

Acknowledgments

This book is part of the 'Catch-up Project' coordinated by Richard Nelson of Columbia University, New York, USA. The 'Catch-up Project', supported by the Earth Institute of Columbia University, provided funding for the meetings that were held in preparation for the volume. The meetings took place in Milan, New York and Berkeley, where the ideas were developed and the various drafts of the book were presented and discussed. We wish to thank Richard Nelson for the encouragement, suggestions and feedback he has provided throughout the development of this book.

While the contents of each chapter reflect the views and writing styles of the individual authors, the book shares a common framework and approach that will be discussed in the Introduction (Chapter 1) and summarized in the Conclusions (Chapter 9). The chapters presented in this volume have all benefited from the intense and lively discussions that the group had during meetings and throughout each stage of the manuscript's preparation.

We wish to thank Alix Bax for her excellent work in copyediting and Matt Pittman of Edward Elgar for his advice and support throughout the preparation of this book.
