

---

Index

---

- accountability
  - as central theme of governance literature 552
  - concept of 200, 205
  - as constitutive part of democratic anchorage of interactive governance 206–7
  - cooperative logic of interactive governance 207–8
  - and decision-making 219, 269
  - and democracy, disjuncture between 211–12
  - future research avenues 213, 557
  - individual, of participants in interactive governance 210–211
  - lack of visibility of interactive processes 208
  - loose coupling of governance sites with formal, decision-making institutions 209–10
  - and multi-level governance 488–9
  - NMGs lacking 508, 555
  - as normative problem 407–8
  - and regulatory governance 430
  - through narrative accounts 529
  - and transparency 159, 162, 165, 194, 217, 220, 222, 449
- actors, links between
  - analyzing, visualizing and explaining patterning of 152–4
  - importance of 151–2
- adaptive governance
  - and adaptive management 539–40
  - applications of 546–7
  - collective choice rules 534–44
  - constitutional rules 534–44
  - future research avenues 547, 557
  - institutional 542–4
  - and learning 230–231
  - nested rule structures 543–4
  - operational rules 534–44
  - policy sciences 544–6
  - scholarship on 538–9
  - scientific management 545–6
  - socio-ecological 541–2
- administrative metagovernance 533–4
- Advisory Council on Global Change (WBGU) 248–9
- Advocacy Coalition Framework (ACF) 227–8, 231, 372
- Africa
  - crisis of governance in 119
  - inefficient manufacturing 116
  - non-governmental organizations 121
  - structural adjustment programs 117–18, 121
- agencification 7, 36–8
- antitrust 146
- Arab Spring 140–141
- Aristotle 22, 88, 264
- bounded rationality 33, 206, 228
- bureaucracy
  - as actor in interactive governance 210
  - participation and self-organizing processes leading to 410
  - political control and 329–30
  - and privatization 332–3
  - public choice theory applied to 329–30
  - rationalistic planning approach leading to 63
  - relation with politicians 335
  - state 260, 443
  - supranational 35
  - Weberian model of 48
- businesses
  - collaborative approaches toward 103–7
  - constructions of meaning of legal regulation 107–10
- Canada
  - coastal fishery management solutions in 435
  - distinctive forms of governance existing in parallel 313
  - Great Lakes regime 95–6
  - homelessness governance networks 411
  - “Cassis de Dijon” case 503, 509
  - centralization vs. decentralization 331–2
  - citizen participation 56, 65–6, 94–5, 97–8, 159–60, 179, 370, 408–9, 552
  - Clayton Act 146

- clenched fist of economic theory 341, 343
- collaborative governance
  - challenges 460–463
  - commitment to 464
  - context for 458–60
  - defining
    - categorization of conceptual approaches 454
    - commonalities 457
    - method of operation 456–7
    - nature of 455–6
  - and democratic inclusion 91
  - development of, in variety of fields 10
  - and discourse representation proposal 177
  - facilitative leadership 458–60
  - future research avenues 465–6, 556
  - as hard solution to hard set of problems 165
  - as high risk, high reward policy endeavour 465
  - HOPE VI 454, 465
  - and inclusion 90–91
  - and innovation 239–40, 242, 553
  - and learning 228, 457, 459, 462
  - and metagovernance 531–2, 535
  - as multi-actor governance 236
  - and network approach 151
  - in networks and interactive policy arenas 534–5
  - pitfall of 465
  - and public-private partnerships 213
  - in relation to network governance 446–7
  - studying
    - in goal-directed networks 154–6
    - in relation to procedural legitimacy 95
- collective action
  - and boundary crossing policy problems 402
  - creating conditions for 542
  - double and triple loop learning akin to 547
  - empirics of 27–8
  - glue binding individuals to 442
  - interaction dilemmas solved through 349
  - political economy of 25–6
  - problems 5, 8, 21, 39, 212, 311–12, 323, 336, 349–50, 482, 528
  - process of steering society and economy through, as definition of governance 4, 150, 156, 340–341
  - by state and institutions 348
  - and system dynamic models 371
- collective action theory
  - classical, and governance 22–3
  - collective dilemmas 8, 21–2, 29
  - experiments and field studies 27–8
  - future research avenues 29, 556
  - as insight into public choice theory 325
  - neoclassical economic models of public goods and common pool resources 24–5
  - new institutional economics 25–6
  - provision of collective goods in complex systems 26–7, 29
  - public choice theory applied to 327–9
- collective goods
  - Adam Smith's view on 23
  - neoclassical economic models of 24–5
  - provision of
    - aim of scholarship on 25
    - challenge remaining for 29
    - in complex systems 26–7, 29
    - modern field research on 28
    - under- and over- 22
    - top-down and bottom-up governance arrangements 27–8
    - trust, reciprocity and altruism as central to research in 28
    - requirements for effective governance of 25
- collaboration 80–82
- command-and-control regulation 102–3, 105–7, 109, 428, 430
- common pool resources
  - in economic theory 349–50
  - neoclassical economic models of 24–5
  - privatization trends related to access of 544
  - problems addressed through development of institutions 311
  - as rivalrous in consumption 22
  - similarity to public goods 21–2
  - visible and invisible handshakes 349–50
- communication, risk 253–5
- communicative action 180, 393, 458
- communicative character of accountability 200
- communicative discourse 314
- communicative formation of public opinion 93–4
- communicative forms of coordination 91–2
- communicative planning 62, 65–6
- competition
  - among multiple governments 26–7
  - global 480
  - governance by, in EU 503–5
  - and public choice theory
    - applied to 332–5
    - as insight into 325

