

---

Index

---

- '3Ds' of built environment 26, 73
- '4Cs' of transportation capabilities 275
- 4th Dutch National Environmental Policy Plan (2001) 619–20
- '5Cs' of transportation capabilities 275
- '5Ds' of built environment 26, 73
- '6Cs' of major projects 380
- '7Ds' of built environment 73, 666–7

- A1 (international expressway) 238–9
- A15 project (Netherlands) 620–25, 627
- Aalborg (Denmark) 486–7
- Aarts, H. 493
- access charging 278–81
  - see also* road pricing
- accessibility
  - and community design 209, 214–17
  - defining 230
  - disaggregated accessibility measures 459–60
  - and Dutch transport policy 460–65, 471–2
  - and ICTs 503
  - and income 414, 421–3, 426
  - and JLE impact study 321–2, 324
  - measurement of 421–3, 459–60
  - and neighbourhood type 179, 181–2, 184
  - and new household location 76, 79, 81–2, 83–4
  - and non-motorized transport 460, 466–7
  - social dimensions 432–5, 437–8, 460, 464
  - and transport performance indicators 460–65, 471
    - see also* car ownership/availability
- active transportation 210, 213, 216–18, 220–21, 224
- active travel 32, 198–206, 531, 534, 581, 584
- activity nodes (land use–transport parameter) 141
- activity-based analysis 556–7, 558, 568–9
- 'aerotropolis' concept 371–2, 376
- age effect (cohort analysis) 540
- ageing populations
  - and car ownership/accessibility 539–40, 544–51, 553–4
  - cessation age for car-driving 539–42
  - characteristics of car owners 544–5
  - life changes post-car 551–3
- agglomeration economies
  - and business location 334, 340, 344
  - and economic impact estimation 250, 252
  - and wider economic impacts of transport projects 263, 269, 677
- aggregate analysis methods 84, 243, 251–3, 254
- Alonso, W. 234
- Amsterdam (Netherlands) 231
- Anas, A. 91, 97
- Annema, J. A. 396
- Antwerp (Netherlands) 231
- Appleyard, D. 442
- 'appraisal optimism' 384
- Aschauer, D. 251, 265
- attitude-related self-selection 150–52, 168–77
- attrition 438
- Australia
  - and active travel modes 198
  - Brisbane oil vulnerability case study 572, 574–83
  - Sydney 'familial automobility' study 529–31
- 'automobility' 434, 438, 483, 526, 528, 529–36
- 'automotive emotions' 483

- B2C (business to consumer) e-commerce 516, 518, 520
- 'backcasting' 661
- Banister, D. 238, 295, 481, 587, 594
- Barroso, J. M. 654, 656
- BART (Bay Area Rapid Transit) 508
- 'baseline conditions' (JLE impact study) 321, 330
- Batty, M. 459
- Beijing (China) 684
- benefit-cost analysis see cost-benefit analysis
- betweenness centrality (SNAMUTS indicator) 141
- Beveridge, W. 432
- BHLS (buses with high level of service)
  - advanced technology utilization 358–9
  - Asian systems 355–6, 358
  - Australian and New Zealand systems 356–7
  - components of 348–9
  - defining 346
  - European systems 354–5
  - global status of 351–7
  - Latin American systems 352–4, 358
- 'bicycle-friendly' communities 204
- Bikeability project (Denmark) 484–5
- Birol, F. 572

