Contributors

Sérgio Adorno is the Director of the Center for the Study of Violence at the University of São Paulo (NEV/USP), Brazil and Professor at the Department of Sociology, University of São Paulo, Brazil.

Felia Allum is Senior Lecturer in Italian and Politics at the University of Bath, UK.

Jana Arsovska is an Associate Professor of Sociology at John Jay College of Criminal Justice and the Program of Doctoral Study in Criminal Justice at The Graduate Center, City University of New York, USA.

Margaret Beare is Professor in the Department of Sociology and Osgoode Hall Law School at York University, Toronto, Canada.

Martina Bedetti has a Master’s degree in International Relations from the University of Milan, Italy. Her thesis was on the presence of the Calabrian ‘Ndrangheta in Germany, under the supervision of Professor Nando dalla Chiesa.

Giuseppe Borrelli is an Italian prosecutor who has spent the majority of his career investigating the Neapolitan Camorra and Calabrian ‘Ndrangheta. Since 2014, he coordinates the Local Antimafia Directorate in Naples, Italy.

Sheelagh Brady is currently doing a PhD at Dublin City University, Ireland.

David A. Bright is a criminologist and forensic psychologist and Associate Professor at the University of Flinders in Adelaide, South Australia.

Jean-Louis Briquet is Research Director at the French National Center for Scientific Research (CNRS) in Paris and currently teaches at the Universities of Paris 1, Paris Dauphine and Sciences Po Paris, France.

Alex Chung is Research Associate at University College London’s Department of Science, Technology, Engineering and Public Policy. He is the author of Chinese Criminal Entrepreneurs in Canada, Volume I & Volume II, which are based on his PhD undertaken at Oxford University.

Nicolò Dalponte has a degree from the University of Milan, Italy and a Master’s degree in European Law from the University of Utrecht, the Netherlands. He is currently pursuing a career in forensic fraud investigation.

Anke De Vos is PhD Researcher at the Department of Criminology, Criminal Law and Social Law in the Faculty of Law and Criminology, Ghent University, Belgium, and member of the Institute of International Research on Criminal Policy.

Camila Nunes Dias is Professor of the Federal University of ABC in Brazil and collaborator researcher at the Center for the Study of Violence at the University of São Paulo (NEV/USP), Brazil.
Contributors

Sinclair Dinnen is Senior Fellow with the State, Society and Governance Programme in the College of Asia and the Pacific at the Australian National University, Australia.

Gilles Favarel-Garrigues is Research Director at the Centre d’Etudes et de Recherches Internationales (CERI-Sciences Po) at the French National Center for Scientific Research (CNRS), Paris, France.

Jarrod Gilbert is Senior Lecturer at the University of Canterbury in New Zealand and the lead researcher at Independent Research Solutions.

Stan Gilmour holds a degree in Criminology and Politics and an MSc in Criminology and Criminal Justice from the University of Oxford, UK. He is Local Policing Area Commander at Thames Valley Police in Reading, UK and has led serious and complex criminal investigations and worked on capacity-building programmes in the UK and overseas.

Carina Gunnarson is Associate Professor in Political Science at the University of Uppsala, Sweden and Senior Researcher at the Swedish Defence Research Agency, Stockholm, Sweden.

Ellen Gutterman is Associate Professor of Political Science at Glendon College, York University in Toronto, Canada.

Catherine Hemmings has worked in UK law enforcement for a number of years, specialising in intelligence research and analysis and, latterly, organisational strategy and governance.

Annette Idler is Director of Studies at the Changing Character of War Centre, and Senior Research Fellow at Pembroke College and the Department of Politics and International Relations, all University of Oxford, UK. She is also Research Associate at the Graduate Institute Geneva Centre on Conflict, Development and Peacebuilding, Switzerland.

Dioirella Islas Limiñana is an Adjunct faculty member at the George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies, Germany, and instructor at the Bader International Study Centre, UK. She is a PhD candidate at the University of Bath, UK. She is pursuing a career in countering transnational organised crime.

