

---

Contributors

---

Anna Brattström studies collaborative dynamics, focusing on processes of innovation and new venture creation. She is employed at Lund University, School of Economics and Management, and has published her work in journals such as Organization Studies, Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice, Research Policy and Journal of Product Innovation Management.

Orla Byrne is Assistant Professor in Entrepreneurship and Strategy at University College Dublin, Ireland. Prior to joining UCD, Orla was Prize Fellow of Entrepreneurship at the University of Bath, UK and obtained her Ph.D. from Hunter Centre for Entrepreneurship, University of Strathclyde in Glasgow, UK. Orla's research conceptualizes what and how entrepreneurship-as-practice would look like as a field of research. Her empirical work in the practice arena considers the sociomateriality of new venture creation as well as the role, impact and interpretation of social interactions and transactions during the new venture creation process. She also focuses on the micro sensemaking processes of entrepreneurs during new venture creation and business failure and exit. Her work has been published in Entrepreneurship, Theory and Practice and Journal of Technology Transfer. Orla is a committed member of the emerging Entrepreneurship-as-Practice community, and hosted the 2nd Annual Entrepreneurship as Practice Workshop at UCD in 2017.

António Caetano is Professor of Organizational Behavior and Human Resource, Instituto Universitário de Lisboa (ISCTE-IUL), Portugal and APPsyCI (Applied Psychology Research Center Capabilities and Inclusion – ISPA). His research has been focused on entrepreneurship, social exchange in organizations, human resources management, team and individual performance, and well-being at work. He is author or co-author/editor of sixteen books and more than 100 national and international papers on those and related topics. His empirical work has been published in several journals, namely Leadership Quarterly, Journal of Small Business Management, Journal of Business Research, International Journal of Entrepreneurial Behaviour and Research, Group Organization Management, and Creativity and Innovation Management.

H. Shawna Chen is an Associate Professor of Entrepreneurship at the Goodman School of Business, Brock University, Canada. She received her Ph.D. in Management from the Rawls College of Business, Texas Tech University. Her research interests focus on the processes of entrepreneurial actions and her research has been published in the Journal of Business Venturing and other management and entrepreneurship journals.

Frédéric Delmar is a Professor of Entrepreneurship and the head of the research center in entrepreneurship and innovation, Emlyon Business School. He is also a Visiting Professor in Entrepreneurship at the Sten K. Johnson Centre for Entrepreneurship, at Lund University School of Economics and Management, Sweden. Previous to his current appointment, he has held positions at Lund University, Sweden; Stockholm School of Economics and Stockholm University, Sweden. He is recognized as an internationally leading scholar in entrepreneurship research. His main research interest lies in the early development of new ventures as well as new venture growth. His current interest is in new venture team dynamics. He has been researching entrepreneurship for twenty years and worked as an expert for the OECD and EU. He has also been active in several start-ups. His work has been published in a number of journals like Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice, Journal of Business Venturing, Journal of Management, Management Science, Strategic Management Journal, Strategic Entrepreneurship Journal, Technovation and books. He is associate editor for Strategic Entrepreneurship Journal, and former senior editor for Organization Studies. He is a member of the editorial board of Journal of Business Venturing, Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice and Strategic Organization.

Dimo Dimov is Professor of Innovation and Entrepreneurship at the University of Bath, UK and Founding Editor-in-Chief of Journal of Business Venturing Insights. He holds a Ph.D. in Entrepreneurship from London Business School. Dimo's research focuses on enabling, accelerating, and funding the entrepreneurial process, from initial idea to viable venture, in independent, corporate, and social settings. He approaches research in the spirit of the very same process it aims to study.

Alain Fayolle is a Distinguished Professor of Entrepreneurship, the founder and past director of the entrepreneurship research center at Emlyon Business School, France. Alain has published 35 books and over 150 articles. In 2013, Alain Fayolle received the 2013 European Entrepreneurship Education Award and was elected Chair of the Academy of Management Entrepreneurship Division for the 2016–2017 academic year. In 2015, he was awarded the Wilford L. White Fellow by the International Council of Small Business.

