

Contents

List of contributors	vii
List of abbreviations	ix
PART I INTRODUCTION
1. Aim and structure of this book Marjan Peeters and Rosa Uylenburg	3
PART II CROSS-CUTTING ISSUES
2. The governance approach in European Union environmental directives and its consequences for flexibility, effectiveness and legitimacy Saskia van Holten and Marleen van Rijswijk	13
3. The emergence of the Framework Directive in EU environmental policy: An exploration of its function and characteristics Mireille Bogaart	48
4. Seeking coherence among environmental directives Barbara Beijen	70
PART III SPECIFIC REGULATORY CHOICES
5. Limits to integration in pollution prevention and control Frans Oosterhuis and Marjan Peeters	91
6. Everything according to plan? Achieving environmental quality standards by a programmatic approach Frank Groothuijse and Rosa Uylenburg	116
7. Obligations of result or best efforts: Dealing with problems of interpretation Jasper van Kempen	146
8. Instrument mix or instrument mess? The administrative complexity of the EU legislative package for climate change Marjan Peeters	173

9. In search of a European legislative approach to adaptation to climate change Andrea Keessen	193
10. Regulating uncertain risks of new technologies: Nanomaterials as a challenge for the regulator Elisabeth Vogelezang-Stoute	211
PART IV CONCLUSION
11. Concluding observations: Three core themes Marjan Peeters and Rosa Uylenburg	235
Index	259