

Contents

---

List of figures	vii
List of tables	viii
Editorial review board	ix
List of contributors	xi
Foreword	xiii
Birgitte Egelund Olsen
Preface	xv
List of abbreviations	xvi

PART I CASE STUDIES IN POLICY INTEGRATION

1. Climate policy integration: evidence on coherence in EU policies 3
Claudia Kettner, Daniela Kletzan-Slamanig and Angela Köppl
2. Tax treatment of the interaction between water and energy 18
Marta Villar Ezcurra and Enrique Fonseca Capdevila
3. Subsidies to fossil energy consumption in Italy: assessment and interaction with the electricity market 33
Marianna Antenucci and Michele Governatori
4. Towards a sustainable climate and energy policy mix: insights from theory and the case of Japan 49
Sven Rudolph, Takeshi Kawakatsu and Achim Lerch
5. European renewable energy market governance and economic crisis: a taxation makeover with Greece as a case study 66
Ioanna Mersinia

PART II THE CHALLENGES OF SUBSIDIES

6. Reforming fossil fuel subsidies: will it make a difference? 83
Malgorzata Kicia and Manfred Rosenstock

7.	Tax expenditures to promote environmentally responsible investment María Amparo Grau Ruiz	100
8.	Do you get what you pay for with United States climate change tax provisions? Hans Sprohge and Larry Kreiser	115
9.	Supporting emission reductions through a viable wind energy industry: lessons for Australia Karen Bubna-Litic	128
PART III COMPETITIVENESS CONSIDERATIONS
10.	Environmental border tax adjustments (BTAs): a forgotten history Alice Pirlot	147
11.	Renewable energy: subsidies and taxes as competition distortion Rolf H. Weber	161
12.	The impact of environmental tax on enterprise competitiveness in China Jian Wu, Yujiao Mao and Xingjie Guo	177
PART IV STRATEGIC CONSIDERATIONS
13.	Reclaiming the ‘T’ word: ways of improving communication and public acceptance of environmental fiscal reform in Europe Jacqueline Cottrell	195
14.	Regulatory taxes as an instrument to foster sustainability transitions: an exploratory analysis Kris Bachus and Frederic Vanswijgenhoven	213
15.	Resilience based policy for groundwater protection Deborah L. Jarvie	229
	Index	241