
Index

- '4Rs' approach 138, 139
- academic think tanks 24–5
- academics, perceptions of behavioural ambidexterity and well-being see well-being, effect of behavioural ambidexterity on
- administrative data 181, 256–7
- advisory boards/groups 97–8, 292
- aesthetic labour 127, 130
- age, and lifecourse research 35–6
- Annual Survey of Hours and Earnings (ASHE) 186, 187
- applicability of evidence 294–5
- appraisal interviews 116–17
- Ashford, S. 53–4
- Asperger's Syndrome (AS), from managers' perspective (study) 62–3
- accessing participants 64–6
- challenges in studying AS 64–73
- conceptualising AS 68–9
- discussion 73–4
- interpretivism and insight 71–3
- knowledge of AS 69–70
- moving from access to ontology and epistemology 66–8
- overview of research process 63–4
- translating clinical knowledge into workplace language 70–71
- Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB) 20
- Atkinson, C. 28
- Australia, job quality study see case study research (job quality study, Australia)
- Australian Work and Life Index (AWALI) report 147–8
- Australian Workplace and Productivity Agency (AWPA) 148–9
- autism spectrum see Asperger's Syndrome (AS), from managers' perspective (study)
- Becker, H. 125
- behavioural ambidexterity see well-being, effect of behavioural ambidexterity on
- Birkett, H. 303, 306, 308, 309, 311
- Blinder, A.S. (Oaxaca–Blinder decomposition) 224–32
- Bolander, P. 116
- breadwinner concept 56, 57–8, 165
- British Household Panel Survey (BHPS) 37–8, 39, 42, 194–5, 196, 203
- British Social Attitudes Survey (BSA) 37, 38, 39, 42
- Burawoy, M. 138, 139–40
- business data, using to understand context of employment quality in Nottingham 188–90
- Business Demography (ONS) 188–9
- Business Register and Employment Survey (BRES) 188, 189
- Business Schools, reward systems 29–30
- calendars see occupational history calendars (OHC), use in semi-structured interviews
- Campbell Collaboration 284
- Caplan, R.D. 52
- care and care work 2, 5, 8, 34 see also lifecourse approach, researching patterns of paid and unpaid work
- careers, diversity of 3
- Carmichael, F. 303, 306, 308, 309, 311
- case study research (job quality study, Australia) 147–9
- aims of 149
- discussion 157–9
- evaluation of job quality 151–2
- findings 156–7
- focus of 149–51
- research approach 152–6

- strategic human resource management (SHRM) foundation of 150–51
- censuses 179, 198, 256
- Chartered Association of Business Schools (CABS) 27
- Chowdhury, G. 27
- CIPD, research for 28–9
- circular migration 255–6
- class, and work–life balance (WLB) 200–201, 204
- cluster analysis 308–9, 312
- coaching 168–70
- Cochrane, A. 282, 283, 284, 292, 296
- coding analysis 275–7
- cognitive theory of stress and coping 50
- Community Life Survey (CLS) 37, 38, 39, 42
- confidence intervals 180
- consent 126, 270
- contract research 23, 24
- conversation analysis (CA) 113, 114, 116–17
- correlation, and Oaxaca–Blinder decomposition 227–8
- cost/benefit analysis 282
- credibility of evidence and evidence reviews 292–4
- critical discourse analysis (CDA) 114–15, 117–19
- ‘critical interpretive synthesis’ 287
- critical realism 66–7, 110
- Cronbach’s Alpha 294
- crowdwork 4

- Danish Longitudinal Data-base (DLDB) 194–5
- data
 - administrative 181, 256–7
 - collection, case studies 154–5, 158
- data, secondary see secondary data
 - analysis of large survey data (quality of paid and unpaid working lives); secondary quantitative data sources, effective use of
- Davis, T.R. 211, 212
- De Witte, H. 53

- decent work
 - and health 118–19
 - indicators 177
- decomposition method see Oaxaca–Blinder decomposition (quantitative assessment of gender pay gap)
- demographic change 3
- descriptive analysis 178, 182
 - and hard-to-define concepts 185–8
- Di Ruggiero, E. 118–19
- disability 68–9, 72
- discrimination, and gender pay gap 225, 226–7, 228–9, 230, 232
- discursive psychology (DP) 113–14
- discursive research/discourse analysis 109
 - discourse 112–13
 - discussion 119–21
 - evaluation of 120
 - examples of discursive research 115–19
 - forms of discursive research 113–15
 - key theoretical ideas 109–12
 - macro approaches 114–15
 - micro approaches 113–14
- diversity 3, 68–9
- domestic work 202–3, 204
- Duberley, J. 303, 306, 308, 309, 311
- Duncan, J. 243–4, 245, 247

