contrived restraints 509 network of cooperation and affiliation by which firms are inter-related 53–4 organization of industry 371 role of chief executive 239
significance of time 240
Richman, B.D. 135, 137
Ring, P. 285
Rivkin, J.W. 457
Robbins, Lionel 49, 50, 54
Robertson, D.H. 6, 199, 369
modularity 457, 459–60
Robinson, Austin 229
Robinson, D. 126, 128, 130–31
Rodrik, D. 499, 505–6
Ross, T. 130
Rostow, W.W. 298
Rowley, T. 472, 473
RTE and ITP v. Commission [1995] 495
Rubery, J. 128
Rumelt, R.P. 257, 260, 262, 263
Russell, Bertrand 235
Ryall, M.D. 262
Ryle, Gilbert 233, 235
Salies, E. 444
Saloman, R.M. 150–51
Salvato, C. 265
Sampson, R.C. 148, 149
Samuelson, P. 45–6, 47
Sanchez, R. 458
Santarelli, E. 333
satisficing 97–8, 299

Index 583

Saviotti, P.P.  420, 452
Scale and Scope (Chandler)  297, 301, 555
Schaefer, S.  455
Schein, E.H.  282
Schiantarelli, F.  331
Schilling, M.A.  460
Schmittlein, D.C.  141
Schmoller, Gustav  62
Schramm, Carl  516
Schumpeter, Joseph  7, 9, 62–7, 76, 210
entrepreneur 9, 64–5, 230, 246
financing 545–6
and inner organization of capitalist firms 65–7 firms as institutions for coping with market uncertainties 79 firms’ size and R&D capacity 10 innovation and theories of allocative efficiency and growth 230 innovative enterprise 418–19 entrepreneurs 9, 64–7, 215, 412, 420, 467
and imitators 333
improvements in production technologies/products as societies’ advance 63–4 interwining between industrial and technological lifecycles 215
and invention 424, 426–8 market share and incentives to innovate 441 organizational innovation 215
routinized innovation 467
and technical and institutional bases of firms 7 key role played by management of demand/supply-side uncertainties 12 long-period contracts to tie prospective customers to investing firms 436, 439
and resource-based view 256 reversal of causal structure, consequences of 63 social value concept 62–3 Sengupta, S.  142–4
Shackle, George L.S.  230, 236 shakeout see under industry life cycles, the firm in shareholders activism 309
primacy/value 105, 201, 309, 311 maximizing see corporate governance, innovative enterprise and executive pay see also financialization and the firm Sheehan, M.  113
Shimizu, K.  259
Shy, O.  437
Silverman, B.S.  148–50
Simmel, G.  285
Simon, Herbert  57, 94, 191, 233, 237 entrepreneurship 9, 64–7, 215, 412, 420, 467
and imitators 333
improvements in production technologies/products as societies’ advance 63–4 entrepreneur as individuals striving to attain own ‘sub-goals’ 99 rationality of human agents 413–14
Sims, M.A.  334
Small European Market 161, 210, 222 small firms and industrial districts 375–85 concluding variations on small firms/industrial districts in knowledge economy 385–6 heterogeneous nature of small firms in industrial districts 381–2 industrial districts thriving on small firms 376–8 medium-sized firms, business groups and trans-local firms in industrial districts 382–4 nature of industrial districts 375 small firms thriving in industrial districts 375–6, 378–81 Smith, Adam  5, 7, 63, 209, 227, 234, 235, 236, 550 creation of new machinery 31, 424, 425–6
growth 238
invisible hand 33, 411, 460, 555
role of self-reputation 188 universal role of economic progress 231 see also obscure firms in the Wealth of Nations
societal contingency and societal choice 216–18
Soda, G.  120–26
Soete, L.  406
Spiller, P.  540–41
spillovers 99, 362, 456 effectiveness 472–3 importance 408–9 knowledge spillovers  408–9, 468, 471, 526 technological spillovers  469 Spinoza  275
spontaneous order see under obscure firms in the Wealth of Nations Steesma, H.K.  460
Stigler, G.  540
Stiglitz, J.E.  546
Stough, Roger  517
strategic management/theory  256, 258
and modularity  457–89
strategic fit  394–5, 398
see also modern resource-based theories Strategy and Structure (Chandler)  297
Stuart, T.  126, 128, 130–31
Stump, R.L.  144
Sturgeon, T.J.  460
substitution principle see under Marshall, Alfred Sugden, R.  84, 85, 166
sunk costs  184–6, 191, 213, 444, 508, 532–3, 536 Supercapitalism  352 (Reich)  352
