Figures

10.1 The determinants of regional innovation and economic growth: the inter-connection of regional growth and behavioural systems 117
10.2 Theoretical perspectives on regional innovation and growth 118
10.3 Regional growth systems – key components 121
10.4 New theoretical perspectives on regional innovation and growth 127
13.1 Dublin knowledge space 160
14.1 The complex creative ecology of creative regions 170
20.1 The contested geographical imaginations of Wales during the 1950s and 1960s 246
20.2 Defending the Welsh cultural region 248
20.3 A map of Welsh-medium tweets 253
22.1 Map of Vieques’ national wildlife refuge 270
22.2 Signs warn visitors from picking up suspicious objects serving as a reminder of the not-so-distant military occupation of Vieques 274
22.3 Live Impact Area’s Central Processing Center, Vieques 277
23.1 The three dimensions of city-regionalism as a societal process 289
33.1 China’s provincial-level administrative divisions and GDP per head in 2015 409
33.2 National and local government revenue and expenditure, 1952–2015 411
33.3 Provincial government revenue and central-provincial fiscal transfers per resident, 2014 412
33.4 National revenue for the maintenance and construction of urban infrastructure, 2006–14 413
33.5 National fixed assets investment in urban service facilities by source of capital, 2006–14 414
33.6 Chinese economic growth, 1952–2015 416
33.7 Comparative development of four main territorial divisions 417
33.8 Inter-provincial and rural–urban disparities in China, 1952–2015 417
33.9 Prefectural GDP per capita in 2013, China = 100 418
33.10 Evolution of the rural population and primary sector employment and output, 1952–2012 422
34.1 The mapping of ‘One Belt One Road’ by Xinhua 431
35.1 Index of regional Ministers across Australia by year, 1939–2015 450
39.1 Definitions of the Arctic 493
39.2 Antarctica showing the major regional instruments regulating the Greater Southern Ocean 497