- in Type II multi-level governance 489–90, 492–3
- complex adaptive systems (CASs)
  - core dynamic properties of 375
  - definition of 366
  - features of 366
  - governance arrangements as 368–9
  - path dependency 366, 375
  - research methodologies 373
  - translational metaphor of 367
- complexity theory and systems analysis
  - application to governance 364–5
  - complexity
    - harnessing, for good governance 374–5
    - in regulatory governance 429, 434–7
    - as theory 366–8
  - complexity-friendly governance theories 371–2
  - future research avenues 376, 557
  - governance arrangements
    - as complex adaptive systems 368–9
    - describing, as networks and systems 369–71
  - provision of collective goods in complex systems 26–7, 29
  - research methodologies for complex adaptive governance systems and networks 372–4
- compliance
  - and power 201–2
  - in public law and regulatory theory 106–9
  - and regulatory governance 430–434
  - and soft and hard governing tools 275
  - trust, obligation and reputation as conduits for 444
- context-focused planning theory 65–7, 554
- cooptation
  - concept of 515
  - and shifts in governance power 516–18
  - theory conjectures
    - architecture of global finance 520–521
    - European accounting and environmental regulation 518–20
    - European securities regulation 521–3
  - in transnational governance 516
  - types of, and distributional implications 518
- coordination
  - and discursive approach 315
  - in economic theory 340–348, 350
  - effectiveness, in European Commission 35
  - governance
    - facilitating 554
    - as neutral mechanism for 533
- horizontal
  - communicative forms of 91–2
  - in European public administration 7
  - governance networks as arenas for 528
- imperative 77–9, 82–3
- relational, theory of 446
- of sectoral planning 63
- social
  - communication as central for 399
  - decision-making creating conditions for 542
  - and economic theory 350
  - market economy attempting to maximize forms of 90
  - mechanisms of 503–4
  - and steering 259–60, 262
- voluntary policy 272
- co-production
  - between public and private actors, governance as, 494
  - of risk knowledge, 255
  - of services, 51, 53–56, 165, 241
- crowd sourcing 140
- Deepwater Horizon oil spill 146–7, 428
- deliberation
  - and civic engagement 334–6
  - collaborative governance's capacity for 458–9, 464
  - and collibration 82
  - components of 179–80
  - controversies
    - capacity and willingness to deliberate 183
    - factors conducive to 183–4
    - nature of deliberation 182–3
    - promotion of democracy or technocracy 184
  - deliberative capacity of governance
    - processes 172
  - and deliberative democracy 179
  - deliberative dialogue 456
  - deliberative governance arenas
    - deliberative forums 181–2, 503
    - empowered sphere 181
    - public sphere 181
  - future research avenues 184, 558
  - governance as deliberative exercise 383–4
  - in interactive governance 206–8
  - and learning 227, 229, 393
  - NMGs' potential for 508
  - in planning theory 64

- Pragmatist model of 393–9
- in public participation 160, 162
- and risk 246, 249–50, 252–5
- of soft governing tools 269, 274
- and throughput legitimacy 200
- in transnational governance 131
- and transparency 219
- Type I governance 489–92
- democracy
  - and accountability, disjuncture between 211–12
  - deliberation's promotion of 184
  - deliberative model of
    - aspects of communication 95, 353, 393
    - and citizen participation 94–5, 179, 370, 408
    - democratic legitimacy of networks 407–8
    - growth of 98
    - nature of 89
    - as normative theory of democracy 88
    - in relation to inclusion 90–91, 409
    - in relation to public opinion and political will 94–6, 98
    - in relation to self-determination 93
    - how governance networks affect 421–5
    - normative theories of 87–9
    - republican model of 88–9
    - see also* representative democracy
  - democratic deficit
    - of contemporary societies, 300
    - of European Union, 7, 264
    - of global governance, 199
    - of private forms of governance, 472
  - democratic experimentalism 393, 398, 558
  - democratic governance
    - and accountability 211–12
    - argument for more practice in 384
    - citizen participation as objective of 370
    - enhancing through metagovernance 530
    - focus on 119–20
    - and Pragmatism 392–3, 396–7
    - and regional governance 481–3
    - traditional definition of 164
    - see also* network governance: democratic
  - democratic theory
    - deliberative
      - growth of 98
      - nature of 89
      - as normative theory of democracy 88
      - in relation to inclusion 90–91
      - in relation to public opinion and political will 94–6, 98
      - in relation to self-determination 93
    - epistemological and ontological strands of
      - empirical-analytical theories 87–9
      - generic democratic ideas 88
      - normative theories of democracy 87–9
    - future research avenues 98, 558
    - and governance 86–7, 96–8, 552
    - and inclusion 89–91
    - liberal
      - defining liberal democracy 420–421
      - dispositions of public officeholders 192
      - idea of political system as set of neutral institutions 190
      - on new governance forms promoting participation and deliberation 94–5
      - as normative theory of democracy 92
      - in relation to inclusion 90
      - in relation to self-determination 92
    - of pluralism
      - nature of 89
      - on new governance forms promoting participation and deliberation 94–5, 97
      - as normative theory of democracy 88
      - in relation to inclusion 90
      - in relation to self-determination 92
    - processes forming public opinion and political will 93–6
    - republican
      - as normative theory of democracy 88
      - in relation to formation of public opinion and political will 88–9
      - in relation to self-determination 88, 92
    - self-determination and self-rule 91–3
- dependent variables
  - governance as 32, 42, 75–6
  - state as 75
- design science 164
- development theory
  - bureaucratic reforms 117–18
  - dirigiste state 115–17
  - future research avenues 122–3, 557
  - governance
    - development, in twenty-first century 120–122
    - role of market-enabling institutions in 118–20
    - and role of state 115, 118–19, 121–2, 552
  - historical summary 115
  - non-governmental organizations 120–122
  - protectionism 116–17

- role of politics in economic policymaking 116–17
- state-led development during Keynesian revolution 115–17
- structural adjustment programs 117–18, 121
- turn toward market solutions 117–18
- discourse theory
  - affective dimension of governance network practices 300–301
  - critical explanation and normative evaluation 302–4
  - definition 385–6
  - floating signifiers 295, 298
  - future research avenues 304, 556–7
  - and governance networks 293–4
  - hegemonic politics and reproduction of network governance 298–300
  - poststructuralist 294–5
  - problematizing governance networks 296–8
- discursive institutionalism 314–15, 386, 529
- discursive interaction 94, 341
- discursive representation 172–3, 177
- diversity 162–3
- economic models
  - applied to legislative and administrative decision-making 102–3
  - neoclassical, of public goods 24–5
- economic theory
  - clenched fist 341, 343
  - common pool resources 349–50
  - coordination in 340–348, 350
  - future research avenues 350–351
  - governance in 340–1, 346, 350–351
  - helping hand 341, 343–5
  - invisible hand 341–2, 349
  - invisible handshake 341, 348–9
  - micro-, and public choice theory 322–4, 327
  - from visible hand to vanishing hand 341, 345–6
  - visible handshake 341, 346–8
- effectiveness
  - of global governance, extent of private governance's contribution to 472
  - goals, means and tensions in 406
  - as normative objective 403–4
  - questions of, in regard to new modes of governance 508
- efficiency
  - goals, means and tensions in 406
  - as normative objective 404–5
- empirical institutionalism 313–14
- environment and natural resources
  - management
    - adaptive governance approach 230, 539–40
    - applications of 546–7
    - institutional 542–4
    - policy sciences 544–6
    - socio-ecological 541–2
  - and information-based governance strategies 285–8
  - collective action theory for 8, 27
  - in cooptation conjecture 518–20, 523
  - environmental law 106–7, 262, 432
  - and learning 230–231
  - and legitimacy 199, 201
  - and multi-level governance 492–3
  - and private governance
    - forest certification standards 472
    - naming and shaming 471
    - and soft policy tools 271, 273–4
- Europe
  - corporatist systems in 347
  - governance
    - as 'co-production' between public and private actors 494
    - concept of, in public administration 7
    - and governmentality 354
  - hierarchical style of regulation 87
  - indicative planning 347
  - links between firms 152–4
  - local and regional government research programs 483
  - push towards co-production of public services 165
  - state
    - conception of 259
    - elements of 72–3
    - welfare 313
  - technical assistance programs 434
  - transnationalization of public spheres in 94
  - urbanists embracing governance paradigm 478–9
  - use of term "soft law" 105
  - voluntary environmental programs 287
  - Weberian model of bureaucracy in 48
- European Union (EU)
  - adoption of soft governing modes 267–8, 271–3
  - and competition 503–5
  - as complex multi-level political system 264

