

Index

- age see also retirement age
 influence on political participation
 50, 52–6
- 'Agenda,' Swedish election TV coverage
299–300
- Aid to Families with Dependent Children, survey 8
- Alesina, A. 157
- American Political Science Association
 Task Force on Inequality and American Democracy 56
- Anderson, C. 183
- Ansell, B.W. 64
- Armingeon, K. 158–9
- austerity policies
 consequences of, variability 20–21
 development 3–4
 and political participation 19–24, 312 public employees 29, 31–7
 research challenges 24–6, 36–7
 research method 26–9, 40
 research results 29–37, 40
- Austria
 welfare reforms
 electoral consequences 150
 pensions 230
- Belgium
 federalization 198, 210
 and social policy development 217–18
 low incomes, influence on voting 99–100
 regionalization of social policy
 background 198–200, 204
 citizens' attitudes to 200–201,
 206–16, 315
 cultural influences on 208–12,
 216–18
- and education policy 209–10, 214–17
 legitimation effects 204–6, 216–18
 performance evaluation 212–16
 policy feedback studies,
 advantages for 204–5
 public discourse, role of 210–212, 216–17
 regional identification differences 208–12, 217–18
 research method 204–6
 research results 206–18
- Bismarckian welfare states
 benefits, entrenchment of 138 characteristics of 133–4
 definition 132–3
 equivalence principle 134–5, 140
 reforms
 background to 138–41
 challenges of 132, 135, 138
 electoral impact of 132–8, 140–50
 pensions 139
 unemployment benefits 132–3, 136
 social democracy policy limitations 137–8
 social insurance principle 133
 status maintenance principle 133–5,
 137, 139–40
- Boeri, T. 226–7
- Bradley, D. 66
- Brambor, T. 53
- Campbell, A. 6–9, 22–3, 44, 205
- child care services
 and institutional responsiveness
 278–80
 proximity of services 272–80
 public service expenditure, in Denmark 269
 and satisfaction, relationship between 281–7

- user satisfaction, impact on 276–8
- citizens' understanding
 - performance evaluations 289–92, 318
 - and election TV coverage 298–302
 - limitations 302–4
 - research method 292–3
 - research results 293–304
 - and voting, influence on 95–7, 313
 - of welfare and tax systems, generally 95–7
- class see social class
- communism, legacy of 62
- compulsory voting 51–2, 62
- Czech Republic
 - pensions reforms 230
- Dahl, R. 41
- democracy
 - and citizen apathy
 - influences on 42–3
 - trends in 41–3
 - and political equality 41–2
- democratic satisfaction
 - and accountability of leaders 182–3, 313–14
 - changes in, reasons for 194–5
 - and unemployment benefit generosity
 - links between 181, 183–6, 315
 - research method 186–8
 - research results 188–95
 - visible costs hypothesis 100, 181, 182–94, 286
 - visible interests hypothesis 181, 185, 192–3
- Denmark
 - fixed-term employment in
 - and political party preferences 124–5, 313
 - trends 115–18
 - pensions reforms 230
 - public service provision
 - expenditure trends 269
 - and institutional responsiveness 278–80
 - political influence of 269
 - proximity of service users 271–80
 - research method 275–6
 - research results 276–87
 - user satisfaction, influences on 276–8
 - visibility of services 271–4
 - regional social policy, attitudes to 201
 - unemployment benefits
 - entitlement criteria 120–21
 - welfare reforms
 - electoral consequences 149–50
- deservingness
 - public service provision
 - and policy feedback 272–3, 316–17
- of unemployment benefits
 - attitudes to 245, 249–51
 - and benefit generosity, relationship between 246–8, 261–4, 315
 - cultural influences on 249–50, 259–60, 261–2
 - economic influences on 248–9, 252–3, 259–60, 262–3
 - and education level 253, 255–8
 - and egalitarianism 253, 256
 - and financial downturn 248–9
 - and generic groups of unemployed 263
 - individual-level influences on 250–51, 253, 255–8, 262
 - and job search obligations/ willingness 125, 263–4
 - need criteria 246–7
 - payer vs. receiver, opinions of 250–51
 - and perceived standard of living 253, 255–6, 258
 - policy influences on 246–8, 252, 258–60
 - and political orientation 256
 - research limitations 245–6, 262–4
 - research method 251–4
 - research results 245, 254–64, 267–8
 - risk position vs. risk attribution 248–51, 255–60, 262, 268
 - and structural conflicts 247–8
 - and visible cost hypothesis 248–9
- dualization policies 3–4

