
Contents

List of contributors	viii
Preface by Anders Örténblad	xiii

PART I INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

1 Introduction: putting the learning organization into context: an emerging research field Anders Örténblad	3
2 What do we mean by ‘learning organization’? Anders Örténblad	22
3 Putting the learning organization into context: contributions from previous works Anders Örténblad, Ziyun Fan, Chenghao Peng, Boying Li, Ziyan Li, Xiaoying Cong and Jie Zhou	35
4 Contextualizing the learning organization: approaches to research design Anders Örténblad	51
5 Obstacles to the learning organization David Weir and Anders Örténblad	68

PART II THE LEARNING ORGANIZATION IN CONTEXT

Section A Culture and Religion

6 National culture and the learning organization: an integrative framework Pavel Bogolyubov and Mark Easterby-Smith	91
7 Developing learning organizations in China Jacky F.L. Hong, Robin Stanley Snell and Mian Lin	107
8 Learning organization practices in Mexico: an empirical study David Joaquín Delgado-Hernández and Made Torokoff-Engelbrecht	126
9 Islamic perspective of the learning organization Aini Ahmad	145

Section B Industries and Sectors

- 10 Learning, trust and change within the Australian Army: the development of the Army Learning Organization Questionnaire (ALOO) 159
Maya Drobnjak, Christina Stothard, Steven Talbot, Karen E. Watkins and Denise McDowall
- 11 The police force: to be or not to be a learning organization? 179
Cathrine Filstad and Petter Gottschalk
- 12 The learning organization in elderly care – can it fit? 196
Carina Abrahamson Löfström
- 13 Family firms as learning organizations 210
Naomi Birdthistle and Thomas N. Garavan
- 14 Universities as learning organizations: internationalization and innovation 227
Hong T.M. Bui and Yehuda Baruch

Section C Mixed Contexts

- 15 Public sector organizations as learning organizations: insights from the education system in Pakistan 247
Muhammad Babur
- 16 The learning organization: opportunities and challenges for small and medium-sized enterprises in developing countries 267
Dima Jamali, Yusuf Sidani and Charissa Lloyd

PART III REFLECTIONS ON THE LEARNING ORGANIZATION

- 17 The universality of learning company principles: a critical realist approach 281
John Burgoyne
- 18 Who is the learning organization for? A stakeholder contingency approach to contextualizing managerial panaceas 289
Anders Örténblad
- 19 ‘The learning organization’ – drop the dead metaphor! Performing organizing and learning in networks (so to speak) 306
Chris Blanter, Tom Boydell and John Burgoyne
- 20 Alternative learning organization 358
Shih-wei Hsu

21	Contextualizing the learning organization: how will it help us learn in the future? Deborah Ann Blackman	372
22	Towards a contingency model: recommendations for further research Anders Örténblad	384
	Index	397