Contributors

Philip Andrews-Speed is a Senior Principal Fellow at the Energy Studies Institute, National University of Singapore. He has 35 years’ experience in the field of energy and resources, starting his career as a mineral and oil exploration geologist before moving into the field of energy and resource governance. Until 2010 he was Professor of Energy Policy at the University of Dundee, UK and Director of the Centre for Energy, Petroleum and Mineral Law and Policy at the university. Recent books include The Governance of Energy in China: Transition to a Low-Carbon Economy.
ORCID number: 0000-0003-1639-2021

Mark Beeson is Professor of International Politics at the University of Western Australia (UWA). Before joining UWA, he taught at Murdoch and Griffith universities, Australia, and at York and Birmingham universities (UK), where he was also Head of Department. He is the founding editor of Critical Studies of the Asia Pacific.
ORCID number: 0000-0002-8659-262X

Axel Berger is Senior Researcher at the German Development Institute/Deutsches Institut für Entwicklungspolitik (DIE). Axel holds a doctorate in Political Science from the University of Duisburg-Essen and a Master’s degree from the Ludwig-Maximilian University of Munich in Political Science, Economics and Modern History. He does research on the design, effects and diffusion patterns of international trade and investment agreements and on global economic governance including the G20.
ORCID number: 0000-0003-3820-6998

Jean-Marc F. Blanchard, PhD, is Executive Director of the Mr. & Mrs. S.H. Wong Center for the Study of Multinational Corporations and Distinguished Professor, School of Advanced International and Area Studies, East China Normal University. His research interests include Chinese outward foreign direct investment, China’s Maritime Silk Road Initiative, Chinese foreign economic policy, and multinational corporations. He is a co-author of one book and the editor or co-editor of and a contributor to 14 edited volumes and special journal issues.

Paul Bowles is Professor of Economics and International Studies at the University of Northern British Columbia, Canada. He has written extensively on China’s political economy, Asian regionalism, and globalization. His most recent book is The Essential Guide to Critical Development Studies (co-edited with Henry Veltmeyer), Routledge, 2018.
ORCID number: 0000-0001-7714-772X

Dongsheng Di is an Associate Professor in the School of International Studies (SIS) and a research fellow at the International Monetary Institute (IMI) at the Renmin University of China. He also currently serves as the Deputy Dean of SIS. Dr Di’s research interests include the politics and economics of global currency and financial issues, Chinese foreign economic relations, and Chinese economic reform.
Adam D. Dixon is Associate Professor of Globalization and Development at Maastricht University in the Netherlands. He is principal investigator on the European Research Council–funded project SWFsEUROPE (2018–22), which focuses on the political economy of sovereign wealth funds and their legitimization in global finance. ORCID number: 0000-0001-6175-906X

Andreas Fuchs is Professor of Environmental, Climate and Development Economics at the Helmut Schmidt University Hamburg (HSU/UniBwH) and the Kiel Institute for the World Economy (IIW), Germany. His research analyses trade, investment and development policies with quantitative methods and a special focus on China and other emerging economies. He also investigates the political economy of natural disasters, humanitarian crises, and non-militarized conflicts. Since 2015, he is principal investigator of the project ‘The Economics of Emerging Donors in Development Cooperation’ funded by the German Research Foundation (DFG) and international collaborator of the project ‘From Emerging Markets to Rising Powers? Power Shift in International Economic Governance’ funded by the Ministry of Education of Singapore. ORCID number: 0000-0002-6309-5954

Marcia Don Harpaz, PhD, is an adjunct lecturer in the International Relations Department and Faculty of Law at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. She previously served as Director of the International Agreements Division in Israel's Ministry of Economy. She is currently a member of Israel’s Trade Levies Commission, and on Israel’s Roster for Dispute Settlement under the Free Trade Agreement between Israel and Mexico, and between Israel and Mercosur. Her research interests include the WTO, China and the international economic system, and Israel’s foreign trade policy. ORCID number: 0000-0002-0504-8973

Alex (Xingqiang) He is a Research Fellow at the Centre for International Governance Innovation (CIGI), Canada. Before joining CIGI in 2014, he was a Senior Fellow and Associate Professor at the Institute of American Studies at the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences. His academic interests include China and global governance, domestic politics in China and its role in China’s foreign economic policy-making, and US–China relations. He published a book, The Dragon’s Footprints: China in the Global Economic Governance System under the G20 Framework, in 2016 in both English and Chinese. ORCID number: 0000-0002-9649-6623

Yang Jiang is a Senior Researcher at the Danish Institute for International Studies. She has previously taught at Copenhagen Business School as an Associate Professor. She has published in the Review of International Political Economy, Journal of Contemporary China, The Pacific Review, amongst others, and she is the author of the book China's Policymaking for Regional Economic Cooperation. ORCID number: 0000-0002-9193-6888