- earnings
 - gender pay gap 224–32
 - low-skilled work 261, 263
 - and migration 254
 - see also* educational mismatch and earnings (econometric analysis, Ghana); low-paid workers in multiple employment (study)
- Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC) 20, 22, 198
- economics research 268, 279
- educational mismatch and earnings (econometric analysis, Ghana) 235–6
 - data 238–42
 - dealing with econometric issues 238
 - estimation techniques 242–4
 - incidence of overeducation and undereducation 242

- measuring educational mismatch 236–8
- measuring overeducation and undereducation 241
- results and discussion 244–9
- emotional labour 127, 130–31, 132
- emotive and sensitive issues in research 100–107
- employee engagement 288–95
- Endres, S. 287
- ethnographic methods with limited access (hard-to-reach jobs) 135–8
- discussion 144–5
- history of ethnographies of work 139–40
- reflections on experience of using 141–3
- research validity 138–9
- ethnography, ‘hidden’ 100–101
- European Community Household Panel (ECHP) 202
- European Union Statistics on Income and Living Conditions (EU-SILC) 230–31
- event history calendars see occupational history calendars (OHC), use in semi-structured interviews
- evidence-based HRM/management 21, 22
- evidence-based management,
 - evaluating new techniques using narrative evidence synthesis 282
 - applicability and replicability 294–5
 - challenges of evidence synthesis 289, 292–5
 - clarity and consensus 289, 292
 - credibility and quality 292–4
 - data extraction form 290
 - discussion 295–7
 - emergence of systematic review 282–4
 - evidence-based management movement 284–5
 - narrative evidence synthesis approach 288–9
 - need for more sensitive review techniques 286–9
 - new approaches to evidence-based management 286–9
 - sample evidence presentation form 291
- explanatory reviews 288, 293, 295
- ‘extended case method’ 140
- financial hardship 201
- fitness industry, participant observation (PO) 127–32
- flexibility, employment 3–5, 6, 261, 263
- Folkman, S. 50
- Foucauldian-inspired discourse analysis (FDA) 114–15
- Foundation Living Wage (FLW) 95, 100
- Fuchs, M. 231
- gender
 - differences between researchers and participants 171–2
 - and housework 202–3
 - labour market segregation 5–6, 165
 - pay gap 224–32
 - roles 56, 57–8, 118, 165
- gender lens perspective, and job insecurity (JI) 55–6, 57–8
- gendered strategies 165–7
- generation, and lifecourse research 36
- Germany, gender pay gap 231
- Ghana, educational mismatch and earnings see educational mismatch and earnings (econometric analysis, Ghana)
- Ghana Living Standards Survey 238–9
- gig economy 4–5, 6
 - see also* platform companies/employment
- Goffman, E. 125
- Goldthorpe, J.H. 198
- grassroots movements, violence encountered see violence, encountering experiences of in fieldwork
- Green, A. 258–9
- Greenhalgh, L. 48
- ‘grey literature’ 284, 286, 294
- hard-to-define concepts, role of descriptive analysis in illuminating 185–8
- hard-to-reach groups, researching 97–9

