Acknowledgments

Not only are we grateful for the support of this emerging community of scholarship, but also for the support of our publisher, Edward Elgar (EE). Neuroentrepreneurship is an emerging field in its infancy. We are grateful for EE's support and commitment to staying on the cutting edge of research and scholarship.

We are also grateful for the support and encouragement of those in the entrepreneurship research and neuroscience communities, as well as those in our circle of family and friends who have played their own significant parts in making this handbook a reality. To name just a few: Zoltan Acs, Randy and Kathy Pherson, and everyone at Pherson Associates/Globalytica, Jim Kajdasz, Colorado Christian University, the Entrepreneurship Division at the Academy of Management for providing the opportunity to discuss and present research on this topic, Alan Gay, Angela Stanton, Isabelle Welpé, the Max Planck Institute for Economics, Matthew Carter, Mary Harrington, and many others who have provided both insight and support over the past few years.
