Acknowledgements

We are sincerely grateful to all those who contributed to this book, particularly our co-authors who carved out time in their busy academic and business lives to share their vast experience of creating and supporting academic spin-offs and spurring technology transfer activities in their region or at their respective institutions. Our heartfelt thanks to each and every one of them. Their dedication to this project has been an inspiration and their insights have proven very valuable. It has been our privilege and pleasure to work with them all.

Special thanks must also be given to Liz Morrison, who spent numerous hours revising drafts of each and every chapter, introduction and conclusions.

We are also grateful for the support received by our respective organizations, iMinds and FESTEL CAPITAL, in realizing this project.

Finally, thank you to Benedict Hill and Francine O'Sullivan at Edward Elgar Publishing for their guidance and assistance in helping us to navigate the course of bringing a collective idea into a published volume.