surrogate knowledge markets see corporation to venture capitalism sustained competitive advantage  256, 258–9, 260 Sutter, R.  527
switching costs see product innovation when consumers have switching costs team production theory  109, 113 technology capitalist firms as motors of technological advance  62–4 demise of vertically integrated company as locus of technological knowledge  359–60 development of technology and knowledge/shakeout see under industry and the firm differentiation as development of specialized skills/knowledge  50 difficulty of proving value of technology to others  178–9 dispersion of productivity and rates of adoption of technology  204 dissemination of technology  511–12 dynamics of technological change a determinant/outcome of economic dynamics  215 enabling exploitation of resources  126–7 evolution of the modern firm linked to technological evolution  405–6 facilitating technological change by insulation from market uncertainties  77–8 foreign technology, access to  522 global exploitation of knowledge leading to emergence of multinational firms  191 higher profit margins resulting  209 ICT introduction and Japanese firms  204 importance of a technological base  233
innovating firm and economic growth  247 low levels of technology not requiring extensive organization or large firms  83–4 modern firms mitigating uncertainties around technological development  83–4 new technology collaboration preferred over integration where rapid change in technology  130
  and dispersion of productivity  204 evolutionary theory and technological competition  212–13 generated by R&D see R&D Japanese firms  204
  monopoly rents for new technology  182 science and invention of specialized machinery  31 rights and technology influencing each other  47 technological/knowledge relatedness and M&As  397–401 technological uncertainty see under uncertainty technology and rights: beyond neoclassical dual neutrality assumption  45–7 Marxian criticism of double neutrality assumption  46–7 value of on-going relationships declining due to technology obsolescence  129 see also innovation; innovation networks; knowledge; R&D Teece, D.J.  140, 150, 199, 371, 555–6 cohesion as cognitive concept  12, 420 dynamic capabilities  212, 264–5
Teubal, M.  547
Theory of Business Enterprise, The (Veblen)  56
Theory of Economic Development (Schumpeter)  63, 215, 246, 427–8, 545 Theory of Moral Sentiments (Smith)  236, 411 Thesmar, David  194
Thoenig, Mathias  194
Thorp, William  6
Tirole, J.  85, 114–15, 540
Index 585

Tocqueville, Alexis de 518
Tommasi, M. 540–41
Toyota 194, 199–200, 203 importance and success of 200–201 just-in-time concept/kanban system 35, 37–8, 196, 199 kaizen system for continuous improvements 199
keiretsu sub-contracting system 196, 210, 214 organizational capabilities/routines 199–200 record profits in macro-downturn 202 ‘pull’ system 284
Toyotism as post-Fordist organization of work 200 transaction cost empirical work 135–53 conclusions from empirical work 152–3 hybrid relationships studies 141–6
assessment of TCE predictive framework 142–6 developmental nature of the hybrid relationship studies 142–3 some limitations of the standard empirical testing and empirical responses 146–52 limitations of the standard TCE empirical tests 146–7 studies employing alternative empirical methods 147–50 studies testing TCE and alternative theoretical frameworks 150–52 tests of governance performance/alternative theoretical frameworks 147 standard empirical tests of TCE predictions 137–46
hybrid relationships studies 141–6 vertical integration studies 137–41
studies employing alternative empirical methods 147–50 differential costs of misalignment 149 discriminating alignment and performance 147–8 realignment of transactions 149–50 role of human asset specificity in firm performance 150 TCE theoretical framework and empirical testing 135–7 importance of asset specificity 135–6 specific predictions for vertical integration and hybrid relationships 136
