

Contributors

---

John Gaffney is Professor of Politics at Aston University, UK, and Co-director of the new Aston Centre for Europe. His two most recent book publications are Political Leadership in France (Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan, 2010, paperback 2012) and Celebrity and Stardom in Postwar France (co-edited with Diana Holmes, Oxford: Berghahn, 2008, paperback 2011). He has been a Visiting Scholar at Harvard, and is currently a Visiting Professor at Sciences-Po, Rennes. He has also published two monographs on the language of leadership in France and in Britain, and edited a dozen volumes on French and European Politics. He has contributed articles to journals such as Political Studies, Parliamentary Affairs, and West European Politics. He is currently finishing a book on French political culture.

Ludger Helms, editor, is Professor of Political Science and Chair of Comparative Politics at the University of Innsbruck, Austria. He has held previous positions or visiting affiliations at Heidelberg, Humboldt, Göttingen, Harvard, Berkeley, Tokyo, CEU, LUISS, and the London School of Economics and Political Science. His book publications include Presidents, Prime Ministers and Chancellors: Executive Leadership in Western Democracies (Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan, 2005) and Comparative Political Leadership (editor, Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan, 2012). He is the author, editor or co-editor of nine other books, numerous book chapters and of more than 50 articles in major journals, including the British Journal of Politics and International Relations, Current History, Government and Opposition, International Politics, Parliamentary Affairs, the Political Quarterly, and West European Politics.

Ellis S. Krauss is Professor of Japanese Politics and Policy-making at the School of International Relations and Pacific Studies, University of California, San Diego, USA. He is the co-author of The Rise and Fall of Japan's LDP: Political Party Organizations as Historical Institutions (Ithaca, NY: Cornell University Press, 2011), author of Broadcasting Politics in Japan: NHK and Television News (Ithaca, NY: Cornell University Press, 2000), and co-editor of Beyond Bilateralism: U.S.–Japan Relations in the New Asia Pacific (Stanford, CA: Stanford University Press, 2004). Other recent publications include articles in the American Political Science Review, the American Journal of Political Science and the British Journal of Political Science.

Jonathan Malloy is Associate Professor of Political Science at Carleton University, Canada and has a particular interest in Canadian and Westminster-model political institutions. He serves as president of the Canadian Study of Parliament Group and his work has appeared in Governance, the Canadian Journal of Political Science and the Journal of Legislative Studies among other outlets. His book Colliding Worlds: The Inherent Ambiguity of Government Agencies for Aboriginal and Women's Policy (Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 2003) was awarded the 2004 Levine prize from Governance for the best book published in public policy and administration. He has a separate interest in religion and politics and has published recent work in Politics, Religion and Ideology and the American Review of Canadian Studies along with several book chapters.

Gianfranco Pasquino is Professor of Political Science at the University of Bologna and Senior Adjunct Professor of European Studies at the Johns Hopkins University, Bologna Center, Italy. He is currently President of the Italian Political Science Association, and was also a member of the Italian Senate (from 1983 to 1996). He is the author of more than 20 books on Italian and European politics, including Sistemi politici comparati (2007, translated into Spanish and Portuguese) and La rivoluzione promessa: Lettura della Costituzione italiana (2011), and Il potere dell'alternanza: Teoria e pratica dei cambi di governo (co-editor with Marco Valbuzzi, 2012).

Gillian Peele is Fellow and Tutor in Politics, Lady Margaret Hall, University of Oxford, UK. She is the author of Governing the UK: British Politics in the 21st Century (Oxford: Blackwell, 4th edn, 2004), and co-editor of Crisis of Conservatism? The Republican Party, the Conservative Movement and American Politics after Bush (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2011), Developments in British Politics (various volumes and editions, Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan) and Developments in American Politics (various volumes and editions, Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan). Her work has also appeared in major journals, such as the Political Quarterly, Leadership, and Social Policy and Administration. She is currently completing a study on the regulations of standards in British public life.

Robert Pekkanen is Associate Professor at the Henry M. Jackson School of International Studies at the University of Washington, USA. He has published articles on Japanese politics in such journals as the American

Political Science Review, the British Journal of Political Science, the Journal of Asian Studies, and the Journal of Japanese Studies, among others. He is the author of the prize-winning Japan's Dual Civil Society: Members without Advocates (Stanford, CA: Stanford University Press, 2006) and co-author with his friend Ellis S. Krauss of The Rise and Fall of Japan's LDP: Political Parties as Historical Institutions (Ithaca, NY: Cornell University Press, 2011), and co-author or co-editor of two other volumes.

Bert A. Rockman is Professor of Political Science at Purdue University, USA. He is the co-editor of numerous major edited volumes, including more recently The Obama Presidency: Appraisals and Prospects (Washington, DC: Congressional Quarterly Press, 2011), Presidential Leadership (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2007) and The Oxford Handbook of Political Institutions (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2006). He is also the co-author of In the Web of Politics: Three Decades of the U.S. Federal Executive (Washington, DC: Brookings Institution Press, 2000). Important earlier works include The Leadership Question: The Presidency in the American System (New York: Praeger, 1984) and Bureaucrats and Politicians in Western Democracies (co-editor, Cambridge: Harvard University Press, 1981).

Richard Sakwa is Professor of Russian and European Politics at the University of Kent, UK. He is, inter alia, an Associate Fellow at the Royal Institute of International Affairs, and a member of the Academy of Learned Societies for the Social Sciences. He is the author or editor of more than 20 books. Recent book publications include The Crisis of Russian Democracy (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2011), Russian Politics and Society (London: Routledge, 4th edn, 2009) and Power and Policy in Putin's Russia (London: Routledge, 2009). He is also a co-editor of Developments in Russian Politics (various volumes and editions, Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan). His work has also appeared in such journals as Comparative Politics, International Affairs, Europe-Asia Studies, and The Journal of Communist Studies and Transition Politics.