- Eardley, T. 248
- education
- and political participation 50, 52, 61, 63, 312–13
 - income inequality 65–6
 - interpretative effects 67
 - and low incomes 65–6, 71, 80–82
 - macro and micro level factors 65–6
 - network effects 68
 - occupational roles, relevance of 68
 - parental background 70–71
 - and psychological engagement 67
 - research challenges and limitations 64–5, 70
 - research hypothesis 67–9
 - research method 69–73
 - research results 73–84, 89
 - research review 64–6
 - resource effects 68
 - system set-up and resource distribution 63, 65–6, 68, 70–71, 80–82
 - and trade union membership 68–71, 80–82
 - vocational vs. academic education 63, 65, 67–8, 73–84
 - and welfare program involvement 22
- public service provision
- expenditure, in Denmark 269, 281–5
 - and institutional responsiveness 278–80
 - performance evaluation survey 293–7
 - proximity to services 272–80
 - user satisfaction, impact on 276–8, 281–5
- and regionalization of social policy, in Belgium 209–10
- and retirement age reform, attitudes to 228–9, 236–7, 239
- elderly persons
- political participation survey 7
 - public service provision
 - in Denmark 269, 274, 276–8, 280–81
 - election tv coverage 298–302
 - and expenditure 281–5
 - and negative media attention 280–81
 - performance evaluation survey 293–302
 - satisfaction, impact on 280–85
- election campaigns
- election tv coverage, and performance evaluations 298–302
- electoral accountability
- of political leaders, citizen attitudes to 182–3, 313–14
- electoral behaviour
- alternative political behaviour influences on 53–4, 312–13
 - trends 43, 47
- citizen apathy
- influences on 42–3
 - trends 41–3
- political context, relevance of 322–3
- welfare state influences on 132–8, 140–41
- research 8, 132–3, 142–50
- electoral punishment
- theories and research into 156–9, 172–5, 321
 - criticism of 159–60
 - research method 160–64
 - research results 164–9
- for welfare policy reforms 156, 314
- in Austria 150
 - conditionality 158–9
 - in Denmark 150–51
 - in Germany 141–51
 - hospital service closures 160–75
 - likelihood of 156
 - pensions reforms 158
 - political alternatives, availability 156
 - in Sweden 160–75, 314
 - unemployment benefit retrenchment 158
- equivalence principle 134–5, 140
- Esping-Anderson, G. 47–8
- Estévez-Abe, M. 66
- European Union
- regional social policy, attitudes to 200–201
- European Values Study 69–84

- external efficacy, influences on political participation 44–5
- family/ marital status
 - influence on political participation 50–56, 61
- family-related benefits
 - and political participation 50–54
 - and poverty 48
- Finland
 - low incomes, influences on voting 99–100
- fixed-term employment
 - in Denmark 116–21, 125–6
 - drivers for 114–15
 - in Germany 115–19, 124–6
 - and political party preferences 113–15, 124–8, 313
 - regional and national variations 113
 - in Spain 117–22, 124–5
 - trends 114, 127
 - in UK 116–21, 125–7
 - and unemployment benefits
 - entitlements to 119–22
 - restrictions on 115, 119–20
 - welfare benefits implications of 112
- Flanders see Belgium
- France
 - regional social policy, attitudes to 200–201
- gender
 - and political participation, influence on 50, 52, 61
 - and retirement age reform, attitudes to 228
- generosity, of benefits
 - and democratic satisfaction
 - links between 181, 183–6, 315
 - research method 186–8
 - research results 188–95
 - visible costs hypothesis 100, 181, 182–94, 185–6, 248–9, 286
 - visible interests hypothesis 181, 185, 192–3, 248–9
 - unemployment benefits, and deservingness 246–8, 261–4
- Germany
 - fixed-term employment in
 - and political party preferences 115–16, 124–6
 - trends 117–19
 - Hartz/ red-green welfare state
 - reforms
 - background to 139–40
 - electoral implications of 133–9, 143–51, 314
 - low incomes
 - and voting, influences on 99–100
 - pensions reforms 226, 230
 - regional social policy, attitudes to 200–201
 - Social Democratic Party (SPD)
 - welfare policy development role 138–9
 - welfare policy reform role 139–51
 - unemployment benefits
 - entitlement criteria 120–21, 138–42, 144, 147
 - reforms 133–4, 140–41
- GI Bill (US)
 - influence on political participation 64
 - survey 7–8
- Giger, N. 156–60, 173–4
- Gilbert, N. 55
- Greece
 - regional social policy, attitudes to 201
 - unemployment benefit, and deservingness 259
- Hall, P.A. 70
- Hartz Commission, welfare state
 - reforms in Germany 140–42, 314
 - electoral implications, research into 143–51
- healthcare reforms
 - and electoral punishment 160–75
 - Healthcare Parties, role of 170–72, 174
 - performance evaluation survey 293–7
- Hedegaard, T. 289
- hospital service closures
 - and electoral punishment 160–75
 - research method 160–64
 - research results 164–9
- Huseby, B.M. 183

