
Index

- activity-travel behavior, ICTs
 - in-store shopping 202–3
 - intercity travel 207
 - international research on 199–200
 - online shopping 202–3
 - patterns 203–4
 - research process 201–2
 - social equality 206–7
 - social impacts of 206–7
 - sustainable urban mobility 205–6
 - use of ICTs 200–201
- Addis Ababa, TOD in
 - diffusion 416–17
 - ideas 412–13
 - institutions 415–16
 - interests 414–15
 - policy transfer 416–17
 - valence 416
- Africa-based transit-oriented development 406
- air–high-speed rail integration
 - air and rail modes relationship 84
 - airports with air–HSR physical integration 89
 - airports with no air–HSR operational integration 89
 - airports with no air–HSR physical integration
 - Beijing Capital Airport 87–8
 - Chongqing Jiangbei Airport 89
 - Guangzhou Baiyun Airport 88
 - Hangzhou Xiaoshan Airport 89
 - Kunming Changshui Airport 88
 - Shanghai Pudong Airport 88
 - Shenzhen Bao’an Airport 88
 - Xi’an Xianyang Airport 89
 - airports with partial air–HSR operational integration 89–90
 - air traffic volume reduction 84–5
 - benefits and costs of 91
 - competition 84–5
 - complementation 85–6
 - European experience 96
 - overview of 83–4
 - research findings 96–8
 - status quo examination 6
 - types of 6
- air–HSR integration/disintegration
 - airline network reasons 92
 - economic reasons 91–2
 - geographic reasons 92–3
 - political reasons 91
- airline network reasons 92
- air pollution
 - Concentration-Response (C-R) functions 172
 - economic analysis 171–3
 - health analysis 171–3
 - interaction with cities 170–71
 - meteorological conditions 171
 - spatiotemporal patterns of transportation problems 169–70
- airports see Chinese airports
- “Airport Urbanism” (Hirsch) 248
- air–rail cooperation 83
- air–rail disintegration 83–4
- air–rail integration 83
- air traffic volume reduction 84–5
- Asia-based transit-oriented development 406
- Australian and Chinese communities, public transport and private travel
 - objectives 299–300
 - overview of 286–7
 - personal attitude factors 287–8
 - planning practice approach 286
 - research approach 290–93
 - research findings
 - agreement weights 295
 - cross-tabulating importance 298–9
 - net agreement rates 294
 - people-centred public transport system 292
 - performance ranking 294–9
 - performance rating 291, 294–9
 - six mobility types 290, 293–4
 - research objectives 288–90
 - SNAMUTS tool 293
 - travel behaviour 287–8
- automobile dependence 10–11
 - Beijing and Shanghai
 - bike sharing programmes 238–40
 - decoupling economic growth 237–8
 - e-bikes 238–40
 - municipal restrictions 232
 - private car ownership 232
 - private car use 232–4