- hard-to-reach jobs see ethnographic methods with limited access (hard-to-reach jobs)
- Hawthorne studies 126, 211
- health and decent work 118–19 problems 102
see also well-being; well-being, effect of behavioural ambidexterity on
- Heckman, J.J. 243
- Hellgren, J. 54–5
- High Performance Work Practices (HPWP) 150
- Hoffman, S. 243–4, 245, 247
- housework 202–3, 204
- Huang, G.H. 53
- human capital 128, 225–6
- human resource management (HRM) 150–51
- immersion 125, 135–6
- impact 19–20
achieving rigour and relevance 21–3 defining 20–21
discussion 29–30
generating 23–6
measuring 26–9
- ‘independent contractors’ (ICs) 4, 141–2
- Indoor Environmental Quality (IEQ) 215
- information and communication technologies (ICTs) 5, 120, 263
- integrative review 284, 287
- International Passenger Survey (IPS) 256
- ‘interpretative repertoires’ 113
- interpretive reviews/synthesis 287–8, 293, 295
- interviews appraisal 116–17
coaching tools 168–70
narrative analysis 167–8
in participant observation (PO) process 125 selection 115–16
semi-structured 274
thematic coding analysis 275–7 transcriptions 114, 115, 274 use in discursive research 114, 115–17
see also occupational history calendars (OHC), use in semi-structured interviews
- Jacobson, D. 50
- job analysis, educational mismatch and earnings 237
- job dependency theory 58
- job insecurity (JI) 46
Australia 147
and business cycles 157 cognitive versus affective 50 concept of 47–50
definition of 47, 48, 49
dimensions of 48
discussion 57–8
and gender lens perspective 55–6, 57–8 global/unidimensional measures 52–3 measurement of 51–5, 57
multi-dimensional measures 53–5 objective versus subjective 49 qualitative versus quantitative 49–50 single-item measures 51
- Job Insecurity Scale (JIS) 53
- job loss, and job insecurity (JI) 47, 48, 49–50, 52, 54–5
- job quality 7–8, 96
measurement of 199–200, 204
part-time jobs 199–200
using business data to understand context of 188–90
see also case study research (job quality study, Australia)
- job satisfaction 272–3
- job search 262–4
- Job Security Index (JSI) 52, 53
- Job Security Satisfaction Scale (JSS) 53
- Johnson, C.D. 52
- journals 26
- Juhn, C. 229–30
- Kinnunen, U. 55–6
- Klandermans, B. 49
- knowledge 110, 294
- Knowledge Exchange Framework (KEF) assessment process 28

- knowledge translation value-chain 20–22, 28
- Labour Force Survey (LFS) 180, 182–4, 186, 187, 196, 255, 257–9
- Labour Market Statistical Bulletin* 182, 183, 184
- language barriers 143, 263
in different forms of discursive research 109, 110, 113–15
as form of social action 111 meaning of, dependent on context 111 shaping rather than reflecting experience 111–12
see also discursive research/discourse analysis
- large survey data, secondary data analysis of see secondary data analysis of large survey data (quality of paid and unpaid working lives)
- Lazarus, R.S. 50
- leadership 287
- life histories 35, 36, 40, 167–8
see also occupational history calendars (OHC), use in semi-structured interviews
- lifecourse approach, researching patterns of paid and unpaid work 33–5
adopting lifecourse approach 35–6 analysing patterns of unpaid work 40–41
case studies 38–40, 41, 42–3
discussion 41–3
method 37–40
- listening 169
- low-paid workers in multiple employment (study) 95
discussion 106–7
emotive and sensitive issues 100–106
job quality and research design 96–7
key research findings 99–100 practicalities of researching hard-to-reach group 97–9
- low-skilled work, migrant workers in see migrant workers in low-skilled work (UK), use of quantitative and qualitative methods
- Machado, J.F. 230
- management data 181
- Mata, J. 230
- Mauno, S. 55–6
- media dissemination, to generate
impact 24–6, 28, 29
- Melly, B. 230
- men
gendered strategies 166–7
roles of 165, 166
- mentoring 288, 293
- meta-analysis 282–3
- migrant density (MD) 258–9
- migrant workers in low-skilled work (UK), use of quantitative and qualitative methods 254–5 administrative data (National Insurance Numbers) 256–7 attributes sought by employers 262 constraints faced in securing employment 263–4
definitional issues 255–6
discussion 264–5
key features of work organisation, conditions and pay 261
Labour Force Survey (LFS) data 257–9
recruitment methods 262–3 use of supplementary qualitative data for fuller insights 259–64
- migration 254, 255–6
- Mincer, J. 225, 242–3
- motherhood, media representations of 117–18
- motivation 157
- multi-disciplinary research 214
- multi-scale instruments 51
- ‘naive realism’ 110
- narrative evidence synthesis see
evidence-based management, evaluating new techniques using narrative evidence synthesis
- National Insurance Numbers (NINos) 257
- neo-villeiny 131
- networks 263