- 'black box' character of models 254–5
- Blackpool (UK) 311, 314
- Bogota (Columbia) 296, 297, 346–7, 349, 353, 360
- BRT (bus rapid transit) systems
- African systems 357
  - Asian systems 355–6, 358
  - Australian and New Zealand systems 356–7
  - components of 348–9
  - defining 346
  - European systems 354–5
  - global status of 351–7
  - and land development 360
  - Latin American systems 352–4, 358
  - and spatial implications of public transport investment 290, 291–2, 294, 296–7
  - US/Canadian systems 351–2, 353
- Bruinsma, F. 238–9
- Buchanan Report (1963) 465, 487–8
- California (USA) 210–12
- see also* Northern California
- Canary Wharf (London) 238, 323, 330, 331
- Cao, X. 32, 149, 152–3, 170, 173
- 'car addicts' 494, 665
- carbon dioxide/greenhouse gas emissions
- and climate change policy 599, 603, 604–6, 607–8, 609, 610–11
  - and energy consumption 37, 41–6, 49–52, 55, 57–8
  - and European transport policy 648–9
  - modal energy use comparisons 36, 37, 41–4
  - and non-motorized transport use 49–50
  - and population density 46, 48–50, 57
  - and public transport 44–7, 55–7, 58
  - reduction strategies 36, 37, 51–8
  - see also* climate change
- carbon rationing 607–9, 611
- car dependency
- and new household location 77–8, 80, 82–3, 84
  - and oil price volatility 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 578, 579, 581, 582, 584
- car ownership/availability
- and ageing populations 539–40, 544–51, 553–4
  - and income 414, 415, 416–17, 418–19, 424, 427–8
  - and neighbourhood design 444, 453–4
- 'car-fixation' 491–9
- 'car-free' development 441
- car-pooling 530, 534
- carsharing schemes 534–5, 536, 604, 686
- Cato Institute 368
- CeMoRe (Centre for Mobilities Research) 482
- central place theory 513
- Cervero, R. 26, 27, 90, 91, 295, 360, 666–7
- Chen, C. -L. 305, 306
- Christaller, W. 513
- 'city of short distances' concept 447, 450–51
- Clark, C. 229, 232–3, 290, 301, 679
- climate change
- and C&C policies 607–10, 611
  - and carbon rationing 607–9, 611
  - and economic growth 602–3, 604
  - and energy consumption 600–601, 603, 605–6, 608–9
  - and greenhouse gas emissions 599, 603, 604–6, 607–8, 609, 610–11
  - prospects for future generations 600, 605–6
  - see also* carbon dioxide emissions
- C-MUS (Centre for Mobilities and Urban Studies) 482, 485
- Cohen-Blankshtain, G. 291–2, 504
- co-location 74, 78–80, 83, 84–5, 91–2, 93, 102, 252, 681
- community design
- and accessibility 209, 214–17
  - and active travel 198–206
  - measuring 203–5
  - and population density 201, 202, 203
  - and street networks 210, 220, 224
  - see also* neighbourhood design
- commuting
- house move choices influencing travel distance 67–8
  - and leisure travel 587, 590, 593–4
  - longer-distance commuting choices 66–9, 70, 78
  - and neighbourhood design characteristics 181, 193–4
  - and new household location 74, 76–8, 79–83
  - and wider economic impacts of transport projects 260, 262, 263, 267
- compact cities 73, 137, 438, 588–91, 594, 681
- congestion
- and spatial structure 90–91, 93, 96–7, 101
  - as transportation capability 275
  - and urban freight distribution 273, 274, 278, 279
- congestion charge (London) 54, 397, 398, 399, 407
- 'control' areas (JLE impact study) 320–21, 329
- cost forecast inaccuracies 380, 381–4, 389–90
- cost overruns 380–85, 387, 389, 391
- cost-benefit analysis (CBA)
- and carbon dioxide emissions 52
  - and Dutch road pricing study 394, 397–9, 402, 405, 407–8, 409–11

