

Contributors

Barbara Beijen is Assistant Professor at the Utrecht Centre for Water, Oceans and Sustainability Law, and the Institute for Jurisprudence, Constitutional and Administrative Law, Utrecht School of Law, Utrecht University.

Mireille Bogaart is a PhD candidate at the Amsterdam Centre for Environmental Law and Sustainability (University of Amsterdam). Her research-project, which runs till 2014, focuses on Member State discretion in the implementation of directives in the field of water pollution and air pollution.

Frank Groothuijse is a researcher at the Amsterdam Centre for Environmental Law and Sustainability (University of Amsterdam). His research focuses on the integration and coordination of environmental law, water law and spatial planning law.

Saskia van Holten is a legal advisor at Rijkswaterstaat, the Directorate-General for Public Works and Water Management of the Dutch Ministry of Infrastructure and the Environment. She won the University of Utrecht and Kienhuis Hoving prize for her Master Thesis ‘Nature, Air Quality and Water Quality: A Research on the Consequences of Policy Discretion for the Direct Effect of Environmental Directives’.

Andrea Keessen is Assistant Professor at the Utrecht Centre for Water, Oceans and Sustainability Law and the Institute for Jurisprudence, Constitutional and Administrative Law, Utrecht School of Law, Utrecht University. Her current research focuses on adaptation to climate change and water law and policy.

Jasper van Kempen is a legal advisor at Rijkswaterstaat, the Directorate-General for Public Works and Water Management of the Dutch Ministry of Infrastructure and the Environment. In 2012, he defended his PhD thesis on transboundary European water management at Utrecht University.

Frans Oosterhuis is a researcher at the Institute for Environmental Studies (IVM), VU University Amsterdam. His research focus includes EU environmental policy and the use of economic instruments.

Marjan Peeters is Professor of Environmental Law and Policy at Maastricht University and in 2012–2014 international guest researcher at Leuphana University, Germany. Her current research focuses on EU environmental law, particularly climate and renewable energy law.

Marleen van Rijswijk is Professor of European and Dutch Water Law at the Utrecht Centre for Water, Oceans and Sustainability Law and the Institute for Jurisprudence, Constitutional and Administrative Law, Utrecht School of Law, Utrecht University.

Rosa Uylenburg is Professor of Environmental Law and Nature Protection Law at the Amsterdam Centre for Environmental Law and Sustainability (University of Amsterdam) and State Councillor at the Administrative Jurisdiction Division of the Council of State of the Netherlands.

Elisabeth Vogelesang-Stoute was a researcher at the Amsterdam Centre for Environmental Law and Sustainability (University of Amsterdam) from 1988 until the summer of 2011. She has published widely in both Dutch and international periodicals and books, particularly on the subject of the authorisation and regulation of pesticides and other chemicals.