Yu-wai Vic Li is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Social Sciences at the Education University of Hong Kong. He researches the politics of China’s financial opening and post-crisis East Asian financial regulation. Supported by funding from the Hong Kong Research Grant Council (Project number: 28402114), his research monograph, China’s Financial Opening: Coalition Politics and Policy Changes, was published in 2018 by Routledge. ORCID number: 0000-0002- 8771-537X
Wei Liang is Gordon Paul Smith Professor of International Policy at the Middlebury Institute of International Studies at Monterey, USA. Her research interests include the international political economy of East Asia, Asian regionalism, international trade negotiations and global governance. She is the co-author of China and East Asia’s Post-Crises Community: A Region in Flux? (Lexington, 2012), co-editor of China and Global Trade Governance (Routledge, 2013), and the author of a number of journal articles and book chapters. ORCID number: 0000-0001-8892-8628

Brian K. MacLean is Professor and former two-term Chair of Economics at Laurentian University in Sudbury, Ontario, and has been a visiting professor at Hokkaido University and Saitama University in Japan. His research on the Japanese economy spans three decades. ORCID number: 0000-0002-1525-8878.

Anton Malkin is a Research Fellow at the Centre for International Governance Innovation (CIGI), Canada. His research concerns China’s role in global finance, global trade, as well as its relationship with international financial institutions. His additional research interests include global economic governance, comparative politics, and international political economy. ORCID number: 0000-0002-1943-8251

Daniel McDowell is Associate Professor of Political Science at the Maxwell School of Syracuse University, USA. His research focuses on the politics of the international financial and monetary systems. He is the author of Brother, Can you Spare a Billion? The United States, the IMF, and the International Lender of Last Resort (Oxford University Press, 2017). His work has also appeared in journals like International Studies Quarterly, Review of International Organizations, New Political Economy and Journal of Contemporary China. ORCID number: 0000-0003-3937-4715

Sophie Meunier is Senior Research Scholar in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University, USA, and Co-director of the EU Program at Princeton. She is the author and editor of several books on Europe and globalization, including Trading Voices: The European Union in International Commercial Negotiations (Princeton University Press, 2005) and The Politics of Interest Representation in the Global Age (Cambridge University Press, 2014). ORCID number: 0000-0003-1866-7308

Bessma Momani is Professor of Political Science at the University of Waterloo and the Balsillie School of International Affairs in Canada. She is Senior Fellow at the Centre for International Governance and Innovation (CIGI), Canada, 2015 Fellow of the Pierre Elliott Trudeau Foundation, Fulbright Scholar, Non-resident Senior Fellow at the Stimson Center, Washington, DC, and a regular media analyst and contributor to national and international media on international affairs and on global economic governance issues. ORCID number: 0000-0003-4734-636X

Barry Naughton is the So Kwanlok Professor, School of Global Policy and Strategy, University of California, San Diego. Naughton’s work on the Chinese economy focuses

ORCID number: 0000-0002-0669-4790

Margaret M. Pearson is Horace E. and Wilma V. Harrison Distinguished Professor, Department of Government and Politics, University of Maryland. Her research focuses on China's political economy. She has published China's Strategic Multilateralism (Cambridge University Press, 2019, with Scott Kastner and Chad Rector), Joint Ventures in the People’s Republic of China (Princeton University Press, 1991) and China's New Business Elite (University of California Press, 1997). Recent research concerns local government influence on innovation and Beijing’s multilateral behaviour, including climate negotiations.

ORCID number: 0000-0003-4266-9450

Ren Xiao is currently Professor of International Politics at the Institute of International Studies (IIS), Fudan University, Shanghai, China, and Director of the Center for the Study of Chinese Foreign Policy. Dr Ren's books include Human Security and Cross-Border Cooperation in East Asia (co-editor, Palgrave Macmillan, 2018), New Frontiers in China's Foreign Relations (co-editor with Allen Carlson, Lexington Books, 2011) and U.S.–China–Japan Triangular Relationship (The Zhejiang People’s Publishing House, 2002, in Chinese). He has published numerous articles on China’s international relations and currently serves on the editorial boards of international academic journals including Globalizations, Journal of Global Policy and Governance, East Asia: An International Quarterly, and East Asian Policy.

ORCID number: 0000-0001-7346-7304

Marina Rudyak is a lecturer at the Institute of Chinese Studies of Heidelberg University, Germany. Her dissertation and research deal with China's development cooperation and foreign aid policies, policy learning, and China’s role in international development globally. Prior to that, she was a development advisor with the German Agency for International Cooperation (GIZ) and managed GIZ's ‘Regional Economic Cooperation Asia–China’ programme in Beijing. Marina studied Chinese Studies and International Law at Heidelberg University and Shanghai International Studies University.