- and economic impact estimation 243–4, 249, 253
- and Jubilee Line Extension 318–19
- and major projects 380, 390
- and wider economic impacts of transport projects 259–60, 261, 266, 270
- 'counter-urbanisation' 60, 63, 69
- Crossrail scheme (London) 269–70
- cultural perspectives (on family/parenting) 528–33
- cultures of mobilities
  - and 'mobilities turn' 479, 481–4, 485, 487, 488
  - 'staging mobilities' 486–7
  - and transportation research 479, 480–81, 487–9
- Curitiba BRT system (Brazil) 294, 296–7, 346–7, 351–4
- Curtis, C. 140, 421
- cycling see non-motorized transport
- 'death of distance' 503
- densification 114, 133, 660, 670
- 'desirable cities' 683
- 'discernment factors' 74
- distance decay function 230
- 'dormitory' cities 337
- Dowling, R. 532
- Dutch National Transport Model System (LMS) 400, 405, 410, 460–62
- Echenique, M. H. 115
- econometric estimation models 252–3, 265, 296
- economic growth
  - and accessibility 463, 465
  - and climate change 602–3, 604
  - and economic impact estimation 243, 251, 253
  - and European transport policy 652–3, 655, 656
  - and hub airports 363, 365, 370–71, 372, 373, 375–6
  - and social policy 430–31, 434
  - and wider economic impacts of transport projects 260–61, 264–5, 268
- economic growth theory 87
- economic impact estimation
  - and 'accessibility' 247–9, 254
  - and agglomeration economies 250, 252
  - and aggregate analysis methods 251–3, 254
  - and benefit-cost analyses 243–4, 249, 253
  - cliometric methods 253, 254
  - and induced demand 245–6
  - see also* wider economic impacts of transport projects
- economies of scale 232, 236, 264, 268, 284, 514, 606, 683
- edge cities 98, 233, 371
- emissions see carbon dioxide/greenhouse gas emissions
- energy consumption
  - and carbon dioxide emissions 37, 41–6, 49–52, 55, 57–8
  - and climate change 600–601, 603, 605–6, 608–9
  - and leisure travel 587, 588–9, 591, 592–3, 594, 595–6
  - and new household location 73, 76, 77–85
  - and population density 665
  - and renewable energy 43, 365, 368, 375, 582, 601, 603, 608, 610, 683
- Escobar, A. 431
- European transport policy
  - and economic growth 652–3, 655, 656
  - evolution of common transport policy 645–7, 655
  - and sustainable mobility 647–50, 652, 653–4, 656
  - and Trans-European Transport Network initiative 250, 269, 650–52, 655, 656
- Ewing, R. 22, 23, 25, 26, 27, 296, 666–7
- Feitelson, E. 291–2
- Flyvbjerg, B. 381–2, 383, 384, 389
- 'forced car ownership' 415, 424
- Freiburg (Germany) 441, 444, 445, 446, 448–52, 453–6
- fuel poverty 423, 424, 435
- Garden City Movement (UK) 442–3
- Gärling, T. 498
- Geels, F. 502–3, 616, 617
- gender
  - and ageing populations' car ownership/accessibility 539, 540–45, 552–3, 554
  - and familial relationships 527–8, 529–31, 536
  - and travel-mode socialization 496–7, 499
- Geurs, K. 230, 410, 459
- GFC (global financial crisis) 571
- GLA (Greater London reference area) 324–5, 327–8
- Goetz, A. R. 480, 482
- Good Roads Movement (USA) 209
- Gordon, P. 25, 74, 79, 83, 90, 93
- Gössling, S. 594
- Graham, D. J. 252
- Great Britain National Travel Survey 415–16
- Greater London (UK) 104–16
  - see also* London
- 'Green Belt' areas 61–2

- Green Party (Germany) 631
 Grieco, M. 481
 GTC (generalized transport costs) 177
 GWB ('general well-being') 431
- Halden, D. 460, 472
 Hall, P. 305, 306, 315
 Hamer, R. 507
 Hampstead Garden Suburb (London) 442–3
 Handy, S. 149
 'Happiness Index' 431–2
 HATS (Household Activity-Travel Simulator) 671 hedonic price functions 247–8
 Hensher, D. A. 274, 286
 Hickman, R. 79
 high mobility cities 680–81
Highway Capacity Manual (US) 460
 Hjorthol, R. J. 519, 546
 Holden, E. 589–90, 591, 592
 'home zones' 444, 445, 448, 449
 HS2 (proposed HST network) 315, 604–5
 HSL-South project (Netherlands) 386–8, 389, 391
 HSTs (high-speed trains)
   and agglomeration economies 301, 304, 313
   and climate change 604–5
   defining 302
   development of 302–3
   French systems 302, 303–4, 306–13
   inter-regional impacts 301, 303–4, 305–7, 310, 315
   and political leadership and governance 312–13
 hub airports
   and accessibility 373–4
   and 'aerotropolis' concept 371–2, 376
   and economic growth 363, 365, 370–71, 372, 373, 375–6
   and sustainable development 365, 376
 'hypermobility' 434
- IATA (International Air Transport Association) 363
 ICTs (information and communications technologies)
   and accessibility 503
   and BRT systems 346, 348, 358–9
   and carsharing schemes 535
   and e-retailing 512–21
   relationship with travel 502–9
   and substitution effects 502, 503–7, 508–9
   and telecommuting 503, 504–5, 507
   and travel time 507
- IEA (International Energy Agency) 358, 572
- Illich, I. 434
 IMD (Index of Multiple Deprivation) 420, 421–3, 431, 432
 'inadequate mobility' 433, 437–8
 income
   and accessibility 414, 421–3, 426
   and car ownership 414, 415, 416–17, 418–19, 424, 427–8
   characteristics of low income people 415–16
   and new household location 82–3, 84
   and oil vulnerability 573, 575, 578–9, 583, 584
   and 'transport poverty' 414–16, 421, 423–5, 426–8
 indirect effects 292, 369, 399, 400, 401–2, 405
 induced demand 245–6 industrial location theory 334, 367
 'inmovers' 75, 77–8, 84
 Internet
   and 'change' 678–9
   and e-retailing 512, 514–17, 519–21
   and network society 514–16
 IPCC (Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change) 36, 599
 Isle of Dogs (London) 321–2, 323, 330
- Jensen, O. B. 483, 484, 486–7, 488
 Jevons Effect 52
 JIT (just-in-time) strategies 232, 285–6
 JLE (Jubilee Line Extension, London)
   accessibility impacts 321–2, 324 benefit-cost analysis 318–19
   employment/economic development impacts 324–5
   'incumbent' and 'migrant' population impacts 326–9
   and micro-level spatial impacts 295
- Jones, P. 318
- Kasarda, J. D. 371, 376
 Kassel RegioTram system (Germany)
   balancing 'local' and 'central' interests 633–41
   and North Hesse region 633–5, 637, 638, 643
   success of 641–2
- Kemp, R. 616
 Kemperman, A. D. A. M. 569
 Kenworthy, J. 37, 39, 42, 167, 588
 Kenyon, S. 507
 Kitamura, R. 591
 Klöckner, C. 495, 496, 498
 'knowledge economies' 301, 306–7, 313, 315, 619, 678
 'knowledge workers' 232, 370