- income equality/ inequality
 and democratic satisfaction 183
 and education 65–6, 71, 80–82
 performance evaluation survey 293–7
 political participation 46, 65–6, 71, 80–82
- income levels
 and political participation 50, 52–6, 61, 65–6
 austerity policies 34–5, 312
 education type and level 65–6, 71, 80–82, 312–13
 voting, influences on 99–100
- income security
 and fixed-term employment 114
 as goal 4
- inequality see also income equality/inequality
 of social spending on welfare
 benefits 47–8, 100
- internal efficacy, influences on political participation 44–5
- Ireland
 regional social policy, attitudes to 201 voting, influences on 99–100
- Italy
 pension reforms 226, 230, 233
 regional social policy, attitudes to 201
- Kamens, D.H. 64
- 'Karavanen,' Swedish election TV coverage 298–9
- Keating, M. 200
- Kenworthy, L. 66
- Korpi, W. 226–7
- Kumlin, S. 11–12, 109, 174–5, 183, 185,
 188, 248–9, 271, 289, 315, 318,
 320, 322–3
- labour market policies see also fixed-term employment; unemployment
 benefits
 asymmetric regulation, impact of 114–15
 and creation of new social category
 114–15
 dualization, electoral implications of 150
- flexibility, need for 126
 non-policies, impact of 114
- Larsen, A. 289
- Latvia
 unemployment benefit, and
 deservingness 259
- Left vs. Right
 Bismarkian welfare reforms,
 electoral implications of 140–50
 political participation, influences on 123–6
- Lindbom, A. 235
- Lindvall, J. 115–16
- low incomes
 and political participation 65–6
 and austerity policies 34–5, 312
 and education type and level 65–6, 71, 80–82, 312–13
 voting, influences on 99–100
- Lynch, J. 96
- McAllister, I. 182
- Marshall, T.H. 44–5
- Martin, C. 134
- Marx, P. 114–15
- means-tested benefits, and political participation 22
- Melzer-Richard model, of political participation 46, 54–5
- Mettler, S. 5–8, 21, 44, 64, 96–7
- multilevel governance, influences of 4
- Myrskylä, M. 96
- national social policy
 and European regionalization trends
 199–201
- Netherlands
 pension increases, policy
 consequences of 225–6
- New Politics of the Welfare State (NP)
 8, 132, 156–9, 163, 172–5, 269–71
- Norway
 unemployment benefit, and
 deservingness 259
- Palier, B. 135
- parental background
 influence on educational inequality
 70–71
- participatory mood 71

