

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Preface	xiii
Foreword Martin Kohli	xvii

PART I: INTRODUCTION

1. Aging populations, globalization and the labor market:
Comparing late working life and retirement in modern societies 3
Sandra Buchholz, Annika Rinklake, Julia Schilling, Karin Kurz, Paul Schmelzer and Hans-Peter Blossfeld

PART II: COUNTRY-SPECIFIC CONTRIBUTIONS

2. Increasing inequalities in Germany: Older people's employment lives and income conditions since the mid-1980s 35
Annika Rinklake and Sandra Buchholz
3. Late career instability and the transition into retirement of older workers in the Netherlands 65
Maurice Gesthuizen and Maarten H.J. Wolbers
4. Retirement in Italy: Rising social inequalities across generations 91
Paolo Barbieri and Stefani Scherer
5. Pathways from work to retirement and old age inequality in Spain 121
Jonas Radl and Fabrizio Bernardi
6. How 'flexicure' are older Danes? The development of social inequality in later life since the 1980s 149
Julia Schilling and Mona Larsen
7. Social inequality in the late career and old age income between 1981 and 2007: The case of the Swedish welfare state 179
Gabriella Sjögren Lindquist

8.	Late careers in Hungary: Coping with the transformation from a socialist to a market economy	207
	Alberto Veira-Ramos and Erzsébet Bukodi
9.	Increasing social inequality in later life since the 1980s in Estonia	231
	Kadri Täht, Ellu Saar and Marge Unt
10.	Income development of older people: Consequences of pension reforms and unstable careers in the UK	259
	Paul Schmelzer
11.	Late employment careers, transitions to retirement and retirement income in the United States	283
	Angela M. O'Rand and Jenifer Hamil-Luker
PART III: CONCLUSIONS AND DISCUSSION
12.	Comparing late working life and retirement in Europe and the US: The development of social inequalities in times of globalization and aging societies	311
	Karin Kurz, Sandra Buchholz, Alberto Veira-Ramos, Annika Rinklake and Hans-Peter Blossfeld
	Index	327