- cooptation in
  - accounting and environmental regulation conjecture 518–20
  - architecture of global finance conjecture 520–521
  - prominent status of 516
  - securities regulation conjecture 521–3
- on coordination 35
- democratic deficit of 7, 264
- governance
  - conceptual and definitional issues 499–500
  - as fertile breeding ground for new mechanisms of 499
  - future research avenues 508–9, 558
  - intergovernmental 500–501
  - multi-level 486–95
  - new modes of 502–5
  - origin of concept of 7–8
  - patterns and trends in evolution of 505–6
  - regional 481–2
  - research questions and lacunae 506–9
  - supranational 36, 501–2
  - through regulation as central reform 105
  - traditional modes of 500–502
  - and horizontal specialization 35–6
  - and innovation 238, 241
  - and negotiation 503–5
  - and non-binding regulation 275
  - reflections on state and statehood 8
  - soft and hard governing tools 271–3
  - territorially arranged legislation 37–8, 87
  - transboundary communicative spaces within 93–4
  - use of policy instruments 262
- expertise
  - and collaborative governance 454, 464
  - and legitimacy 200–201
  - in organization theory 34
  - and private governance 469, 474
  - in public management theory 55
  - in public participation theory 158, 163
  - and risk governance 246, 254
  - technical 239, 429, 519–20, 545
- Federal Trade Commission Act 146
- Foucault, Michel 73, 78–9, 81, 188, 191–2, 194, 295, 300, 353–61, 404, 529–30
- future research avenues
  - accountability 213, 557
  - adaptive governance 547, 557
  - collaborative governance 465–6, 556
  - collective action theory 29, 556
  - common themes 555–9
  - complexity theory and systems analysis 376, 557
  - deliberation 184, 558
  - democratic theory 98, 558
  - development theory 122–3, 557
  - discourse theory 304, 556–7
  - economic theory 350–351
  - EU and supranational governance 509
  - European Union (EU) 508–9, 558
  - governance networks 304, 425, 556
  - governmentality 360–361, 558
  - heterarchy 147, 556
  - information-based governance 289–90, 556
  - innovation 242–3, 556–7
  - institutional theory 318, 557
  - interactive governance 213, 412, 425, 557–8
  - international relations theory 556
  - interpretive and narrative theory 386–8, 558
  - learning 232, 556
  - legitimacy 202–3, 555–6
  - metagovernance 535–6, 557
  - multi-level governance 495, 557
  - network governance 450, 556
    - democratic 425, 558
  - normative theory 412, 557
  - organization theory 41–2, 556
  - planning theory 67, 557
  - power 194, 558
  - Pragmatism 399, 558
  - private governance 473–4, 556–7
  - public choice theory 336, 558
  - public law and regulatory theory 109–10, 558
  - public management theory 57, 557
  - public participation 165, 558
  - regulatory governance 290, 436–7, 557
  - representation 177, 558
  - risk 257, 556
  - soft and hard governing tools 276
  - state theory 83, 556
  - steering 265, 556
  - transnational governance 132–3, 556
    - economic 523, 558
  - transparency 222, 557–8
  - urban and regional governance 483, 556
- gender inequality 174–7
- Germany

- Advisory Council on Global Change (WBGU) 248–9
- “Cassis de Dijon” case 503, 509
- corporatist system 347, 356–7
- example of collaborative governance approach 91
- governance featuring deliberative and participatory democracy 93
- rail network 36
- risk regulatory practices 432
- state theory 259
- and steering 259–60
- transformation of energy in 87, 92
- global finance architecture conjecture 520–521
- good governance
  - concept of 2
  - constructivist role of state intervention found in writings on 356
  - critique of 120
  - focus on 120
  - harnessing complexity for 374–5
  - institutions, recognizing role of 118–20
  - internationalized 105
  - prioritizing 173
  - use of discourse of 7
- governability theory 527–8
- governance
  - defining 2–4, 32, 74–5, 156, 245
  - development, in twenty-first century 120–122
  - as magic concept 12–14
  - rise and development of debate on
    - decentering of power and authority 9
    - discipline of economics 8–9
    - focus on networks and partnerships 9–10
    - globalization and EU 7–8
    - governing as distributed process 8
    - multilateral interaction 10
    - reasons for, from different perspectives 5–6
    - theoretical inversion 4–5
  - governance-centric approaches, in state theory 77–9, 83
  - governance networks
    - and accountability 206–7, 210–211, 213, 407–8
    - affective dimensions of practice 300–301
    - asymmetric power relations of 176
    - defining 403, 420–421, 527–30
    - and democracy 419–25, 449, 531
    - and discourse theory 293–4, 553
    - factors shaping learning in 227
    - forms of systems-level feedback 370–371
    - future research avenues 304, 425, 556
    - hegemonic politics in 298–300
    - how democracy is affected by 421–5
    - interactive nature of 402, 419
    - loose coupling with formal, decision-making institutions 205, 209–10
    - many actors involved in 405
    - and metagovernance 531–3, 535
    - and new public management reforms 527–8
    - normative problems and tensions in
      - interactive 407–11
    - oppositions between narratives of 303–4
    - as post-political form of governmentality 303
    - problematizing 296–8
    - research methodologies for complex 372–4
    - and standards of inclusiveness and equal treatment 206
    - viewed as means of increasing efficiency, effectiveness and legitimacy of public governance 419
    - weak visibility of 205
    - and “wicked problems” 419
  - governance of the firm 9, 341, 345–6
  - governance turn 72, 106–7, 491, 499
  - governing tools see soft and hard governing tools
  - government
    - connecting to governance through metagovernance 530–531
    - perspective on transparency 217–19
    - shift to governance
      - collaborative approaches toward businesses and legal institutions 103–7
      - in collaborative governance context 456
      - distribution of costs and benefits from 523
      - in network governance context 445–6
      - in planning context 65
      - in state theory context 71, 77, 79–81, 83
      - through theoretical inversion 4–5
      - in urban and regional governance context 477
    - statehood, as authoritative 73
  - governmentality
    - concept of 353–4
    - future research avenues 360–361, 558
    - governance as new form of 293