vertical integration studies 137–41
assessment of individual TCE variables 137
assessment of TCE predictive framework 140–41
transaction cost theory/economics 128, 209, 211, 413–15 and behavioural theory 101 bounded rationality and opportunism, based on 191, 211 concerned with hierarchy 115 discriminating alignment hypothesis as core argument 124–5 empirical work see transaction cost empirical work evolutionary transaction costs economics 129 ex ante contract duration, focus on 131 focus on analyzing attributes of a single transaction 130 generalized transaction cost economics 131–2 hybrid governance see hybrid governance innovation, analysis of 130 internalization theory, compared with 190–92 and the Japanese firm 195, 198–9
law, role of 188
limitations of theory 211
and modularity theory 131
and opportunism 191, 211
organizations’ advantage over markets 279, 278 transaction cost economics as comparative efficiency perspective 120 value creation 261 transaction costs 3, 550 attributes of transactions 211
and bargaining 262
business integration reducing costs 56
Coase highlighting transaction costs of the market 44–5, 165, 211, 436 cognitive transaction costs 280 consumers 436, 438 contracting costs as 83
copyright 127
discriminating alignment hypothesis 127
disequilibrium transaction costs 45 firms resulting from instrumental choice of economizing on transaction costs 79 and formal model of real firms see under economics and theory of the firm governance structures of transactions 211
and M&As 396
make-or-buy problem see under vertical integration and opportunity discovery 267 organizations dealing with transaction costs more easily than markets 279 and property rights 262, 267 and resource-based view 262, 267 zero transaction costs 257 transnational corporations see under multinational firm ‘trend of government activity in the US since 1900, The’ (Fabricant) 6–7 trust and implicit and relational contracts 187, 280 networks participants, among 471 and reputation 186–8 Ulrich, K. 369 Ulset, S. 127, 129 uncertainty agreement under uncertainty, feasibility of 113 assessment of TCE predictive framework 140–41 behavioural uncertainty 414 facilitating technological change by insulation from market uncertainties 77–8 firms as institutions for coping with market uncertainties 79, 85–6, 414 modern firms mitigating uncertainties around technological development 83–4 external uncertainty 141 increasing contract terminations 129 hybrid governance structures governance under technological uncertainty 127 informal relationship structures attenuating problem 145 more efficient when transactions relatively uncertain 120, 124–5 uncertainty as determining factor for type of hybrid chosen 125 internal uncertainty 141 as necessary condition for firms’ existence and entrepreneurship 230 and opportunism 414 as opportunity 230 in R&D 498–9, 508–9 and risk 235 strategies used by technostructure for dealing with market uncertainties 79–82 absorbing uncertainty 80 control of the markets 80–81, 84 disregarding market uncertainties for unimportant items 80 replacing the market 80 use of long-term, money-denominated contracts 81–2 technological uncertainty 127, 141 governance under technological uncertainty 127 impact of technology and uncertainty on evolution of the firm 84 influencing choice of agreement/joint venture to govern alliance 145–6 influencing choice of means to govern alliances 145–6 negatively related to vertical integration 141 uncertainties involved in observing agent’s actions by principal 15 uncertainty avoidance 100 uncertainty positively correlated with use of agreements 145–6 United Kingdom divestment and delayering in Britain 303 financialization and corporate governance 309–10 Industrial Revolution 66, 409 R&D 409–10 see also R&D United States American exceptionalism 518–19, 525 see also public policy in an entrepreneurial society cartel and monopoly policy see under cartel and monopoly policy financialization/corporate governance see financialization and corporate governance and M&As 391–2 R&D 407, 500, 502 see also R&D venture capital see corporation to venture capitalism United States v. AT&T [1982] 487 United States v. Terminal Railroas Association [1912] 495 Utterback, J. 10, 418 van de Ven, A. 285 Van Dijk, M. 11 Vantage Point (Johnson) 520 Veblen, Thorstein, B. influence of 57 and the theory of the firm 55, 56–7 firm heterogeneity 256 importance of corporate legal forms 56 recasting economic principles along Darwinian lines 57 recognition of organized knowledge and capabilities 56–7 Vega-Jurado, J. 128–9
