

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	viii
Introduction	ix
1 What is a disaster?	1
Introduction	1
What is a disaster?	1
Vulnerability	6
Risk	15
Drawing the links: disasters and development	21
2 What is development?	23
Introduction	23
Early ideas around development	24
Development theorising	27
The origins of the contemporary development landscape	30
Conceptualising well being and gendered well being	33
Drawing the links: development and disasters	38
3 Gender, development and disasters	41
Introduction	41
Gender as construct	41
Feminisms	44
Integrating women and gender into development	46
Engendering development	52
The World Bank engendering development	56
Drawing the links: engendering disasters	58
4 Internal and international response to disaster	61
Introduction	61
Response and rescue	61
Gendered actions for response and rescue	64
Livelihoods and coping strategies	68
Social networks and community response	72
Determinants of the level of external response	76

	Drawing the links: women's (in)visibility within rescue and response	83
5	Humanitarianism and humanitarian relief	85
	Introduction	85
	Classical humanitarianism	86
	Complex political emergencies as gendered conflicts	88
	'New' humanitarianism	91
	Relief aid in practice	95
	Drawing the links: longer-term implications of short-term relief	99
6	Reconstruction or transformation?	101
	Introduction	101
	Projects for reconstruction	103
	Lessons not learnt	106
	Gender issues in reconstruction	109
	The impact of reconstruction on women and households: the case of Nicaragua	114
	Drawing the links: reconstruction for transformation?	118
7	Case studies of secondary disasters	120
	Introduction	120
	Violence	120
	Psychosocial impact	127
	Drawing the links: what is the 'disaster'?	135
8	Political mobilisation for change	137
	Introduction	137
	National and international plans for reconstruction	138
	Civil society in post-disaster reconstruction	141
	Gendered participation post disaster	147
	Drawing the links: participation, fragmentation and feminisation	154
9	Disaster Risk Reduction	156
	Introduction	156
	The evolution in conceptualising Disaster Risk Reduction	156
	Climate Change Adaptation and Disaster Risk Reduction	160
	Disasters and the development agenda	162
	Feminisation of development and disaster discourse	169
	Drawing the links: globalisation or feminisation of responsibility?	176

Contents

vii

Conclusion – Drawing the links: gender, disasters and development 178

Bibliography 186

Index 227