Jelle Janssens is Assistant Professor in the Department of Criminology, Criminal Law and Social Law in the Faculty of Law and Criminology, Ghent University, Belgium and a member of the Institute of International Research on Criminal Policy.

Sasha Jesperson is Director of Transnational Challenges Practice at Aktis Strategy in London, UK.

Matti Joutsen is Special Advisor at the Thailand Institute of Justice in Bangkok. Previously, he served as Director of the European Institute for Crime Prevention and Control, affiliated with the United Nations (HEUNI).

Alexander Kupatadze is Lecturer (Assistant Professor) at King’s College London, UK.

Romain Le Cour Grandmaison is a PhD student in Political Science at the Université Panthéon-Sorbonne Paris-1 (CESSP), France, working on Mexico.
Sophie Lemiere is Visiting Scholar, Lee Kong Chian NUS-Stanford Fellow in Contemporary Southeast Asia and a researcher at the Ash Center for Democracy, Democracy in Hard Place Program at Harvard University, USA.

Anna Markovska is Senior Lecturer in Criminology at the Anglia Ruskin University, Cambridge, UK.

Vittorio Mete is Associate Professor in Political Sociology at the Department of Social and Political Sciences of the University of Florence, Italy.

Stephen Musau is a practitioner in good governance, democracy and human rights and currently is a Director at the Independent Policing Oversight Authority in Kenya. He has served in Kenyan civil society organisations since 2000 and has a background in economics and sociology, with a Master of Arts in Human Rights and Conflict Management.

Alexandra V. Orlova is Associate Professor in the Department of Criminology at Ryerson University, Toronto, Canada.

Ian Roberge is Associate Professor of Political Science at Glendon College, York University in Toronto, Canada.

Amir Rostami is a sociologist at the Institute for Futures Studies, Stockholm, Sweden.

Andrew Sanchez is Lecturer in Social Anthropology at the University of Cambridge, UK.

Mark Shaw is Director of Global Initiative against Transnational Organised Crime. He was formerly National Research Foundation Professor of Justice and Security at the University of Cape Town, South Africa. He has published a detailed study on assassinations in South Africa, Hitmen for Hire: South Africa’s Underworld Exposed (2017, Johannesburg: Jonathan Ball).

Daniel Silverstone is Director of the Liverpool Centre for Advanced Police Studies and Reader in Police Studies at Liverpool John Moores University, UK.

Dwight C. Smith Jr is the author of The Mafia Mystique (Basic Books, New York, and Hutchinson & Co., London, 1975) and Research Associate in the Center for Policy Research at Rockefeller College, SUNY-Albany, USA.

Francesco Strazzari is Associate Professor in International Relations at the Sant’Anna School of Advanced Studies of Pisa in Italy. He is also Adjunct Research Professor at NUPI in Oslo, Norway, and Associate Analyst at the EU Institute of Security Studies in Paris, France.

Marina Tzvetkova is Visiting Lecturer in social sciences at Jean Monnet University, France and Research Fellow at the University of Worcester, UK.

Caroliuen van Ham is Senior Lecturer in Comparative Politics at the School of Social Sciences at the University of New South Wales, Australia, and was recipient of an Australian Research Council Discovery Early Career Research Award (2015–2017).

Grant W. Walton is Fellow at the Development Policy Centre, Crawford School of Public Policy, Australia. He also holds the positions of Director for the Transnational Research Institute on Corruption, and Research Associate of the University of Birmingham’s Developmental Leadership Program, UK.

Joseph Wheatley works for the Criminal Division in the United States Department of Justice which he joined in 2005 as a Trial Attorney through the Attorney General’s Honors Program.

Joe Whittle is in the process of completing his PhD at Liverpool John Moores University, UK, where his research focuses on Chinese organised crime and human smuggling networks.

Yuliya Zabyelina is Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science at John Jay College of Criminal Justice, CUNY, USA.

Giovanni Zanoletti is a PhD student in Political Science at the University of Paris Nanterre, France, and his research focuses on state formation and violence in the Sahel region, notably in Mali.