- pro-density Chinese typical dense urbanism 240–42
 - reorienting infrastructure investment priorities 235–6
 - definition of 229
 - in future 11
 - global constraints 231
 - local constraints 231
 - overview of 229
 - peak car constraints 229
 - vehicle kilometres travelled (VKT) per capita 10, 11
- Baoxin, Qiu 3
- Beijing
 - automobile dependence
 - bike sharing programmes 238–40
 - decoupling economic growth 237–8
 - e-bikes 238–40
 - municipal restrictions 232
 - private car ownership 232
 - private car use 232–4
 - pro-density Chinese typical dense urbanism 240–42
 - reorienting infrastructure investment priorities 235–6
 - suburbanization 256
 - urban transport inequality
 - city context 306
 - commuting burdens 307–8
 - commuting times 308–13
 - jobs-housing balance 310–11
 - low-income workers' 312–13
 - social housing 309–10
 - variables analysed 309
- Beijing Capital Airport 87–8
- Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) 253–4, 430
- BHS see Building a Harmonious Society
- bike sharing programmes 238–40
- Bird, James 20
- bonded port area 5, 32
- border-crossing business 15
- BRT see bus rapid transit
- Building a Harmonious Society (BHS) 318
- business-to-customer (B2C) mode 217–18
- bus rapid transit (BRT) 396–7
- CAAC see Civil Aviation Administration of China
- Calthorpe, Peter 7, 116
- Cao, Mengqiu 14, 427, 428
- carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions, Shanghai
 - suburbs
 - average 188–9
 - calculations 187–8
 - car ownership 191
 - density and 191
 - emitter group 189
 - land use factors 183
 - multivariable regression models 190
 - overview of 182–5
 - rail proximity 195
 - social demographic factors 184
 - socio-economic characteristics 189–91
 - survey and research methodology
 - data collection and analyses 185–6
 - survey sample 186–7
 - transit accessibility 191–2
 - travel distance 193
 - travel modal split 193–4
- car-oriented road-classification method 401
- car-oriented urban transport policy
 - background of 390–91
 - outcomes
 - destroyed urban texture 392–3
 - fuel consumption 394
 - inefficient urban transport system 393–4
 - massive car-usage 393
 - sprawling urban space 392–3
 - traffic emissions 394
 - traffic incidents 393
 - unbalanced modal share 393
 - unbalanced modal share structure 393–4
 - unfriendly transport design 393
 - planning, construction and management 392
 - policy and rapid motorization 390–91
 - rapid expansion of urban space 391
- CEN see China's Expressway Network
- Chen, Chia-Lin 6, 423, 424
- Chengdu Shuangliu Airport 89
- Chen, Xueming 6, 424
- “Chi Dao” 36
- China Ministry of Housing and Urban and Rural Construction (CMHURC) 117
- China's Expressway Network (CEN)
 - network density of CHN 38
 - total scale of 38
- China's Highway Network (CHN)
 - classification of 37–9
 - development stages 39–41
 - growth of length 39–40
 - passenger and freight traffic volume 40–41
 - economic promotion
 - correlation-analysis perspective 51
 - cross-regional spillover effects 52
 - in-depth structural factors 51
 - research perspective 52
 - expressways development 41–2
 - general layout definition 42
 - Shanghai-Jiading expressway 41

- financial sustainability
 - debt and sustainability 54–6
 - toll mode and policy 52–4
- high-grade highways 41–2
- overview of 36–7
- spatial evolution and effects
 - network evolution patterns 46–7
 - spatial coverage capability 49–50
 - travel time-based accessibility 48–9
- system distribution 42–6
 - composition by technical levels 43
 - issues of uneven development 45
 - political influence 45–6
 - regional distribution 44
 - “7-9-18 Project” 42, 43, 45
 - “7-11-18 Project” 42, 43, 45
- China’s National Highway Network (CNHN) 37
- China’s Ordinary Highway Network (COHN) 37
- China Spring Festival 12
- Chinese airports
 - Beijing Capital Airport 87–8
 - Chengdu Shuangliu Airport 89
 - Chongqing Jiangbei Airport 89
 - classification of 87–90
 - Guangzhou Baiyun Airport 88
 - Hangzhou Xiaoshan Airport 89
 - Kunming Changshui Airport 88
 - overview of 86–7
 - Shanghai Hongqiao Airport 89–90
 - Shanghai Pudong Airport 88
 - Shenzhen Bao’an Airport 88
 - Xi’an Xianyang Airport 89
- Chinese Dream 258
- Chinese railways (CRs)
 - centralised and unified system 337–9
 - description of 334
 - legal constitution, organisation and role of government 340–41
 - open door and reform 334
 - passenger and freight transport 336–7
 - physical system 334–6
 - regime 359
 - service quality and competition 340
- Chinese railways (CRs) reform process
 - comprehensive railway reform scheme
 - internal passenger transport business units 350
 - research on 350
 - specialised transport companies 350
 - economic contract responsibility system
 - decentralisation of decision-making 342–3
 - effects and problems 343
 - implementation of 343
 - regional railway administration 342–3
 - separation of MOR finances 342
- market-oriented railway reform
 - joint-ventures development 344–5
 - modern enterprise regime establishment 346–7
 - non-railway enterprises 345–6
 - railway business diversification 347–8
 - rationalisation of branch lines 347
 - removal of social responsibilities from enterprises 348
 - RRA transformation 345–6
 - separation of auxiliary business 347–8
- massive construction phase
 - abolishment of sub-RRAs 351
 - online booking system 352–3
 - railway financing and investment system 351–2
 - railway ticketing system 352–3
 - “real-name” ticketing system 352–3
- State Council Institutional Separation function repositioning 353
 - preliminary comprehensive transport management system 353
- tariff deregulation
 - open access and competition 349
 - re-regulation and deregulation cycle 348–9
- Chinese rapid urbanisation
 - city-cluster phenomenon 65
 - defining and classifying HSR systems 62–3
 - hierarchical administrative systems 64
 - HSR planning and development 61–2
 - rail passenger hub systems 63–4
 - state rescaling 64–5
 - station planning and design 63–4
- CHN see China’s Highway Network
- Chongqing Jiangbei Airport 89
- city administering county 64
- city-cluster phenomenon 65
- Civil Aviation Administration of China (CAAC) 85
- Clark, Colin 1
- CMHURC see China Ministry of Housing and Urban and Rural Construction
- CNHN see China’s National Highway Network
- COHN see China’s Ordinary Highway Network
- COI see cost of illness
- commuting characteristics 278
- commuting satisfaction 278
- comprehensive railway reform scheme
 - internal passenger transport business units 350