ORCID number: 0000-0002-6342-1166

Bin Sheng is the Cheung Kong Scholar Professor at the Institute of International Economics and Senior Research Fellow at the Center for Transnationals’ Study and the APEC Study Center, Nankai University, China. He is also the Dean of the School of Economics, Nankai University and Director of the Chinese APEC Academy. His major areas of academic expertise include international trade, foreign direct investment, Sino–US relations, Asia-Pacific economy, and international political economy. He has published extensively in top Chinese economics journals and authored or co-authored five books. He has also participated in a number of international collaborative projects related to the WTO, regional economic integration, APEC, and trade policy reforms in China.

Yonghong Tu is a Professor in the School of Finance and Deputy Director and Council member of the International Monetary Institution (IMI) at Renmin University of China.
Her research interests focus on international finance, foreign exchange risk management, commercial banking, and assets securitization. She is an expert on the internationalization of the RMB, and has been in charge of writing the RMB Internationalization Report since 2012. She led the research team to create the RMB Internationalization Index (RII), which set up new criteria for measuring RMB internationalization.

Ming Wan is Professor and Associate Dean at George Mason University’s Schar School of Policy and Government. He has authored seven books, most recently The Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank: The Construction of Power and the Struggle for the East Asian International Order (Palgrave Macmillan, 2016). He has also published in journals such as Asian Survey, Chinese Journal of International Politics, Human Rights Quarterly, Orbis, Pacific Affairs, Pacific Review, and International Studies Quarterly and in edited volumes. His current research interests include the US–China strategic rivalry and the political economy of East Asia security. ORCID number: 0000-0002-3093-5929

Jue Wang is Assistant Professor of Chinese Economy and International Political Economy in the Institute for Area Studies at Leiden University, the Netherlands. She is also an Associate Fellow for the Asia-Pacific Program at Chatham House, the Royal Institute of International Affairs, London. She holds a PhD in Politics and International Studies. She has conducted research and published on Chinese economic reforms, China’s external economic relationship, and China’s role in global governance and emerging market economies. ORCID number: 0000-0001-7029-9683

Xiaosong Wang is Professor of Economics at Renmin University of China. His research interests focus on the theory and policy of international trade, especially the political economy of trade policy. He has published seven articles on trade policy in SSCI journals and more than 70 articles in top journals in Chinese. ORCID number: 0000-0002-3969-2310

Shaomin Xu is the Executive Director of China’s Foreign Policy Studies Center at the Institute of Public Policy, South China University of Technology. He is working on a research project on China’s soft power campaigns and public diplomacy in the post-truth era. He is the author of Zhongguo Ruanshili Yanjiu Pipan (1992–2010) [A Critique of China’s Soft Power Studies (1992–2010)] (Xinwenfeng Publisher, 2012). ORCID number: 0000-0002-6548-3352

Peter K. Yu is Professor of Law, Professor of Communication and Director of the Center for Law and Intellectual Property at Texas A&M University. Born and raised in Hong Kong, he previously held the Kern Family Chair in Intellectual Property Law and was the founding director of the Intellectual Property Law Center at Drake University Law School in the United States. He served as Wenlan Scholar Chair Professor at Zhongnan University of Economics and Law in China and as Visiting Professor of Law at Bocconi University in Italy, Hanken School of Economics in Finland, Hokkaido University in Japan, the University of Haifa in Israel, the University of Helsinki in Finland, the University of Hong Kong and the University of Strasbourg in France.

Ka Zeng is Professor of Political Science and Director of Asian Studies at the University of Arkansas, USA. Her research focuses on China’s role in the global economy, in particular Chinese trade policy, China’s behaviour in global economic governance, and China-related trade dispute dynamics. She is the author, co-author, editor, or co-editor of a number of books and more than a dozen articles in top international relations, international political economy, and China/East Asia–related scholarly journals. ORCID number: 0000-0001-5618-5508

Hong Zhang is a PhD candidate in Public Policy at the Schar School of Policy and Government, George Mason University, USA. She holds an MSc in Sociology from London School of Economics and Political Science and a Bachelor’s degree in International Economics and Trade from Renmin University of China. Prior to joining George Mason, she was a journalist covering international affairs for China’s Caixin Media group. Her research interests include the political impact of China’s investment and infrastructure construction in developing countries. ORCID number: 0000-0001-8519-9829

Yu Zheng is a Professor at the School of International Relations and Public Affairs (SIRPA), Fudan University, China. He received his PhD from the University of California, San Diego and taught at the University of Connecticut, USA. He is the author of Governance and Foreign Investment in China, India, and Taiwan: Credibility, Flexibility, and International Business (University of Michigan Press, 2014). His publications have also appeared in journals such as Comparative Politics, Public Opinion Quarterly, Socio-Economic Review, Studies in Comparative International Development, and others. ORCID number: 0000-0002-0189-7222