Earlier versions of most of the chapters of this volume were originally published elsewhere, and I am grateful first to several publishers of books and journals for permission to reproduce the contributions written for them. Chapter 1 of Part 1 originally appeared as an article of the same name in Management International Review, 43(1), 2003, pp. 3–19. The present version of Chapter 2 draws heavily on a jointly authored article (with C.N. Pitelis of Cambridge University) entitled ‘Stephen Hymer’s contribution to international business scholarship: an assessment and extension’, which first appeared in the Journal of International Business Studies, 39(1), 2008, pp. 167–76. The final chapter in Part 1 is a slightly modified version of my article of the same title which was originally published in the Journal of International Business Studies, 34(2), 2003, pp. 108–15.

In Part 2, Chapter 4 was first published as an article of the same name in the European Journal of International Management, 1(4), 2007, pp. 278–301. Chapter 5 is a revised and updated version of a chapter of the same name published in a volume edited by John H. Dunning and Philippe Gugler entitled Foreign Direct Investment, Location and Competitiveness, Elsevier, 2008, pp. 83–110. Chapter 6 reproduces a jointly authored article with Sarianna Lundan of Maastricht University which was first published in the Asia Pacific Journal of Management, 25(4), 2008, pp. 573–93. Chapter 7 sets out a slightly amended version of an article which first appeared in Transnational Corporations, 15(1), 2006, pp. 173–227. The essence of Chapter 8 was originally published as a chapter in the aforementioned volume edited by John H. Dunning and Philippe Gugler, Foreign Direct Investment, Location and Competitiveness, Elsevier, pp. 175–202.

In Part 3, Chapter 9 was first published as an article of the same name in the Journal of International Business and Economy, 7(1), 2006, pp. 1–19; while the contents of Chapter 10, which have not been previously published, were first presented at a seminar in honour of Sanjaya Lall in Geneva in March 2007. Chapter 11, which concludes Part 3, is largely the same version of a jointly written article (with Masataka Fujita of UNCTAD and Nevena Yakova of Rutgers University) entitled ‘Some macro-data on the regionalisation/globalisation debate: a comment on the Rugman/Verbeke analysis’, which was first published in the Journal of International Business Studies, 38(1), 2007, pp. 177–99.

Chapter 12 in Part 4 of this volume sets out a substantially revised and updated version of a chapter entitled 'In search of a global moral architecture', first contained in my edited book Making Globalization Good, published by Oxford University Press in 2003, pp. 345–70. Chapter 13 is a revised version of a chapter of the same name, which was published in a volume entitled Corporate Governance and International Business edited by R. Strange and G. Jackson, Palgrave-Macmillan, 2008, pp. 168–95.

Part 5 of this volume contains two chapters. The first, Chapter 14, is an updated version of an article of mine of the same title, which first appeared in the Journal of International Business Studies, 33(4), 2002, pp. 815–35. The second, Chapter 15, is a revised and updated reproduction of a chapter of mine, and of the same name, in a volume edited by L. Cuyvers and F. De Beule entitled Transnational Corporations and Economic Development, Palgrave-Macmillan, 2005, pp. 112–37.

Secondly, I greatly appreciate the permission of Christos Pitelis and Sarianna Lundan to reproduce in Chapters 2 and 6 respectively two recent contributions I wrote with them.

Thirdly, as with many of my previous writings, it is my pleasure to warmly acknowledge the invaluable and efficient support of my personal assistant, Jill Turner, in the preparation of the typescripts of the volume for publication.

Finally, because of my illness and the uncertainty of the future course it might take, I asked Sarianna, who has co-authored the second edition of Multinational Enterprises and the Global Economy with me, and several other articles over the last decade, both to steer this volume through its final stages with the publishers and also to write a short Foreword. I warmly thank her for her ready willingness to take on both these tasks.