- Kockelman, K. 26, 153
 Krugman, P. 236, 367, 685
 Kwan, M. P. 667
 Kyoto Protocol 648, 681
- Labour government (UK) 466
 labour market (as driver of productivity) 263 land markets 88, 93, 100–101, 102, 247, 292, 334
 Landis, J. 91
 LATS (London Area Travel Survey, 2001) 104, 106–8, 111, 113
 Laube, F. 37
 Lefebvre, J. 444
 leisure travel
   and carbon dioxide emissions 587, 588, 594–5
   and compact cities 588–91, 594
   and energy consumption 587, 588–9, 591, 592–3, 594, 595–6
   growth of 587
   and planning policy 588–94, 595
 Levinson, D. 239, 680
 Linnerud, K. 589–90, 591
 location theory 334, 367, 459, 680
 London (UK)
   congestion charge 54, 397, 398, 399, 407
   Crossrail scheme 269–70
   HST systems 305, 307, 312–13, 315
   and Jubilee Line Extension see JLE
   see also Greater London London Olympics (2012) 323, 472
 longer-distance commuting choices 66–9, 70–71, 78
 longitudinal designs (methodological approach) 152, 153, 172, 173
 Los Angeles (USA) 21, 22, 181, 232, 360
 low mobility cities 680
 LRT (light rail transit) systems 290–92, 293, 295–6, 297
 Lucas, K. 420, 467, 468
 Lyons, G. 483, 507
- Maastricht Treaty (1992) 645, 647, 648, 650, 652
 Mackie, P. 245, 397
 macroeconomic simulation modelling methods 249–50
 macro-level spatial impacts 292–4, 297
 Madrid Metro Line 12 see Metrosur
 Madrid Metropolitan Area (Spain) 335–7, 338
 major projects and accountability 388–91
   characteristics of 380
   and cost-benefit analysis 380, 390
   and cost forecast inaccuracies 380, 381–4, 389–90
   and cost overruns 380–85, 387, 389, 391
   and decision-making 380, 381–3, 391
 Manchester (UK) 296, 302, 307, 308, 312–14
 Manchester International Airport (UK) 312–13
 Marshall, S. 212–13
 ‘matched pair’ analysis 73, 75
 Matthies, E. 495, 496, 498
 mCenter (Center for Mobilities Research & Policy) 482
 median running ways (BRT systems) 348–9
 ‘megacities’ 351, 358, 678, 679, 686
 ‘mega-projects’ 244
 Mejia-Dorantes, L. 339
 Metrobüs (Istanbul) 355
 Metrobus (Mexico City) 349
 Metrolink (Manchester, UK) 296
 Metrosur (Madrid Metro Line) and business location 335, 337, 339–44
 Metz, D. 590
 Meyer, A. 607
 Millard-Ball, A. 534
Millennium Cities Database for Sustainable Transport 37–41, 44–50, 56
 MLP (multi-level perspective/framework) 616, 617, 627
Mobilities (journal) 482
 ‘mobilities design’ 485, 488
 ‘mobilities turn’ 479, 481–4, 485, 487, 488 mobility difficulty 415–16, 417
 mobility effects 516–20
 modification effects 502, 506–7, 508, 512, 513, 516, 521
 Mokhtarian, P. 149, 170, 173, 590, 594
 mothering 529–31, 535
 multinomial logit model approach 339–40, 342–3, 344
 multitasking 507, 509
 multivariate statistical analyses 121–2
 MVV (Munich public transport management organization) 294
- Næss, P. 484, 589, 590–91
 NATA (‘new approach to appraisal’) 466–7
 National Travel Survey (UK) 60–61
 ‘need’ for transport 422
 ‘neighbourhood classification’ 181–2
 neighbourhood design and car-oriented planning 441, 455
   and car ownership 453–4
   characteristics of 179–80, 181, 183–90, 193–5

