

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of tables	ix
List of contributors	x
Acknowledgement	xi

PART I INTRODUCTION

1 Globalisation, economic transition, and the environment: an introduction	3
Philip Lawn

PART II GLOBALISATION

2 Globalisation versus internationalisation, and four reasons why internationalisation is better	39
Herman Daly
3 Carrying capacity, globalisation, and the unsustainable entanglement of nations	50
William Rees
4 Institutionalised pollution havens	66
Matthew Cole and Per Fredriksson

PART III ECONOMIC TRANSITION

5 Prosperity without growth	105
Tim Jackson
6 Economic transition in Australia: time to move towards a steady-state economy	129
Philip Lawn
7 Assessing the economic transition process across the Asia- Pacific region: comparisons, trends, and policy implications	174
Matthew Clarke and Philip Lawn
8 Managing without growth in Canada: exploring the possibilities	202
Peter Victor

PART IV THE ENVIRONMENT

- 9 The Environmental Kuznets Curve: some theoretical and empirical insights 227
Philip Lawn
- 10 Planetary boundaries: using early warning signals for sustainable global governance 259
Will Steffen, Johan Rockström, Ida Kubiszewski, and Robert Costanza
- 11 Ecological footprint accounting 276
Mathis Wackernagel, Alessandro Galli, Michael Borucke, Elias Lazarus, and Scott Mattoon

PART V CONCLUSION

- 12 Globalisation, economic transition, and the environment: synthesis and a way forward 307
Philip Lawn
- Index* 349