Denise Fletcher completed her Ph.D. degree in 1997 at Nottingham Trent University, UK. She was a Lecturer in European Business at Nottingham Trent (1990–2004) becoming a Principal Lecturer in Entrepreneurship in 1998 and Director of Entrepreneurship Research in the Centre for Growing Businesses in 2004. From 2006, she moved to a Senior Lecturer role at the University of Sheffield, becoming a Reader in Entrepreneurship and Family Business in February 2011. Since April 2011, Denise Fletcher has been Professor of Entrepreneurship and Innovation at the University of Luxembourg. Her principal research interests include entrepreneurship and family business, especially theories and methodologies that enable detailed process-minded understandings of how entrepreneurs design social structures, discourses and artifacts to mediate the problems they encounter as they engage in purposive market or value creating ventures. Dr. Fletcher has published widely in the small business and entrepreneurship journals and she is editor of a monograph entitled Understanding The Small Family Business (Routledge, 2002).

William B. Gartner is the Bertarelli Foundation Distinguished Professor of Family Entrepreneurship at Babson College and Visiting Professor of Entrepreneurship at Linnaeus University. His scholarship spans a wide array of topics in the entrepreneurship field: entrepreneurship as practice, the social construction of the future, varieties of value creation and appropriation, “translating entrepreneurship” across cultures and countries, the poetics of exchange, the humanities and entrepreneurship, the demographics of entrepreneurial families, and, the interplay of legacy and ambition in family entrepreneurship.

Bengt Johannisson is Professor Emeritus in Entrepreneurship at Linnaeus University. From 1998 to 2007 he was the Editor-in-Chief of Entrepreneurship and Regional Development and he has published widely on entrepreneurship, personal networking, family business as well as on local/regional development and interactive research. Bengt Johannisson is the first Scandinavian Winner of the Global Award for Entrepreneurship Research (2008).

Alan R. Johnson is a Senior Research Fellow in the Innovation and Entrepreneurship Division at the Business School of NORD University, Bodø, Norway. He received his doctorate in Management and Entrepreneurship from Emlyon Business School, France, in 2013 working with Professor Frédéric Delmar. Alan’s research interests focus on multilevel and longitudinal research designs and data analysis for questions in Entrepreneurship and Team Dynamics. Current projects include: an archival study of 374 academic spin-off firms in Norway; a field study of 120 knowledge-intensive new venture teams in Gothenburg, Copenhagen, and St. Petersburg; and an archival study of European patents using linked open-data to connect the research scientists, intellectual property and commercializing firms.

Tomas Karlsson is Associate Professor of Entrepreneurship at Chalmers University of Technology. He holds a Ph.D. in Business Administration from Jönköping International Business School. Tomas's research primarily focuses at new venture creation, entrepreneurship education and business planning. His research has been published in leading journals such as Journal of Management, Journal of Business Venturing, and Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice. He is currently on the editorial board for Academy of Management Learning and Education and on the review board for Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice.

Martin Lackéus is a Researcher in Entrepreneurial Education at the division of Entrepreneurship and Strategy at Chalmers University of Technology in Sweden. He is also a teacher at Chalmers School of Entrepreneurship. Martin's research focuses on how individuals develop entrepreneurial competencies in education through value creation processes, and how such processes can be assessed. In 2016 Martin defended his Ph.D. thesis on value creation as a new educational philosophy. His research has appeared in journals such as Journal of Small Business Management, Small Business Economics, International Journal of Entrepreneurial Behaviour and Research, Education+Training and International Journal of Management Education. Martin also works part-time as an entrepreneur with two IT companies he co-founded – Vehco and Me Analytics. Me Analytics develops the research tool LoopMe.

J. Robert (Rob) Mitchell, Ph.D. is an Associate Professor at Colorado State University and an Adjunct Research Professor at the Ivey School of Business. He completed his doctoral studies in entrepreneurship and strategic management at the Kelley School of Business in Bloomington, Indiana. Before pursuing his Ph.D. at Indiana University, Professor Mitchell worked in a technology startup in Salt Lake City, Utah and was involved in emerging enterprise consulting in Victoria, British Columbia. Professor Mitchell's research interests bridge entrepreneurship and strategic management in that he studies how cognitive, environmental, and behavioral factors lead to the creation of new value in new and existing firms. Professor Mitchell is the recipient of the NFIB Best Dissertation Award from the Entrepreneurship Division of the Academy of Management. His research has been published in journals such as Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice, Journal of Business Venturing, Strategic Entrepreneurship Journal and Strategic Management Journal.