- Garden City Movement (UK) 442–3 policy outcomes 452–5
 and public transport 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 454, 456
 and self-selection 441
 traffic restraint policies 443–4, 445, 447–9, 456
see also community design
- neighbourhood type and design characteristics 179–80, 181, 183–90, 193–5
 and non-motorized transport 149, 159
 and residential location decisions 179, 180–82, 184, 190, 192–5
 and self-selection 149–52, 154–63
 network connectivity 141, 201
- New Economic Geography 250, 367, 685
- new household location
 and accessibility 76, 79, 81–2, 83–4
 and car dependency 77–8, 80, 82–3, 84
 and commuting 74, 76–8, 79–83
 ‘inmovers’ 75, 77–8, 84
 ‘outmovers’ 75, 77–8, 84
 and population density 79–80, 84
 and public transport accessibility 81–2, 84
 and self-selection 83
 ‘stayers’ 75, 77–83, 84
 and sustainable development 73, 79, 85
see also residential location
- ‘New Urbanism’
 and accessibility 111–12, 114–15
 and commuting 106–11, 112, 113, 114–16
 and public transport 104, 111–12, 113, 114–15
 and sprawl 137, 138
- Newman, P. 52, 167, 588
- NGOs (non-governmental organizations) 591
- NHOS (New Household Occupier Survey) 74–5, 76–83
- NHTS (Nationwide Household Travel Survey) 98–101
- non-motorized transport
 and accessibility 460, 466–7
 and active travel 32, 198–206, 531, 534, 581, 584
 and neighbourhood design characteristics 179, 180, 193–4
 and neighbourhood type 149, 159
 and residential location case studies 120–21, 128, 129–30, 132
 and street networks 217
- Nordbakke, S. 546
- NVV (North Hesse Transport Association) 631, 634, 637–8, 639–40, 643
- obesity 220–21, 224
- OECD (Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development) 137
- oil prices
 Brisbane oil vulnerability case study 572, 574–83
 and car-dependency 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 578, 579, 581, 582, 584
 and public transport services 574–5, 578, 579, 581, 582, 584
 VAMPIRE Index 576, 578–9, 580, 581, 582–3
 VIPER Index 576–8, 581, 582–3
- ‘oil shock’ (1970s) 136
- OLS (ordinary least square) regression model 96, 97–8
- Olympic Delivery Authority (UK) 472
- optimism bias 384
- ‘outmovers’ 75, 77–8, 84
- parenting 526, 528–34, 535, 536
- Paris (France) 303–4, 306
- PCA (Personal Carbon Allowance) 608, 611
- ‘peak’ in global oil production 572
- pedestrianization 296, 298, 443, 454, 682
- per passenger kilometre (energy use measure) 37, 41–4, 55, 368, 610
- per vehicle kilometre (energy use measure) 41, 42, 284
- Perry, C. 443, 444
- planned behaviour theory 491–2
- planning policy
 and accessibility 60, 67–8, 70, 459, 460–72
 and car dependency 59, 66
 and climate change 601–10
 and oil vulnerability 579, 581–4
 and public transport-oriented development 136, 137–40, 142–3, 144–5
 and wider economic impacts of transport projects 259, 260, 268–70
see also European transport policy; road pricing
- point pattern analysis 339
- population decentralization 96, 97–8
- population density
 and BRT systems 296–7
 and carbon dioxide emissions 46, 48–50, 57
 and community design 201, 202, 203
 and commuting 79–80, 84
 and low mobility cities 680
 and neighbourhood type 185–6, 188
 and new household location 79–80, 84
 and spatial structure 96, 97
 and sprawl measurement 21, 28–9
- population growth
 and hub airports 371, 375

