
Acknowledgements

Putting together the major volume that is this Handbook is the work of many hands and we owe a great debt of gratitude to the authors who have contributed to its contents and are listed in the Contributors section. Our thanks to them is all the greater because of the delays and disruptions to the work brought about by the serious health issues experienced by both editors and now happily overcome. We want to thank our contributors for the patience and support they have shown us during these difficult times. We are also grateful to Rachel Downie of Edward Elgar Publishing for her support and her faith in us during the long gestation period of the Handbook.

Above all we owe a great deal to two people who have provided us with consistent support and helped to keep us relatively sane. Jacquie Billis, David's wife, who, despite the pressures of his illness and the demands of the Handbook, was always there to support him with love and wisdom. He is a very lucky man, but then he has known that for a very long time. And Meta Zimmeck, Colin's partner, has more or less graciously accepted that too much of his time has been spent with the Handbook rather than with their joint activities and has remained supportive of the project. He is extremely grateful to her for this and much else.

Grateful acknowledgements are made to the following for permission to use previously published material in this book.

The Leadership Foundation for Higher Education for 'Leadership roles and approaches in UK HEI' (Figure 10.1), previously published in Bolden, R., Petrov, G. and Gosling, J. (2008), Developing Collective Leadership in Higher Education: Final Report, London: Leadership Foundation for Higher Education.

Taylor & Francis for the use of 'The third sector and the welfare triangle' (Figure 18.1), previously published in Pestoff, V. (2008), A Democratic Architecture for the Welfare State, London, UK and New York, USA: Routledge.

SAGE for the use of material in Chapter 19 previously published in Ljubownikow, S. and Crotty, J. (2017), 'Managing boundaries: the role of non-profit organizations in Russia's managed democracy', in Sociology, 51 (5), <http://doi.org/10.1177/0038038515608111>.

SAGE for the use of material in Chapter 19 previously published in Crotty, J. and Hall, S.M. (2013), 'Environmental responsibility in a transition context', Environment and Planning C: Government and Policy, 31 (4), pp.667–681.

SpringerNature for the use of 'Three sectors and their hybrid zones' (Figure 25.1), previously published in Billis, D. (2010), Hybrid Organisations and the Third Sector, Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan.