

Contributors

EDITORS

Pier Luigi Parcu is a professor at the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies (RSCAS) of the European University Institute (EUI) in Florence, Italy. At the RSCAS he directs three projects: the European Networking and Training for National Competition Enforcers (ENTrANCE), the Communications and Media Area of the Florence School of Regulation, and the Centre for Media Pluralism and Media Freedom. He is also chairman of Studio Economico, a consultancy firm specialized in antitrust and regulatory issues of network industries. From 2000–2003, he was CEO of the Independent System Operator running the Italian electricity grid. From 1991–2000, he was the Director of Investigations at the Italian Competition Authority (AGCM), in charge of several regulated sectors. Previously, he served as Chief Economist at the Italian Security and Exchange Commission and as Economist at the International Monetary Fund (IMF). He holds a Ph.D. in Economics from the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA). His research in the area of industrial organization and law and economics focuses on the interaction between regulation and anti-trust in shaping firms' behaviour in network industries.

Giorgio Monti is Professor of EU Competition Law and Head of the Law Department of the EUI. In addition, he is Scientific Coordinator of ENTrANCE for Judges. Before joining the EUI in September 2010, Professor Monti taught law at the University of Leicester (1993–2001) and at the London School of Economics (2001–2010).

Marco Botta has worked for five years as Assistant Professor at the Institute for European Integration Research of the University of Vienna. He teaches courses in the fields of EU law, competition law and State aid law in the Law Faculty of the University of Vienna. In addition, he has worked as part-time Research Fellow at the RSCAS of the EUI, Florence. Marco holds a Bachelor degree in International Relations from the University of Turin, a LL.M. in European Business Law from Leiden University, and a Ph.D. from the EUI Law Department.

CHAPTER CONTRIBUTORS

Patrick Actis Perinetto works as a lawyer at Chiomenti, a law firm in Rome, where he advises clients in the field of European and Italian antitrust law. He previously practised law at Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton LLP, Rome office. He holds a LL.M. in European Law from the University of Cambridge and a Bachelor degree in Law from the University of Turin. Patrick is also a member of the Bar in Rome.

Rozeta Karova works as Senior Energy Lawyer in the Secretariat of the Energy Community in Vienna. Dr Karova holds a Ph.D. from the Law Department of the EUI and a LL.M. from Leiden University. She is author of a number of publications concerning the liberalization of the electricity markets, in particular within the Energy Community. In 2012, Kluwer Law International published her doctoral thesis as a monograph.

Mel Marquis is a part-time professor in the Law Department of the EUI in Florence, and co-director of the annual EU Competition Law and Policy Workshop organized by the RSCAS. In addition, Professor Marquis has worked as Contract Professor at the University of Verona (2008–2014), is a Senior Fellow at the University of Melbourne Law School, and since 2012 he has been teaching at LUMSA University in Rome. He is currently Visiting Professor at the Renmin University School of Law (Beijing, China) and at the Doshisha University (Kyoto, Japan). Since 2007, he has been the co-editor of the European Competition Law Annual (Hart Publishing), as well as author of several publications. Professor Marquis is also a board member of Concorrenza e Mercato.

Florian Schuhmacher is Professor of Civil and Commercial Law in the Law Department of the Vienna University of Business and Economics, where he teaches courses in competition and IP law. Furthermore, he is a consultant for the law firm DLA Piper Weiss Tessbach, Vienna office. Professor Schuhmacher holds a LL.M.

from Columbia University, and he has conducted periods of research at the University TU Dresden and Free University of Berlin. He has published several articles in both English and German in the fields of competition and corporate law.

Heike Schweitzer is a professor at the Free University of Berlin, where she directs the Institute for German and European Business, Competition and Regulatory Law. Before joining the Free University of Berlin, she was a professor at the University of Mannheim (2010–2014) and in the Law Department of the EUI (2006–2010). Professor Schweitzer has conducted research in a number of prestigious institutions, such as the Yale Law School, Max Planck Institute for Comparative and International Law in Hamburg and Columbia University. She has authored several academic publications. In particular, she is co-author with Professor Mestmäcker of Europäisches Wettbewerbsrecht (2014), 3rd edn, Munich: Beck, the main textbook of EU competition law in the German language.

Mario Siragusa is a partner, since 1980, in the law firm Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton LLP, Rome office. Mario focuses on corporate and commercial matters and he specializes in EU and Italian competition law. He has represented clients in competition law cases at the European Commission, General Court/European Court of Justice, Italian National Competition Authority and Italian administrative courts. In addition, he is a professor at the College of Europe in Bruges and he lectures at the Catholic University in Milan. He has extensively published works in legal journals both in Europe and in the US in the field of competition law. Professor Siragusa holds a LL.M. from the College of Europe and a LL.M. from Harvard Law School. He is a member of the Commission on Law and Practices Relating to Competition of the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) in Paris.

Maria Luisa Stasi works as Research Associate at the Florence School of Regulation of the EUI, and she is also involved in the organization of ENTraNCE for Judges. Before joining the EUI, she worked as an associate lawyer in the competition law department of the law firm Bonelli Erede Pappalardo, Milan office. In 2012, she joined the Academy of European Law (ERA) as a course director. She is the author of several publications in various fields of law. Maria holds a LL.M. from the College of Europe in Bruges and a Master's degree in International Relations and Diplomatic Studies from LUMSA University, Rome. She has been a member of the Italian Bar Association since 2008.

Richard Whish is Emeritus Professor at King's College London, where he held the chair in EU Competition Law from 1991–2013. In addition, Professor Whish was for many years Visiting Professor of Law at the College of Europe in Bruges. He was a member of the Advisory Panel of the Director General of UK Office for Fair Trading (OFT) from 2001–2003, and a non-executive Director of the Board of the OFT from 2003–2009. He was also a member of the Board of the Singapore Energy Markets Authority from 2005–2011. Professor Whish has published many books and articles on EU competition law. In particular, he is the co-author of Competition Law (2012), 7th edn, Oxford: Oxford University Press.