

Contents

Foreword	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	xi

PART 1 LEARNING FROM EARLY SCHOLARS

1 The contribution of Edith Penrose to international business scholarship	3
2 If Hymer were writing now With Christos N. Pitelis	20
3 Some antecedents of internalisation theory	47

PART 2 AN INSTITUTIONAL PERSPECTIVE ON INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS SCHOLARSHIP

4 A new Zeitgeist for international business activity and scholarship	63
5 The changing locational determinants of MNE activity: 1960–2006	93
6 Institutions and the OLI paradigm of the multinational enterprise With Sarianna Lundan	121
7 Towards a new paradigm of development: implications for the determinants of international business activity	148
8 Institutional reform, FDI and the locational competitiveness of European transition economies	189

PART 3 FDI AND THE COMPETITIVENESS OF FIRMS AND COUNTRIES

9 FDI, globalisation and development: some implications for the Korean economy and Korean firms	219
10 Foreign direct investment and the locational competitiveness of countries	240

11	The role of FDI in the regionalisation/globalisation debate With Masataka Fujita and Nevena Yakova	271
PART 4 SOME ETHICAL CHALLENGES OF GLOBAL CAPITALISM
12	In search of a global moral architecture	311
13	Corporate social responsibility: an institutional approach	356
PART 5 SOME PERSONAL REFLECTIONS
14	Perspectives on international business scholarship: fifty-five years of researching and teaching international business	379
15	The United Nations and transnational corporations: some personal reminiscences	402
	Index	435