Acknowledgements

The editors would like to acknowledge first and foremost the valuable contributions of Susan Rolston at Seawinds Consulting Services in bringing this volume through to completion. Susan provided detailed copy editing on the final versions of the chapters and contributed immeasurably to the quality and consistency of the final product.

Most of the funding to support the project came from the K.G. Jebsen Centre for the Law of the Sea, Tromsø. Additional financial support was received from the University of Tromsø, Faculty of Law, and a contribution from the Schulich Academic Excellence Fund, Schulich School of Law, Dalhousie University supported the editing work of the project. The research support of the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, particularly through the OceanCanada Partnership, is also gratefully acknowledged.

Most of the authors of this volume were able to attend an authors' workshop hosted at the Fridtjof Nansen Institute (FNI) in Oslo in wonderful spring weather in April 2015. A few authors (Jay Batongbacal (Philippines), Aðalheiður Jóhannsdóttir (Iceland) and Hui Liu (China)) were unable to attend in person but were motivated enough, notwithstanding time differences, to join us via Skype and we thank them in particular for their perseverance. Thanks are also due to Christin Skjervold, senior advisor with the K.G. Jebsen Centre for all her work in coordinating the travel and accommodation arrangements for the workshop and to staff at FNI for hosting our meeting.