- research on 350
- specialised transport companies 350
- concentrated de-centralization strategy 126
- Concentration-Response (C-R) functions 172
- concurrent HSR systems 64–5
- “core-periphery” networks 47
- corridor transit-oriented development 405
- cost of illness (COI) 172
- Curtis, Carey 13, 427
- customer-to-customer (C2C) mode 218

- densification principle 122
- development-oriented transit (DOT) 7
- differentiated parking pricing policy 397
- diffusion
 - in Hangzhou and Addis Ababa 416–17
 - transit-oriented development 409–10
- diversification, rural transport development
 - fiscal instruments 159
 - rural social organization 159–60
- DOT see development-oriented transit

- East Beijing, transport-related social equity
 - case study context 320, 322
 - data and methods 322–3, 325–6
 - descriptions of variables 324–5
 - descriptive statistics 325
 - modeling results 326–9
 - test statistics (F tests) 327–8
- e-bikes 141–2, 238–40
- economic contract responsibility system (ECRS)
 - decentralisation of decision-making 342–3
 - effects and problems 343
 - implementation of 343
 - separation of MOR finances 342
- ECRS see economic contract responsibility system
- EIA see environmental impact assessment
- environmental impact assessment (EIA) 8
 - urban transportation policies
 - development in China 176–7
 - emission standard of vehicles 177
 - practices and technical inadequacies 177–8
- e-shopping behavior 202
- European air-rail integration experience 96
- expressways development 41–2
 - general layout definition 42
 - Shanghai-Jiading expressway 41
 - see also* China’s Expressway Network (CEN)

- FIML see full information maximum likelihood
- fiscal instruments 159

- free trade experimental zone (FTZ) 5, 32
- freight transportation 432
- FTZ see free trade experimental zone
- full information maximum likelihood (FIML) 276
- Fulong, Wu 251, 258
- Fu, Xin 5, 423

- Gaolan Port 33
- Gao, Yuan 10, 425, 426
- GDRIGC see Guangdong Railway Investment Group Corporation
- Gini coefficient 252
- Gini coefficient of China’s per capita mileage 45
- Gini Index 252
- Gleave, Steer Davies 84
- Golley, Jane 253
- Gong, Dijia 423
- government-oriented public bike systems 143–4
- “Go West” strategy 253
- Graham, Stephen 261
- green and low-carbon development 168
- greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions 182
- green transport development 135
 - bus rapid transit 396–7
 - compact urban development with short commute times 395
- differentiated parking pricing policy 397
- difficulties/challenges
 - car-oriented ideology 398
 - coordination of policies 398
 - traffic demand management 398–9
 - transit priority 398
 - transport planning and construction 398
- implementing transit-oriented development 395
 - policies limiting motor vehicle usage 397
 - policies limiting purchase of motor vehicles 397
 - settings 394–5
- Guangdong direct-investment model 366–7
- Guangdong Railway Investment Group Corporation (GDRIGC) 366
- Guangzhou Baiyun Airport 88, 107
- Guangzhou railway station 6–7
- Guangzhou Station-Related Area (GZSRA)
 - catalyst of development 101
 - dynamic mechanism 110
 - economic function 100–101
 - evolutional mechanism as natural growth of market 107–8
 - indirectness/directness 111
 - land use of 105

