

Acknowledgements

This book would not have been possible without encouragement and help from many people and organizations. I am particularly grateful to Patricia Craig, Neil Fligstein and Davydd J. Greenwood, who believed in this project and invited me for research visits, allowing me to gather the field material used in the study. A friendly environment magically created by Bruce Petschek made writing the book up a pure pleasure. So did the constant support from Joanna Jemielniak. Institutional help from Cornell University (Department of Anthropology and Mario Einaudi Center), Harvard University (Center for European Studies) and the University of California, Berkeley (Institute for Research on Labor and Employment) opened many doors that would otherwise have remained shut. Two sabbatical leaves, generously given by Kozminski University, gave me a rare luxury of focusing mainly on research. I am also grateful to Davydd J. Greenwood, Jerzy Kociatkiewicz, Paweł Krzyworzeka, Dominika Latusek and Anna Woźniak, for their remarks, comments and suggestions for revisions of the early drafts of the book. Also, the presented study and publication were possible thanks to financing from a research grant in 2007–09 from the Polish Ministry of Science and Higher Education.

The results of the research were originally presented in Polish in a monograph Praca oparta na wiedzy in 2008 (Warsaw: Wydawnictwa Akademickie i Profesjonalne). The current book is a revised and updated version of that publication.
