

Contributors

ABOUT THE EDITORS

Prof. Dr Jan Wouters, Director, Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies, at the University of Leuven (KU Leuven) and InBev-Baillet Latour EU-China Chair. Jan Wouters is Professor of International Law and International Organizations, Jean Monnet Chair Ad Personam EU and Global Governance and Director of the Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies and Institute for International Law, KU Leuven. He is Visiting Professor at Sciences Po and the College of Europe, President of the Flemish Foreign Affairs Council and Of Counsel at Linklaters. He is a Member of the Royal Flemish Academy of Belgium for Sciences and Arts. He studied law and philosophy in Antwerp and Yale University (LLM 1990), was a Visiting Researcher at Harvard Law School and obtained his PhD at KU Leuven (1996). He taught at the Universities of Antwerp and Maastricht, was Visiting Professor at Liège and Kyushu University and Référéndaire at the European Court of Justice (1991–94).

Prof. Dr Tanguy de Wilde d'Estmael, Institute for European Studies and InBev-Baillet Latour EU–China Chair, Université catholique de Louvain (UCL). Tanguy de Wilde is Professor of International Relations and European Politics at the UCL. He is President of the Louvain School of Political and Social Sciences and Director of the InBev-Baillet Latour EU–Russia and EU–China Chairs. A Member of the European Studies Institutes (UCL-FUSL), he is a Visiting Professor at the College of Europe in Bruges (Department of EU International Relations and Diplomacy Studies). Tanguy de Wilde has been Director of the Centre d'études des crises et des conflits internationaux (CECRI-UCL from 2001 to 2007) and a Visiting Professor in Paris, Tunis, Geneva, Beirut and Toulouse.

Mr Pierre Defraigne, Executive Director, Madariaga – College of Europe Foundation. Pierre Defraigne has been Executive Director of the Madariaga – College of Europe Foundation since April 2008. An economist and European civil servant from 1970 to 2005, he retired as Deputy Director-General in DG Trade in March 2005 after having been Head of Cabinet for Pascal Lamy, European Commissioner for Trade

(1999–2002). Previously, he was Director for North–South Relations and Head of Cabinet for Etienne Davignon, Vice-President of the European Commission (1977–83). He set up the Brussels branch of the French Institute for International Relations (Eur-Ifri), which he managed from 2005 to 2008. Pierre Defraigne is a lecturer in economics at the College of Europe (Bruges) and at the Institute for European Studies (UCL and FUSL). He is also a Visiting Professor at Zhejiang University (China). His interests focus on international economic policies, political economy and relations with developing countries.

Prof. Dr Jean-Christophe Defraigne, Institute for European Studies, University Faculties of St Louis, Brussels. Jean-Christophe Defraigne holds a PhD in Economics from the University of Brussels. In 2003–4, he was research fellow at the University of International Business and Economics of Beijing (Jing Mao Da Xue, formerly known as the University of MOFCOM/MOFTEC) on EU–China economic relations and on the comparison of regional integration processes in Europe and Asia. He has also been a research expert for China’s Zhejiang government, the JETRO and Notre Europe. He is currently Professor in Economics at the Institute for European Studies of St Louis-Brussels University and Visiting Professor at Zhejiang University and at the Louvain School of Management. His research focuses on the comparative analysis of technological changes and industrial and trade policies in Europe, the USA and East Asia.

ABOUT THE CONTRIBUTORS

Prof. Dr Michel Aglietta, Université de Nanterre, Paris X and Counsellor at CEPII. Professor Aglietta is Emeritus Professor at the University of Paris-X Nanterre and scientific advisor for the Center of International Studies and Forecasting (CEPII), and for Groupama-am. He is a former member of the French Council of Economic Advisors attached to the Prime Minister and former senior member of the Institut Universitaire de France. His most recent books are: Corporate Governance Adrift, with A. Rebérioux (Edward Elgar, 2005); Désordres dans le capitalisme mondial, with A. Berrebi (Odile Jacob, 2007); Macroéconomie Financière (5th edn entirely revised), Collection Grands Repères, La Découverte, 2008); La Crise (Michalon, November 2008); Crise et rénovation de la Finance, with Sandra Rigot (Odile Jacob, 2009); Les hedge funds: entrepreneurs ou requins de la finance?, with Sabrina Khanniche and Sandra Rigot (Perrin, 2010).