- and Jubilee Line Extension impacts 323–4
- and oil vulnerability 574
- and planning policy 59
- and PTOD 137
- and spatial structure 91, 96, 101
- and sprawl 31
- and street networks 213–14
- and sustainable development 59, 61
- Port Sunlight (UK) 443
- Portland (USA) 21, 22, 23, 182, 293
- 'potential accessibility' 143, 465, 466, 472
- PPPs (public–private partnerships) 277, 386, 388
- 'prehension' 664, 665–6, 667–70
- Preston, J. 245
- principal component analysis 22, 96–7, 184, 186
- principal–agent relationship 384
- private ownership 384–6, 388–91
- privatization 303, 309, 311, 363, 368, 381, 388
- ProRail (Dutch infrastructure management company) 386
- Prud'homme, R. 397
- PSC (public sector comparator) 387–8
- PSM (propensity score matching) 152, 153, 156, 158–63, 172, 173
- PTA (Public Transport Authority) 143–4
- PTOD (public transport-oriented development)
  - accessibility tools 139–44, 145
  - and land use–transport integration 138–9, 140–45
  - and planning policy 136, 137–40, 142–3, 144–5
  - and polycentric development 136, 137–8, 144
  - and public transport efficiency 136–7
  - and sprawl 137, 138
  - and transport corridors 136–7, 139, 142
  - and urban structure 136–7
  - see also* TOD
- public ownership of transport systems 384–6, 388–91
- public transport
  - and accessibility 76, 79, 81–4, 111–12, 115, 122, 132, 136, 137–45, 460, 462, 465, 467, 469–71
  - and carbon dioxide emissions 44–7, 55–7, 58
  - and 'familial automobility' 528, 529–30
  - and impact of oil price volatility 574–5, 578, 579, 581, 582, 584
  - and leisure travel 587, 589, 591, 592, 594, 595–6
  - and low mobility cities 680
  - and neighbourhood design 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 454, 456
  - and new household location 81–2, 84
  - 'New Urbanism' case study 104, 111–12, 113, 114–15
  - public transport-orientated development see PTOD
  - and self-selection 174
  - and sustainable development 686
  - and transport corridors 60, 70, 136–7, 139, 142
  - and 'transport poverty' 414, 419, 422–3, 424, 425, 427
- Radburn (New Jersey) 443
- rectilinear street network patterns 208–9
- 'Red Flag' Act 441
- 'reference' areas (JLE impact study) 321, 329
- reflexivity 616, 620
- regression analysis 24, 91, 96–9, 131–2, 160, 163, 167, 190, 193, 420, 463–4, 496, 589–90, 666
- REMI (Regional Economic Models, Inc.) 250
- renewable energy 43, 365, 368, 375, 582, 601, 603, 608, 610, 683
- resident typology 75, 76–7
- residential preferences 154, 157–60, 162
- Richardson, H. 25, 74, 79, 83, 90
- Riesefeld (Germany) 445, 446, 448–50, 451–2, 453, 454–5, 456
- Rietveld, P. 238–9, 371
- Rip, A. 616
- road pricing (Netherlands study)
  - and carbon dioxide emissions 402, 408–9
  - cost-benefit analysis 394, 397–9, 402, 405, 407–8, 409–11
  - cost-effectiveness of schemes 394, 398, 399, 400, 405–11
- road safety 157–60, 175–6, 210, 213, 217, 220, 224
- Roadmap to a Single European Transport Area* (White Paper) 649
- Rostow, W. 260, 430
- Rotem-Mindali, O. 520
- Rotterdam (Netherlands) 620–25, 627
- RPAA (Regional Planning Association of America) 443
- SACTRA (Standing Advisory Committee on Trunk Road Assessment) 268, 270
- 'Safe Routes to School' programmes 534
- Salomon, I. 506, 593
- San Diego (USA) 295
- San Francisco (USA) 198, 442, 508, 591
- SCGE (spatial computable general equilibrium) models 250, 251

