

Contents

List of figures and tables	vii
List of contributors	ix
Preface	xiv
Introduction: the importance of aggregate demand for full employment and rising living standards Brian K. MacLean, Hassan Bougrine and Louis-Philippe Rochon	1
PART I THEORETICAL CONSIDERATIONS
1 Macroeconomic lessons from the past decade J.W. Mason	11
2 Dualism and economic stagnation: can a policy of guaranteed basic income return mature market economies to les Trente glorieuses ? Mario Seccareccia	34
3 Kaleckian reflections on the wage share in recent Post-Keynesian controversies Jan Toporowski	52
PART II MULTI-COUNTRY PERSPECTIVES
4 The fiscal constraints of the Economic and Monetary Union Malcolm Sawyer	62
5 The failure of development in Latin America Matias Vernengo	75
6 Austerity, unemployment and poverty in developing countries Hassan Bougrine and Louis-Philippe Rochon	97

PART III COUNTRY STUDIES

7	Full employment in Canada in the early 21st century Lars Osberg	116
8	Employment in India: aggregate demand and structural transformations Sunanda Sen	142
9	Abenomics and the Japanese labour market Brian K. MacLean	156
	Index	179