

Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
1 Introduction	1
2 Business environmentalism: what are companies doing and how is it working?	7
A Voluntary reporting on environmental and sustainability performance	9
B Voluntary environmental performance standards	17
C Environmental management systems	24
D Negotiated compliance through voluntary agreements	31
E Conclusion: the varieties and results of business environmentalism	37
3 Why business environmentalism is important to environmental policy	51
A We can't write and enforce enough regulations	52
B Better management, private initiative, and continuous improvement	54
C Voluntary standards can support developing better public standards	58
D Public policy for voluntary business environmental efforts?	60
4 'New governance' theory and business environmentalism	65
A Using 'new governance' to supplement old regulation	66
B Does 'new governance' offer insight for business environmentalism?	72
C The role for law in 'new governance'	76
D The limits of 'new governance'	79
5 Supporting environmental management systems with regulatory rewards	88
A Regulatory benefits	88
B Reduced penalties	94
6 Regulating information about business environmentalism	101
A Information for green consumers	103
B Information for green investors	115

7	Business environmentalism and climate change – the elephant in the room	142
A	What are companies doing voluntarily about climate change?	144
B	Reporting on climate change for green consumers and investors	152
8	Conclusion	167
	Bibliography	173
	Index	193