

---

Tables

---

1.1	Sample characteristics	18
1.2	Reporting of data collection procedures across journals by the number of countries surveyed, 2000–09	23
3.1	Actual usage of marketing accountability dimension-related items in sample firms	67
5.1	Criteria used to define emerging markets	91
5.2	Responding to institutional voids	97
5.3	The CAGE distance framework	98
7.1	Key statistical indicators in China	126
7.2	Sample breakdown by key demographics	134
7.3	Construct analysis	136
7.4	Path estimates of the model of advertising avoidance	137
7.5	The role of trust in advertisers' motives and demographics	138
7.6	Demographic determinants of TV advertising avoidance	140
8.1	Penetration of durable and consumable categories in the Indian context	148
8.2	Penetration of consumables/services in the Indian context	148
9.1	Analysis of country image research in emerging economies	172
11.1	Gross region product, income and expenditure of the population, by federal districts, in roubles	230
11.2	Russia: households by number of persons, in percentage	231
11.3	Internet users in various countries in 2014	236
12.1	Dynamics of volume of e-commerce market in Russia in US$ million	248
12.2	Russian e-commerce market year-on-year growth in percentages	249
12.3	Factors stimulating the development of e-commerce	249
12.4	Barriers to e-commerce market growth in Russia	250
12.5	Internet retailing brand shares in percentage value, 2010–13	252
12.6	Distribution of companies from 2012 and 2015 samples, by size	256
12.7	Distribution of companies from 2012 and 2015 samples, by industry	257
12.8	Partner interactions	258
12.9	Forms of interaction with suppliers	259
12.10	Marketing strategies applied by companies	259
12.11	Forms of interaction with clients	260
13.1	Typical e-marketing as developed by active Bulgarian companies	280
13.2	Marketing communication channels available to the hotel manager	281