- 'school runs' 531–2, 534, 535–5
 Schwanen, T. 535
 Scottish Transport Appraisal Guidance (2003) 467
 self-esteem (well-being dimension) 546, 548 self-selection 4
   and accessibility 174, 177
   and active travel modes 203
   common methodological approaches 152–3, 170, 171–2, 173
   and compact cities 589, 590–91
   defining 167–8, 176
   influence on travel behaviour 30
   and neighbourhood design 179, 180, 193–4, 441
 SEU (Social Exclusion Unit) 415, 467
 Sheller, M. 482, 483
 Sipe, N. 576
 SNAMUTS (Spatial Network Analysis for Multimodal Urban Transport Systems) tool 140–45
 SNCF (French train operator) 306, 311
 Social Democrat Party (Germany) 631
 'soft measures' 206
 Spatial Gini index 97
 spatial implications of public transport investment 290–98
 spatial interaction theory 513
 spatial structure and city-size 87–9
   and compact development 87
   and congestion 90–91, 93, 96–7, 101
   dispersed forms 90, 91, 92–8
   and population density 96, 97
   and regression analysis 91, 96–9
   and self-selection 90
   spatial implications of public transport investment 290–98
   and sprawl 87, 90, 91, 93
 sprawl
   and accessibility 20–21, 22, 25–30, 31
   consequences of 149
   defining 21–2
   development patterns 20–21
   health/well-being costs 25–6
   measuring 21–5
   and 'New Urbanism' 137, 138
 'staging mobilities' 486–7
 'stayers' 75, 77–83, 84
 Stead, D. 594
 Stein, C. 443, 444
 Stokes, G. 420
 Storper, M. 685
 'streetcar suburbs' 291
 street configuration 211, 213, 217–19
 street connectivity
   and active travel 201
   and 'cities for people' 682
   and 'D' variables 27, 29–30
   and street networks measures 209, 211–12, 213, 215–20
 street networks
   and active transportation 217–20
   evolution of 208–10, 211, 213–14
   and 'New Urbanism' 222
   and non-motorized transport 217
   and road safety 217, 220
   street network density 209, 211–12, 213, 215–17
   street network measures 211–12, 213
   and vehicles miles travelled 213–16
Streets and Patterns (book) 212 streets factor (sprawl measurement) 22, 23–5
 structural equations models (methodological approach) 152, 153, 172, 173
 Sunnyside (New York) 443
 sustainability/sustainable development
   and accessibility 465, 466, 471, 681
   and 'aerotropolis' concept 372
   defining sustainable development 686
   and European transport policy 647–50, 652, 653–4, 656
   and neighbourhood design 441, 444, 445, 446, 448, 454, 456
   and new household location 73, 79, 85
   and planning policy 59, 60, 61–2, 69–71
   and public transport 686
   and temporality 660
   and transition management 614–16, 617–20, 622–7
   and 'transport poverty' 427–8
 Sustainable Development Commission (UK) 427
 Sustainable Development Strategy (UK) 60
 'sustainable mobility' 358, 481, 614, 617, 619–20, 624, 627, 647–50, 655–6, 681–2 telecommuting 503, 504–5, 507, 593–4
 'teleleisure' 593
 temporality 660–62, 663, 666, 671–2
 TEN-T (Trans-European Transport Network) initiative 250, 269, 650–52, 655, 656
 TfL (Transport for London) 319, 399
 TGV (Train à Grande Vitesse) 302, 303, 306, 307, 310–11, 312, 314
 TGV-Nord (French HST rail system) 302, 303, 306, 307, 310–11
 'The Northern Way' 313
 'The Second Railway Age' 301
 Theil index 97

