Index

academic context 139–60 case studies 150–60
  Chalmers School of Entrepreneurship 152–4 conclusions drawn 158–60 focus of 150–51
Small Business Administration 151–2
SORIS 154–6
summing up and overview 156–7 conditions for training 145–9 conceptual to ‘actionable’ knowledge 149–51 entrepreneurialism and managerialism 147–9 teacher–student relationship 146–7 entrepreneurship
  appropriate knowledge for 143–5 as ‘jack-of-all-trades’ 144
  ontology of becoming 141–2
  as practice 142–3
  and university setting 139–41
overview 4
Swedish cultural context: Jante Law 145–6 see also entrepreneurship education; economic and social impact education; education’s conceptual contributions; reflective thinking; university education action action learning approach 268
  in relation to competence 274
creative action 180–81
Mezirow on 192–7
  in relation to sustainability 233 see also experience-based pedagogy autonomy/freedom 181, 249–50

Baldwin and Ford’s systems perspective, see effectiveness of entrepreneurship education behavioural models 14, 178 literature on 17–19, 165–6 nascent gestation and business creation 20–21 supply model 266–7
business creation 20–21, 32, 38
opportunity identification 230–31 business ethics research 234 Business Model Canvas 234
business schools and entrepreneurship education 284–5 and impact-based learning, see economic and social impact education; impact-based learning Canada, entrepreneurship education analytical comparison: US/Canada 289–98
  areas to address: US/Canada 281–2, 298–303 Study of Entrepreneurship Education 289
Chalmers School of Entrepreneurship 152–4 competence and learning theory, see entrepreneurial competence: personal dimension; entrepreneurial competence research course content and pedagogy 287–9, 290–92, 295–6 cross-country comparison: US/Canada 297–8 interdisciplinary programs 299–300
effectiveness, see effectiveness of entrepreneurship education
student resources 302
design principles 235–6, 251 didactical level teaching model 130–32 didactics and pedagogy, history of 169–71 economic and social impact education 62–77 degree-granting programs assumption 67 educational philosophy for adults 68–9 Goldman Sachs program 69–77 challenges identified through 73–6 curriculum 70–71
  definition of entrepreneurship 69–70 delivery model 71
  institutional arrangements 71–2 lessons for administrators 76–7 lessons for educators 76 lessons for policy makers 77 outcomes 73

Alain Fayolle - 9781786432919
Downloaded from Elgar Online at 04/23/2019 10:53:06AM via free access staff and network resources 72
management education 64–7
as narrow in context 66
as siloed discipline 65 theory v. practice 66–7 motivation: self-interest assumption 67–8 quiz exercise on economic development 64–7 study overview 3
see also academic context; impact-based learning economy and democracy: interplay 182 education’s conceptual contributions 164–83 core aspects and overview 4, 182–3 cultural differences in 169–73 Continental and Anglo-American 171–3 didactics and pedagogy development 169–71 individuals, society, institutions: interplay 165–9 curriculum as mediating concept 167–8 interplay between economy and democracy 182
learning paradigm 173–9
behaviourism 178, 226–7
cognitive paradigm – rationalism and knowledge 178
as conceptual world-view 173–4, 182
constructivism 179, 226–7
creative action and 180–81 entrepreneurship interplay evolution 174–7 holistic human being and 180
risk and responsibility 181–2 ontology, axiology and epistemology 171 see also academic context; entrepreneurship education; Fayolle on entrepreneurship education effectiveness of entrepreneurship education 38–56 Baldwin and Ford’s systems perspective 38–9 inputs, outputs, and outcomes 45 personal characteristics 46, 47–50 and theories on the active agent 45–6 training characteristics 46–7 studies on 39–44 reviews/meta-analyses of systems 44–7
study overview 2
systemic approach: future agenda 47–55 attribute-treatment interaction 52–3 environment/social context 51–2 learning results, generalization process 53–5
personal characteristics 47–50 training strategies/pedagogies 50–51 effectuation theory 7, 131–3, 142, 149, 155, 303 elective and compulsory programmes 40 EME (Empresa en Mi Escuela) programme 270–74 emotional regulation and sensemaking 301 entrepreneurial and managerial tensions 147–9 entrepreneurial competence: personal dimension 262–76 construction of personal identity 268–9 basic education and 269 constructivist teaching 266–7 learning as an active process 268, 274 literature on functional model/competencies identification 263–6 Spanish national education and EME programme 270–72
study competence/personal identity link 275–6 content indicators: competence 273–4 data collection 272 relevance of personal qualities 274 entrepreneurial competence research 224–43 competency as latent construct 228 competency as learnable 228–9 role of context 228
definitions of competencies 224–5, 287 and influence of concept 225–6 domains of entrepreneurial competencies moral 233–5 opportunity identification 230–31
social 231–2
future research 238
history of competence 226–7
‘how’ question 235–7
‘what’ question 189–90, 225–35
cluster work-related 229
functional-behaviourist approach 226–7
the future of ‘what’ 229
modern interpretations of competence 227–9 worker-oriented view, influential streams 227 entrepreneurial identity, see entrepreneurial competence: personal dimension 139–45, 251, 262, 281 early-stage, see nascent entrepreneurship and education science, see education’s conceptual contribution

