

Contents

---

List of contributors	vi
Preface	vii
1 Human rights: moral or legal? Tom Campbell	1
2 Human rights as moral rights Kevin Walton	27
3 Are we violating the human rights of the world's poor? Thomas Pogge	40
4 Human rights and political agency: on Pogge's analysis of human rights violations today Duncan Ivison	73
5 Universalism and particularism in human rights: trade-off or productive tension? Neil Walker	89
6 The particularism of human rights discourse Patrick Emerton	113
7 Democracy and human rights: good companions Jeremy Waldron	145
8 Recasting the relationship: human rights, democracy and constitutionalism as material topoi of legitimacy Euan MacDonald	170
9 Autonomy, identity and self-knowledge: a new 'solution' to the liberal-communitarian 'problem'? Jacqueline Mowbray	201
10 Four human rights myths Susan Marks	217
11 Where hope meets expectation between human rights idealism and pragmatism David Kinley	236
Index	257