- New Labour government 285
- New Public Management (NPM) 285
- noise 207–8, 216, 218
- non-standard employment 3–5, 6, 47
- Nottingham, using business data to understand context of employment quality in 188–90
- Nottingham Civic Exchange 185
- Oaxaca–Blinder decomposition (quantitative assessment of gender pay gap) 224–7
 - discussion 232
 - experience of using 230–31
 - extensions of basic decomposition 229–30
 - research validity and caveats 227–9
- objective measurement approach, physical work environment 213, 214
- occupational history calendars (OHC), use in semi-structured interviews 301–2
 - advantages of method 312
 - analysis of interview data and integration with results of OHC analysis 309, 311
 - data analysis 306–9, 310
 - development and application of OHC 303, 304
 - discussion 311–13
 - embedding OHC in interviews 303, 305–6
 - limitations of method 312–13
 - summary 313–14
- Occupational Mobility Theory 58
- Office for National Statistics (ONS) 177, 180–81, 183, 184, 186, 188–9, 256
- online survey, work-related travel research 272–3
- open-plan offices 207, 212
- open questions 168, 169, 271, 274
- ‘ordinary working families’ (role of descriptive analysis in illuminating hard-to-define concepts) 185–8
- organisational behaviour 212–13
- organisational impact 24, 25
- overwork 84
- paid work 1–2
- part-time work
 - definition of 1
 - and gender 6
 - quality of 199–200
- participant observation (PO) 124–7, 131–2
 - study (fitness industry) 127–31
- Pawson, R. 288, 293
- pay see earnings
- peer review 294
- personal trainers, participant observation (PO) 127–32
- physical capital 129
- physical work environment, quantitative methods of examining impact of 207–8
 - discussion 218
 - early studies on physical work environment 211
 - future directions 217–18
 - methodological approaches 213–17
 - objective measurement approach 214
 - physical work environment 208–10
 - physiological measurement 216
 - psychological approaches using self-report measures 214–15
 - theoretical approaches 212–13
 - well-being and quality of work life 210–11
- physiological outcomes, physical work environment 213, 216, 218
- pilot surveys 271–2
- platform companies/employment 4, 135, 136–7, 141–4
- polarisation of employment 2, 96
- policy-makers 24, 25
- ‘political marketing’ 185
- Porcellato, L. 303, 306, 309
- positivist research, dominance of 296
- poverty, and shame 104–5
- precarious work 3–5, 6, 148
- ‘preunderstanding’ 130
- Probst, T.M. 52–3
- psychological outcomes, physical work environment 213, 214–15, 217–18
- psychological violence 85
- publication of mixed methods research 277–8
- purposive sampling 98

- qualifications, and employment 263 qualitative research, criteria for quality 158–9 quality of evidence and evidence reviews 292–4 quality of work 6
 as nebulous concept 159 quality of working lives (QWL) 6–8 increasing interest in 19
 and physical work environment 207, 210–11, 214, 216, 218 see also secondary data analysis of large survey data (quality of paid and unpaid working lives) quantitative data analysis 197 quantitative data sources see secondary quantitative data sources, effective use of quantitative research, emphasis on 22–3 racism 84

 randomised controlled trials (RCTs) 22–3, 282 Reactions to the Physical Work Environment Survey (RPWES) 217 realised matches, educational mismatch and earnings 237, 241–2, 246–7, 248–9 ‘reconstruction’ 139 recording equipment 274
 recruitment 262–3
 REF2014 (Research Excellence Framework) 20, 21, 24, 27
 reflexive approach 138–9 relational social constructionist leadership (RSCL) 287 relativist social constructionism 110 reminiscence 312
 replicability of evidence reviews 295 research ethics 141, 142, 144, 154, 155, 270
 emotive and sensitive issues 100–107
 see also violence, encountering experiences of in fieldwork researcher reactivity 125–7 resources for research 278
 retention 156
 rigour 21–3, 293