Dr Elena Atanassova-Cornelis, Research Fellow and Lecturer, KU Leuven, UCL and Antwerp University. Elena Atanassova-Cornelis holds a PhD in Japanese Studies (2007) from KU Leuven where she is at present a Research Fellow. She teaches courses on ‘Geopolitical and Strategic Issues of Northeast Asia’ at the Université Catholique de Louvain (UCL) and ‘East Asian International Relations’ at the University of Antwerp (UA), Belgium. She has also lectured at Ghent University, Belgium, and the Brussels School of International Studies (BSIS) of the University of Kent, UK. Her research interests include contemporary Japanese foreign policy and East Asian international relations with a special focus on security. She currently focuses on Japan’s national security transformation, Japan–China–US security relations, and the evolution of a new security order in East Asia. She also examines non-traditional security issues in Asia, especially in the context of EU–Asia relations.

David Belis, Research Consultant – Taishindo Services, HIVA Research Institute for Work and Society, KU Leuven. David Belis is research consultant at Taishindo Services and at HIVA Research Institute for Work and Society, KU Leuven. Prior to this he was research fellow and project coordinator at the Institute for International and European Policy and junior member of the Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies at KU Leuven. His main research areas are global climate governance and EU–Asia climate relations. Previously, he was project manager of the InBev-Baillet Latour EU–China Chair at the Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies. He obtained a masters degree in Chinese Studies and Comparative and International Politics at KU Leuven.

Prof. Dr Qu Bo, China Foreign Affairs University. Qu Bo is a post-doctoral research associate at Princeton University under the programme of Oxford-Princeton Global Economic Governance, and assistant professor of China Foreign Affairs University (Beijing). He holds a PhD in political science from Peking University. His research interests focus on international monetary and financial cooperation, China’s participation in international institutions and international political economy. He has published on IPE, IMF lending conditionality and case study research methods.

Prof. Dr Hans Bruyninckx, Director of HIVA Research Institute for Work and Society and Senior Member of the Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies, KU Leuven. Hans Bruyninckx is Professor in Global and European Environmental Governance at the Faculty of Political Sciences and Senior Member of the Leuven Centre for Global Governance

Studies at KU Leuven. His research emphasises the influence of the various globalisation processes on the global governance of environmental problems and sustainable development. The translation and testing of innovative and critical social theories (such as network and flows perspectives) to multi-level governance arrangements of global environmental and sustainable development issues are at the core of this team's research efforts. His recent research includes specific expertise for the role of China in environmental governance.

Mr Bram Buijs, Clingendael International Energy Programme (CIEP), Clingendael Asia Studies, Clingendael Institute. Bram Buijs joined the Clingendael International Energy Programme (CIEP) in January 2009. After taking a Master's degree in Mathematics he specialised in energy and geopolitics in a second Masters on Contemporary Asian Studies, writing his thesis on the future challenges facing China's energy system. In between these studies he spent six months in Shanghai, China, studying Mandarin and returned to Shanghai in 2006 to set up a representative office for a Dutch high-tech industrial design company. For one and a half years he combined work in China with an intensive Chinese language programme at the Shanghai International Studies University. He will continue with research on energy and Asia at CIEP, initially focusing on the challenges to a sustainable energy system in China and its stance in post-Kyoto climate treaty negotiations.

Mr Matthieu Burnay, Project Manager of the Inbev-Baillet Latour EU–China Chair, Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies, KU Leuven. Matthieu Burnay studied Law and Political Science at the Facultés universitaires Saint Louis in Brussels and the Katholieke Universiteit Brussel. He obtained a Master of Laws in International Relations from Peking University and a Master of Science in International Affairs from the London School of Economics. Since November 2010, he has served as Project Manager of the InBev-Baillet Latour EU–China Chair at KU Leuven. He is also a Junior Member of the Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies.

Pei-fei Chang, doctoral student, Political Science Department and Institute for International and European Policy (IIEP), KU Leuven. Pei-Fei Chang obtained a Masters degree in European Politics and Policy (MEPP) at the Political Science Department, KU Leuven. Since 2008, she has been a doctoral student under Prof. Bruyninckx and a member of the IIEP.

