

Contents

---

List of contributors	ix
List of abbreviations	xiii
Preface	xvii
Acknowledgements	xxv

PART I THE IP ENFORCEMENT DEBATE

1	The changing global governance of intellectual property enforcement: a new challenge for developing countries	3
	Viviana Muñoz Tellez
	Introduction	3
	The evolution of international intellectual property law and policy-making	4
	The changing global governance of intellectual property standard-setting	9
	Conclusion	12
2	Ten general misconceptions about the enforcement of intellectual property rights	14
	Xuan Li
	Introduction	14
	Ten misconceptions on enforcement of intellectual property rights	16
	Conclusions	40
3	Re-delineation of the role of stakeholders: IP enforcement beyond exclusive rights	43
	Henning Grosse Ruse-Khan
	Introduction	43
	Delineating the main groups of stakeholders	45
	A developing country agenda on IP enforcement	53

4	WCO SECURE: legal and economic assessments of the TRIPS-plus-plus IP enforcement	62
	Xuan Li
	Introduction	62
	Background: WCO SECURE negotiations and coordination	64
	Legal analysis of the SECURE Working Draft	66
	Economic impact assessment of the SECURE working text	74
	Conclusion	77
PART II CASES AND DEVELOPMENTS ON IP ENFORCEMENT
5	Enforcing border measures: importation of GMO soybean meal from Argentina	81
	Carlos M. Correa
	The seed of discord	81
	Patents and territory	82
	Benefits without patent protection	84
	Ten years of inaction	85
	No patent infringement	86
	The first court decisions	90
	Conclusions	96
6	Flexible application of injunctive relief in intellectual property enforcement (with reference to lessons from the emerging US jurisprudence)	98
	Joshua D. Sarnoff
	Introduction	98
	Recent limits on judicial discretion to deny injunctions to stop infringing activity	100
	The eBay decision and restored judicial flexibility to deny injunctions	103
	Domestic policy flexibility for injunctive relief under the TRIPS Agreement	106
	The developing equitable jurisprudence of injunctive remedies after eBay	110
	Conclusion	124

7	Enforcement for development: why not an agenda for the developing world?	133
	Hong Xue
	Introduction	133
	An anatomy of United States versus China at the WTO	134
	Caveats of the enforcement agenda	141
	An enforcement agenda for development	145
	Conclusion	150

PART III STRATEGIC CONSIDERATIONS TO ADDRESS THE CHALLENGES

8	Dealing with forum shopping: some lessons from the SECURE negotiations at the World Customs Organization	159
	Henrique Choer Moraes
	Introduction	159
	SECURE: A safe haven for a TRIPS-plus agenda?	163
	Why is it a case of forum shopping? The SECURE project viewed from the context of the functioning of the WCO	172
	Dealing with SECURE from a developing country perspective	177
	Conclusions	183
9	Ensuring the benefits of intellectual property rights to development: a competition policy perspective	189
	Yusong Chen
	Background: global proliferation of intellectual property and challenges for developing countries	189
	Balancing intellectual property rights and public and social interests: approaches of developed countries	190
	Integrating competition policy and intellectual property: exploring policy spaces in international treaties	194
	Integrating competition policy and intellectual property: policy recommendations for developing countries	199
	Conclusions	201

10	Towards a development approach on IP enforcement: conclusions and strategic recommendations Xuan Li and Carlos M. Correa	207
	Bibliography	213
	Appendix: about the South Centre	228
	Index	229