About the editors

Mary M. Shirley is a founder and the president of the Ronald Coase Institute, USA, which promotes research on institutions. She has a PhD in Economics and has worked for over 30 years in development and 21 as a research manager at the World Bank, USA. She is the author of numerous scholarly articles and books on new institutional economics, including Institutions and Development (2010) and co-editor of the Handbook for New Institutional Economics (2008). She is a founder, board member, and past president of the International Society for New Institutional Economics (now the Society for Institutional and Organizational Economics), USA, and co-editor of New Institutional Economics, an e-journal of abstracts of the Social Science Research Network.

Claude Ménard is Professor Emeritus of Economics at the Centre d'Economie de la Sorbonne, France, founder and board member of the Ronald Coase Institute, USA and a founder and past president of the International Society for New Institutional Economics (now SIOE), USA. He holds two PhDs, in History of Sciences (1975) and in Economics (1980). He has published extensively in international journals, has been co-editor of the Journal of Economic Behavior & Organization, and is the editor of the Advances in New Institutional Analysis series (Edward Elgar Publishing). The most recent books he co-authored or co-edited are: The International Library of New Institutional Economics (2005); Handbook of New Institutional Economics (2008); Regulation, Deregulation, Re-regulation. Institutional Perspectives (2009); Public Procurement Reforms in Africa (2014), and The Elgar Companion to Ronald H. Coase (2016).