

The Authors

Jan Bakkes is senior project leader for worldwide and European outlooks at the Netherlands Environmental Assessment Agency (PBL). Contact: jan.bakkes@pbl.nl

Dr. Stefan Böschen is Senior Researcher at the ERC (Environmental Research Center) at Augsburg University. His main topics are: Sociology of Science and Technology, Risk Sociology and Interdisciplinary Environmental Research. Contact: stefan.boeschen@phil.uni-augsburg.de

Katharina Diehl, Leibniz-Centre for Agricultural Landscape Research (ZALF), is a landscape ecologist. She specialised in nature conservation management and sustainable resource use. Her current research focus is on impact assessment, the science-policy interface and knowledge transfer methods in land use. Contact: diehl@zalf.de

Dr. Frank J. Dietz is an economist and has worked on Sustainable Development at the Erasmus University Rotterdam and at the Ministry of Environment. At the moment he is Head of the Sector Sustainable Development at the Netherlands Environmental Assessment Agency (PBL). Contact: frank.dietz@pbl.nl

Ignacio de la Flor, forestry engineer and MSc on Environmental Sciences, is an environmental technician at Tragsa. He works, in collaboration with the Spanish Ministry of Environment, on Eco-labelling criteria development and evaluation of products that apply for the EU Eco-label. Contact: ift@tragsa.es

Clive George has recently retired as a Senior Research Fellow at the Institute for Development Policy and Management (IDPM) at the University of Manchester. He remains an Associate of IDPM and is a Visiting Professor at the College of Europe, Bruges. Contact: clivegeorge@btinternet.com

Aldert H. Hanemaaijer (MSc) is a Senior Researcher and Project Leader on Sustainable Development at the Netherlands Environmental Assessment Agency (PBL). Contact: aldert.hanemaaijer@pbl.nl

Dr. Katharina Helming, agronomist, is senior researcher at the Leibniz-Centre for Agricultural Landscape Research (ZALF) e.V. in Germany, where she leads the research group on impact assessment and land use. Contact: khelming@zalf.de

Anna Hirschbeck is completing a master's in policy and programme evaluation at Sciences Po Lyon. As part of her studies, she is currently doing an internship at the Institute for Ecological Economy Research in the research field Ecological Product Policy where she is mainly working on the evaluation of a German eco-label. Contact: amh@mnet-mail.de

Dr. Bernd Hirschl is head of the department 'Sustainable energy and climate protection' at the Institute for Ecological Economy Research (IÖW) in Berlin and project director of the research project 'Fair Fuels? Between dead end and energy transition: A social-ecological multilevel analysis of transnational biofuel policy'. Contact: bernd.hirschl@ioew.de

Timo Kaphengst is a Fellow at the Ecologic Institute, where he serves as the biodiversity and forest coordinator. Working as an environmental economist, he focuses on international and European biodiversity protection policies, impacts of land use and land use change and biomass use for energy generation. Contact: timo.kaphengst@ecologic.eu

Colin Kirkpatrick is Emeritus Professor of Development Economics at the University of Manchester, UK. His current interests include trade and development, regulatory policy and public policy analysis. Contact: colin.kirkpatrick@man.ac.uk

Doris Knoblauch is a Fellow at the Ecologic Institute. Her work focuses on European and global environmental policy and governance. Thematically, she focuses on evaluation and (impact) assessments, sustainable development, public participation, as well as on environmental policy in developing countries. Contact: doris.knoblauch@ecologic.eu

Jakub Koniecki works at the Secretariat General of the European Commission, in unit C.2, dealing with better regulation and impact assessment. The unit also provides support to the Impact Assessment Board. Contact: jakub.koniecki@ec.europa.eu

Dr. Markku Lehtonen is Research Fellow at the Sussex Energy Group, Science and Technology Policy Research (SPRU), University of Sussex. Contact: m.lehtonen@sussex.ac.uk

Dr. André Martinuzzi is head of the Research Institute for Managing Sustainability and associate professor at the Vienna University of Economics and Business in Vienna. Contact: andre.martinuzzi@wu.ac.at

Dr. Anne C.M. Meuwese is a Senior Lecturer in Constitutional Law at the Tilburg University in the Netherlands, where she is co-directing a research programme on 'Constitutional Dialogues'. Contact: anne.meuwese@uvt.nl

Dr. Wolfgang Meyer is a Senior Researcher at Saarland University, Saarbruecken and Deputy Head of the Center for Evaluation (CEval). Contact: w.meyer@mx.uni-saarland.de

Anna Neumann works as a research assistant in the department 'Sustainable energy and climate protection' at the Institute for Ecological Economy Research (IÖW) in Berlin and is a team member of the research project 'Fair Fuels? Between dead end and energy transition: A social-ecological multilevel analysis of transnational biofuel policy'. Contact: anna.neumann@ioew.de

Anneke von Raggamby is Head of European Affairs and Senior Fellow at the Ecologic Institute. She works on European environmental governance, sustainable development and behavioural change, impact assessment and policy evaluation. Contact: anneke.raggamby@ecologic.eu

Dr. Frieder Rubik is head of the department 'Ecological product policy' at the Institute for Ecological Economy Research (IÖW) in the Heidelberg office. He focuses on sustainable consumption and production (SCP) and evaluation / assessment. Contact: frieder.rubik@ioew.de

Rebecca Stecker works as a research assistant at the Carl von Ossietzky University of Oldenburg, Department of Economics. Her research interests are environmental policy and economics, governance research and new institutional economics. Contact: rebecca.stecker@uni-oldenburg.de

Dr. Candice Stevens is a PhD economist who worked for the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) for 23 years, most recently as Sustainable Development Advisor, and who now consults on the economics of sustainable development from her office in Paris, France.

Contact: canstevens@gmail.com

Prof. Dr. Reinhard Stockmann, Professorship for sociology at the University of the Saarland, Director of the Centre for Evaluation (CEval), head of the study course 'Master of Evaluation', Managing Director of the German journal 'Zeitschrift für Evaluation'. Contact: r.stockmann@mx.uni-saarland.de Katharina Umpfenbach is a Fellow at the Ecologic Institute. She works in the field of energy and climate policy, focusing on the development and evaluation of climate mitigation strategies on the regional and local level.

Contact: katharina.umpfenbach@ecologic.eu

Stephen White works at the Directorate General for the Environment at the European Commission, in the unit of the Chief Economist dealing with impact assessment. The unit also provides support to the Impact Assessment Board. Contact: stephen.white@ec.europa.eu

PD Dr. Thomas Widmer is a Visiting Professor at the University of Zurich, Switzerland in the Department of Political Science. Contact: thow@ipz.uzh.ch