- pensions
 - European policy trends 229–30
 - and life expectancy increases 223, 229–30
 - and political participation, influence on 96
 - pressure on 229–30
 - reforms
 - and electoral punishment 158
 - in Germany 140
- performance evaluations
 - and citizens' understanding 289–92, 318
 - election TV coverage 298–302
 - limitations on 302–4
 - research method 292–3
 - research results 293–304
 - and voting, influence on 95–7, 313
 - of welfare and tax systems, generally 95–7
 - and democratic satisfaction
 - unemployment benefit generosity 181, 183–95, 315
 - visible costs hypothesis 100, 181, 182–94, 286
 - visible interests hypothesis 181, 185, 192–3
- experts, role in 293–7
- generally 289
- models of 290–92
 - objectivist/ expert-oriented factors 291
 - subjective/ deliberative factors 292
- petitions
 - trends 43, 47
- Picot, G. 115–16
- Pierson, P.
 - on interpretative effects 7–8, 203–4, 322
 - on New Politics of Welfare State 8, 132, 156–9, 163, 173, 175, 269–71
- policy feedback see also performance evaluations; regional social policy assumptions, role of 184–5
 - cross-level approaches to 319–21
 - definition 4–5, 114, 194
 - demand overload thesis 270
 - diffuse system support 182
 - from direct/ secondary users 271–5
 - generational replacement 317–18
 - and input-output interaction 194, 315–16, 318–23
 - interpretation, limitations on 5, 7
 - lack of, reasons for 184
 - new politics, influence on 269–71
 - in Nordic countries, generally 271–3
 - and path dependency 271
 - and policy learning 271
 - in political context 321–3
 - and public service provision
 - deservingness 272–3, 316–17
 - expenditure and satisfaction, relationship between 281–7
 - institutional responsiveness 278–80
 - negative media attention 274–5, 277–8
 - proximity of service users 271–80, 286, 322–3
 - research method 275–6
 - satisfaction vs. dissatisfaction, impact of 274–87
 - self-interest, role of 270, 272–3, 278–86
 - visibility of services 271–4, 286
 - regional influences on 6–7
 - research into, generally
 - approaches, developments in 319–21
 - challenges 9
 - and cross-level thinking 319–21
 - limitations 7, 9, 184, 319–20
 - role of 5
 - trends 5–8
 - self-reinforcing feedback 270
 - sociotropic influences 169, 174, 185, 320–21
 - and unemployment benefit deservingness 246–8, 258–61
- political demonstrations
 - participation trends 43
- political equality, influence on
 - democracy 41
- political leaders
 - individual accountability, citizens' attitudes to 182–3, 313–14
- political participation see also public life, participation in; voting
 - alternative forms of 41–2, 312–13

- influences on 53–4
- research method 47–9
- research results 49–57, 61–2
- trends 29, 31–5, 43, 47
- and austerity policies 19–24, 312
 - online activism trends 29, 31–5
 - political efficacy, influences on 31–5
 - research challenges 24–6, 36–7
 - research method 26–9, 40
 - research results 29–37, 40
- citizen apathy
 - influences on 42–3
 - trends in 41–3
- and economic development 21
- and education
 - income inequality 65–6
 - influence on 50, 52, 61, 63, 312–13
 - interpretative effects 67
 - and low incomes 65–6, 71, 80–82
 - macro and micro level influences 65–6
 - network effects 68
 - occupational roles, relevance of 68
 - parental background 70–71
 - and psychological engagement 67
 - research challenges and limitations 64–5, 70
 - research hypothesis 67–9
 - research method 69–73
 - research results 73–84, 89
 - research review 64–6
 - resource effects 68
 - system set-up and resource
 - distribution 63, 65–6, 68, 70–71, 80–82
 - trade union membership 68–71, 80–82
 - vocational vs. academic education 63, 65, 67–8, 73–84
 - and welfare program involvement 22
- influences on 20–21, 42–3
 - age 50, 52–6
 - austerity policies 34–5, 312
 - citizen understanding of welfare and tax systems 95–7
 - communism 62
 - compulsory voting 51–2, 62
 - education 50, 52, 61, 63–6, 69–84, 89, 312–13
 - family/ marital status 50–56, 61
 - family-related benefits 50–54
 - gender 50, 52, 61
 - income levels 34–5, 50, 52–6, 61, 80–82
 - individual experiences 96
 - internal efficacy 44–5
 - party strength, Left vs. Right 123–6
 - pensions 96
 - poverty 43
 - public policy 43–6
 - redistributive policies 45–6
 - trade union membership 50, 52, 61, 68–71, 80–82
 - urban population 50, 52, 61
 - and means-tested benefits 22
 - Melzer-Richard model of 46, 54–5
 - and political education opportunities 22
 - political efficacy, influences on 31–5, 44–5, 312
 - and public policy
 - cognitive effects 44
 - influences of 43–6
 - Poor Laws example 44–5
 - theories on 20–24
- political party preferences
 - context, importance of 322–3
 - of fixed-term workers 113–15, 313
 - in Denmark 125–6
 - in Germany 115–16, 123–5
 - in Spain 123–4
 - in Sweden 114–15
 - in UK 125–7
 - and internalized social welfare policies 135–6
 - and social demand 116
- Portugal
 - political participation trends 47
 - regional social policy, attitudes to 201
- post-materialism, relevance of 227
- poverty
 - and political participation 43
 - welfare spending, influence on 48