- and governance networks 300, 303
- methodological issues and empirical studies 357–9
- perspectives and arguments within literature 354–7
- shift to advanced forms of 78–9
- state as object of 73–4, 76
- strengths and weaknesses of notion of 360–361
- theory 527, 529–30
- Gramsci, Antonio 72, 81–3, 294, 297, 471
- graphical displays of policy networks 153–4

- hegemonic politics 298–300
- helping hand of economic theory 341, 343–5
- heterarchy
  - beyond hierarchy 140–141, 147
  - future research avenues 147, 556
  - as hybrid 74
  - as organizational form 141
  - pan-human imperatives
    - digital imperative 140
    - place 139–40
    - social proximity 140
  - of reflexive self-organization, as definition of governance 3
  - structure versus scale 142–3, 147
  - when worlds collide
    - ensuring sustainable collaboration 145–6
    - measurement tools 146
    - policy tools 146
    - segmentary politics in healthcare example 144
    - segmentary systems 143–4
    - successful healthcare heterarchy example 145
- hierarchy 140–147
- historical institutionalism 312–13, 527
- Hobbes, Thomas 23, 28
- horizontal specialization 34–7
- Hurricane Katrina 146
- hybrids 74, 274–5, 536, 547

- inclusion
  - conflict with flexibility 461
  - and democratic theory 89–91
  - as dilemma of metagovernance 534
  - and risk 254–5
  - as theme in public participation theory 162–3
- inclusiveness
  - in deliberative democracy discussions 179
  - in governance networks 206
  - as normative problem 408–10
  - of participation, as source of input legitimacy 199
- independent variables
  - governance as 75–6
  - organizational factors as 32, 42
  - state as 75
- indicative planning 347
- inequality
  - gender 174–7
  - and public participation 164–5
- information-based governance theory
  - additionality 287
  - commensuration 288
  - conceptual and definitional issues 281–2
  - empirical findings 286–8
  - empirical variants 282–4
  - future research avenues 289–90, 556
  - limitations 287–8
  - nudging 285
  - research questions 284
  - theoretical gaps and areas for future development 289–90
  - theoretical perspectives 284–6
  - unintended consequences of 288
- innovation
  - concept of 236
  - defining 237–8
  - future research avenues 242–3, 556–7
  - in governance 240–242
    - regulatory 429–31
  - impact of governance systems on 238–40
  - pro-innovation bias 236
- input legitimacy 8, 198–201, 222, 410–411
- institutional approach to adaptive governance 538–9, 542–4
- institutional economics
  - new, and political economy of collective action 25–6, 348
  - theory of transaction costs as basis for 324
- institutional theory
  - future research avenues 318, 557
  - informal institutions for governance 316–18
  - of normative integration 528–9
  - questions for use of 309
  - and role in governance
    - discursive institutionalism 314–15
    - empirical institutionalism 313–14
    - historical institutionalism 312–13
    - rational choice institutionalism 311–12
    - sociological institutionalism 309–11

- and steering 308
- virtue of institutional approach 308–9
- institutions
  - formal, and interactive governance 209–10
  - informal, for governance 316–18
  - and liberal democratic theory 190
  - role for market-enabling 118–20
  - see also* institutional theory
- interactive governance
  - accountability
    - as constitutive part of democratic anchorage of 206–7, 213
    - and democracy 211–12
    - individual, of participants in 210–211
    - tensions in 407–8
  - as added value to representative democracy 405–6, 411–12
  - cooperative logic of 207–8
  - defining 403
  - as dilemma of metagovernance 534
  - drawbacks 411–12
  - future research avenues 213, 412, 425, 557–8
  - as instrument for reducing costs 404–5
  - lack of visibility of processes 208
  - and liberal democracy 421, 425
  - loose coupling of sites with formal, decision-making institutions 209–10
  - and metagovernance 525–36
  - in normative theory 402–3
  - in organization theory 10
  - in planning theory 10, 66
  - and power 188, 193–4, 407, 409–10
  - public-private partnerships as typical case of 213
  - as remedy for fragmentation 403–4
  - strengthening interest in 9
  - tensions in
    - accountability 407–8
    - inclusiveness 408–10
    - throughput legitimacy 410–411
  - trust relationships necessary in 212
- interdependence theory 527–8
- intergovernmental governance 499–501
- international relations
  - applicability of steering 265
  - and hard and soft law 267–8, 270–271, 276
  - non-formal compliance mechanisms 275
  - structure of international organizations 39
- international relations theory see transnational governance
- interpretive and narrative theory
  - argumentative turn 386
  - debates and challenges
    - bottom-up emphasis in interpretive theory 387–8
    - non-interpretivists' critique about methodological basis 386–7
    - relationship of interpretivism to institutionalism 387–8
    - status of narratives as explanations of governance 387
    - structure versus agency in governance explanations 388
  - distinctive contribution of interpretive governance theory 383–6
  - emphasis on practice 385–6, 388
  - ethnomethodology 382, 385
  - foundations of 380–383
  - future research avenues 386–8, 558
  - individual agency 382–5, 387–8
  - narrative analysis 381–4, 387
  - problem framing 383–6, 388
- invisible hand of economic theory 143, 342, 344, 349
- invisible handshake of economic theory 341, 348–50
- ISO (International Standardization Organization) 286–7, 432–3, 472, 519
- Latin America
  - development of dependency theory 115–16
  - forestry management systems in 435
  - governance through regulation as central reform 105
  - inefficient manufacturing 116
  - joined by non-state actors in governing process 121
  - structural adjustment programs 117–18
- law see public law and regulatory theory
- learning
  - as collective phenomenon 225
  - definitions of, in governance context 226–7
  - evolutionary, and Pragmatism 393–4
  - factors influencing 227–8
  - future research avenues 232, 556
  - governance processes associated with
    - boundary organization 229–30
    - social learning 230–231
    - “ways of knowing” 229, 231
  - importance of, in collaborative governance 457, 459, 462
  - issues and challenges for studying 230–231

