Acknowledgements

This book is published thanks to the manifold contributions of numerous people and institutions who have helped us realize the project.

First, we are very grateful to Laszlo Zsolnai and George Brenkert for inviting us to host the Seventh TransAtlantic Business Ethics Conference in Bergen, as well as to edit this volume. As founders of the TABEC initiative and editors of the Studies in TransAtlantic Business Ethics book series, their passion, personal involvement, and constructive suggestions have not only made this book possible, but a pleasurable project.

We are also grateful to several persons and institutions who contributed to the realization of the conference and to the publication of this book. We would like to thank all the participants at the conference for bringing their knowledge and creativity to work in illuminating the topic of the conference. It is our hope that the dialogues at the conference will stimulate further work on these important issues.

We are thankful for support from NHH Norwegian School of Economics, where the conference was hosted. We thank the Center of Ethics and Economy at NHH and our respective departments, the Department of Strategy and Management and the Department of Accounting, Law and Auditing, for financial, practical and collegial support.

Several NHH students volunteered for the conference and for the work with the book and we are grateful for their contributions. In particular, we thank Ingvild Orheim and Kamilla Korsnes. Ingvild played an important role during the conference in taking care of our guests and their spouses, and Kamilla has done invaluable work with preparing the manuscripts of this book for publication.

There were several participants at the conference whose work for different reasons are not included in this book. We are grateful for the contributions of these participants to the conference, and thereby to the intellectual content of this book, to which they indirectly have contributed through dialogues at the conference: Thomas Beschorner, Andrew Crane, Tom Donaldson, Josep Lozano, Wayne Norman, and Antonio Tencati.

Finally, we would like to acknowledge our editors at Edward Elgar Publishing for publishing this book as part of the Studies in TransAtlantic Business Ethics series, as well as for their constructive help, engagement and commitment to the book project.