Ronald K. Mitchell (Ph.D., University of Utah) holds the J.A. Bagley Regents Chair in Management at Texas Tech University, Jerry S. Rawls

College of Business, and is a Fellow at the Wheatley Institution at Brigham Young University. His research focuses on entrepreneurial cognition and stakeholder theory. His research has appeared in such journals as Academy of Management Journal, Academy of Management Review, Business Ethics Quarterly, Business & Society, Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice, Journal of the Academy of Marketing Sciences (JAMS), Journal of Business Ethics, Journal of Business Venturing, Journal of Management Studies and other respected outlets.

Helle Neergaard is Professor of Entrepreneurship at the Aarhus School of Business and Social Sciences, Aarhus University. Her research publications have appeared in international entrepreneurship journals such as: Entrepreneurship, Theory and Practice; International Small Business Journal; Journal of Enterprising Culture; International Journal of Gender and Entrepreneurship; International Journal of Entrepreneurial Behaviour and Research; Journal of Small Business and Enterprise Development; Education & Training; and Industry and Higher Education. Apart from her work with and about female entrepreneurs, she has developed a strong competence in qualitative methods and she is lead editor of Handbook of Qualitative Research Methods in Entrepreneurship (Edward Elgar Publishing, 2007), with a sequel Handbook of Qualitative Research Techniques (Edward Elgar Publishing, 2012). Recently, her research has taken a new direction into entrepreneurship education and entrepreneurial pedagogy, and she is bringing her insights from teaching entrepreneurship to bear on her research. She was Principal Investigator of the PACE project, a 20 million DKK research project on promoting a culture of entrepreneurship in higher education, supported by the Strategic Research Foundation and completed in 2016. She has won international recognition for her work and best paper awards at numerous research conferences and she was the 2018 European Entrepreneurship Educator co-laureate with her colleague Per Blenker.

R. Duncan M. Pelly is an Associate Professor of Entrepreneurship, Director of the Center for Free Enterprise and Entrepreneurship, and Director of International Business Programs at the Johnson School of Business at McMurry University. He received his Ph.D. in Management with a focus on Entrepreneurship from Emlyon Business School. He served in the United States Army for four and a half years, attaining the rank of Captain, before beginning his doctoral studies. He holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Pennsylvania in International Relations, French, and German. His current interests include entrepreneurial opportunity, adhocracies, autoethnography, entrepreneurial leadership, and philosophical foundations of entrepreneurship.

Kim Poldner is Professor of Entrepreneurship and Organization at The Hague University of Applied Sciences where she started the research group Circular Business and at Wageningen University & Research where she leads the Circular Fashion Lab. Her research interests evolve at the crossroads of entrepreneuring, aesthetics and sustainability and she loves to experiment with visual and affective ethnographies as well as action research methods. Kim has published in journals such as Journal of Business Venturing, Organization and Business & Society next to writing blogs and newspaper articles. Before entering academia, Kim was a serial entrepreneur in sustainable fashion; a phenomenon that still intrigues her to keep on (ad)venturing.

Susana C. Santos is an Assistant Professor of Entrepreneurship at Rowan University. She received her Ph.D. from ISCTE-IUL, Instituto Universitário de Lisboa, Portugal and completed her post-doctoral program at the University of Florida. Her main research interests are focused on the cognitive and psychosocial processes of entrepreneurship at the individual and team level. Other streams of research include entrepreneurship education, entrepreneurial ecosystems and poverty in developed countries. Susana has published in several journals such as Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice, Small Business Economics, Journal of Small Business Management, Journal of Business Research and International Journal of Entrepreneurial Behavior and Research, among others.

Paul Selden completed his Ph.D. in 2008 at Nottingham Trent University, UK. The focus of his doctoral thesis was a cognitive constructivist approach to the temporality of creative entrepreneurial decision-making processes. Since then he has continued to pursue an interest in the entrepreneurial experience of time into areas such as practical narrative, the relational causality of action–context relationships, the nature of context and entrepreneurial practice as artifactual design.

Bruce T. Teague, Ph.D., is the EWU Foundation Distinguished Professor of Entrepreneurship and Founding Director of the Center for Entrepreneurship at Eastern Washington University, along with having been Visiting Professor at Copenhagen Business School. His main interest is in understanding what entrepreneurs actually do, and how they do it. His research explores entrepreneurial behavior and entrepreneurial practice with a particular interest in the role of expertise. His work has appeared in journals such as Entrepreneurship and Regional Development, Ethics and Behavior, and the Journal of Business Ethics. He has presented at the Academy of Management, USASBE, and RENT, and the Entrepreneurship as Practice conference.

