About the editors

Marek Hudon (mhudon@ulb.ac.be) is a professor at the Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management (SBS-EM), Université Libre de Bruxelles (ULB), Belgium, and a co-director of the Centre for European Research in Microfinance (CERMi). He holds a PhD in Economic and Management Sciences and an MD in Philosophy. His research focuses on social finance (microfinance and complementary currencies), sustainable development, and business ethics. Marek published articles in academic journals, such as Business Ethics Quarterly, Ecological Economics, Journal of Business Ethics, Organization and World Development. His co-authored article “Surplus Distribution in Microfinance: Differences Among Cooperative, Non-profit and Shareholder Forms of Ownership”, received the 2013 Best Paper Award in Nonprofit and Voluntary Sector Quarterly, awarded by ARNOVA.

ORCID number: 0000-0003-1793-6406

Marc Labie (Marc.LABIE@umons.ac.be) is a professor at the Warocqué School of Business and Economics of the University of Mons (UMONS) where he teaches organization studies and management. He is also a visiting professor at the Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management (SBS-EM), Université Libre de Bruxelles (ULB), Belgium, and a co-director of the Centre for European Research in Microfinance (CERMi). In the past, he has also been lecturing in various other universities including the Université de Liège (2004–2009) and Harvard University (FIPED Executive Program at the HIID and the Kennedy School of Government, 1998–2011) and has worked in microfinance organizations in various countries including Benin, Bolivia, Colombia, Haïti, the Dominican Republic, the Democratic Republic of Congo, Indonesia, Kenya, Madagascar, Morocco and Peru. He has co-edited with Beatriz Armendariz The Handbook of Microfinance (World Scientific Publishing, 2011), and, with Isabelle Guérin and Jean-Michel Servet, The Crises of Microcredit (Zed Books, 2015).

Ariane Szafarz (ariane.szafarz@ulb.ac.be) is a professor of finance at the Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management (SBS-EM), Université Libre de Bruxelles (ULB), Belgium, and a co-director of the Centre for European Research in Microfinance (CERMi). She holds a PhD in Mathematics and an MD in Philosophy. She currently works on banking and gender discrimination. Ariane published several books and scientific articles in, e.g., European Economic Review, Journal of Banking and Finance, Journal of Business Ethics, Journal of International Money and Finance, Review of Finance, Small Business Economics, and World Development.

Her co-authored article “Selectivity and Transparency in Social Banking: Evidence from Europe” received the 2016 Warren Samuels Prize awarded at the ASSA Meetings by the Association for Social Economics.

Website: <http://www.arianeszafarz.eu/>

ORCID number: 0000-0002-5286-421X

The Centre for European Research in Microfinance (CERMi) is a leading research centre on microfinance in Europe. Created in 2007, CERMi gathers 42 microfinance scholars from all over Europe and beyond, as well as PhD students from the Centre Emile Bernheim (Université Libre de Bruxelles) and from the Warocqué School of Business and Economics (Université de Mons). Co-directed by Marek Hudon, Marc Labie, and Ariane Szafarz, CERMi aims to participate in scientific conversations by studying the management of microfinance institutions, based on an interdisciplinary approach. CERMi’s mission is to offer a critical view on microfinance practices and provide academic support to practitioners from the microfinance sector, including NGOs, cooperatives, donors, international aid organizations, investment funds, and banking institutions.

Website: <http://www.cermi.eu/>