- logistic measures 112
- “Node and Place” theory 101
- overview of 100–101
- progressive spatial revolution
 - one station period 104
 - pre-Guangzhou Station period 104
 - ring structure model 106
 - second and third stations period 104, 106–7
- related studies 100–101
- research background 100–101
- research framework 101–3
- spatial transformation model of 106
- station as leading engine 108–12
- station induced business 107, 111
- station-related area 103
- survey of arrival transportation hub 111
- transportation function 100
- wholesale market distribution 109
- GZSRA see Guangzhou Station-Related Area

- Hall, Peter 249
- Hangzhou, TOD in
 - diffusion 416–17
 - ideas 412–13
 - institutions 415–16
 - interests 414–15
 - policy transfer 416–17
 - valence 416
- Hangzhou Xiaoshan Airport 89
- Hickman, Robin 14, 427, 428
- hierarchical administrative systems 64
- high-grade highways 41–2
- high-speed rail (HSR)
 - concurrent systems 64–5
 - defining and classifying systems 62–3
 - description of 60
 - implications for future research and policy 78–9
 - inter-related factors 6
 - multi-level analysis 6
 - overview of 60–61
 - planning and development 61–2
 - rail passenger hub systems 63–4
 - rapid urbanisation 6
 - spatial development trends
 - city-cluster phenomenon 65
 - hierarchical administrative systems 64
 - state rescaling 64–5
 - station planning and design 63–4
- Suzhou, case study
 - associated opportunities and challenges 69–71
 - characteristics 69–70
 - context 68
 - decision relating to routes and station locations 70–71
 - frequency, stopping patterns and available tickets 71
 - indirect impact at regional level 72–4
 - indirect impact at station level 75–7
 - indirect impact at urban level 74–5
 - prefecture-level city 60–61, 71–3, 77
 - transformative potential of 60
 - transport investment impacts
 - Chinese experiences 67–8
 - international experiences 65–6
- highway development see China’s Expressway Network (CEN); China’s Highway Network (CHN)
- Hirsch, Max 248, 262
- Howard, Ebenezer 259
- HSR see high-speed rail
- Huang, Shaoqing 10, 425
- Hukou system
 - constraints 11–12
 - for mobility injustice 11
- human capital (HC) approach 172

- ICRs see intercity railways
- ICTs see information and communication technologies
- industry-city integration 5, 34
- information and communication technologies (ICTs) 8
 - activity-travel patterns 203–4
 - for future research 9
 - in-store shopping 202–3
 - intercity travel 207
 - international research on 199–200
 - mobile communication devices 198
 - online shopping 202–3
 - overview of 198–9
 - research process 201–2
 - social equality 206–7
 - social impacts of 206–7
 - sustainable urban mobility and 205–6
 - use of 200–201
- in-store shopping 202–3
- intelligent transport systems (ITS) 205
- intercity networking 370–71
- intercity railways (ICRs)
 - development reasons of 371–2
 - expanding components of 358
 - factors influencing 362–4
 - hierarchical approach to 356
 - importance of 356–9
 - interview questions 364
 - in major mega-city regions 357
 - MOR monopoly 359–61

- overview of 355–6
- Pearl River Delta
 - intercity networking 370–71
 - inter-ministerial politics, NDRC vs. MOR 368–9
 - JV model vs. Guangdong direct-investment model 367
 - phases of planning 365
 - technical disputes at national, provincial and city levels 369–70
 - tensions at national, regional and city levels 364–8
- railway planning regime 361–2
- types of 356
- intercity travel, ICTs 207
- internal passenger transport business units 350
- internet sharing bikes (without service stations) 144–6
- ITS see intelligent transport systems

- James Bird's theoretical model 23
- JHR see Jobs-Housing Ratio
- Jie, Shen 258
- Jinan 15, 32, 118, 345–6, 375–87, 429–30
- Jinan Energy Foundation, hegemonic discourse for transnational learning 381–4
- Jinping, Xi 3, 253, 258
- jobs-housing balance 310–11
- Jobs-Housing Ratio (JHR) 176
- justice and equality 318
- justice as fairness 318

- Kang, Zhaoxia 15, 428
- Keqiang, Li 252
- Kunming 15, 87, 88, 120, 350, 351, 375–87, 429–30
- Kunming Changshui Airport 88
- Kunming–Zurich, institutional alliance for transnational learning 378–81
- Kwan, Mei-Po 9, 425