Neil Aaron Thompson is Assistant Professor in Entrepreneurship and Organization Studies at the Vrije Universiteit (VU) Amsterdam, the Netherlands. Neil earned his Ph.D. in Entrepreneurship from Utrecht University in 2013. Neil's current research projects focus on: re-conceptualizing entrepreneurship in terms of practice theory, namely focusing on the socio-materiality of opportunity development and the role of imagination. He also is researching how founders experience and cope with anxiety driven from environmental uncertainties. Neil's work has been published in Organization Studies, Entrepreneurship and Regional Development, Business History and International Journal of Entrepreneurial Behaviour and Research. Neil is a core organizing member of the emerging Entrepreneurship-as-Practice community by hosting the 1st Annual Entrepreneurship as Practice Workshop in 2016.

Claus Thrane is an Associate Professor at the Department of Management, Aarhus University. His research interests include entrepreneurship education, entrepreneurship theory, opportunity creation, entrepreneurial identity, and new venture finance. His research publications have appeared in international entrepreneurship journals such as Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice and International Small Business Journal.

Malin Tillmar is Professor of Entrepreneurship at Linnaeus University. Tillmar's background is in organization studies, with a focus on inter-organizational trust, but her overarching research interest has over time become the conditions for entrepreneurship in different organizational, sectoral and cultural contexts. Her empirical research includes ethnographic studies in East Africa as well as about entrepreneurship in the public and civil society contexts. She has edited special issues on both public sector organizing and entrepreneurship as well as a book on sustainable development in organizations. Currently, rural entrepreneurship is on her research agenda. Tillmar's research has been published in journals such as Entrepreneurship and Regional Development, Scandinavian Journal of Management, Journal of Social Entrepreneurship, International Journal of Gender and Entrepreneurship, International Journal of Sociology, Journal of Enterprising Communities, International Entrepreneurship Management Journal, Economic and Industrial Democracy, Noridska Organisationsstudier and Kommunal Politik och Ekonomi.

Hamid Vahidnia, Ph.D., is a Visiting Assistant Professor of Management at Tulane University, A.B. Freeman School of Business. He is interested in questions and phenomena in the intersection of entrepreneurship, strategy, and organization theory. Presently, he is working on two streams of research. First, he is working on a research program that helps with further identifying and explaining contextual, behavioral, and cognitive mechanisms that facilitate the creation of new value by individuals, teams, existing and emerging organizations. Second, he is studying those corporate, institutional, and entrepreneurial mechanisms that foster inequality of entrepreneurial opportunity and condition in many developed and developing countries across the world. His professional experiences include working in a number of new ventures in the United States, including in Silicon Valley, as well as in several national-level projects in the management consultancy industry of Iran.

Elco van Burg is Professor of Organization Theory at Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, a position he combines with working at a social venture in the rural highlands of Papua (Indonesia). He holds a Ph.D. in Management from Eindhoven University of Technology. Elco's research focuses on the role of imagination and actions of entrepreneurs in relation to their social context. Most of his studies employ process perspectives. Elco is currently leading a project on examining and potentially redesigning entrepreneurship and technology transfer mechanisms in the European space sector, co-funded by the Dutch Space Agency and the European Space Agency (ESA). His research has been published in leading journals such as Organization Science, Organization Studies, Journal of Management Studies, Strategic Entrepreneurship Journal, and Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice.

Jan P. Warhuus is Assistant Professor of Entrepreneurship at the School of Economics and Business Administration at St. Mary's College of California. His research interests include entrepreneurship education, entrepreneurship and gender, and new venture finance. Prior to joining St. Mary's in 2018, Jan was an Assistant Professor of Entrepreneurship at Aarhus University. From 1999 to 2013 he worked in the private sector in the San Francisco Bay Area where he was involved with several start-ups, including a role as founding management team member at GuardianEdge, a venture-capital backed data security company acquired by Symantec. Jan's research has appeared in the International Journal of Management Education; Journal of Small Business and Enterprise Development; Education & Training; Industry and Higher Education; and Frontiers of Entrepreneurship.

Karl Wennberg is Professor of Organizations and Entrepreneurship at Linköping University. His work focuses largely on the birth, growth, and exit of entrepreneurial firms, and the potential macro outcomes from micro level entrepreneurial processes.