 role analysis 120
 Rosenblatt, Z. 48, 55
 rounding 181

 sample selection 238
 sample surveys 179–81
 Sandberg, J. 116
 Sander, E.J. 217
 Sandlund, E. 116–17
 secondary data analysis of large survey data (quality of paid and unpaid working lives) 194–5 available datasets 199
 case studies 199–203
 discussion 203–4
 history of secondary data analysis 197–9
 method 195–7
 secondary quantitative data sources, effective use of 177–8
 case studies 182–90
 descriptive analysis 182
 discussion 190
 importance of knowledge of data source 179 management or administrative data 181
 sample surveys 179–81
 terms and definitions 179–82
 security 48
 selection, interview process 115–16
 self-assessment, educational mismatch and earnings 236, 238 ‘self-ethnography’ 128
 self-report surveys, physical work environment 214–15 sensitive and emotive issues in research 100–107 sequence analysis 302, 306, 308–9, 311, 313 sexual harassment 84–5, 88, 89
 shame 103–6
 Skills and Employment Survey (SES) series 200
 Skinner, N. 147–8
 small scale research see work-related travel, small scale primary mixed methods research into impacts of snowball sampling 98 social constructionism 67–9, 110, 287

- social norms 6
- social reproduction 2
- social security benefits 261, 263
- solidarity initiatives see violence, encountering experiences of in fieldwork
- staged performances, to generate impact 26
- Standard Occupational Classifications (SOCs) 187
- Stata 306, 307, 308
- strategic human resource management (SHRM) 150–51
- stress
 - and appraisal interviews 116–17
 - cognitive theory of stress and coping 50
 - and physical work environment 216
- structural change 2
- Structure of Earnings Survey (SES) 230
- subjectivity 110, 212–13, 236
- Sullivan, C. 117–18
- survey design 271–2
- synthesis, as concept 296–7
- systematic review 282–4, 286, 287, 289, 292

- technology 5, 120, 208
- thematic coding analysis 275–7
- theory-practice gap 21
- think tanks, academic 24–5
- Thorpe, R. 20–22, 28
- threats 85
- time squeeze 201
- Tracy, S. 25–6, 158–9
- training, in research 29
- transcriptions of interviews 114, 115, 274
- ‘transdisciplinarity’ 286–7
- transition, and lifecourse research 36
- travel, work-related 5, 263
 - see also* work-related travel, small scale primary mixed methods research into impacts of
- trends, monitoring 178
- triangulation 277

- UK Data Service 198
- underemployment 201

- Understanding Society 37–8, 39, 42, 186, 187, 272–3
- unemployment, measuring, as example of use of secondary quantitative data 182–4
- unpaid work 2, 5–6, 8, 202–3
 - see also* lifecourse approach, researching patterns of paid and unpaid work; violence, encountering experiences of in fieldwork

- Van Vuuren, T. 49
- Verdugo, R.R. and N.T. 243, 244, 246–7, 248
- violence, encountering experiences of in fieldwork 79–81
 - discussion 87–9
 - researcher ‘in front of’ violence 86–7
 - solidarity structures and workers 81–3
 - violence in unpaid labour 83–6
 - voluntary work 2, 8, 34
 - see also* lifecourse approach, researching patterns of paid and unpaid work
- vulnerable workers 148

- wages see earnings
- Weibler, J. 287
- well-being 101–3, 147, 159
 - and human resource management (HRM) 150
 - and physical work environment 210–11, 217–18
 - survey questions 272
- well-being, effect of behavioural ambidexterity on 163–4
- coaching tools 168–70
 - discussion 171–2
 - employing gendered strategies 165–7
 - narrative analysis 167–8
- Welsh Government, research for 28
- Wheel of Life 169–70
- white papers 25–6
- women 5–6
 - factory work 139
 - gendered strategies 165–6
 - sexual harassment of 84–5

- women's magazines, discursive analysis 117–18
- work
 - changing nature of 208–9
 - definitions of 1–2
 - recent developments in 2–6
- work environment, physical see
 - physical work environment,
 - quantitative methods of
 - examining impact of
- work-life balance (WLB) 7–8, 96–7, 100, 117–18
 - academics 164
 - Australia 147–8
 - and class 200–201, 204
 - men 166
 - Wheel of Life 169–70
- Work Opinion Questionnaire 52
- work-related travel 5, 263
 - work-related travel, small scale primary
 - mixed methods research into
 - impacts of 268–9
 - data analysis and generating outputs 274–8
 - discussion 279
 - online survey 272–3
 - research ethics 270
 - research project 269–70
 - resources 278
 - semi-structured interviews 274
 - survey design 271–2
- workers' inquiry 140
- working conditions 7
- working time quality 152
- workplace design 207, 209, 214, 215, 217
- Workplace Employment Relations Study (WERS) 2011 195–6

