Contributors

EDITORS

Hanne S. Birkmose took her PhD in Law at the Aarhus School of Business in 2003. In 2016 she was appointed professor at the Department of Law, Aarhus University. Her research areas include company law – in particular international company law and EU company law – and corporate governance, and she has written several national and international articles within these areas. She is also the author of books on UCITS and Alternative Investment Funds in Denmark. Recently, she has mainly worked on shareholder activism and the role of institutional shareholders. In 2014 she received a three-year research grant from the Danish Independent Research Council for a project on ‘Shareholders’ Duties’. Hanne S. Birkmose is a member of the ECGI (European Corporate Governance Institute, Brussels), the Nordic Company Law Network and the Nordic Corporate Governance Network.

Konstantinos Sergakis is a Senior Lecturer in Commercial Law, Director of the LLM in Corporate and Financial Law and School Director of Internationalisation at the University of Glasgow. His book The Transparency of Listed Companies in EU Law received the prestigious prize ‘Prix Solennel André Isoré’ under the Presidency of the French Prime Minister as well as the 2011–2012 Special Grant from the Alexander S. Onassis Foundation. He has recently published The Law of Capital Markets in the EU (Palgrave Macmillan). He currently sits on the editorial board of the journals Corporate Ownership and Control and Corporate Governance and Sustainability Review. He also serves as a member of the Executive Boards of the International Association of Economic Law and of the Transnational Network in Banking and Financial Law. Konstantinos Sergakis’s research interests are related to corporate law, EU capital markets law and corporate governance. He has participated in numerous international conferences and regularly publishes articles in English and French.
CONTRIBUTORS

Anita Anand is a Professor of Law and holds the J.R. Kimber Chair in Investor Protection and Corporate Governance at the University of Toronto. She served as Associate Dean at the Faculty of Law from 2007 to 2009 and since 2010 has served as the Academic Director of the Centre for the Legal Profession and its Program on Ethics in Law and Business. She is a Senior Fellow and member of the Governing Board, Massey College and is cross-appointed to the Rotman School of Management and the School of Public Policy and Governance. During the 2009–2010 academic year, Professor Anand was a Visiting Scholar at the Bank of Canada and a Herbert Smith Visitor at the University of Cambridge. In 2005–2006, she was a Canada-U.S. Fulbright Scholar and Visiting Olin Scholar in Law and Economics at Yale Law School. During the Fall 2005, she was a Visiting Lecturer in Law at Yale Law School where she taught comparative corporate governance. In Fall 2017, she was appointed Director of Policy and Research at the Capital Markets Institute, Rotman School of Management. She is a member of the Ontario Securities Commission’s Securities Advisory Committee and serves on both charitable and public company boards.

Justin Borg-Barthet is a Senior Lecturer at the Centre for Private International Law, School of Law, University of Aberdeen. His research focusses on the private international law of the European Union. He has published work on a range of topics, including European company law, with a core interest in the balance between individual freedoms and the residual rights of EU Member States to govern their socio-economic affairs. His work on private international law has been cited with approval by an Advocate General of the Court of Justice of the European Union. He has acted as a consultant to the European Parliament and as an advisor on consultancy for the European Commission. He studied Law and European Studies at the University of Malta. After qualifying as an advocate in Malta, he pursued postgraduate studies at the University of Aberdeen.

Iris H-Y. Chiu is Professor of Corporate Law and Financial Regulation at the Faculty of Laws, University College London, UK. She previously taught at the School of Law, King’s College London and the University of Leicester. She was a legislative draftsman and State Counsel at the Attorney-General’s Chambers in Singapore prior to joining academia. Iris has published on directors’ duties, shareholder stewardship and corporate governance, as well as regulatory theories and governance in the financial sector. Her key monographs are The Foundations and Anatomy of Shareholder Activism (Hart Publishing, 2010), The Foundations and Future of Financial Regulation (Routledge, 2014, co-authored with Mads Andenas) and The Legal Framework for Internal Control in Banks and Financial Institutions (Hart Publishing, 2015). She is Executive Editor of the European Business Law Review and Co-Series Editor of the Palgrave Macmillan Corporate and Financial Law Series. She is also Director of the UCL Centre for Ethics and Law.

Matteo Gargantini works at Consob, the Italian Securities and Exchange Commission. Before joining Consob, he was Senior Research Fellow at the Max Planck Institute Luxembourg for Procedural Law. He also worked in the Capital Markets and Listed Companies Unit of Assonime, the Association of the Italian joint-stock companies. He holds a PhD in Banking and Financial Markets Law from the University of Siena, and received the Italian National Academic Qualification as Associate Professor (Law and Economics and Financial Markets Law). He teaches Financial Market Law and Regulation at Luiss Guido Carli University in Rome.

Elizabeth Howell is the Slaughter and May Lecturer in Corporate Law, and a fellow and college lecturer at Magdalene College, Cambridge. She teaches courses on contract law, company law, corporate finance, and financial regulation. Her research interests include corporate law and capital markets regulation, with particular reference to European financial market regulation. She has been a visitor to Columbia Law School, is a guest member of the Otto Hahn Group on Financial Regulation at the Max Planck Institute, and was awarded the Des Voeux Chambers Cambridge-HKU Visiting Fellowship in 2018. She is currently a member of the Consultative Working Group of the European Securities and Markets Authority (ESMA)'s Corporate Finance Standing Committee.

