

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Introduction by Ljiljana Biukovic and Pitman B. Potter	xiii
PART I RE-IMAGINING LOCAL ENGAGEMENT WITH INTERNATIONAL LAW
1. International trade, human rights and policy space Thomas Cottier	3
2. Cosmopolitan constitutionalism: linking local engagement with international economic law and human rights Ernst-Ulrich Petersmann	26
PART II STRUCTURAL ASPECTS OF TRADE AND INVESTMENT
3. Transparency evolution: more than the right to know Ljiljana Biukovic	57
4. Challenging an investment agreement in Canada: Hupacasath First Nation's application for judicial review against the CCFIPPA Naayeli E. Ramirez-Espinosa	87
5. The impact of Mexico's 2011 human rights constitutional amendment on arbitral practice: a view from local actors Erika Cedillo	105
PART III THE IMPACT OF COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL CULTURE
6. Demarcating the international community: where do international practices come from? Mor Mitrani	127

vi	Local engagement with international economic law and human rights
7.	Local communities, cultural heritage and international economic law Valentina Vadi	150
8.	Identity matters: the enforcement of global human rights treaties by European Union trade instruments Moshe Hirsch	169
9.	Observing the small gestures: human rights vectors in the Vietnamese trade law environment Lisa Toohey	198
PART IV DILEMMAS OF LOCAL PERFORMANCE: THE CASE OF CHINA
10.	Coordinating human rights and trade policy in China: the case of environmental protection Pitman B. Potter	215
11.	Structuring China's engagement with international human rights: the case of wage protection law and practice Sarah Biddulph	236
	Index	265