- large-scale transportation infrastructure investment 12
- Liang, James 262
- Liu, Chao 8, 425
- Liu, Yiqin 428
- low-carbon city 135
- Loyalka, Michelle 252

- Maglev line 119
- market-driven pricing system 255
- market-oriented economic reform 421
- market-oriented railway reform
 - joint-ventures development 344–5
 - modern enterprise regime establishment 346–7
 - non-railway enterprises 345–6
 - railway business diversification 347–8
 - rationalisation of branch lines 347
 - removal of social responsibilities from enterprises 348
 - RRA transformation 345–6
 - separation of auxiliary business 347–8
- meteorological conditions 171
- Metro Metropolis initiative 121
- migrant labour 248
- Ministry of Housing and Urban-Rural Development (MOHURD) 3
- Ministry of Railways (MOR) monopoly 359–61
- mobility revolution
 - city-building programme 250
 - Gini coefficient 252
 - Gini Index 252
 - “Go West” strategy 253
 - local framework of 255–60
 - market-driven pricing system 255
 - migrant labour 248
 - overview of 247–51
 - regional framework of 251–5
 - rural hollowing 252
 - rural–urban migrant population 247
- MOHURD see Ministry of Housing and Urban-Rural Development
- money burning war 218
- monorail 119
- multi-dimensional rural transport development
 - cognition dimension 160–61
 - management dimension 163–4
 - operation dimension 163–4
 - system dimension 161–2
 - technical dimension 162–3
- multi-node transit-oriented development 405
- multivariable regression models 190

- Nanjing, port-city development 28–31
 - “Anyport Model” 28
 - artificial harbor city 31
 - land use conflicts 31
 - Metropolis with port 31
 - in Yuan Dynasty 28–9
- National Bureau of Statistics 150
- National Development and Reform Commission (NDRC) 358, 368–9
- National Highway Network Plan 2004–2020 42, 45
- National Transit Metropolis Pilot Program 395
- NDRC see National Development and Reform Commission

- network evolution patterns 46–7
 “core-periphery” networks 47
 dual-core structure 46
 Newman, Peter 10, 425, 426
The Next American Metropolis: Ecology, Community, and the American Dream (Calthorpe) 116
- Ningbo, port-city development 23–5
 Bonded Port policy 24–5
 James Bird’s theoretical model 23
 merging of Ningbo-Zhoushan Port 25
 “Node and Place” theory 101
- non-motorised transport development changes and challenges
 e-bikes 141–2
 internet sharing bikes (without service stations) 144–6
 public bike (service station system) 142–4 evolution decreasing stage 133–5 increasing stage 132–3 renaissance stage 135–6
 modes of 131
 overview of 131–2
 policy analysis
 overview of 136–7
 road-use policy centralizing, motorized vehicles 139–41
 urban land use policies 138–9
 vehicle development policies 137–8
 Public Transport Priority Strategy 131
 three stages of 7
 urban-rural dual systems 7–8
 zero-emission 9
- non-motorised transport policies 2
- online ride-hailing services (ORS) 10 access conditions for drivers and vehicles 225 background
 commuting modes 212–13
 taxi market, development, regulation and problems 213–15
 Chinese government regulation 223–4 control mechanisms of price or quantity 226 development modes
 business-to-customer (B2C) mode 217–18
 customer-to-customer (C2C) mode 218 development phases market formation stage from 2010 to 2013 216–17 market share 216
 rapid market development from 2014 to 2016 217 regulated development period since 2016 217 empirical evidence 222–3 framework and implementation 223–4
 money burning war 218
 overview of 212
 regulation of 226
 residents’ commute 225–6
 theoretical models commuting mode selection decision 219
 impact on congestion and its uncertainty 221–2
 travel cost function and work utility 219
 two-way subsidy 222
 urban road traffic congestion 219–21
 traffic congestion 226
 online shopping 202–3
 ORS see online ride-hailing services
- Palmer, James 262
 Pan, Haixiao 9, 425, 426
 “peak car” constraints 10
 Pearl River Delta (PRD) planning
 intercity networking 370–71
 inter-ministerial politics, NDRC vs. MOR 368–9
 JV model vs. Guangdong direct-investment model 367 phases of 365
 technical disputes at national, provincial and city levels 369–70
 tensions at national, regional and city levels 364–8
- Peng, Zhong-Ren 8, 425 people-oriented urban transport development modes new growth and development period 399–400 policy and guidelines changing current car-oriented road-classification method 401 creating street space 402 public participation 402
 urban transport planning theories and techniques with rail transit 401–2 transition from car-oriented policy to 400–401
- personal networking 377 planned behaviour, theory of 288 planning environmental assessment 177
 Pojani, Dorina 16, 430 policies analysis
 non-motorised transport development overview of 136–7
 road-use policy centralizing, motorized vehicles 139–41