- legal institutions
  - collaborative approaches toward 103–7
  - theory and debate over, in twentieth century 102–3
- legal regulation, organizational constructions of meaning of 107–10
- legitimacy
  - accountability, democratic control and 86, 97–8, 217
  - and antagonisms 302
  - audits 203, 555–6
  - augmenting through participation 182
  - claimants of 198–9
  - and collaborative governance 456–60, 463
  - concept of 197
  - and cooptation 515, 517, 519, 521
  - crises 6, 71, 73
  - of deliberative processes 175
  - democratic 6, 66, 182, 206, 240, 407–8, 422–3, 531, 533–4, 558
  - of dispute resolution structure 108
  - of European Union 507–8
  - as function of soft and hard policy instruments 275
  - future research avenues 202–3, 555–6
  - of global governance, extent of private governance's contribution to 470, 472–3
  - goals, means and tensions in 406
  - of governance mechanisms 174
  - and governance networks 419
  - of government 170, 236, 242
  - and innovation 242
  - input 8, 198–201, 222, 410–411
  - interactive governance enhancing 402, 405–6, 531
  - multiple notions and sources of 198
  - of new modes of governance 508–9
  - of new public management 49–50
  - as normative objective 405–6
  - of organizational forms 41, 129
  - output 8, 198, 201–2, 219, 222, 410–411
  - and participation 256
  - for planning 63, 65–6
  - political and administrative sector ensuring 255
  - political institutions conferring 191
  - of political system 218
  - and power 162, 197
  - and private governance 468–70, 474
  - procedural 89, 95
  - of public participation processes 159
  - reduced, of steering 271
  - in regional governance 506
  - state providing private schemes with 430
  - as theme in public participation theory 161–2
  - throughput 199, 410–411
  - traffic police example 192
  - and transparency 199–200, 217, 219, 222, 410–411
- Leviathan 23
- liberal democratic theory
  - defining liberal democracy 420–421
  - dispositions of public officeholders 192
  - idea of political system as set of neutral institutions 190
  - on new governance forms promoting participation and deliberation 94–5
  - as normative theory of democracy 92
  - in relation to inclusion 90
  - in relation to self-determination 92
- Locke, John 88
- loose coupling
  - of governance networks, with formal decision-making institutions 205, 209–10
  - of organizational structure 34
- market-enabling institutions 118–20
- market solutions
  - economic theory of 'helping hand' 343–5
  - propagated as better than inefficient government interventions 345
  - turn toward 117–18
- Marxist thought 76, 191, 294, 296, 298, 343, 355, 357, 480
- metagovernance
  - administrative and political 533–4
  - avant la lettre* 526–7
  - concept of 523
  - connecting government and governance through 530–531
  - dilemmas 534–5
  - future research avenues 535–6, 557
  - goals, tools and forms of 531–2
  - as governance of governance 80, 209, 523, 530
  - and mobilization of bias 526, 532
  - and regulated self-regulation 423, 526–7
  - theoretical approaches to
    - governability theory 528
    - governmentality theory 529–30

- institutional theories of normative integration 528–9
  - interdependence theory 527–8
  - as third order governance 526
- Mill, John Stuart 88, 406
- mobilization of bias 190, 526, 532
- multi-level governance (MLG)
  - Canada's Great Lakes regime 95–6
  - conceptual and definitional issues 487–8
  - debates, dilemmas and lacunae 489–93
  - future research avenues 495, 557
  - increasing concern with 309
  - and learning 229
  - moving forward 493–4, 557
  - origins 486–7
  - research questions 488–9
  - state power challenged by new forms of 530
- Type I–Type II
  - binary divide 489–91
  - breadth of role 491–2
  - divide, as problematic 493–4
  - typology 487–8
  - voice and deliberation vs. exit and choice 492–3
- as widely adopted by European Union 494
- narrative theory see interpretive and narrative theory
- negotiation, governance by 503–5
- neoclassical economic models of public goods
  - and common pool resources 24–5
- nested qualities of social structures 368
- nested rule structures 543–4
- network approach
  - benefits of 156–7
  - concept of 149
  - features of 150–151
    - analyzing, visualizing and explaining
    - patterning of links 152–4
    - importance of links between actors 151–2, 404, 444
    - studying collaborative governance in goal-directed networks 154–6
  - fundamental characteristic of 149–50
  - history of 149
  - in relation to modern governance approach 150, 156
- network governance
  - as asymmetrical 82
  - beyond the polity 78
  - challenges and implications 449, 528
  - compared with state and market governance 443
- democratic
  - defining governance networks and liberal democracy 420–421
  - future research avenues 425, 558
  - perspectives on how governance networks affect democracy 421–5
  - role of governance networks 419–20
- discourse–dispositif approach 78–9
- elements of 442–3
- empirical evidence 448–9
- failure 83
- future research avenues 450, 556
- ideal form of 302
- messy politics and power struggles of 302
- nature of 443–4
- within neoliberalism 82
- possible outcomes of moves to establish 302–3
- related governance concepts
  - collaborative governance 446–7
  - new public governance 446
  - new public management 446
  - relational coordination 446
  - relational governance 446
- reproduction of 298–300
- and shadow of hierarchy 528
- sovereign power for effective 81
- theories
  - and definitions 445–6
  - underpinning 447–8
- transatlantic dialogue on 10
- types, forms and functions 444–5
- new modes of governance (NMGs)
  - benefits and disadvantages 551–2, 555
  - character of 508
  - in European Union, between negotiation and competition 502–6, 508
  - increase in scholarly interest in 499
  - influencing research on policy instruments 270
  - limitations of hierarchies and markets necessitating development of 9
  - literature on 494
  - 'network' as most common descriptor of 552
  - and non-binding decisions 500
  - and power 387
  - questions of effectiveness and legitimacy 507–8
  - regulatory 429–31

