Acknowledgements

I would like to thank Susie Nguyen and Tom Phelan for their careful reading of large parts of the manuscript.

I would like to acknowledge the benefit of presenting parts of the draft to seminars of the Faculty of Economics and Politics, the University of Cambridge; the School of Economics, the Australian National University; the Economics Program, the Australian National University; the School of Commerce, the University of South Australia; the School of Economics, the University of Wollongong; the School of Accounting, Economics and Finance, Deakin University; the School of Economics, the University of Adelaide; the School of Economics, the University of Western Australia; the Department of Economics, the University of Queensland; the Department of Economics, Monash University; the 20th and 22nd Conference of the History of Economic Thought Society of Australia; the 40th Conference of the UK History of Economic Thought Society; the 38th and 26th Australian Conference of Economists; and the 2nd Australian Macroeconomics Workshop.

The writing of this book was materially assisted by the Research Incentive Grants Scheme of the College of Business and Economics, Australian National University. It was also aided by the tranquillity and cordiality of the Kioloa Campus of the Australian National University, where a large part was written. The same thanks are owed to New College of the University of New South Wales, and the Women’s College of the University of Sydney.

I should also express my debt to conversations with Declan Trott, Henry Ergas, Paul Oslington and Andrew Leigh.