Dr Jingquan Chen, Second Secretary, Mission of the People's Republic of China to the EU. Jingquan Chen holds a doctoral degree in Management Science from Wuhan University. He currently serves as Second Secretary in the Chinese Mission to the EU, responsible for EU–China bilateral coordination on research cooperation in energy, environment and climate change areas. Prior to his current position, he worked in the National Natural Science Foundation of China as Deputy Director of the Division of Development Strategy.

Prof. Dr Richard N. Cooper, Weatherhead Center for International Affairs, Harvard University (USA). Richard N. Cooper is Maurits C. Boas Professor of International Economics at Harvard University. He is a member of the Trilateral Commission, the Council on Foreign Relations, the Executive Panel of the US Chief of Naval Operations and the Brookings Panel on Economic Activity. He has served on several occasions in the US government, as Chairman of the National Intelligence Council (1995–97), Under-Secretary of State for Economic Affairs (1977–81), Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for International Monetary Affairs (1965–66) and senior staff economist at the Council of Economic Advisers (1961–63). He was also chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston (1990–92) and Vice-Chairman of the Global Development Network (2001–7). As a Marshall Scholar, he studied at the London School of Economics and earned his PhD at Harvard University. His most recent books include Boom, Crisis, and Adjustment (with others), Macroeconomic Management in Korea, 1970–1990 (with others), Environment and Resource Policies for the World Economy and What the Future Holds (with others).

Hanne Cuyckens, PhD Candidate, Institute for International Law and Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies, KU Leuven. Hanne Cuyckens studied law at the Université Catholique de Louvain (UCL). She obtained a Masters in pluridisciplinary analysis of the European Construction from the Université Libre de Bruxelles (ULB) and a Master of Arts in EU International Relations and Diplomacy Studies from the College of Europe (Bruges). Since September 2009, she has been assistant and PhD candidate at the Institute for International Law and a Junior Member of the Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies, KU Leuven.

Mr Stewart Fleming, Associate Fellow at Chatham House (The Royal Institute of International Affairs). Formerly Senior Associate Member at St Antony's College (Oxford), a Research Visitor at the London School of Economics (LSE) and an economics columnist for European Voice. He was formerly correspondent from New York and Frankfurt and US Editor of the Financial Times. Mr Fleming studied at Wallasey Grammar School (1954–62), Horace Mann School, New York (1959–60) and Emmanuel College, Cambridge (1963–66), where he obtained a BA in Economics.

Dr Jagannath P. Panda, Associate Fellow, Institute for Defense Studies and Analyses (IDSA), New Delhi. He is also the Managing Editor of Peace and Development Digest of the Foundation for Peace and Sustainable Development, New Delhi. Prior to joining IDSA, Dr Panda worked as Centrally Administered Fellow at the Indian Council for Social Science Research (ICSSR), Ministry of HRD, New Delhi. He is a recipient of the V. K. KrishnaMenon Memorial Medal for his excellent academic record in international law and diplomacy from the Indian Society of International Law (ISIL), New Delhi. His writings have been published in various peer-reviewed journals such as: Strategic Analyses (Routledge), China and Eurasia Forum Quarterly (Silk Road Studies, Sweden), China Report (Sage), Asian Politics and Policy (Wiley-Blackwell), Asian Ethnicity (Routledge), etc. He has also published in other international and national journals/newspapers such as: China Brief (Jamestown Foundation), Taiwan Journal (Taipei), World Focus, Mainstream, The Pioneer, The Hindu, etc. Dr Panda was an institutional fellow at the SIIS, Shanghai from June to September 2009. He has worked as a lead member on various Task-Force projects from DRDO and the Government of India on issues related to China and Tibet and conducted projects for the National Bureau of Asian Research (NBR), Washington, DC. His forthcoming book titled China's Path to Power: Politics of Party, Military, and State is currently in publication.

Prof. Emer. Dr Sylvain Plasschaert, University of Antwerp (UFSIA) and KU Leuven. Prof. Plasschaert was a fiscal economist and a frequent consultant to the World Bank. Over a long period at Leuven he taught a course on 'Economic Developments in China', and published extensively on China's developmental path, such as: China: inzicht in zijn doorbraak (Davidsfonds, 2007).