- simple dichotomies 491, 494
- soft governing tools as 268
- structure of EU governance 499
- and urban governance 479
- new public governance (NPG)
  - as component of hybrid assembly 446
  - embedding public service-dominant logic within 52–5
    - implications for governance 56–7
    - limitations and challenges 55–6
  - focus on public service delivery systems 46
  - as form of neoliberal governing 356–7
  - move from new public management 50–52
  - as opportunity for public participation 165
- new public management (NPM)
  - and competition 332–4
  - fatal flaw within 46–7, 54
  - influenced by principal-agent theory 9
  - innovation within 238–9, 242
  - and metagovernance 526, 532
  - move from classical public administration 47–50
  - move to new public governance 50–52
  - neoliberal economic analysis leading to 345
  - practices 46, 356
  - public choice theory applied to 332–4
  - reforms
    - and agencification 36
    - and governance networks 527–8
- NMGs see new modes of governance
- non-governmental organizations (NGOs)
  - and accountability 210–211
  - as active players in co-regulation 470
  - agenda-setting 469–70
  - as analogous to global civil society 8, 469
  - continuous growth of 128
  - cooptation of 515–16, 519–20
  - development theory 120–122
  - as empowered actors 404
  - environmental 520
  - ISO system embedded in networks of 433
  - legitimacy dynamics 473
  - as major actors in interactive governance 210
  - management of crises 141
  - and representation 173, 176
  - role in shaping private governance 471
  - and state capacity 552
- normative theory
  - of democracy 87–9
  - example of trade-off 411–12
  - future research avenues 412, 557
- interactive governance
  - contribution to realization of normative goals 402
  - defining 403
  - developments evoking 403–6
  - networks, tensions in 407–11
- normative integration, institutional theories of 528–9
- normative objectives
  - effectiveness 403–4, 406
  - efficiency 404–6
  - interactive governance's contribution to realization of 402
  - legitimacy 405–6
- normative problems
  - accountability 407–8
  - inclusiveness 408–10
  - throughput legitimacy 410–411
- NPG see new public governance
- NPM see new public management
- object-focused planning theory 62–3
- Olson, Mancur 8, 21, 24–5, 29, 323, 325, 327–9, 349–50
- Open Method of Coordination (OMC) 267, 272–3, 504
- ordinary legislative procedure (OLP), 501–3, 505, 507–8
- organization theory
  - application to governance, uses of 41–2
  - approach to governance 32–3
  - future research avenues 41–2, 556
  - impact of structure on governance
    - at implementation stage 36–8
    - at policy-making stage 35–6
  - organizational capacity 34–42
  - organizational change 38–41
  - structure-governance relationship 33–5
  - and transnational governance 129
- organizational change
  - analytical problem solving 39–40
  - as diffusion and isomorphism 41
  - functional account of 39
  - institutional perspective on 40–41
  - power and conflict oriented perspective on 40
  - types of 38–9
- organizational constructions of meaning of legal regulation 107–10
- Ostrom, Elinor 8, 21, 24–9, 275, 311–12, 350, 368, 372, 431, 435, 468, 538, 541–4, 547

- output legitimacy 8, 198, 201–2, 219, 222, 410–411
- participation designing processes 163–4 new governance forms promoting 94–5, 97 participatory democracy 89
 risk 253–5
 as theme in public participation theory 163
see also citizen participation
- planning theory
 advocacy planning 63 collaborative planning 66–7, 241
 future research avenues 67, 557 mixed scanning 62, 64–5
 nature of 61
 object-focused 62–3 paradigm shift within 62, 64–5, 67 perspectives relating planning and theory 61–2 process-focused 63–5 rationalistic planning 63–7 towards balanced 67 towards context-focused 65–7, 554
- pluralist democratic theory
 nature of 89
 on new governance forms promoting participation and deliberation 94–5, 97
 as normative theory of democracy 88
 in relation to inclusion 90
 in relation to self-determination 92 society as essentially plural 189
- policy sciences approach to adaptive governance 538, 544–6
- policy styles 273–4, 276
- political control and the bureaucracy 329–30, 335 politicization strengthening 37
- political economy as classical liberalism 353 of collective action 25–6 governance of global 523 urban 479–80
- political metagovernance 533–4
- political will basis of 88 processes forming 89, 93–6, 98
- power
 and accountability 205, 207–13
 of bureaucrats 329 business 102, 286 of citizens 66, 93
 of collaboration 454–5, 464
 and cooptation 515–23
 debate 188
 decentering of 9, 86
 decision-making 92, 209, 268, 273, 286, 326, 405, 411, 543 distribution of 89, 164, 546 four dimensions of 189–93
 future research avenues 194, 558
 and gender inequality 175–7
 and governance 2
 governance network logic of 422, 553
 and governmentality 353–61, 553
 and hard and soft governing tools 268–70, 272, 274–5 importance of communication networks 284 of information 288, 290
 and interactive governance 188, 193–4, 407, 409–10
 and legitimacy 162, 197
 management of 162 and managerial capitalism 345–6 monopoly 325, 343
 multi-level governance 435
 in narrative and interpretive theory 387–8 networks enhancing national agencies' 38 oriented perspective on organizational change 40 political 73, 86, 88, 90, 92, 97, 109, 174, 184, 264, 294, 296–9, 302, 304, 360, 384, 386, 425, 514, 534 predictive 373
 and public participation 159–60
 segmentary system 144 sharing 542 shifts between different levels of government 488
 state 8, 71–4, 76–83, 89, 343, 355–6, 358–9, 471, 473, 507, 514–15, 528, 530–531 struggles 199–200, 304, 533
 supranational 501–2, 506–7
- Pragmatism
 American 381, 392, 538, 544 conception of human action 398–9 creative syncretism 397–8 democratic experimentalism 393, 398, 558
 as distinctive theoretical lens on governance as dynamic conception of evolutionary learning 393–4 focus on what is problematic 394–5 possibilities 397–9