- power resource theory
 - and retirement age, attitudes to 226–7
- proximity, of services
 - and policy feedback 271–3
- public employees
 - and austerity policies 29, 31–7
 - political participation, influences on 29, 31–7
- public life, participation in
 - and accountability of leaders 182–3, 313–14
 - policy influences on 21–2
- public opinion, influences of see also
 - deservingness
 - negative media attention 274–5, 277–8, 280–81
 - retrenchment policies 236–40, 316–17, 321
- public service provision
 - policy feedback from
 - and deservingness 272–3, 316–17
 - expenditure and satisfaction, relationship between 281–7
 - and institutional responsiveness 278–80
 - and negative media attention 274–5, 277–8
 - proximity of service users 271–80, 286, 322–3
 - research method 275–6
 - satisfaction vs. dissatisfaction, impact of 274–87
 - self-interest, role of 270, 272–3, 278–86
 - visibility of services 271–4, 286
- Raven, J. 225–6
- redistributive policies, and political participation 45–6
- regional social policy
 - citizens' attitudes to 200–201, 203–4
 - European policy trends 199–201
 - legitimation effects 198–204, 315
 - influences on 198–9, 202
 - mediating actors 202
 - policy requirements 201–4
 - and public discourse 202
- policy feedback, influences on 202–4
- retirement age increases
 - attitudes to, influences on
 - age 224, 226–9, 236–7, 239
 - alignment hypothesis 226
 - education 228–9, 236–8
 - gender 228, 236–7
 - policy developments 224–9
 - research method 230–32
 - research results 232–40
 - saturation hypothesis 225–6
 - social class 226–9, 235–40
 - changes over time 224–6
 - and life expectancy trends 223, 229–30, 316
 - positive consequences of policy change 225–6
 - and power resource theory 226–7
- retrenchment, of welfare policies
 - and electoral punishment 156–8, 160–75, 314–15, 321
 - public opinion influences on 236–40, 316–17, 321
- Rosenstone, S.J. 22
- Rueda, D. 115–16
- Scharpf, F. 203
- Schatterschneider, E.E. 269
- Schram, S.F. 184, 186, 271–2, 322
- self-interest, and public service provision 270, 272–3, 278–86
- service provision see public service provision
- Singer, M. 183
- Skocpol, T. 4–5
- Slovakia
 - pensions reforms 230, 233
 - unemployment benefit, and deservingness 259
- social class
 - and retirement age increases 226–9, 235–40
- social insurance principle 133
- social policy see national social policy; regional social policy
- social spending, on welfare benefits
 - inequality of 47–8, 100
 - and life cycle priorities 48
 - and poverty 48
 - visibility of 100

- socio-economic inequality see income equality/ inequality
- sociotropic influences on policy developments 169, 174, 185, 320–21
- Soede, A. 229–30
- Soroka, S. 225
- Soss, J. 5–6, 8, 21, 44, 184, 186, 271–2, 322
- Spain
- austerity policies
 - consequences, variability of 20–21
 - development 19
 - and online activism 29, 31–5
 - and political interest 29, 31–5
 - and political participation 19–24, 29, 31–7, 312
 - research challenges 20–24
 - research limitations 36–7
 - research method 24–6, 40
 - research results 29–37, 40
 - fixed-term employment in
 - and political party preferences 124–5
 - trends 117–19
 - regional social policy, attitudes to 200–201
 - unemployment benefits
 - and deservingness 259
 - entitlement criteria 120–22
- Stadelmann-Steffen, I. 55
- status maintenance principle 134–6, 138, 140–41
- Svallfors, S. 6–7, 271, 317–18, 319
- Sweden
- elections
 - electoral punishment 160–75, 314
 - procedures 161
 - tv coverage 298–302
 - fixed-term workers
 - party preferences 115–16
 - healthcare reforms
 - background 164
 - citizen reaction to 160–75
 - expenditure trends 160–61
 - Healthcare Parties, role of 170–72, 174, 314
 - research method 160–64
 - research results 164–9
 - state vs. county responsibilities for 160–61
 - performance evaluations
 - election tv coverage 298–302
 - role of experts in 293–7
 - welfare benefits system
 - citizen understanding of 95–6
 - expenditure and distribution 95, 100, 160–61
 - taxation of benefits 95
- trade union membership
- influence on political participation 50, 52, 61
 - education type and level 68–71, 80–82
- unemployment
- and political participation
 - and austerity policies 34–5
 - voting abstention 115
 - unemployment benefits
 - under Bismarkian welfare state reforms 133–4, 137, 140–42, 144, 147
 - deservingness
 - attitudes to 245, 249–51
 - and benefit generosity, relationship between 246–8, 261–4
 - cultural influences on 249–50, 259–62
 - economic influences on 248–9, 252–3, 259–60, 262–3
 - and education level 253, 255–8
 - and egalitarianism 253, 256
 - and financial downturn 248–9
 - and generic groups of unemployed 263
 - individual-level influences on 250–51, 253, 255–8, 262
 - and job search obligations/ willingness 125, 263–4
 - need criteria 246–7
 - payer vs. receiver, opinions of 250–51
 - and perceived standard of living 253, 255–6, 258
 - policy influences on 246–8, 252, 258–60