Corrado Malberti has been Associate Professor of Commercial Law at the University of Trento since 2015. From 2010 to 2015 he was Associate Professor of Commercial Law at the University of Luxembourg, where he was also director of the Master 1 in European Law. He graduated from the University of Milan. He completed an LLM at the University of Chicago and a PhD in Commercial Law at Bocconi University. He has published widely in the fields of company law and financial market regulation in English, Italian and French.

Mette Neville is a professor of Company Law at the Aarhus School of Business and Social Sciences, Aarhus University. Her main research areas are company law and housing law, and she is the author of numerous books and articles on these subjects. Her special interest is small and medium-sized enterprises. She is the Director of the interdisciplinary Centre for Small and Medium-sized Enterprises at Aarhus BSS, which heads several large projects on growth in SMEs, for example ‘Growth Management for the Future in SMEs’ (Vækstledelse for fremtiden i SMV’er) and ‘The SME Board as Digital Catalyst’ (SMV-bestyrelsen som digital katalysator). Mette Neville has also served on various preparatory committees on law, for instance the Danish Committee for Financial Supervisory Structure under the Danish Ministry of Economic and Business Affairs. She has also served as a Danish member of legal scholar networks in connection with EU studies.

Jennifer Payne is a professor of Corporate Finance Law at the University of Oxford and a fellow and tutor of Merton College, Oxford. She writes widely in the field of corporate law in leading journals and edited collections. Her publications include Principles of Financial Regulation (OUP, 2016, with John Armour et al); The Oxford Handbook of Financial Regulation (OUP, 2015, with Niamh Moloney and Eilis Ferran); and Corporate Finance Law: Principles and Policy (Hart Publishing, 2011, 3rd edition 2019, with Louise Gullifer). Jennifer is a contributor to Palmer’s Company Law, a founder editor of the Journal of Corporate Law Studies and a founder editor of the Oxford Business Law Blog. She has been a visiting professor at a number of leading institutions internationally, including Melbourne Law School, the National University of Singapore and the University of Auckland. Jennifer was a member of ESMA’s Securities and Markets Stakeholder Group from 2016–2018.

Christopher Puskas is entering his final year of law at the University of Toronto. Prior to entering law school, he received his Honours Bachelor of Arts (High Distinction) from the University of Toronto, where he graduated with the Gold Medal in Sociology and an award for the Best Undergraduate Research Paper. Today, he is particularly interested in private and corporate law matters. In law school, he has won a course award in Contracts and has recently won the 2018 Davies’ Corporate/Securities law moot, where he also placed as the second best oralist. Prior to law school, Christopher Puskas was a competitive debater for seven years and competed nationally and internationally for the University of Toronto.

Karsten Engsig Sørensen is a professor at the Department of Law at Aarhus University. He holds a Danish law degree, a PhD (on EU Company Law), and a Danish Dr. Jur. (on joint ventures). He also has an LLM from the University of Exeter. His research is mainly focused on EU law and company law, and within these areas he has published several books and articles in both Danish and English. Additionally, he has been the editor of several books on company law, EU law and WTO law, appearing with, inter alia, Kluwer Law International and Cambridge University Press. He is a one of the two editors of the SSRN e-journal Nordic and European Company Law and a member of the Nordic Network for Company Law.

Christoph Teichmann is a professor of law and holds the Chair for Civil Law, German and European Company Law at the University of Würzburg, Germany. He graduated at the University of Heidelberg where he also obtained his doctoral degree. He then worked for two years in a law firm in Frankfurt, Germany, before returning to the University of Heidelberg and completing his Habilitation thesis (Binnenmarktkonformes Gesellschaftsrecht). He is co-editor of ZGR (Zeitschrift für Unternehmens- und Gesellschaftsrecht) and chief managing editor of ECFR (European Company and Financial Law Review) as well as a member of several international expert groups on company law, including the working group on the EMCA (European Model Company Act) and the ICLEG (Informal Company Law Expert Group consulting the European Commission).

Christoph Van der Elst is Professor of Business Law and Economics at Tilburg University (the Netherlands) and at Ghent University (Belgium), lecturing in the field of corporate law (and its economic analysis), corporate governance, and commercial contracts. He has also published widely on these topics. He holds both a master in law and a master in economics and has obtained a PhD in economics. He is an ECGI Research Associate, member of the Belgian Bar (Cottyn), chairman of the professional examination commission of registered auditors and member of the audit committee of the Ghent University Hospital.

Christian A. Witting is Professor of Private Law at Queen Mary University of London and an occasional Visiting Professor at the National University of Singapore. He is a Barrister and Solicitor of the High Court of Australia, formerly in service with the Commonwealth Attorney’s General’s Department. Christian has research interests in both company law and tort law. He is the author of two monographs – Liability of Corporate Groups and Networks (Cambridge University Press, 2018) and Liability for Negligent Misstatements (Oxford University Press, 2004). He is also the fourth and current author of the textbook Street on Torts (Oxford University Press, 15th edn, 2018).

Lothar Wolff is a PhD candidate at the Chair for Civil Law, German and European Company Law, University of Würzburg, Germany. He studied law at the University of Freiburg, Germany, where he obtained his law degree. His areas of expertise include company law, European law and comparative law. He is currently working on a PhD thesis on the law of corporate groups in Europe.