- urban land use policies 138–9
 - vehicle development policies 137–8
- non-motorised transport 2
- preference-shaping process into public transport planning 13
- rail-based 2
- transfer
 - in Hangzhou and Addis Ababa 416–17
 - transit-oriented development 409–10
- port-city development
 - classification 19–22
 - “Anyport Model” 20
 - port size and city size 19–20
 - deviation from case studies 32–3
 - Nanjing, case study 28–31
 - Ningbo, case study 23–5
 - other port cities 32–3
 - overview of 19
 - Xiamen, case study 25–8
- port-city integration 5, 34
- port-industrialization relation 22
- Port- (industrial) Park-City (PPC) model 5, 35
- post-Mao era 1, 4
- public bicycle system 239–40
- public bike system (service station system) 142–4
- public transit priority 160–61
- public transport and private travel see
 - Australian and Chinese communities, public transport and private travel
- Public Transport Priority Strategy 131

- Quan, Bo 16, 428, 429

- rail-based policies 2
- rail passenger hub systems 63–4
- rail proximity, CO₂ emissions 195
- rail station planning and design 63–4
- regional railway administration (RRA) 342–3
- reorienting infrastructure investment priorities 235–6
- RRA see regional railway administration
- rural hollowing 252
- rural public transport
 - definition of 150
 - rural development vs. 151
- rural road
 - definition of 150
 - development
 - categories of 155–6
 - territorial imbalance 155–6
 - types of 150
- rural social organization 159–60
- rural transport development
 - accelerating infrastructure construction 158–60
 - diversification
 - fiscal instruments 159
 - rural social organization 159–60
 - financial overall rationing system 153
 - at home and abroad 151–2
 - international research on 150–51
 - multi-dimensional reflections
 - cognition dimension 160–61
 - management dimension 163–4
 - operation dimension 163–4
 - system dimension 161–2
 - technical dimension 162–3
 - phases
 - individual operation from 1979 to 1992 152–3
 - in quantity and quality since 2003 154–5
 - rural roads and regular bus services 153–4
 - territorial imbalance
 - in rural public transport development 156–7
 - in rural road development 155–6
 - urban-rural relationship 157–8
- rural-urban land conversion 3
- rural-urban migrant population 247

- Salmeron, Diego 380
- Satisfaction with Life Scale (SWLS) 273
- Satisfaction with Travel Scale (STS) 273, 281
- saturation release model 146
- Scheurer, Jan 13, 427
- SEA see strategic environmental assessment
- SEM see Structural Equation Modeling
- “7-9-18 Project” 42, 43, 45
- “7-11-18 Project” 42, 43, 45
- Shanghai
 - automobile dependence
 - bike sharing programmes 238–40
 - decoupling economic growth 237–8
 - e-bikes 238–40
 - municipal restrictions 232
 - private car ownership 232
 - private car use 232–4
 - pro-density Chinese typical dense urbanism 240–42
 - reorienting infrastructure investment priorities 235–6
- suburbs, CO₂ emissions
 - average commuting 188–9
 - calculations 187–8
 - car ownership 191
 - density and 191
 - emitter group 189
 - land use factors 183