- Thrift, N. 483
 Timmermans, H. J. P. 569
 Titheridge, H. 589
 TM-cycle (transition management cyclical process model) 618–19
 ‘to be’ (well-being dimension) 549
 ‘to have’ (well-being dimension) 549
 ‘to love’ (well-being dimension) 549
 TOD (transit oriented development)
   and BRT systems 360
   and carbon dioxide emissions 56
   and spatial implications of public transport investment 293
   and spatial structure 90
   and sustainable development 683
   see also PTOD
 ‘Too Little Mobility’ (social policy discourse) 433–4, 438
 ‘Too Much Mobility’ (social policy discourse) 434–5, 438 transition management
   and accessibility 614, 615, 620, 622–4, 626
   and sustainable development 614–16, 617–20, 622–7
   and transition theory 616–17
 transport appraisal 465, 466–7, 472, 483 transport corridors 60, 70, 136–7, 139, 142
 transport costs
   and accessibility 230, 235, 239, 461, 462, 464, 465
   and agglomeration economies 233, 234–7, 250
   definition of 229
   and self-selection 166
   and spatial development 230
   and spatial structure 88, 90
 transport geography 434, 480–81
 transport performance indicators 460–65, 471 ‘transport poverty’ 414–16, 421, 423–5, 426–8
 ‘transport rationales’ 484
 Transport Studies Unit (University of Oxford) 4 ‘transport wealth’ 425–6
 Transport White Papers (EU) 653–4
 transportation capabilities 275
 Transportation Research Board (USA) 115
 ‘transport-proofed’ social policies 438
 Transumo (Transition to Sustainable Mobility) programmes 620–25, 627
 travel distance
   and accessibility 421–2, 462–3
   and ageing populations 559–62, 569
   and house move choices 67–8
   and income 417–18, 420
   and increased transport speeds 229
   and new household location 73, 78, 80–82, 84
   and residential design 444, 450
   and residential location 127, 128, 131
   socio-economic factors influencing 66–7
   and telecommuting 505
 ‘travel kurtosis effect’ 76, 84
 travel time
   and accessibility 461–4, 465, 466, 469–70, 471–2
   and BRT systems 350, 358, 360
   and community design 200
   and commuting 90, 92–9, 100, 101
   and ‘cultures of mobilities’ 481, 483
   and gender 496
   and hub airports 366
   and ICTs 507
   and parenting 529, 531
   and PTOD 137, 141
   and self-selection effects 166, 168, 175
   and spatial structure 90, 92–101
   and sprawl 24–5, 27
   and wider economic impacts of transport projects 262–3
 travel-mode habits 491–9
 TravelSmart initiatives (Australia) 534
 Tripp, A. 443
 ‘trips per year’ measures 417–18
 Tübingen (Germany) 441, 444–8, 450, 451–2, 453–4, 456
 ‘two-way road’ argument 264
 UITP (International Union of Public Transport) 37
 UK (United Kingdom)
   accessibility in transport policy 465–71, 472
   Garden City Movement 442–3
   HST systems 302, 303, 304, 305, 307–15, 604–5
 Unwin, R. 442, 443, 444
 ‘urban concentration’ policy 61, 65–6
 urban containment 60, 104, 133, 681
 urban freight distribution and access charging 278–81
   business environment trends 281–6
   and congestion 273, 274, 278, 279
   consolidation in distribution 282–5, 287
   and environmental concerns 273, 278
   JIT and QR strategies 285–6
   and productivity 273
   and road infrastructure 273
 ‘Urban Renaissance’ 104, 116
 Urry, J. 481–2, 484
 USA (United States of America)
   and active travel modes 198, 202, 203

- carbon dioxide emissions data 39, 44, 46, 57
  - carsharing schemes 534
  - city-size rankings 88–9
  - and e-retailing 514–15
  - and high mobility cities 680
  - modal energy use comparisons 43–4
  - obesity epidemic 220–21
  - public transport-oriented development
    - 137–8
  - residential location decisions 180, 181–2
  - and spatial implications of public transport
    - investment 290–91, 293, 295–6
  - and spatial structure studies 90–101
  - and sprawl measurement 21–2
  - and sprawl pattern definitions 20–21
  - traffic restraint policies 443
- VAMPIRE (Vulnerability Assessment for Mortgage Petroleum and Inflation Risk and Expenses) 576, 578–9, 580, 581, 582–3
- van Wee, B. 168, 174, 176, 177, 230, 410, 459
- Vauban (Germany) 445, 446, 448, 449, 450, 451–2, 453, 454–5, 456
- Vickerman, R. 265
- VIPER (Vulnerability Index for Petroleum Expenses and Risks) 576–8, 581, 582–3
- VMT/VMD (vehicle miles travelled/driven) 59–60
- ICT impacts on 504
  - and induced demand 245
  - and neighbourhood type 154, 159–60
  - and new household location 83
  - and population growth 213–14
  - and spatial structure 90, 92
  - and sprawl 23–5, 27–30, 31
  - and street networks 213–16
- VOT (value of time) 397, 399, 407
- VT (Versement Transport) tax 312
- VVD-CDA coalition government (Netherlands) 411
- walkability index 204
- ‘walkable’ neighbourhoods 149, 179, 180, 204
- walking see non-motorized transport
- ‘wasteful commuting’ 234
- WBCSD (World Business Council for Sustainable Development) 51, 52
- WCED (World Commission for Environment and Development) 615
- Webber, M. 138, 444
- Wegener, M. 296
- welfare economics (in transport network evolution) 239–40, 240–41
- well-being 25–6, 431, 545–51, 552, 553–4
- Wheaton index 97
- Whitehead, A. N. 661–72
- WHO (World Health Organization) 198, 203
- wider economic impacts of transport projects
  - and accessibility 260, 269, 273
  - and agglomeration economies 263, 269
  - and cost-benefit analysis 259–60, 261, 266, 270
  - direct impact 262, 270
  - and economic growth 260–61, 264–5, 268
  - empirical evidence 265–8
  - and ex-post monitoring 267–8
  - and planning policy 259, 260, 268–70
  - theoretical evidence 260–65
  - and transport project appraisal 268–70