Tables

2.1 Shifting interpretation of key elements of the social enterprise definition
2.2 Legal status by social enterprise
2.3 Analysis of 2008/09 National Survey of Third Sector Organisations: questions related to social enterprise
3.1 Number of organizations in SOI data set by size of total expenses (1982–2002 aggregated)
3.2 Number of organizations in panel and original data sets, 1982, 1985–96 (unweighted, excluding hospitals and higher education institutions)
3.3 Percentage of nonprofits with absolute commercial revenue growth as a share of those with losses and gains in government grants and private contributions (excluding hospitals and higher education institutions)
3.4 Results of ordinary least squares regression to predict increases in commercial activity
3.5 Percentage of arts and culture nonprofits with absolute commercial revenue growth as a share of those with losses and gains in government grants and private contributions
3.6 Percentage of human service nonprofits with absolute commercial revenue growth as a share of those with losses and gains in government grants and private contributions
6.1 Three understandings of myth and demystification, as well as paradigmatic theorists and illustrative studies from the realm of social entrepreneurship studies
6.2 Results from the analysis of interpretive repertoires
7.1 A reframing of the social entrepreneurship myth following Lakoff (2004)
12.1 Social entrepreneurship’s impact on nonprofit contributions to civil society
14.1 Beit Issie programmes and their impact