Venkatraman, N. 146
venture capitalism see corporation to venture capitalism
Verizon Communications Inc. v. Law Offices of John Curtis Trinko [2004] 495 Vernon, Raymond 164–5 vertical integration 4, 53, 100, 210, 460 circumstances when it is an efficient governance mechanism 136, 140–41, 211 technological uncertainty negatively related to vertical integration 141 controlling price and supply of strategic factors 81 demise of vertically integrated company as locus of technological knowledge 359–60 external uncertainty having inverse relationship with vertical integration 141 information asymmetries 211, 213
make-or-buy decisions 53, 140, 151, 211 market structure: impact of fixed costs at industry level 182–4 monopoly power encouraging 182 of R&D reducing risk of created knowledge being used by competitors 407–8 and vertical disintegration 72 growing trend towards 412
of R&D 408
vertical integration studies 137–41
assessment of individual TCE variables 137
assessment of TCE predictive framework 140–41
see also transaction cost empirical work; transaction cost theory/economics Vincenti, W.G. 407
visible hand 298, 408, 411, 555–6.
Visible Hand, The (Chandler) 297, 555
Vitt, J. 398
Vivarelli, M. 333
von Hippel, Eric 425, 430, 455, 457 von Humboldt university system 407 von Mises, Ludwig 33
von Stackelberg, Heinrich 515 Von Weizsäcker, C.C. 436, 439, 442
VRIN framework 258–9, 300
Wadeson, N.S. 191
Walker, G. 140, 235, 473
Walras, Leon 62–3, 174, 256 Wealth of Nations (Smith) 209, 231
see also obscure firms in the Wealth of Nations Weber, D. 140, 251, 279
Weick, K.E. 365–6
Weitz, B.A. 141, 144
Wernerfelt, B. 141, 257
Whittington, R. 305
Williamson, Oliver 55, 57, 76, 85, 165, 190, 228–9
behaviour of managers 91, 299 bounded rationality and opportunism 83–4 contracts contracting costs as transaction costs 83 contractual incompleteness 46
long-term contracting 128
discriminating alignment hypothesis 127, 135 efficient alignment of governance and transactions 127
dynamic capabilities 265
exogenous technologically separable units, existence of 3 firm adaptation 8
firms’ profits dependent on nature of objectives 94 hybrids 120
additional attributes 123, 126
definition 121
information systems, internal 197 institutions of capitalism/firms as outcomes of ‘private ordering’ 59 maximization of profit and maximization of growth 94
networks 468
‘opportunistic’ individual as the initial/elemental ontological unit 58 organization of the firm 413–15
multidivisional form of organization 213–14
transaction cost theory/economics 101, 135–53, 209, 299, 413–15, 417, 421 attributes of transactions 211
governance structures of transactions 211
importance of asset specificity 135–6, 414, 468
specific predictions for vertical integration and hybrid relationships 136
see also transaction cost empirical work; transaction cost theory/economics unimportance of strategizing for the firm 21 Winter, Sidney G. 24, 101, 468 critique of Friedman’s natural selection theory 243–4 evolutionary theory of the firm 57, 165, 212–13, 299–300, 418–19 essential building blocks – routines and their replication 244–5, 264, 282, 419
foundations 243–4
innovating firm and economic growth 246–7
simple rules and procedures, effect of firms using 97–8

Withley, Richard 210, 216–17
Witt, Ulrich 428
Woodard, C.J. 369
Wu, S. 300–301
Wuyts, S. 286
Yarrow, G.K. 94
Young, Allyn 238
Yvrande-Billon, A. 127, 129
Zaheer, A. 146
Zanarone, G. 129
Zenger, T. 148, 149, 150
Zingales, L. 115
Zylbersztajn, D. 129, 131