

Contents

List of contributors	vii
List of abbreviations	x
Acknowledgements	xiii

PART I INTRODUCTION

1 Introduction: the centrality of arenas, agents and actions Tom Baker and Christopher Walker	2
---	---

PART II ARENAS

2 Policy circulation through the Twittiverse: the case of Arctic development policy Jennifer Spence	26
3 Seeing is believing? Understanding policy tourism as an arena for policy circulation Tom Baker and Pauline McGuirk	42
4 The South as an arena of policy circulation: South–South cooperation on human rights policies Michelle Morais de Sá e Silva	56

PART III AGENTS

5 Big philanthropies as agents of policy circulation in development: examining the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation Roosa Jolkkonen	73
6 The business of global intermediaries in the promotion of bus rapid transit Astrid Wood	89
7 Failure is an option: epistemic communities and the circulation of Health Technology Assessment Alexandru Rusu and Olga Löblová	103

PART IV ACTIONS

- | | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 8 | Collaborative interactions: understanding transfer success in transport regulation and compliance policies
Christopher Walker | 123 |
| 9 | Policy transfer strategies: how agents' actions ensure lessons from abroad stick at home
Mauricio I. Dussauge-Laguna | 144 |
| 10 | Enacting persuasion: storytelling, emotional artefacts and face-to-face encounters as key actions behind policy circulation
Sergio Montero | 161 |
| 11 | Policy narratives and policy transfer mechanisms: towards a research agenda
Titilayo Soremi | 180 |

PART V CONCLUSION

- | | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 12 | Prospects for policy circulation studies: towards engaged pluralism?
Tom Baker, Mauricio I. Dussauge-Laguna, Roosa Jolkkonen, Olga Löblová, Pauline McGuirk, Sergio Montero, Michelle Morais de Sá e Silva, Alexandru Rusu, Titilayo Soremi, Jennifer Spence, Christopher Walker and Astrid Wood | 196 |
| | Bibliography | 205 |
| | Index | 231 |