- and political orientation 256
- research limitations 245–6, 262–4
- research method 251–4
- research results 245, 254–64, 267–8
- risk position vs. risk attribution 248–51, 255–60, 262, 268
- and structural conflicts 247–8
- and visible cost hypothesis 248–9
- entitlement criteria
 - in Denmark 120–21
 - in Germany 120–21, 138–42, 144, 147
 - in Spain 120–22
 - in UK 120–22
- and erosion of work ethic 245
- fixed-term workers, restrictions on 115, 119–20
- generosity levels
 - and democratic satisfaction, links between 181, 183–95, 315
 - and deservingness 246–8, 261–4
 - research method 186–8
 - research results 188–95
- national differences, reasons for 244–5, 248
- negative impacts of 245
- retrenchment
 - and electoral punishment 158
- segmentation, reasons for 115
- United Kingdom
 - fixed-term employment in and political party preferences 125–7
 - trends 116–19
 - pensions reforms 230
 - regional social policy, attitudes to 200–201
 - unemployment benefits entitlement criteria 120–21
- United States
 - citizen understanding of welfare and tax systems 95
 - GI Bill 7–8, 64
 - political involvement and participation surveys 7–8
 - taxation of welfare benefits 95
 - welfare reform research 184
 - welfare state expenditure and distribution 95, 100
 - ‘Uppdrag Granskning,’ Swedish election TV coverage 300–302
 - urban population
 - influence on political participation 50, 52, 61
 - Verba, S. 7, 22, 42–3
 - visibility, of services
 - and policy feedback 271–4, 286
 - voting, influences on 93–5, 100–102, 105–9, 313
 - visible costs hypothesis 100, 181, 182–94, 248–9, 286
 - visible interests hypothesis 181, 185, 192–3, 248–9
 - vocational education
 - and political participation 63, 65, 67, 312–13
 - occupational roles, relevance of 68
 - research hypothesis 67–9
 - research method 69–73
 - research results 73–84, 89
 - and wage inequality 66
 - voting, influences on
 - direct vs. indirect welfare benefits 93–5, 97, 102–5, 313
 - performance evaluation, citizens’ abilities 95–7, 313
 - policy mix variations
 - importance of 93–7, 101–9
 - at macro level 105–8
 - at micro level 101–5
 - visibility of 93–5, 100–102, 105–9, 313
 - research
 - method 98–102, 111
 - results 96, 98–109, 111
 - trends 93
 - retrospective economic voting 290
 - tax benefits 94–5, 97, 104–5
 - tax levels 93–4, 104–5, 109
 - unemployment 114
 - and ‘vote Right’ preferences 104–6, 108
 - Vrooman, C. 229–30
 - Wallonia see Belgium
 - Wänström, J. 157

- Welch, E. 64
- welfare benefits
 political participation of recipients
 and austerity policies 29, 31–5,
 312
- social spending
 inequality of 47–8, 100
 and life cycle priorities 48
 and poverty 48
 visibility of 100
- welfare policies
 and political learning opportunities
 22
- retrenchment
 attitude changes, influences on 226–9, 321
 attitude changes, over time 224–6
 and electoral punishment 156–8,
 160–75, 314–15, 321
- welfare reforms, generally
 electoral consequences 133–9,
 141–51, 313–14
 and electoral punishment 160–175, 314, 321
 healthcare entrenchment 160–175
- welfare states, generally see also Bismarckian welfare states
 attitudes to
 and citizen apathy 41–3
 regional variations 6–7
 cause and effect, interaction of 55
 class influences on 226–9, 235–40 developmental stages 3–4
 goals of 4, 45
 recalibration 4
- Wlezien, C. 225
- Wolfinger, R.E. 22
- Zaller, J. 274, 280–81