- values at stake 395–7
- future research avenues 399, 558
- origins and early period of 392
- revival of 392–3
- principal-agent
  - problem
    - in democratic theory 94
    - as insight into public choice theory 326
    - privatization as possible solution 332, 336
    - resurfacing, conditions for 333
  - relationships and delegation 312
  - terminology, in relation to government 217–18
  - theory 9, 208, 330
- Prisoner's Dilemma game theory 25, 29, 323, 328, 349, 367
- private governance
  - civil regulations 469
  - definitions and concepts 468–70
  - delegated and entrepreneurial 473–4
  - dichotomy with public governance 473
  - explanations for emergence and proliferation of 470–472
  - extent of contribution to effectiveness and legitimacy of global governance 472–3
  - future research avenues 473–4, 556–7
  - inter-firm cooperation 469
  - non-governmental organizations 469–70
- process-focused planning theory 63–5
- PSOs see public service organizations
- public administration
  - and complex governance systems 364–5, 368, 370, 373
  - European concept of governance 7
  - innovation within 238, 242
  - move to new public management 47–50, 57
  - old controversy of 33
  - possible role of expert based 184
  - previous understanding of how public services were governed and managed 46
  - and public service delivery 51–2
- public choice theory
  - applied to
    - centralization vs. decentralization 331–2
    - collective action theory 327–9
    - competition and new public management 332–4
    - political control and bureaucracy 329–30
  - future research avenues 336, 558
  - historical background 322–4
  - insights
    - collective action theory 325
    - competition 325
    - costs and benefits accruing to different agents 325
    - principal-agent problem 326
    - rent-seeking 326–7
  - methodology 327
  - nature of 322
  - self-interest 322, 333–5, 344
  - strengths and weaknesses 334–6
- public goods
  - Adam Smith's view on 23
  - Aristotle's view on 22
  - contribution to, as condition for output legitimacy 201
  - and cooptation 515
  - costs, benefits and agents 325
  - helping hand for 343–4
  - and the Leviathan 23
  - neoclassical economic models of 24–5
  - as non-rivalrous in consumption 22
  - and principal-agent problem 326, 333
  - and private clubs 27
  - problem of over-supply of 331–2
  - as 'public products' or 'public services' 46–7
  - similarity to common pool resources 21–2
  - in Type I multi-level governance 490
- public law and regulatory theory
  - altered through editing and retheorization 109
  - collaborative approaches toward businesses and legal institutions 103–7
  - command-and-control regulation 102–3, 105–7, 109
  - and debate, in twentieth century 102–3
  - dispute resolution system 105, 108
  - employment law 108–9
  - future research avenues 109–10, 558
  - from government to governance 103–7
  - meta-risk management 107
  - organizational constructions of meaning of legal regulation 107–10
  - responsive regulation 106
- public management theory
  - contentious issues 46–7
  - future research avenues 57, 557
  - new public governance
    - embedding public service-dominant logic within 52–7

- move from new public management 50–52
- new public management
  - move from classical public administration 47–50
  - move to new public governance 50–52
- product-dominant approach 46–7, 51–2, 54, 56
- public opinion
  - and deliberation in public sphere 181
  - within democratic society 88
  - processes forming 93–6, 98
  - ‘refined’ 180
- public participation
  - association with adaptive co-management 547
  - definition and salience of 159–61
  - and democratic governance 164
  - as established part of risk management 256
  - future directions for theories of, in governance 164–5
  - future research avenues 165, 558
  - nature of 158
  - and participatory democracy 89
  - tensions in 158
  - theory themes
    - designing participation processes 163–4
    - diversity and inclusion 162–3
    - expertise and participation 163
    - legitimacy 161–2
- public service-dominant logic (PSDL)
  - argument of 46
  - embedding within new public governance 52–5
  - implications for governance 56–7
  - limitations and challenges 55–6
  - future research avenues 57
- public service organizations (PSOs) 46, 50–52, 55, 57
- rational choice institutionalism 311–12, 528
- regional governance
  - in America 482–3
  - drivers of 481
  - in EU member states 481–2
  - as forgotten level of governance 481
  - future research avenues 483, 556
  - regional politics 477
  - theoretical approaches to 482
- regulatory governance
  - as bottom-up process, in public law context 109
  - on business activity 108
  - character of regulatory problems 429
  - China’s food safety crisis 428, 434–5
  - co-regulation 430–431
  - complexity and uncertainty in 429, 434–6
  - experimentalist governance 435–6
  - future research avenues 290, 436–7, 557
  - new modes of 429–31
  - no panaceas in
    - context mattering more than design 431–2
    - firm interaction with global economy 432–3
    - firm type, differences across 432
    - responsive regulation 433
    - unable to assimilate new governance techniques 432
    - voluntary governance programs 432
  - prompted by catastrophic governance failures 428
  - recognition of 106–7
  - scholarship focus on 107, 428–9
  - transaction costs 436
  - use of technology 437
  - voluntary forms of regulation 431
  - and “wicked problems” 429, 433–6, 438
- regulatory theory see public law and regulatory theory
- relational coordination 446
- relational governance 54, 446
- rent-seeking 206, 326–7, 334, 336, 558
- representation
  - discourse representation 172–3, 177
  - in discourse theory 297, 299–300
  - future research avenues 177, 558
  - gender inequality, and governance 174–7
  - interest 91, 94, 264, 347, 460, 481, 543
  - in public participation 159–60
  - representative claim 173–4, 176–7
  - studies, and governance perspective 170–174
- representative democracy
  - alternative model to 172–3
  - and deliberative forums 182
  - and information available to public 220
  - interactive governance as added value to 405–6, 411–12
  - and liberal democracy 88, 421
  - new governance approaches
    - emerging in response to perceived failures of 91, 96
    - potential to enhance or deteriorate 96–8

- and voter paradox 323
- republican democratic theory 88–9, 92
- responsive regulation 106, 428, 433
- risk
  - as social construct 246–7
  - characterization and evaluation 250–251
  - communication and participation 253–5
  - estimation of interdisciplinary 248–9
  - failures, and conditions for success 255–6
  - framing 247–8
  - future research avenues 257, 556
  - governance framework
    - adaptive and integrative 247
    - as attempt to address issues of inclusive governance 256
    - development of 245–6
    - effective communication as challenge 253–4
    - inclusion as challenge 254–5
    - limitations 256–7
    - need for two types of assessment 248
    - relationship between stakeholder participation and risk categories in 252
  - management 251–3
  - pre-estimation 246–8
  - screening 247
  - transition to new concept of risk governance 245
- scientific management 545–6
- self-determination and self-rule 88–9, 91–3
- self-interest
  - Aristotle on 22
  - and collaborative governance 456
  - and corporatist governance 94
  - and deliberative theory 183
  - in economic theory 342, 349
  - experiments regarding 28
  - and governance networks 527
  - in market governance mode 443
  - and metagovernance 528
  - pragmatic legitimacy linked to 202
  - and public choice theory 322, 327, 333–5, 344
  - of public officeholders 192
  - and rationality 24
  - rules designed to overcome 311
- services theory 52–4
- shadow of hierarchy
  - and accountability 206
  - in the European Union 502, 504–6, 508
  - as form of interaction between hard and soft policy tools 275
  - and institutional theory 308
  - and interactive governance 412
  - and network governance 528
  - and new modes of governance 473–4
  - and private governance 473–4
  - in self-regulating networks 263
  - and state theory 80, 82–3
- Sherman Act 146
- Skocpol, Theda 75–6
- Smith, Adam 23, 143, 342
- social-ecological systems (SES) framework 27
- social learning 160, 225, 230–231, 255, 540–542, 547
- social network analysis
  - aims of 420
  - application to collective dilemmas 29
  - application to study of governance 369
  - argument for development of 556
  - definition 21
  - limitations 371
  - as measurement tool for heterarchies 146
  - sociograms as early companions of 153
  - use in studying knowledge diffusion 369
- society-centered theory 75–7, 83
- socio-ecological approach to adaptive governance 538, 541–2
- sociological institutionalism 309–11, 314
- soft and hard governing tools
  - concept of, and distinctions between 267–70
  - in the EU 271–3
  - future research avenues 276
  - research on
    - compliance 275
    - hybrids 274–5
    - national policy styles 273–4
  - steering function of 267–9, 271, 275
  - studying 270–271
- soft law
  - and idea of steering 271
  - in public law and regulatory theory 105
  - and transnational governance 127–32, 268, 271
- spatial planning see planning theory
- state-led development 115–17
- state theory
  - concept of governance 73–5, 83
  - concept of state 72–3, 83
  - de-hierarchization of state 77–8