- multivariable regression models 190
- overview of 182–5
- rail proximity 195
- social demographic factors 184
- socio-economic characteristics 189–91
- survey and research methodology 185–7
- transit accessibility 191–2
- travel distance 193
- travel modal split 193–4
- Shanghai Hongqiao Airport 89–90
- Shanghai Pudong Airport 88
- Shen, Qing 16
- Shen, Yue 9, 425
- Shenzhen Bao'an Airport 88
- Si, Keqi 16, 430
- single node transit-oriented development 405
- SNAMUTS see Spatial Network Analysis for Multimodal Urban Transport Systems
- social equality 206–7
- social equity see transport-related social equity
- social equity groupings 326
- social housing 309–10
- social inequality see urban transport inequality
- socio-demographic variables 278
- spatial coverage capability 49–50
- spatial evolution and effects
 - spatial coverage capability 49–50
 - travel time-based accessibility 48–9
- Spatial Network Analysis for Multimodal Urban Transport Systems (SNAMUTS) 293
- spatiotemporal patterns of transportation
 - problems 169–70
- specialised transport companies 350
- Splintering Urbanism* (Graham and Marvin) 12
- state entrepreneurship 64
- state rescaling 64–5
- stationless bike sharing systems 144–6
- strategic environmental assessment (SEA) 177
- streetcar 119
- street space, creating 402
- Structural Equation Modeling (SEM) 274
- STS see Satisfaction with Travel Scale
- sub-Saharan Africa 404, 413
- subjective well-being (SWB)
 - car commuters 13
 - definition of 266
 - direct and indirect effects 270–71
 - empirical studies on 271–2
 - literature review 268–72
 - methodology
 - commuting characteristics 278
 - commuting satisfaction 273, 278
 - conceptual model 277
 - full information maximum likelihood 276
 - methods of analysis 274–8
 - questionnaire survey 272–3
 - sample travel characteristics 274, 275
 - Satisfaction with Life Scale 273
 - Satisfaction with Travel Scale 273
 - socio-demographic variables 278
 - Structural Equation Modeling 274
 - survey data 274
 - modeling results 278–82
 - policy implications 282–3
 - rail commuters 13
 - statistics of variables 279
 - transport and 269–71
 - travel-related determinants 266
- sustainable urban mobility 205–6
- Suzhou, HSR case study
 - associated opportunities and challenges 69–71
 - characteristics
 - Huning* line 69
 - Jinghu* line 70
 - context 68
 - decision relating to routes and station locations 70–71
 - frequency, stopping patterns and available tickets 71
 - indirect impact
 - at regional level 72–4
 - at station level 75–7
 - at urban level 74–5
- SWB see subjective well-being
- SWLS see Satisfaction with Life Scale
- Ta, Na 9, 425
- Tang, Yang 7, 424
- TDM see transport development management
- territorial imbalance
 - in rural public transport development 156–7
 - in rural road development 155–6
- theoretical models, ORS
 - commuting mode selection decision 219
 - impact on congestion and its uncertainty 221–2
 - travel cost function and work utility 219
 - two-way subsidy 222
 - urban road traffic congestion 219–21
- theory of planned behaviour 288
- Thomas, Alainna 15, 429, 430
- “3-C” process 127
- Tianjin Port 33
- Tian, Yinsheng 7, 423
- TID see Transit Integrated Development
- time-space convergence effects 48
- Titheridge, Helena 12, 427

- TOD see transit-oriented development
- toll period limit 53
- toll pricing policies 52
- toll road revenue and expenditure 55
- To-morrow: A Peaceful Path to Real Reform* 259
- traffic emissions 394
- traffic incidents 393
- tramway 119
- transit accessibility 191–2
- Transit Integrated Development (TID) 7
- transit-oriented development (TOD)
 - Africa-based 406
 - Asia-based 406
 - case studies 410
 - characteristics of 405–7
 - Chinese approach
 - dealing with density 122, 124
 - designating districts 124–5
 - design for delicacy 125
 - development driven 126
 - diversifying destinations 125–6
 - CMHURC classification 117
 - comparison of case study settings 411
 - concept of 7
 - conceptualization
 - diffusion 409–10
 - ideas 407
 - institutions 409
 - interests 407–8
 - policy transfer 409–10
 - valence 409
 - corridor 405
 - data and analysis 410–12
 - definition of 116, 405–7
 - densification principle of 122
 - empirical studies on property values 123–4
 - financial barriers 127–8
 - floor area ratio (FAR) adjustment factors 124
 - greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions 182
 - green transport 395
 - implementation in 126–8, 395
 - institutional barriers 126–7
 - mass rapid transit technologies and system
 - characteristics 118
 - multi-node 405
 - overview of 116–17, 404–5
 - policy and market environment
 - aspects of 119
 - local governments 121
 - market environment 122
 - National Policy Environment 120–21
 - rail transit systems 120
 - regulatory and legal settings 127
 - single node 405
 - “South-South” policy transfer 16
 - “3-C” process 127
 - transit technologies
 - Maglev line 119
 - monorail 119
 - tramway 119
 - types of 405
- transnational learning
 - bridging gaps 386–7
 - capacity building 384–5
 - case studies
 - Jinan Energy Foundation, hegemonic discourse 381–4
 - Kunming–Zurich, institutional alliance 378–81
 - Chinese transportation planning history 384–5
 - critical component 386–7
 - mechanisms 385–6
 - overview of 375–6
 - previous research 376–8
 - research methods 378
 - theoretical framework 377
- Transportation Research Board (TRB) 433
- transportation service, categories of 432
- transport development management (TDM) 9
- transport inequality see urban transport inequality
- transport investments
 - Chinese experiences 67–8
 - international experiences 65–6
- transport-related social equity
 - Building a Harmonious Society 318
 - Capabilities Approach 319–20
 - case study in East Beijing
 - context 320, 322
 - data and methods 322–3, 325–6
 - descriptions of variables 324–5
 - descriptive statistics 325
 - central human capabilities 319–20, 321–2
 - economic efficiency 318
 - fair equality of opportunity 318
 - hukou* system 328
 - justice and equality/justice as fairness 318
 - macro-level 318–19
 - meso-level 318
 - modeling results 326–9
 - overview of 317
 - test statistics (F tests) 327–8
- travel affordability 14
- travel cost function 219
- travel distance, CO₂ emissions 195
- travel modal split 193–4
- travel safety 14