Alain Fayolle - 9781786432919
Downloaded from Elgar Online at 04/23/2019 10:53:06AM via free access entrepreneurship education action learning, see action; experience-based pedagogy analytical comparison: US/Canada 289–98 academic literature used in classroom 293 additional activities and resources 294, 297 courses offered 290, 295–6 cross-country comparisons 297–8 faculty members 294, 297
funding 294, 297
future directions expected 295 impact measures 294–5
pedagogies in classroom 293, 296 pedagogies outside classroom 293–4, 296 program types 290, 295
social entrepreneurship 293
student enrolment 293, 296 survey data collection/results 289–9, 291–2 technology use 294, 296–7 topics covered 290
assessment, lack of 282 Béchard and Grégoire on teaching models 266–7 competence, see entrepreneurial competence research; entrepreneurial competence: personal dimension effectiveness, see effectiveness of entrepreneurship education future areas to address: US/Canada advancing theory and outcomes 298–9 classroom pedagogy 299
experimental learning 300
interdisciplinary programs 299–300
overview 281–2, 302–3
sensemaking and emotional regulation 301
student resources 302
technology 301
future of, see Fayolle on entrepreneurship education impact-based, see impact-based learning key discussions and assumptions 62–3 degree-programs emphasis 67 self-interest motivation 67–8 silos, context and theory v. practice 64–7 teaching philosophy 68–9
literature, see entrepreneurship education literature
overview 1–2
pedagogy and didactics development 169–71 qualitative review 283–309
course content and pedagogy 287–9 differentiating from business education 284–5 historical perspective 283–4 learning approaches and aims 285–7 research, see entrepreneurship education research Spanish national education system and 270–72 supply, demand and competence models 266–7 textbooks 87–92
content and classroom experience 89–9
design and focus 87–9
subject comparisons 90
wisdom development, see wisdom see also academic context; education's conceptual contributions; reflective thinking entrepreneurship education literature 128–9 addressing future avenues of research 298–9 on behavioural models 17–19, 165–6 on competence 224–5, 263–6 on effectiveness training, see effectiveness of entrepreneurship education on entrepreneurship 141–5 European (1980s–2010s) 109–11 journals 114–15
on intentions models 14–17 journals (US and European) 114–15 nature and limitations of 1–2, 132–3 on programmes and courses 130–32 on wisdom 83–4
in context of entrepreneurial education 84–7
textbook content and classroom experience 89–92
textbook design and focus 87–9 see also entrepreneurship education research entrepreneurship education research entrepreneurial competence, see entrepreneurial competence research European, see European-based research research design, see planned behaviour theory see also entrepreneurship education literature ethical decision-making 233–5
European Commission 'Best Procedure' report (2002) 167
Entrepreneurship 2020 Action Plan 262
Framework of Key Competences for Lifelong Learning 263–4
European EE compared with US 171–3
European Entrepreneurship Education Award 116–22
European-based research 105–23
EEEA recipients 116–22
Fayolle, Alain 117–18
Gibb, Alan 116–17
Hannon, Paul 121
Henry, Collette 121–2
Johannisson, Bengt 119–20
Kyrö, Paula 118–19
infrastructure evolution 106–9 cognitive development 109–11 conferences 108
doctoral courses 107
literature evolution 113–14
overview 122–3
and policy organizations 108–9
OECD and 127
study overview 3
systematic review of journals 111–16 existential view on entrepreneurship 140 experience-based pedagogy 7, 21, 190–91, 282, 286–7, 300 interrelated models 287
see also action; reflective thinking Fabrication Laboratories (FabLabs) 254–5 Fayolle on entrepreneurship education future requirements 127–8 to meet all stakeholders’ needs 135–6 target, connect and reflect 133–5 generic teaching model didactic level 130–32
philosophical level 129–30 literature reviews 128
limitations revealed 132–3 main articles 117
overview 3–4
Finland 118, 167
France 174, 177, 251, 252
freedom/autonomy 181, 249–50
functional-behaviourist approach 226–7
funding in US and Canada 294, 297
Germany 170
Goldman Sachs 63, 69–77
grounding theory 13–14
Harvard Business School 248
‘how’ and ‘what’ questions, see entrepreneurial competence research; ‘why’, ‘how’ and ‘what’ questions ideation 230
identity, see entrepreneurial competence:
personal dimension
impact-based learning 243–58 function of 244
tensions to be considered 256–7 new business school model 249–53 autonomous/aspirational students 249–50 connecting local problems and needs 252–3 heterogeneity and openness 251–2 responsibility and knowledge 250–51 organizational and institutional implications of 253–6 academic grading to assessing impact 255–6 central teacher to distributed teaching 254–5 classroom utopia to heterotopia 253–4 embracing uncertainty 255 linear time to multiple timelines 254 traditional business school model 245–8 analytical and logical thinking 246–7 business schools as a club 247–8 case study dependence (Harvard) 248 student consumer mentality 245–6 see also economic and social impact education;
university education
industrialization (18th century) 174, 177 INSEAD France 252
instrumental view on entrepreneurship 140 intentions models
explaining actual business creation 20–21 explaining intentions to become an entrepreneur and behaviours 20 intention as outcomes measurement 299
literature review 14–17
and behavioural models 17–19
study
attitudes over time 28–9
hypotheses 20, 25–8
measures 22
nascent gestation behaviours 30–31
overview 33–5
predicting actual business creation 32 knowledge
from conceptual to ‘actionable’ 149–51 KSA approaches to competence 227, 233–4 needed to learn entrepreneurship 189–90 see also entrepreneurial competence research; reflective thinking; wisdom
learning approaches and aims 285–7
learning paradigm 173–9
behaviourism 178
cognitive paradigm – rationalism and knowledge 178
as conceptual world-view 173–4, 182
constructivism 179
creative action and 180–81
entrepreneurship: transitional development of interplay 174–7 holistic human being and 180
risk and responsibility 181–2 learning theory, see entrepreneurial competence research literature, see entrepreneurship education literature
management education 64–7
managerialism and entrepreneurialism tensions 147–9 Montessori schools 178
moral decision-making 233–5 motivation theories conative faculties 142–3, 144, 166
creative action 180–81
self-interest 67–8
see also nascent entrepreneurship

