This book is part of a broader project we have been carrying out for a long time and it represents just the final link of a long chain of publications devoted to the investigation of the domestic impact of EU and ECHR law (G. Martinico and O. Pollicino (eds), The National Judicial Treatment of the ECHR and EU Laws. A Comparative Constitutional Perspective (Europa Law Publishing, Groningen, 2010); G. Martinico, 'Il trattamento nazionale dei diritti europei: CEDU e diritto comunitario nell'applicazione dei giudici nazionali', Rivista Trimestrale di Diritto Pubblico, 3/2010, 691, and O. Pollicino, Corti europee e allargamento dell'Europa: evoluzioni giurisprudenziali e riflessi ordinamentali, in Il Diritto dell'Unione Europea, 2009, 1–45 and L'allargamento ad est dell'Europa e rapporti tra Corti costituzionali e Corti europee. Verso una teoria generale dell'impatto interordinamentale del diritto sovranazionale? (Giuffrè, Milan, 2010). The first three chapters were written by Giuseppe Martinico and the last four chapters were written by Oreste Pollicino.

We would like to thank Monica Claes, Arthur Dyeve, Jürgen Kurtz, Irmantas Jarukaitis, Cian Murphy, Filippo Fontanelli, Aida Torres Pérez, Patricia Popelier, Ernst-Ulrich Petersmann and Lorenzo Zucca for their comments and Andrea Biondi, Bruno de Witte, Miguel Poiaras Maduro and Petros Mavroidis for their support to the project.

This book would have not been possible without the support of our former and present institutions: the Scuola Superiore Sant'Anna, Pisa (Sant'Anna School of Advanced Studies), the European University Institute (Florence) and its Max Weber Programme, the Centro de Estudios Políticos y Constitucionales, Madrid and the Bocconi University (Department of Law). We would like to thank Professors Paolo Carrozza, Giuseppe Franco Ferrari, Cesare Pinelli, Emanuele Rossi, Antonio Ruggeri, Andrés Sajó and Antonio Tizzano for their support.

Deserving of particular mention is the STALS project (www.stals.sssup.it), made possible thanks to the financial support offered by the Scuola Superiore Sant'Anna and issued within the framework of the School's internationalization policy, which generously financed the workshop 'National Judges and Supranational Laws: On the effective application of EC Law and the ECHR' which has proven to be fundamental in the economy of our research.

Finally, parts of this book were written during research periods spent abroad at the Central European University, Budapest, the Tilburg Institute of Comparative and Transnational Law (TICOM), the Netherlands, King's College, London, and the Institute of European and Comparative Law at the University of Oxford (Faculty of Law).