- travel time-based accessibility 48–9
 TRB see Transportation Research Board
- unbalanced modal share 393
 unbalanced modal share structure 393–4
 unfriendly transport design 393
 unified diversity 4
Unsustainable Transport and Transition in China (Loo) 1
- urban entrepreneurialism 2
 urbanisation process 2–3
 urban land use policies 138–9
 urban road traffic congestion 219–21
 urban-rural dual management system barrier 161–2
 urban-rural dual systems 7–8
 urban-rural relationship, rural transport development 157–8 urban texture, destroyed 392–3 urban transportation growth 168
 urban transportation policies
 air pollution
 Concentration-Response (C-R) functions 172
 economic analysis 171–3
 health analysis 171–3
 interaction with cities 170–71
 meteorological conditions 171
 spatiotemporal patterns of transportation problems 169–70 environmental impact assessment
 development in China 176–7
 emission standard of vehicles 177
 practices and technical inadequacies 177–8
 Jobs-Housing Ratio (JHR) 176
 motorization policies 173–6 urbanization policies 173–6
 urban transport inequality
 Beijing-case study
 city context 306
 commuting burdens 307–8
 commuting times 308–13
 jobs-housing balance 310–11
 low-income workers' 312–13
 social housing 309–10
 variables analysed 309
 hukou system 305
 literature review 303–6
 overview of 302–3
 theoretical framework for 305–6 utopian urbanisation 3
- valence
 in Hangzhou and Addis Ababa 416
 transit-oriented development 409
 vehicle development policies 137–8
- Wang, James Jixian 5, 423
 Wang, Shaoli 13, 427
 Wang, Yixiao 15, 428
 Wei, Peng 9, 425, 426
 well-being
 definition of 266
 eudaimonic 268
 see also subjective well-being (SWB)
- Wereta, Tsega Gebrekrestos 16, 430
 Westra, Richard 259
 Williams, Austin Rhys 12, 428 willingness to pay (WTP) approach 172
 Wolmar, Christian 256
 Work Relief programme 153
 Wuhan, Hubei floor area ratio 121
 Metro Metropolis initiative 121
 Wu, Jianhong 15, 428, 429
- Xiamen, port-city development 25–8
 Xi'an 13, 87, 89, 120, 266–83, 428
 Xi'an Xianyang Airport 89
 Xiaoping, Deng 421
 Xu, Dingyuan 16, 428, 429
 Xu, Jiang 15, 428, 429, 431
- Yangtze River Delta Area (YRDA) 60, 68–9, 72–4
 Ye, Runing 12, 427
 Yinjin, Liu 15
- zero-emission non-motorised transportation 9
 Zhang, Ming 7, 424
 Zhang, Xiaoxing 7, 423
 Zhao, Pengjun 13, 427, 428
 Zhen, Feng 9, 425