nascent entrepreneurship behaviours over time 30–31 latent constructs 228
and business creation 20–21
the play of competencies 232 need for experiential learning 300
ontology of becoming 141–2 pedagogic focus 300 reflective novice, see reflective thinking and Swedish Jante Law 145–6 see also motivation theories

OECD 127
opportunity identification 230–31
business creation 20–21, 32, 38

pedagogy, see entrepreneurial education; reflective thinking philosophical level teaching model 129–30 planned behaviour theory 13–35
as grounding theory 13–14
hypotheses 20–21
testing 25–32
intentions and behavioural models 14–21

study
contributions and implications 33–5 methods 22–3
overview 2, 35
results 23–5
pragmatism 178
problem-based learning 7 Prospect theory 6–7

reflective thinking 5, 189–215 action, from habitual to intelligent 192–3 critical reflection 196–7 habitual action 194
reflective thinking 195–6 understanding 194–5
action/theory debate 189
McLellan and Dewey on 193
Fayolle on 127–8, 134–5 knowledge types and construct 189–90 learning from experience 7, 21, 190–91, 282 study analysis based on student diary entries data sources and average grades, triangulation 210–13, 220 qualitative directed content analysis 203–7 showing development of reflective thinking 200–202 statistics derived from survey 207–10 study of one-year master program aims 191–2 analytical method 200
context, sample, empirical material 198–200, 221–2 limitations and implications of 214–15 method 197–8
overview 213–14
survey questions 221–2
see also experience-based pedagogy; academic context; entrepreneurship education research design, see planned behaviour theory research on entrepreneurship education, see entrepreneurship education literature; entrepreneurship education research risk and responsibility 181–2, 255 science of education, see education’s conceptual contributions Small Business Administration 151–2, 281

social entrepreneurship 293, 295–6 social competence and networking 231–2 social impact education, see economic and social impact education social-constructionist perspective 142–3 society and social needs 165–9 business education and 252–3
uncertainty and complexity 224
SORIS 154–6
Spanish entrepreneurship education 270–74 stage-model theories 227 Swedish culture and case studies 145–6, 151–7 systems perspective, see effectiveness of entrepreneurship education technology 294, 296–7, 301
textbooks 87–92
content and classroom experience 89–9
design and focus 87–9
normative isomorphic trends 91–2, 98–9
subject comparisons 90
in US and Canada 293
theory teaching 82–3, 300–301
Thiel Foundation 257 training effectiveness research, see effectiveness of entrepreneurship education uncertainty and complexity 224
United States of America economic development and job creation 63–4 educational psychology 170, 178
entrepreneurship education Canada comparison 289–98
future areas to address 281–2, 298–303
Continental Europe comparison 171–3
Harvard Business School 248
Journal of Business Venturing 114
National Survey of Entrepreneurship Education 284, 289
start-up statistics 281
university education 107, 295–6
degree-granting programs assumption 67 early research contributions 109–11 US programs 283–4, 295–6, 297
see also academic context; impact-based learning in entrepreneurial competence 189–90, 225–35
cluster work-related 229
functional-behaviourist approach 226–7
the future of ‘what’ 229
modern interpretations of competence 227–9
worker-oriented view, influential streams 227 wisdom 81–99
Entrepreneurship Education Evaluation Project course syllabi and variable coding 92–4 and future research 98
limitations of 97–8
practical implications of results 96–7 theoretical implications of results 95–6 definition and composition of 81 educational invisibility of 81–3
emotional regulation and sensemaking 301
literature review 83–4
in context of entrepreneurial education 84–7
textbook content and classroom experience 89–92
textbook design and focus 87–9
study overview 3
see also knowledge
worker-oriented approach 227