

---

Tables

---

|       |  |     |
|-------|--|-----|
| 8.1   | Summary of propositions on how leaders manage team processes to facilitate creativity  | 175 |
| 10.1  | Table of structure and consideration behaviors in the multi-level framework  | 221 |
| 11.1  | Intraclass correlation coefficients (ICC) of study variables   | 236 |
| 11.2  | Means, standard deviations, coefficient alpha reliabilities, and intercorrelations   | 237 |
| 11.3  | Hierarchical linear multiple regressions of effects of leader-rated and follower-rated LMX on past creative performance and on future creative performance           | 238 |
| 11.4  | Means and standard deviations for followers' past and future creative performance for different types of LMX balance relationships and followers' academic positions | 240 |
| 15.1  | Proposed differences for charismatic, ideological, and pragmatic leaders   | 324 |
| 17.1  | Skills deemed to be essential for leadership among executives and managers   | 361 |
| 17.2  | Creative problem solving: Steps and skills   | 372 |
| 23.1  | Categories/subcategories of creative-leader-related or CI situations reported by research group members  | 463 |
| 23.2  | Categories/subcategories of creative leader or CI behaviors reported by research group members   | 465 |
| 23.3  | Categories/subcategories of the ascribed meanings of research group members' reported CIs  | 467 |
| 23A.1 | Extract from coding matrix of university (U) and industry (I) research group member perceptions of critical incidents of creativity by their group leaders           | 474 |