Dr Simon Schunz, European Commission, at the time of writing, Post-doctoral Researcher, Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies, KU Leuven. He holds degrees in European Studies from the College of Europe (Bruges) and in Political Science from the Free University in Berlin. He was a Visiting Scholar at the Elliott School of International Affairs

(George Washington University, Washington, DC) and at the German Institute for International and Security Affairs (SWP, Berlin/Brussels). His research interests include EU foreign and environmental policies and global environmental governance. He has published, inter alia, in the Journal of Common Market Studies, the Journal for Contemporary European Research and WeltTrends.

Dr Bernard Snoy, Visiting Professor, Institute of European Studies, Université catholique de Louvain (UCL), former Executive Director of the World Bank. Bernard Snoy is currently Visiting Professor at the Institute of European Studies of the Université catholique de Louvain, where he teaches among other courses on the EU enlargement process and on EU energy policy. Previously, Bernard Snoy has been, among other roles, Economic Advisor at the European Commission, Chief of Staff of the Belgian Minister of Finance, Executive Director of the World Bank, Member of the Board of Directors of the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD), Director of the Economic Working Table of the Stability Pact for South Eastern Europe and Coordinator of the economic and environmental activities of the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE).

Lucia van Geuns, Clingendael International Energy Programme (CIEP), Clingendael Asia Studies, Clingendael Institute. Lucia van Geuns joined the Clingendael International Energy Programme (CIEP) in 2003 after a career with Royal Dutch Shell (1980–2002). She has a strong background in all aspects of exploration and production of oil and gas. She studied Earth Sciences at Leiden University and focuses her research on the global oil industry, Asian security of supply issues and innovative technology. She coordinates the research theme ‘Energy and Sustainable Development’ with particular attention to transition issues. She is a member of the board of the World Energy Council Netherlands (WEC NL) and a member of the Earth and Lifesciences Council (RAL) of the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences (KNAW).

Mr Xiaodong Wang, Counsellor, Office of the Director-General, World Trade Organization (WTO), Cabinet Member and Advisor to H.E. Mr Pascal Lamy, Director-General of the WTO. He graduated from the International Studies Department, Nanjing University in 1995 with a BA, and was assigned to the Ministry of Foreign Trade and Economic Cooperation (then MOFTEC) responsible for China’s accession to the WTO. From 1997 to 1998 he studied at the University of Adelaide, Australia and obtained a Masters degree in Economics. From 1998 to early 2003 he was posted at the Chinese Mission to the United Nations and then the Chinese Mission to the WTO in Geneva, Switzerland. In August 2004, he joined the American Chamber of Commerce (AmCham-China, Beijing) as the Director of Policy and Government Affairs. He has been working with the WTO Secretariat since September 2005.

Prof. Dr Yiwei Wang, Distinguished Professor, Executive Dean of the Institute of International and Public Affairs, Director of the China–EU Academic Network, Tongji University. He was formerly scholar-in-residence at the Chinese Mission to the EU (political analyst) and associate professor on leave at the Center for American Studies at Fudan University. He was formerly assistant Dean of the Institute of International Studies at Fudan University (2004–7), adjunct deputy director of the Department of American Studies of the Shanghai Institute for International Studies (SIIS, 2004), and Fox Fellow at the Yale Center for International and Area Studies (2000–1) and Korea Foundation–Yonsei Distinguished Visiting Professor at the Graduate School of International Studies of Yonsei University (2005). He obtained his PhD in 2001 from the Department of International Politics, Fudan University and his BA in 1995 from the Department of Environmental Science and Technology, East China University of Science and Technology. He has published widely in The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the Japanese Journal of Political Science, International Studies and the Journal of Interdisciplinary Studies.

Dr Chien-Huei Wu, Assistant Research Fellow, Academia Sinica, Taipei, Taiwan. He received his PhD at the European University Institute, Florence in 2009. Since then, he worked as Assistant Professor in National Chung Cheng University, Chiayi, Taiwan for a short period. Before pursuing his doctoral degree in Florence, he worked for the Ministry of Justice in Taiwan as a district attorney. His research interests cover international economic law and EU external relations law. He pays particular attention to Asian regionalism and the WTO–IMF linkage and he also follows closely EU–China and EU–ASEAN relations.