Acknowledgments

This book emanates from the collective effort of the editors and their selected author partners, and constitutes another milestone in research undertaken by various connected teams and initiated in 2006.

We would like to convey our sincere gratitude to the University of Lisbon, ISCTE-IUL, University Institute of Lisbon and to its AUDAX, its Entrepreneurship Center and their leadership which supported this work. In particular, we wish to acknowledge the Dean of Business School at ISCTE, Prof. José Paulo Esperança, Prof. Pedro Sebastiao, Prof. Ivo Pereira, and their team at the University of Lisbon. This work could not have been produced successfully without the active participation of the editors’ home institutions and their various advisory councils and boards. We are grateful for the support and guidance of Dr Rodrigo Lozano, now affiliated with the University of Gavle, Sweden, who was instrumental in soliciting and securing high-level contributions to this research text.

We wish to acknowledge the continuing support of the Georgia Tech Center for International Business Education and Research, a national center of excellence at the Scheller College of Business, Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta, and its team, particularly James Hoadley, its Associate Director, Alexander Shapiro, and Kevin W. Bolt, and all manners of dedicated support for this research endeavor by the ICN Business School of Business, Nancy–Metz, Lorraine, France, and its Dean of Faculty, Prof. Nuno Guimaraes da Costa. We also acknowledge the University of Lorraine CEREFIGE research consortium, linking academics in the universities and schools of the greater eastern region of France.
