Contributors

Antonina Bakardjieva Engelbrekt is Professor of European Law and Torsten and Ragnar Söderberg Professor of Legal Science (2015–2018) at the Faculty of Law, Stockholm University, Sweden. She is also Board Director of the Institute of European Law, Stockholm University, and Chair of the Swedish Network for European Legal Studies.

Niklas Bremberg is Senior Research Fellow at the Swedish Institute of International Affairs and affiliated to the Department of Government, Uppsala University, as Research Coordinator for the Swedish Network for European Studies in Political Science.

Mikael Eriksson is Deputy Research Director, Division of Defence Analysis at the Swedish Defence Research Agency. He is also a senior research associate of the Nordic Africa Institute, Uppsala, Sweden.

Joakim Gullstrand is Professor of International Economics at Lund University. His research interests are in the intersection of international trade, regional economics and food economics.

Christian Jörgensen earned his PhD in economics at Lund University and is a senior researcher at Agrifood Economics Centre. His research focuses on food supply chain issues, for instance competition in retailing and industry, food labelling and firm export behaviour.

Cecilia Magnusson Sjöberg is Professor and Subject Director of Law & Informatics at Stockholm University. Her academic profile focuses primarily on data protection, information security and public sector governance.

Anna Michalski is Associate Professor at the Department of Government, Uppsala University. She has held positions at the European Commission, at research institutes in London, Paris, The Hague and Stockholm, and at Fudan University and the University of Auckland. She is Chair of the Swedish Network for European Studies in Political Science.

Niklas Nilsson is Assistant Professor in War Studies at the Department of Military Studies, Swedish Defence University. He was formerly affiliated with the Department of Government, Uppsala University, as coordinator for the Swedish Network for European Studies in Political Science.
Gregor Noll is the Chair of International Law at the Faculty of Law, Lund University. His current research is mainly in the area of migration law, the laws of war and the digitalization of the law.

Inger Österdahl is Professor in Public International Law at Uppsala University, Sweden. She is a member of the board of the Swedish branch of the International Law Association (ILA) and a member of the ILA's working group on ‘Aggression and the Use of Force’.

Lars Oxelheim is Professor of International Business and Finance at the School of Business and Law, University of Agder, Norway, at the Lund University School of Economics and Management, Lund, and affiliated to the Research Institute of Industrial Economics (IFN), Stockholm, Sweden.

Charles Parker is Docent in Political Science at Uppsala University and one of the heads of research at the Centre for Natural Disaster Science (CNDS). His research focuses on climate change politics, warning-response problems and post-crisis learning and accountability.

Thomas Persson is Docent in Political Science at Uppsala University and former Chair of the Swedish Network for European Studies in Political Science. His current research examines social capital, administrative traditions and crisis management in the EU.

Roger Svensson is Associate Professor at the Research Institute of Industrial Economics (IFN) in Stockholm. His research focuses on entrepreneurship, the commercialization of inventions/patents and government intervention in these areas, as well as monetary policy in a historical perspective.

Charlotte Wagnsson is Professor of Political Science with a focus on security studies at the Swedish Defence University. Her research interests are European and global security.

Sten Widmalm is Professor of Political Science at Uppsala University. He researches democratic conditions in South Asia, parts of Africa and Europe – with a focus on the nature of public administration and its effects on the ability to cooperate and the capacity for handling conflicts.