- de-politization of power 78
- future research avenues 83, 556
- German 259
- from government to governance 71, 77, 79–81, 83
- network governance beyond the polity 78
- policy labor 72–3
- versus society-centered theory 75–7, 83
- “state effect” 73, 78–9
- strategic-relational approach 79–83
- third-order governing 80–81
- towards governance-centric approaches 77–9
- steering
  - capacity 38
  - concept of, and use 259–60
  - critique of approach 263–5
  - distinction with rowing 6, 526
  - function of soft and hard governing tools 3, 267–9, 271, 275
  - future research avenues 265, 556
  - goal and framework 532
  - informal institutions for providing 308
  - information-based 270, 272, 281
  - and institutional theory 308
  - interactive processes of 343, 350
  - of local state 479
  - macroeconomic 343–5
  - move to governance 261–2
  - new system of 526
  - paradigm 260–261, 403–4
  - political representation 73
  - of power resources 89
  - reduced legitimacy of traditional 271
  - research on public 9
  - role of norms and ideas in 310
  - society 2, 4, 32, 150, 156, 214, 236, 286, 289, 340–341
  - and targeted transparency 220
  - transparency as tool 218–19
  - and vertical specialization 37
- strategic-relational approach (SRA) 79–83
- supranational governance
  - behavioral consequences of horizontal specialization within 35–6
  - within European Union 36, 271–2, 501–2
  - future research avenues 509
  - struggle between national and supranational actors 505
- systems analysis see complexity theory and systems analysis
- technocracy
  - deliberation’s promotion of 184
  - managerial 206
  - rationalistic planning approach leading to 63
  - technocratic authorities 516, 520–521
- territorial imperative 139–40
- territorial mobilization
  - of regional identities 482
  - of resources 477
- territorial specialization 34–6
- territorialization 8, 73, 78–9, 487–8, 494
- territorially arranged implementation 37–8, 87
- theories of governance
  - as analytical constructs 11
  - comprising overlapping discussions and debates 1–2
  - current status of 551–5
  - future research avenues, common themes 555–9
  - leading to development of new theories 10–11
  - likely components of 11
  - pitfalls
    - impressionistic descriptivism 12
    - theoretical reification 11–12
  - purposes of 1
  - relationship with empirical work 1–2, 10–12
  - strengths of 12–14
- throughput legitimacy 199, 410–411
- Tocqueville, Alexis de 23, 406
- Tragedy of the Commons 24–5, 29, 350, 540
- transnational governance
  - Canada’s Great Lakes regime 95–6
  - cooptation in 516
  - difficulty in identifying relevant constituency in private 200
- economic
  - architecture of global finance conjecture 520–521
  - and cooptation 515–23
  - critique of neo-liberal institutionalism 514–15
  - European accounting and environmental regulation conjecture 518–20
  - European securities regulation conjecture 521–3
  - functionalist frameworks 514
  - future research avenues 523, 558
  - shifts in governance power 516–18
  - future research avenues 132–3, 556

- from international relations to 126–7
- multi-institutional dynamics 129–31
- networks, as democratic 424
- organizations
  - diversity of 127–8
  - growth of international 128–9
- as organized 128–9
- as process-driven 132, 554
- regulatory activism 126–7, 131
- Scandinavian institutionalism 130
- self-reinforcing and ambiguous processes
  - allocation of responsibilities 132
  - search for control 132
  - trust and distrust 131–2
- and soft law 127–32, 268, 271
- transnational world 127–8
- transparency
  - and accountability 159, 162, 165, 194, 217, 220, 222, 449
  - civil and private sector perspectives 221–2
  - future research avenues 222, 557–8
  - government's perspective 217–19
  - and legitimacy 199–200, 217, 219, 222, 410–411
  - public's perspective 219–21
  - and trust 156, 218–19
- Transparency International 119–220, 283–4
- trust
  - antitrust 146
  - connection to process legitimacy 163
  - and distrust, in transnational governance 131–2
  - interpersonal relations based on 444
  - necessary in interactive governance 212
  - and network governance 442, 444, 528
  - in provision of collective goods 28
  - and transparency 156, 218–19
- United Kingdom (UK)
  - Big Society 165, 404
  - campaign against third runway at Heathrow Airport 301
  - clinical appraisal schemes in health sector 491
  - compulsory competitive tendering by local political authorities 332
  - electricity regulation in 432
  - holistic governance 37
  - procedure for chemical risks based on risk–risk comparisons 250
  - product-dominant approach 47
  - as receptive to risk regulation discourse 432
  - risk classification components 249
  - Type I–Type II examples 492–3
  - 'Westminster model' 47–8, 384
- United States (US)
  - American pragmatism 381, 392, 538, 544
  - attempt to respond to public administration critiques 48
  - business influencing regulatory policy 103
  - collective goods 26
  - community organizing efforts to transform social dynamics 159
  - complexity science nodes of inquiry 372
  - decision-making
    - risk 254
    - strategic manipulation of procedure 327
  - good governance 120
  - governance through regulation as central reform 105
  - heterarchies 144–6
  - measures of "conscious consumption" 287
  - public participation and democratic governance 164
  - regional governance 482–3
  - toxic pollution emitted by industry 288
  - urban governance 478–9
- urban governance
  - future research avenues 483, 556
  - from local government to 478–81
  - networks, taking on "Janus-faced" autocratic forms of government 300
  - urban politics 477
- vanishing hand of economic theory 341, 345–6
- veil of ignorance 190–192
- vertical specialization 34, 36–8
- visible hand of economic theory 143, 341, 345–6
- visible handshake of economic theory 341, 346–50
- Washington Consensus 117, 120, 359
- "wicked problems"
  - and collaborative governance 239–40, 463
  - and complexity theory 364–6, 375
  - concept of 7
  - and governance networks 419
  - and planning theory 62, 64
  - and regulatory governance 429, 433–6, 438
  - and state theory 76, 83